STATE-CHECKED RUM MONOPOLY, DU PONT'S PLAN

Criminals Rule Now, He Declares.

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 15.—[Special.]—In these dispatches on the demand for changes in the national prohibition law, United States Senator Robert Wagner has spoken from the point of view of a public man who has campaigned and won as a modificationist. James M. Beck, foremost constitutionalist in congress, has spoken from the point of view of a statesman who does not think that a mistake is irretrievable, even if it is in the constitution of the United States. And Mrs. Charles H. Sabin, head of the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform, has spoken from the point of view of a woman who was originally for prohibition but has become a militant modificationist.

Talks as Business Man.

Now speaks Pierre S. du Pont from the point of view of an American business man with the welfare of nearly 40,000 employés on his mind.

When national prohibition came in he was acquiescent—though "regretfully acquiescent," as he puts it—to the experiment. Now he calls it "this monstrous policy," and he offers the most thorough-going and detailed plan for doing away with it that has been devised by any American economist. That plan is the result of five years of study at home and abroad by Mr. du Pont and its intention is to meet conditions disclosed by answers to questionnaires which he sent to one hundred thousand persons.

Outlines His Plan.

Here are its outstanding proposals:

1. "Control of the liquor traffic to be returned to the states.

2. "The federal government to protect one state from the transgressions of another.

3. "The state to recognize the importance of the subject and adopt the slogan of service, coupled with restrictions necessary to the peculiar problem at hand.

4. "The state, being confined in its efforts to formulating, enforcing and policing of restrictions, to turn over the administration and management of the business to a private monopoly organized under state laws and held strictly responsible to the state authorities."

Family of Leaders.

Pierre S. du Pont is the head of a family that has been a big factor in American industrial life for nearly a century and a half. He is the great-great-grandson of Pierre Samuel du Pont de Nemours, French economist and statesman, who founded the American branch of the family in the eighteenth century. With the present Pierre Samuel the given names of the founder recur for the first time in the annals of five generations of Du Ponts.

Mr. du Pont is 60 years old—a big visaged, big framed man. His presence is commanding but his manner unassuming. He speaks rapidly but gravely, and his solicitude for accuracy of statement amounts to a passion. He has a lively consciousness that what he says on essential matters of public concern may have some effect on the welfare of two score thousand workers, and he remarked in the course of this interview, "a man who happens to be environed as I am dare not speak idly on such a subject as prohibition."

Speaks from Shoulder.

Candor is his note. During some thousand words of utterance—which necessarily have to be compressed here—there was no intimation that it might not be expedient to say such and such a thing "at this time." Instead of that kind of pussyfooting, he went straight to his fundamentals, some of which are:

"I do not believe that it is possible to modify the Volstead act in any way that will satisfy the people. We have spent ten years in perfecting every device of deception. Modification would only complicate the situation and be the parent of other deceptions.

"No federal or uniform liquor law can be satisfactory to all the states. Under the present conditions of corruption no enforcement act will work. We must make a fresh start and build on a sound foundation, for the present foundation is rotten through and through.

Criminals Are Satisfied.

"If criminals had made their own terms as to a prohibition law they would not have made better terms for themselves than the present law gives them.

"Not only will so-called modifica-

Prepare Feast for Capone's Return

GANG LEADER'S KIN EXPECT HIM BACK TUESDAY

Philadelphia Eager to Be Rid of Him.

BY PERCY WOOD.

Festive preparations for the return of the titular head of the House of Capone were observed last night in the neighborhood of 7244 South Prairie avenue, where the mother, brother and sister of Chicago's gangster chief, "Scarface Al," live comfortably in a two apartment building. Al is due home on Tuesday.

A few miles eastward Butcher Mike Brosius, 330 East 71st street, regarded an order blank with smiling satisfaction and went about the business of procuring two 18 pound turkeys to be delivered at the Prairie avenue address on Monday. The welcoming apparently was planned for tomorrow, but latest reports from the Philadelphia prison which still houses the potential guest of honor indicate that he will not arrive here until late on Tuesday.

But This Is Not So Good.

But while joy reigned on the south side a somewhat grimmer picture was presented at the federal building. There United States Attorney Johnson took from his private archives two fat files labeled "Alphonse Capone—Income Tax," and "Alphonse Capone—Contempt of Court." The prosecutor believes that he has sufficient evidence in at least one of the sheaf of documents to assure the gangster another term in jail.

U. S. Holds Another Card.

If the government cannot find sufficient ground for indicting Al for failure to pay income taxes, Mr. Johnson still has the contempt of court proceedings.

In February, 1929, Al was subpoenaed to appear before the federal grand jury investigating the Chicago Heights liquor traffic. He was then wintering at his estate near Miami and shortly before the subpoena came due his Chicago attorneys gained a stay of the summons on representations that their client was ill of bronchial pneumonia. The files of Mr. Johnson's office now show that certain of these affidavits were false and that Al was in reality a regular attendant at the dog tracks during his alleged illness. He was then cited for contempt of court, and released on $5,000 bail on that charge. The case may be called for a hearing when the prosecutor desires.

A Tale of Reporter's Luck.

Last night visitors at the Capone home were answered, through a thick oaken door, by Ralph Capone Jr., 12 years old.

"Where's grandma?" he was asked. "Out," was the guarded reply. A bag of candy was rattled enticingly and the door swung open.

"Is grandma going to have a special kind of spaghetti for Uncle Al's dinner?"

"Yes, walnut flavored, probably," was the reply. More questions—few answers. Finally this from the small, overalled figure:

"Say, I won't tell you anything. Another paper sent some people out here to play marbles with me, I won 90 cents from them and didn't tell them a thing." The door closed.

PREPARE FOR EXIT

Philadelphia, Pa., March 15.—[Special.]—While no definite word has been obtained from Gov. John S. Fisher of Pennsylvania that he will commute the gun toting sentence imposed on Alphonse (Scarface Al) Capone, officials, police, and the Chicago gangster's friends are making ready to greet him "on the outside" on Monday or Tuesday.

With time off for good behavior, Capone's sentence expires Monday. He was arrested last May 17 with his bodyguard, Frank Cline, for carrying a pistol and both were sentenced to one year in Moyamensing prison. Last Aug. 14 he was transferred to Eastern prison, supposedly as a result of political influence, and today it had not been determined whether he will have to be taken back to Moyamensing and formally released from there.

Governor Lands Today.

Gov. Fisher will land in New York tomorrow morning from a two weeks' cruise on the Caribbean and is not due in Harrisburg, the state capital, until Monday morning. Other matters will occupy his immediate attention and it

GROCERY PLANT IS DAMAGED BY POWERFUL BOMB

The front of the plant of Holleb & Co., wholesale grocers, at 171 South Water Market was wrecked and windows within a radius of a block were shattered last night when a powerful dynamite bomb was exploded on a concrete loading platform at the grocery plant. The bomb tore out doors and a glass canopy of the building and caused damage estimated at $4,000.

Nathan Holleb, one of the owners of the grocery company, said that recently he had been approached by a man who ordered him to become affiliated with an association of sugar dealers and pay $10 monthly.

Four sticks of dynamite were found last night in the rear of three store buildings at 1922-26 North Crawford avenue, owned by Wolf Rosenberg, 3557 5th avenue.

Crisis in Haiti Ends; Agree on New President

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

PORT AU PRINCE, Haiti, March 15.—A complete formal agreement for the reëstablishment of representative government in Haiti was signed today by President Louis Borno and responsible leaders of the opposition through the mediation of President Hoover's commission.

By this agreement Eugene Roy, 65, a wealthy business man, who has never been in politics, becomes temporary president when M. Borno steps out on May 17. M. Roy then will take the task of reforming the country's political structure, calling a popular election of a new senate and chamber of deputies, which will elect a permanent president to succeed him.

Permanent Chief by Fall.

The date the legislative elections, the crux of the recent controversy, is left indefinite in the agreement. It simply states that they will be held at the "earliest possible date," which President Borno has insisted cannot legally be before 1932.

There is little doubt, however, that M. Roy has an understanding with the opposition leaders, who nominated him, to call an election in the next few months. Under this procedure Haiti would have a permanent president this fall, ready to negotiate with a United States minister for substantial reduction of the occupation forces.

Hoover Approves of Roy.

President Hoover himself, it was learned unofficially, has taken steps to assure this result. He has cabled the commission his approval of M. Roy, promised to recognize the legality of legislative elections held this year and promised also to recognize any president elected by the legislative assembly in conformity with the commission's plan.

In addition it was learned that Mr. Hoover cabled full administrative powers to the commission, enabling it to take final and binding action to end the crisis.

Thus, with this most difficult part of its work accomplished, the commission will sail tomorrow at 10 a. m. on the U. S. S. Rochester for Miami. Sentiment among the Haitians also is that there will be no further troubles.

Clara Bow Cuts Hand on Bottle in Talkie Scuffle

Hollywood, Cal., March 15.—[Special.]—A barroom scuffle in Clara Bow's present talkie "True to the Navy" got too strenuous for Clara this afternoon and she was removed to Hollywood hospital for a week. Her physician, Dr. H. J. Stathearn, said she deeply gashed the second finger and palm of her left hand with a broken bottle, and the injury must be treated carefully so as to guard against deformity.

CALIFORNIA TWISTER DAMAGES BUILDINGS IN SEVERAL TOWNS

Los Angeles, Cal., March 15.—[Special.]—A twister which whirled in from the ocean in the Palos Verdes region north of San Pedro before noon today, vented its wrath on half a dozen Los Angeles suburbs.

Hawthorne was hardest hit, the combination city hall and fire department being unroofed, with scores of other buildings — most of them frame cottages, garages and small stucco homes.

A violent hail storm struck downtown Los Angeles.

In the San Pedro, Wilmington, and Redondo harbor regions, the wind reached velocity of 40 and 45 miles.

In the Long Beach section ten city blocks were inundated.

Reports from Inglewood, Lennox, Lawndale and southeast Los Angeles indicate more than 150 structures were damaged. Estimates of the damage range from $300,000 to $1,000,000.

NINE BOYS SET OUT TO SHOOT INDIANS AND JOIN MOVIES

Nine young Chicagoans, ranging from 8 to 12 years of age, yesterday decided that the movies could be improved with better talent. So the boys started on their mission of uplift, with an eye to a little adventure on the way.

Taking an auto from in front of 436 South Claremont avenue they had proceeded as far as a gas station at Riverside at 9:30 o'clock last night. There they purchased two gallons of gas and offered a collection of nickels and penies to pay for it. This led the attendant to summon Sergt. Schumacher of the Riverside police. The policeman learned from Albert Bertoni, 12 years old, 513 South Claremont avenue, driver to the auto, that the expedition was bound for Hollywood and movie fame. The boy explained they had planned to shoot a few Indians in Oklahoma as proof of their ability to put on real thrillers.

The boys were held for juvenile authorities.

MARCH 16 TO US, BUT STILL JAN. 6 IN THE SENATE

Washington, D. C., March 15.—[U. P.]—It still is Jan. 6 in the senate chamber, one of the longest "legislative days" in history. Thus far on the legislative day of Jan. 6 there have been 306 quorum calls and votes and endless debate on the tariff.

Since that date the senate has merely recessed overnight, thus keeping the same "day" on the calendar.

Woman Uses Robber's Gun to Subdue Him

Mrs. Dorothy Toleson of 231 West 150th street, Harvey, 45 years old and physically frail, proved more than a match last night for a quick shooting robber, who took flight in her husband's car after being wounded in a pistol battle with Chief of Police George Swanson at the door of police headquarters in Harvey.

The gunman had leaped in the rear seat beside her and commanded her 20 year old son, Norman Mallette, to speed eastward to Dolton, meanwhile pressing his pistol against the collar of her husband, Harry Toleson.

As the car bounced across the Chicago and Eastern Illinois tracks half way to Dolton, Mrs. Toleson, who arose only yesterday from her sickbed, wrenched away the gun, rapped the fugitive's skull and saw him slump, unconscious to the floor. The son drove on to Dolton police headquarters, where the gunman was lifted from the car, bleeding from two chest wounds inflicted by Chief Swanson.

Youths Expose Holdup Tutor.

For the last three weeks Chief Swanson had been bothered almost every night by the activities of three robbers who had been holding up druggists, taxicab drivers and motorists. Last Friday night two Harvey youths, Henry Mulder and Harold Aarenson, came to headquarters and told the chief they were two of the culprits.

On Feb. 23, the boys told the chief, they had been picked up on the road between Joliet and Harvey by a motorist, who identified himself as a stickup man and invited them to become his apprentices. An hour before coming to the police station they had helped him rob Dr. George Stephenson in front of the Ingalls Memorial hospital and, with the physician's car on their hands, had decided to renounce robbery and expose their tutor.

Tells of Rendezvous.

Before quitting their mentor, whom they knew as John Oakes, the youths had given him the name of a companion, Cecil Creston, as a crime candidate. Chief Swanson interviewed Creston on Friday night and learned that the so-called Oakes was to meet the boy last evening at 154th and Lexington streets, two blocks from police headquarters.

Creston walked down one side of the street, the chief on the other. As the robber signalled Creston with his handkerchief, Chief Swanson crossed the street, shoved his revolver in the man's ribs and searched him, failing to discover his weapon in a holster below his belt.

Fight Gun Battle.

Oakes whipped out the weapon at the threshold of police headquarters, fired six shots, two of which shattered plate glass windows in shops across the street, and sprinted down an alley. The chief fired back. The fugitive emerged on Broadway, where the Tolesons were just alighting from their car.

On the ride along Chicago road toward Dolton the fugitive threatened to kill Toleson if he or the others made a move. Then Mrs. Toleson saw her chance and seized the gun.

The wounded man was taken to Ingalls hospital and then to the Bridewell hospital, where, early this morning, surgeons said he probably would not survive. Pressed for his name, he said Oakes would suffice and pleaded that he be left to die.

NEGRO BURGLAR, SEIZED IN HOME, STABS TWO MEN

Two men were severely slashed with a knife by a Negro burglar who entered the second story of a rooming house at 821-23 Bowen avenue early this morning by means of a ladder he found in the yard. The Negro, who gave his name as Lucas Fields of 3020 Federal street, was beaten into insensibility by another occupant of the house, and his condition is serious.

As the burglar raised the ladder he made a noise that aroused Walter Ewing, 36 years old, and William Goggin, 40, and they aroused other roomers. When the burglar entered a window Ewing and Goggin pounced upon him without noticing a knife in his hand. Ewing was stabbed eleven times and at the Chicago hospital it was said he may not recover. Goggin was severely cut about the face and neck.

Meantime other occupants of the house ran to the aid of Ewing and Goggin. One of them seized a heavy soldering iron and with it subdued the Negro. Screams of the women and children who saw the battle attracted the attention of Lieut. Thomas Mangan and his detective squad, and they arrested Fields.

RETURNS NEAR RECORD DESPITE CUT IN RATES

Proof of Prosperity Seen in Total.

Expect Half Billion

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 15—(Special.)—Income tax returns filed up to midnight are expected to bring in excess of half a billion dollars into the United States treasury as the first quarterly payment on incomes received by American tax payers in 1929.

The first quarterly installment received on March 15, last year, amounted to approximately 600 million dollars, but treasury officials do not expect such a high level will be reached this year.

The treasury faces two major factors which will bring about sharp reduction of income taxes under the 1929 level. These are the stock market crash of last fall and the reduction of one per cent in the normal taxes on incomes of corporations and individuals. There is also to be taken into consideration the fact that realized profits in 1929 on the sale of stocks and other capital assets did not approach such profits made in 1928.

Despite a general reduction of income tax rates taxpayers of the first district of Illinois had paid federal incomes taxes totaling $37,213,973 for the first quarter of the year when the office of Mrs. Myrtle Tanner Blacklidge, collector of internal revenue, closed at midnight last night.

The amount was only $5,460,067 less than the record breaking total of $42,674,040 which had been paid by midnight of March 15 last year. With many returns still in the mails and the usual allowance for tardy returns and extensions of time, Mrs. Blacklidge predicted that the total collections for the first quarter of this year will be only a little short of the record established in 1929.

Index of U. S. Prosperity.

"In spite of the wails of losses in the stock market and a slump in business, the income tax returns indicate that the nation is just about as prosperous as it was a year ago," Mrs. Blacklidge said.

"Although the corporation tax rate was cut 1 per cent, the corporation returns this year, on the average, are larger than they were last year. With a general reduction in rates it would have been reasonable to expect a big slump in the collections for the district, but that is not the case. While this year's total will not equal that of 1929, it will be very close to it."

That the number of persons sharing in the nation's prosperity is greater than last year was indicated by the increase in the number of returns filed, 153,700 having been received up to midnight last night, as against 152,200 in 1929.

The collections at the Chicago office came from the northern section of the state, the district including thirty counties, as far south as and including Peoria.

Collections Show Upward Trend.

The returns made this year, allowing for the decline caused by the decrease in rates, continued the steady climb in income tax payments of the district during the last few years. With the exception of 1925, when a reduction in rates made a heavy cut in the total, there has been a regular increase up to the record breaking total of 1929.

The collections up to midnight of March 15 from 1924 to 1929 and the number of returns filed in the district follow:

	Tax.	Returns.
1929	$42,674,040	152,200
1928	38,934,944	155,000
1927	26,407,003	137,300
1926	19,337,205	168,700
1925	13,273,169	201,000
1924	18,800,776	188,000

The complete figures for the first quarter of 1929 were $59,583,115, the largest first quarter collection in the district in the history of the federal income tax.

Hundreds Rush to File.

There was the usual rush of late filers yesterday, hundreds of persons visiting the office during the day to get their returns in before the deadline. The heaviest rush came during the morning, when long lines were formed outside the office. During the afternoon and evening the lines thinned but the office remained open until midnight.

The largest single return made in the district was $1,262,000, which was filed by a corporation. Only the first quarterly payment on this tax was made yesterday, however, most of the large taxpayers preferring to pay in installments because of the large amount of interest involved. There were many small payments, the lowest being 3 cents, which was paid in cash.

The reduction in the tax rates brought more full payments than has been customary in the past, most of those with moderate incomes paying the entire amount in one sum instead of spreading it over four installments, federal officials said.

The rates on personal income were cut from 1½ to ½ per cent on the first $4,000, from 3 to 2 per cent on the second $4,000, from 5 to 4 per cent on amounts over $8,000. The flat corporation rate was reduced from 12 to 11 per cent.

More Payments in the Mails.

Although all returns were due at midnight last night, Mrs. Blacklidge announced that all that were mailed before 1 a. m. today would be accepted at her office without penalty. While it is impossible to estimate the number still in the mails, the experiences of previous years indicate that they will swell the total collections for the first quarter by several millions of dollars.

The decline in the last day rush yesterday afternoon was attributed by workers in the collector's office to the fact that Chicagoans are becoming educated in the advantages of early filing. The lines which formed during the morning hours were the only queues that have been formed this year.

THE TRIBUNE maintained facilities for filing returns at its Public Service office at 1 South Dearborn street and more than 17,000 persons were aided in making out their schedules.

O'BRIEN TO GIVE BOND

State Representative Lawrence C. O'Brien [Dem. 29th] yesterday arranged to surrender to United States Marshal Laubenheimer tomorrow and post $15,000 bail on the warrant issued after his indictment Friday when he was charged with attempting to evade payment of $102,368. in back income taxes. The warrant was issued by Federal Judge Woodward.

Meanwhile, federal officials announced after a further examination of O'Brien's income records that the $334,563 he collected from the sanitary district, the city, and the Lincoln park board for trucking contracts in 1926, 1927, and 1938 appears to have been almost wholly profit. There are few records of expenditures for these contracts, according to the authorities.

This information coincided with reports from Springfield to the effect that the legislator had only four trucks registered there. It was said at the federal building that O'Brien did little actual trucking on one sanitary district contract, but merely dumped filler for the north shore channel road from the railroad cars to a point near the highway. According to Assistant United States Attorney Dwight H. Green, O'Brien had a total income of $445,774 in the three years mentioned in the indictment.

CLAIMS 10 YEARS OF EXTORTION IN FATAL SHOOTING

Dominick Melfi, 45 years old, 2023 Taylor street, alleged extortionist, was shot to death last night in the rear of a butcher shop under his apartment by one of his alleged victims. The police arrested Dan Fidenzi, 61 years old, 743 South Leavitt street. He admitted the slaying and declared he has been paying tribute to Melfi for the last ten years.

Fidenzi's son, Michael, first told the police of the extortion and later the father was picked up at 1018 South Winchester avenue. He said that he had gone to the butcher shop which is owned by Pasquale Narducci to meet Melfi after receiving a demand for more money. He went prepared to put a stop to the extortion. The shooting followed.

Fidenzi said that Melfi and two other men had started threatening his family in 1921 and bombed the Fidenzi home when he failed to pay the extortionists $3,000. Later, he said he paid $500 and has continued to pay small amounts since then. In 1927 Andy Belloni, one of Melfi's alleged accomplices, was shot to death, but the killing failed to stop the blackmail, Fidenzi said. The second, whom young Fidenzi named as Felix Davialo, is protected by a Sicilian gang, he told the police.

F. Jacobezzi and Joe Fabrizzi, both of 1025 South Racine avenue, who were in the butcher shop, were taken into custody for questioning.

WOMAN SHOT WHILE WALKING; ACCUSES MAN

Mrs. Myrtle Fraser, 48 years old, of Riverdale was shot and wounded probably fatally last night as she was walking with Peter Dean, 126 West 114th street, on 138th street between Halsted and Ashland avenues in Riverdale. She told the police her assailant was one John Meyers of Riverdale.

According to Dean, Meyers approached from the opposite direction and when a few feet in front of them, whipped out a revolver and fired three or four shots at the couple. One of the bullets struck Mrs. Fraser in the chest. Dean took her to the St. Francis hospital in Blue Island and then notified the county highway police at Homewood.

The police started a search for Meyers. They learned that Mrs. Fraser had been employed by Meyers as a housekeeper until last February, when she left his home because, she said, he had not paid her.

Capone's Fortified Florida Palace Awaits Chieftain

BRIDE, 19, FINDS HER DANCE HALL MATE IS BANDIT

She, Too, Is Jailed in Robberies.

BY KATHERINE KELLEY.

When Heartsie Milosic, 19 years old, married her husband, Frank, 22 years old, a week ago yesterday her troubles began. She hadn't bargained, she said last night at the Hyde Park police station, for a bandit husband when she met him more than two years ago in a public dance hall.

"Why, he smiled and all that, trying to get acquainted," Heartsie remembered, "but I just couldn't see him. But of course when he came to our house with my sister's boy friend that was different. And I saw him most every night since. I never thought he would steal."

Police Search Home.

The little bride, who looks scarcely more than a schoolgirl with her shorn curly red locks, blue eyes, and pert chin, was rudely interrupted on her first night waiting up for her husband when a police squad came to the honeymoon apartment, 6205 Woodlawn avenue, at 4 a. m., in Frank's stead. They told her that Frank and a companion, Joseph Hoyne, 21 years old, of 4935 South Kedvale avenue, had been identified as the two who staged a holdup at 71st street and Jeffery avenue a few hours earlier. A search of the apartment revealed four wrist watches, and Heartsie was taken to the station as a suspect for receiving stolen goods.

"Frank and I quarreled, and he left the apartment about a quarter to eleven," Heartsie said. "He said he was going for a ride. I stayed up and cleaned the apartment. But he hadn't come by 12:30, so I embroidered a while, with the clock where I could see it. And I was still up waiting for Frank when the police came. The watches belonged to us. One was Frank's, one Joe's, one mine, and one belonged to a girl friend.

"Why, I never knew he'd be like that," she ended. "I wouldn't have married if I had known. Or, anyway, I'd have reformed him. I love him and I'll stick by him even if he has to go to jail. He's always been ever so good to me."

First Night in Jail.

The disillusioned bride who was spending her first night in a police station turned to examine the hard single bed in the women's quarters. It wasn't much like the one she started housekeeping with just a week before.

Heartsie, who was born an O'Brien and proud of it, worked as a switchboard operator before her marriage. Frank, she said, was employed by a rubber sales company before he was laid off, then he became a taxi driver. According to the police, the two men are thought to have been identified with eight south side holdups.

KILLED BY ELECTRIC TRAIN.

An unidentified Negro, 45 years old, was killed last night when he was struck by a South Shore and South Bend electric train at 65th street.

A Guarded Mansion

The island palace on Palm Island, Miami Beach, Fla., which Al Capone may not visit because of the threat of the sheriff of Dade county to arrest him, was shown yesterday in photographs to be an admirable combination of mansion and fortress. Every luxury is included in the estate and every precaution taken to see that the gang chieftain can enjoy himself in safety.

When Capone was occupying the place, two automobiles loaded with guards, as the photograph shows, were always stationed at the two front entrances. No stranger was allowed to enter in front and a high wall around the other three sides prevented entrance in any other manner.

The garage commands a sweeping view of the entire grounds. The residence proper is set well back from the street and is approached by a wide circular drive. Spacious lawns surround the house. The arrow in the picture points to a large swimming pool with a high diving stand and large bathhouse built recently by his brothers while Capone was in jail in Philadelphia.

A T-shaped landing pier is at the rear of the estate and two high powered motor boats are anchored there. On either side of the estate, outside the high wall, are stretches of flat ground with no trees or shrubbery where an enemy might take cover.

OPERA COMPANY CASHIER ROBBED OF $2,000 PAY ROLL

George A. Fuller, 50 years old, cashier of the Chicago Civic Opera company, was robbed of $2,000 yesterday noon by two men, who forced him into their automobile at Dearborn and 26th streets.

Fuller was seized by the bandits in front of the opera company's warehouse and studio at 2559 South Dearborn street, where he was to deliver the money to fifteen men employed there. The men were busy storing scenery that is being shipped back to Chicago while the company is on tour. Fuller was thrust into an automobile by the robbers, who displayed revolvers.

The brief case in which he carried the pay roll was taken from him and a diamond stickpin valued at $650 was torn from his tie. The cashier was forced out of the car at Federal street and 26th place, the automobile fleeing east.

HOUSE OF CAPONE PREPARES FEAST FOR AL'S RETURN

is not expected that he will have the commutation papers for the release of 57 convicts, besides Capone, until noon or later. A messenger will be sent to the prison with the papers and he may not arrive until Tuesday.

Director of Public Safety Schofield, who showed zeal last May in pushing the prison term for the gangster, announced that he has appointed a special detail of detectives to escort him to his train. "And they'll stay with him until he is beyond the city limits," Schofield added.

Report Pals on Hand.

Two of the Chicago directors of the Capone beer syndicate—Ralph Capone, younger brother and business manager for Alphonse, and Jack Gusick, so called "enforcement officer" of the beer crew—were reported to be in Philadelphia with a crew of six well armed pluguglies, and this gave rise to rumors that Capone fears an attempt at retaliation for the murders which have been charged to his gangs.

From the prison, the gangster himself announced that he would go direct to Chicago "to attend to business interests," adding: "I've never ran away from anything in my life, and I'm not going to start now."

COURT READY FOR SANITARY TRIALS; STATE IS SILENT

Cases Up to Swanson, Normoyle Says.

The judges of the Criminal court are ready to try the sanitary district cases whenever State's Attorney Swanson expresses a desire to take the evidence before a jury. Chief Justice D. J. Normoyle of the court made this announcement yesterday when asked why the year old cases against Timothy J. Crowe, former president of the district and Democratic leader, and twelve other sanitarians have never been placed on any court call.

Crowe and the others were indicted on conspiracy charges in connection with the alleged squandering of district funds. The indictments were returned in May, 1929, and court attachés said it is unusual for any criminal case to go that long without ever appearing on any court calendar for trial. An ordinary criminal case is placed on the court calendar within a few days after the return of an indictment and is then set for trial within 30 days of the return, it was pointed out.

Cases Shelved, Passmore Says.

Chief Justice Normoyle said he had been informed by John H. Passmore, clerk of the court, that Passmore had shelved the cases at the request of the state's attorney's office under rule 15 of the Criminal court.

This rule provides that all cases shall be assigned in rotation among the various judges each month except so-called special cases, and that these should be assigned with due regard to the "convenience and plans of the state's attorney."

Judge Normoyle said he was informed by the state's attorney's office that new indictments were expected some time in the sanitary cases and that he did not want to assign the old cases without a request from the prosecutor's office.

Swanson Not at Office.

State's Attorney Swanson, who left his office with such rapidity that his bodyguard and chauffeur had to run to catch up with him on Friday when an effort was made to interview him on his plans with regard to the sanitary district cases, did not appear at his office yesterday. He was reported on the golf links.

First Assistant State's Attorney John E. Northup, who is in charge of the sanitary cases, was noncommittal yesterday when an effort was made to interview him on whether new indictments would be returned before the primary election.

There were reports that he suggested to some of his assistants yesterday that it might be well to return new indictments before the primary. The contemplated new indictments probably will not be drawn by Oliver E. Pagan, federal indictment expert, who was called into the investigation some weeks ago. It was reported yesterday that Pagan had severed his connection with the case.

Carey Trial Up to Judge.

Whether the trial of Bishop Archibald Carey, on charges of conspiracy and bribery in connection with alleged payments of money for civil service jobs, is to be continued until after the primary is a matter for decision by Judge Otto Kerner, it was pointed out yesterday. Carey is a member of the city civil service commission and a Thompson political leader in the south side colored district.

Judge Kerner, court attachés said, has the power to refuse to accept the agreement reported reached by Prosecutor Swanson and Attorney Leonard C. Reid of the law firm headed by Edward R. Litsinger.

Leo Chicarello and Frank Biafore, burglary, sentenced to one year to life each in the penitentiary; Julio Chileno, confidence game, sentenced to one to ten years in the penitentiary; Frank Blazik, manslaughter, sentenced to one to fourteen years in the penitentiary; Albert Silverberg, arson, sentenced to the Chester asylum for the criminal insane by Judge Walter P. Steffen.

Bennie Hunt, robbery, sentenced to one year to life in the penitentiary; Charles Rase, assault to rob, sentenced to one to fourteen years in the penitentiary by Judge Peter Schwaba.

George Cooley, robbery, sentenced to one year to life in the penitentiary by Judge Philip Finnegan.

Earl Vaughn and Eddie Edwards, burglary, sentenced to one year to life each in the penitentiary; Shelby McChester, burglary, sentenced to one year to life in Pontiac reformatory by Judge Harry Fisher.

Maurice Barnett, conspiracy, sentenced to one to five years in the penitentiary by Judge Harry B. Miller.

GERMAN INVENTION SAVES DEAF PEOPLE EMBARRASSMENT.

A German scientist has recently perfected an instrument that makes it possible for deafened persons to hear instantly. This device, accepted by recognized authorities in this country and in Europe, saves embarrassment on the part of the wearer in that it is so small as to be practically unnoticeable, thus taking attention away from the wearer's infirmity. Ten cent flashlight unit cells operate the "Universotose." Exhaustive tests have brought astonishing results. This German invention is being distributed in the United States by Dr. Hugo Lieber. One of his experts, D. Farber, is in Chicago at this time at Suite 1812, 59 E. Madison. Deafened persons are invited to call and hear for themselves the remarkable qualities of the "Universotose" or to write for complete details.—Adv.

OLD IRONSIDES, BUILT IN 1797, RIDES SEA AGAIN

Children's Pennies Aided in Resurrection.

Boston, Mass., March 15.—(AP)—The resurrected hull of the 132 year old frigate Constitution, three years ago a pathetic, decaying hulk, tonight rode the sea again, her sleek black bulk stanch and true.

The ceremony of refloating "Old Ironsides" after three years of rebuilding was the simplest. Children comprised the greater part of the crowd of 2,000 about the dry dock. They represented young America, which has poured so many millions of its pennies into the $400,000 already spent in renewing the veteran warship.

The brave old ship was built only a mile away from the scene of her refloating. Her keel was laid down in 1794 after President Washington had signed the bill authorizing construction.

CHICAGO LED FUND.

When the frigate Constitution took to the seas again yesterday at Boston a large share of the honor of refloating the historic old warship was Chicago's, and in the completion of the refitting of the vessel thousands of Chicagoans saw completed a task they started three years ago.

Chicago's contribution of $60,465 in the "Save Old Ironsides" campaign conducted by the navy department in 1927 was the largest from any city. The sum was raised by an intensive campaign in which THE TRIBUNE, the American Legion, city officials, and thousands of school childen took part.

With only $2,000 of the city's quota raised, THE TRIBUNE contributed $1,000 to the Old Ironsides fund and gave impetus to the campaign by receiving other contributions. Old Ironsides buttons were sold in the schools and the city's quota started mounting steadily until it topped all other cities in the country. As a result of THE TRIBUNE's campaign, in which it enlisted the support of newspapers in practically every city on the Great Lakes, Secretary of the Navy Wilbur promised the Constitution would visit Chicago and other lake cities when the refitting was finished.

MUSSOLINI MADE THE HIGH CHIEF OF ITALY'S BUSINESS

Economic Oligarchy Is Set Up by New Law.

BY DAVID DARRAH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

ROME, March 15.—The Fascist government's new social legislation, setting up what will be called the "national council corporations for the state tutelage of capital and labor interests and the unification of the productive factors of the nation," was approved in the senate this afternoon by a vote of 174 to 24, out of a senate membership of 346. The bill has already passed the grand council and chamber of deputies and will become a law as soon as it is signed by the king.

The government hopes to inaugurate the council, of which Premier Mussolini will be president, on April 21, the anniversay of the founding of Rome, with impressive ceremonies on Capitoline hill.

An Economic Oligarchy.

The new council will constitute a sort of economic oligarchy, under the direction of Mussolini, for corrective and regulative purposes over Italy's productive factories, especially for coördinating the interests of capital and labor. It is said by promulgators to be based on the Italian labor charter. It has been worked out over a period of two years and is aimed to constitute the apex of the Fascist syndicate and corporative system, with due exercising of paramount direction and control.

The bill has been the topic of a dozen lengthy speeches in the senate during the last two days, with Minister of Corporations Giuseppi Bottai winding up the debate tonight. The speeches were replies to criticism raised in some quarters on the ground that the council limits private enterprise and gives the working men too much control, or that it duplicates the function of the chamber of deputies.

These criticisms have been thoroughly disclaimed. Proponents assert that private enterprise is guaranteed in Italy by the labor charter and that the new economic council pertains to the administrative department of the government and therefore does not encroach on the functions of parliament. Minister Bottai described the bill as representing Fascism's most revolutionary piece of legislation.

Mussolini Is President.

One section of the bill, which provides that the council may adopt measures to coördinate categories of production, such as the banking business, commerce and agriculture, and commerce in general, has been surrounded by special safeguards. Such subjects are not to be considered without the special consent of Il Duce.

Under the law, Premier Mussolini, as president of the council, may convoke it whenever he sees fit. The legislation provides for the establishment of seven sections, comprising mixed elements of workers and employers, corresponding to the seven categories in which the Italian productive system is divided such as professions and arts, industry, commerce, banking, agriculture, martime transport, land and air transport.

Council Totals 1,500.

Membership of these committees totals 1,500. A permanent technical committee is also fixed and what is called the central corporative committee, or the general coördinating control body. It also sets up a general assembly of all sections and committees, which include all cabinet members and the secretary of the Fascist party. The general assembly must ratify adopted measures or opinions handed down by the committees and sections.

A council will act as a general controlling board over the syndical organizations and will govern the workmen's benefit and welfare activities.

Employés and employers are to be represented on the council on an equal basis. The new council, Italians claim, corresponds with Prime Minister MacDonald's advisory economic council and President Hoover's prosperity board, except that, in the case of Italy, the council is a regularly constituted state organ.

A bill, presented to the Italian senate this week by the ministry of justice asks modification of the existing regulation of Italian citizenship and establishing a special new kind of citizenship.

Under the new law there will be the ordinary kind of Italian citizens, and another kind, which will have what is to be called "minor citizenship." The minor citizens will be considered Italians, but they will be exempt from the obligation of military service, but at the same time will not have the usual political rights.

The bill is expected to cover those cases of emigrated Italians who have given up their citizenship, but who still keep their Italian sentiments and cultural attachments.

Milwaukee Girl Wins Grand Prize in Personality Contest

U. S. MAY LAY CLAIM TO AREA SIGHTED BY BYRD IN ANTARCTIC

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 15.—[Special.]—New polar areas, discovered by Rear Admiral Richard E. Byrd, during his recent expedition to the antarctic regions, may be claimed by the United States regardless of the reluctance of the explorer to claim them for this country.

Acting Secretary of State Joseph P. Cotton made this clear today in commenting on the rear admiral's speech of last Thursday, when he stated that he had no intention of claiming for the United States the new polar areas he had discovered. Mr. Cotton's opinion was that national claims could not be effected by verbal relinquishment on the part of an explorer.

It is recognized here that Rear Admiral Byrd has been concerned only with the scientific aspect of his explorations and that he is anxious not to precipitate a controversy between the United States and Great Britain over the arctic wastes.

So far as the United States government is concerned, the matter is an open one and stands just where it stood on Nov. 15, 1929, when the state department, in a note to the British embassy carefully left the question open, so that the utmost freedom might be enjoyed should, at any time, it be found desirable to make claims to the newly discovered territories.

PAYS $4,000 IN SHORTAGE CASE AT BARRINGTON

Roger D. Hay, Barrington attorney, who is awaiting arraignment on a warrant charging embezzlement and use of the Barrington village seal with intent to defraud, yesterday turned over $4,000 to Frank L. Waterman, village treasurer, as restitution for a part of the money he is accused of obtaining through the issuance of duplicate village bonds.

William Bardwell, attorney, who has been investigating Hay's alleged irregularities for the village, announced that he had discovered a total of $22,500 in irregularities in special assessments of which Hay had charge. Of this amount $4,000 was accounted for by the issuance of duplicate bonds, while $13,500 represented bonds which the records show were turned over to the contracting concern of Powers, Thompson & Co. of Joliet. The contractors claim they did not receive the bonds and Hay said he knew nothing about them.

The remaining $5,000 was in bonds deposited with F. M. Zeller & Co., Chicago brokers, by Hay, according to Bardwell. This amount, Bardwell said, is covered by Hay's surety bond and will be repaid to the village.

HUNT 'WITCH' MAN IN CUBA AFTER HE KIDNAPS BABIES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HAVANA, Cuba, March 15.—Troops and police scoured Guines, Havana province, today, for a Negro agent of a band of witch doctors, who, rumor says, are seeking the blood of a child for use in the cure of a sick follower of an African cult.

Entering the home of Pedro Vilaboy, the Negro lifted a two months' old baby from its bed and stuffed it in a sack. He was making his way to the brush, when the child's cries attracted the mother, who raised the alarm and neighbors joined in the chase. The Negro threw the sack into the bush and disappeared into a cane field.

He appeared later at the home of Trino Rodriguez, where he made off with a baby girl only a few months old. He was overtaken and again threw the child into the ditch, running to the cane fields. There is talk of burning the cane fields in the neighborhood to drive the Negro from cover.

PERSONALITY'S GRAND PRIZE TO MILWAUKEE GIRL

High School Miss Wins Check for $5,000.

Milwaukee, Wis., March 15.—[Special.]—Delving among 70,000 photographs for signs of the superiative in personality and character, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE has found and announces in Miss June Huebsch of Milwaukee the winner of the grand prize in its personality contest.

In Miss Huebsch, 18 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Huebsch, 1298 Prospect avenue, Milwaukee, a senior in Shorewood High school, were found the qualities, the combinations of strength, appeal, and promise that satisfied Doris Blake, famous TRIBUNE characterologist, her search was ended.

Miss Huebsch, whose picture occupies the first page of today's rotogravure section, in the executive offices of the state capitol at Madison received from Florida from Gov. Walter Kohler a friendly telegram expressing pride that Wisconsin's girlhood had supplied the preëminence in personality sought by THE TRIBUNE, and from Walter L. Smith, acting for the governor, THE TRIBUNE'S check for $5,000.

Gov. Kohler's wire follows:

"A fine personality is an essential attribute to happiness and success in life. My congratulations are extended to you on winning THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE Personality Contest prize of $5,000, and I hope you will thoroughly enjoy the reward. Please accept my wishes for much happiness and good fortune in the future.

"WALTER J. KOHLER,
"Governor of Wisconsin."

Homage of State.

Mr. Smith, giving not alone his own and Gov. Kohler's congratulations, but the good wishes of the people of the state of Wisconsin, to this modest and lovely Milwaukee girl, whose personality and charm have thus been recognized, welcomed her to the capitol, and with pride and pleasure expressed the belief that Miss Blake and THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE had selected well and wisely in choosing her from among all of the photographs examined.

The search for the maximum in personality was begun last October. It was in no sense a beauty contest, although a pleasing appearance and beauty of feature are no minor attributes in creating a gratifying personality. It was a $22,000 search among the girls in Chicagoland for just that combination of characteristics that have been found in those whose photographs have appeared as prize winners in THE TRIBUNE and now are shown in the maximum degree in Miss Huebsch.

There were 140 prizes of $100 each and three major prizes of $1,000, $2,000, and $5,000 promised and awarded. The contest closed in January, and more than 70,000 photographs had been received in THE TRIBUNE office to be examined and analyzed by Miss Blake.

Two weeks ago, Miss Janet Gay, a high school girl in Jackson, Mich., was chosen for the third of the major prizes. She received THE TRIBUNE'S check for $1,000. Last week, Miss Elizabeth Hassler, a beautiful girl of serenity and poise, as Miss Blake characterized her, was made happy by the gift of $2,000 from THE TRIBUNE.

Miss Huebsch's picture was sent to THE TRIBUNE by her mother, she says, and June knew and thought very little about it. Her mother, possibly knowing June better than any one else, thought a great deal about it, confident the personality she had seen develop from a little child would reveal itself to THE TRIBUNE in the photograph.

Mrs. Huebsch was not at all surprised at learning her daughter had been chosen from 70,000 of the fairest girls in all this land. But June was greatly surprised.

She had made no plans about spending the money. She wants to travel, and now that she has $5,000 to spend that want expresses itself in the wish to enjoy an Easter excursion trip with school friends to Washington. Beyond that there were no highways that $5,000 opened to her.

"I'll give it to dad," was the sudden thought she had when pressed by an acquaintance anxious to see the whole $5,000 mentally disposed of in one gay spree. Dad, however, has other ideas, and the pride and joy in his eyes when he learned June had been chosen were mute testimonials that her prize money will go into the channels she herself chooses.

Just a Normal Girl.

Reading and the radio she enjoys, but she is no junior recluse. She likes dancing, and she likes boys in moderation, but no special boy. She likes girls, too, just as well, and has as many friends among them. She likes her teachers, and she loves her family. Her older brother, 22, she loves, and her brother of 14 and sister of 12, she adores.

She drives the family car and swims, swims all summer at the Huebsch summer home at Ellen lake near Sheboygan. Driving is fun, she said, the family drives wherever they go. Maybe they drive too much, because when Gov. Kohler invited June to come to Madison to get her check and the good wishes of the state, she learned a little regretfully a party had been formed to drive there from Milwaukee.

"I never have ridden on a train," she whispered to one of her friends. Thus she gained another new and thrilling experience.

12,000 NEW CHURCH MEMBERS OBTAINED IN EVANGELISTIC DRIVE

Twelve thousand new church members were secured last week in the Greater Chicago Visitation Evangelism campaign, the Rev. Joshua Oden, chairman of the drive, announced yesterday. It was stated that the number would be increased to 15,000 today. While the official drive ended yesterday, the campaign will continue until Easter. Many thousands of new church members will be added by that time, according to leaders. The jubilee service of the campaign will be held on March 30 at the Auditorium theater. A choir of 500 will sing and reports will be given by district chairmen. Admission will be by tickets, to be obtained through coöperating churches.

BANKS PROMISE TO HELP CITY GET CAR PLAN

Financiers Join Aldermen in Transit Parley.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

The bankers' committee pledged its coöperation yesterday in working out a transportation program for Chicago that will consolidate the surface and elevated lines and provide needed extensions and improvements in a new company.

The pledge was made to the local transportation committee of the city council at a special meeting by Harry L. Stuart of Halsey, Stuart & Co., Frank O. Wetmore of the First National bank, and Eugene Stevens, president of the Continental Illinois banks. Mr. Stevens appeared as the representative of Arthur Reynolds, third member of the bankers' committee.

"We are prepared to sit in and work until we finish a financial plan or fail," said Mr. Wetmore to the council committee.

"Practicable Plan" Is Goal.

"Under no circumstances will we recommend a plan that will not get results in our opinion," said Mr. Stuart. "If we cannot get a plan that is feasible, practicable and will get the results, we will say so frankly."

"The large amount of money to make transit improvements, extensions and betterments," said Mr. Stevens, "must be obtained from investors on a sound financial proposition. It is a practical situation with which we have to deal and there must be a safe plan which will appeal to persons who supply the money."

Stuart Makes Special Trip.

At the conclusion of the meeting the aldermen seemed pleased with these sweeping promises of aid. Mr. Stuart came from New York especially for the meeting. Since he is one of those concerned in the $300,000,000 Fox Film controversy in New York, the aldermen interpreted his coming as an indication that he is sincerely interested in the transit situation in Chicago. Ald. Joseph B. McDonough [13th], chairman of the local transportation committee, proposed a vote of thanks to Mr. Stuart.

It was decided that the transit subcommittee of the council, headed by Ald. James B. Bowler [25th] will begin thrashing out the points of difference between the bankers and the city tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock. These differences relate to rate of return, compensation to the city, allowances for depreciation and nontransportation costs. Only general statements were made yesterday; there was no discussion on debatable points.

McDonough Is Hopeful.

"While the comments were general," said Ald. McDonough, "they were comprehensive and definite on coöperation. I am pleased with the session because there was more indication on the part of the bankers that they want a settlement than has been exhibited at any time in the last 10 years. Now, if they earnestly desire an agreement, they will be reasonable and fair and the chances of getting a settlement are increased that much."

In the discussion yesterday the action of the bankers so far was frequently referred to by them as "an agreement on a set of principles," rather than a plan of reorganization as has been commonly believed heretofore. This set of principles has not yet been agreed upon with reference to the first mortgage bonds of the surface lines.

All Securities Not Included.

The banks gave the impression that the agreement to the principles does not extend to an agreement on the application of the principles to all outstanding securities. No alderman asked about the progress made in fitting the principles into the situation.

"Do you believe that under these principles," asked Ald. Guy Guernsey [6th], "you will make bonds which are saleable and acceptable to the voters?"

"We will make a plan which will get results," replied Mr. Stuart, "or we will say frankly that we cannot. It may be stated now that we cannot make a plan by which $200,000,000 in bonds could be sold at one time. There would be no need for so much money at one time. But upon certain premises we believe a plan can be developed by which $20,000,000 worth of bonds a year might be sold—and that is all that could be wisely spent in a year."

Calls Suggestions Vital.

"Do you consider that your suggestions with reference to the matters not yet covered in the proposed ordinance are of great importance?" asked Ald. Guernsey.

"They are vital," responded Mr. Stuart.

The suggestions made by the bankers include proposals for a fair and reasonable rate of return for the proposed new company, a fund for renewals and depreciation, construction of subways by the city, an indeterminate franchise, and compensatoin to the city at 3 per cent of the gross receipts.

Some of the suggestions of the bankers, such as the one relating to the amount which should be set aside yearly for replacements and depreciation, concern the operating department of the proposed transportation system. No operator was present yesterday, and it is said that for that reason discussion of the specific issues was avoided.

Seek to Interest Investors.

"From our viewpoint the principal task devolving upon us," said Mr. Stuart, "is to devise a financial plan which will appeal to the investors. In a set of principles we have a real basis for a merger of the surface lines and the elevated roads.

"It is some job to work out a plan by which $200,000,000 can be gathered. The plan must be one which will appeal to the investors all the way from Maine to California. Investors will not invest in these properties again unless they are sure their money will be returned."

"The only times we have made any headway," said Mr. Wetmore, "were when we threw everything on the table and fought it out. That is what we will have to do now."

SCHOOL GROUPS GIVE PLAN FOR FINANCE RELIEF

Two school teacher groups yesterday adopted a platform for presentation to the state legislature, aimed to remedy the present financial ills of the city's public school system. At a meeting of the Chicago Principals' club in the City club a bulletin was issued setting forth six recommendations for relief.

The remedial measures suggested include a revision of the state's taxing laws; revamping of the state distributive school fund law, making it similar to that now in use in New York state; liquidation of existing deficits, and provision for a separate educational fund for the payment of salaries of those engaged in instruction work only.

At the same time the Chicago division of the Illinois State Teachers' association met at the Palmer house and unanimously adopted the platform of the Principals' club. R. R. Smith, president of the division, urged the members to concentrate on the smaller educational groups in the city if they hope to wield any influence on the legislature.

For the first time in three months a school board pay roll was paid on time yesterday. By means of another $380,000 contribution from the citizens' rescue fund the last of the board's salary obligations up to March 15 were met. Six hundred civil service office employés were handed two weeks' salaries amounting to $65,000, and $315,000 in checks were mailed to the 2,782 engineers, janitors, and firemen, the 375 school clerks, and the 437 bath, bus, and lunchroom attendants.

HUNGER SOFTENS RUSSIAN WAR ON RICH AND CHURCH

Moscow Press Tells of Fear of Famine.

BY DONALD DAY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

RIGA, Latvia, March 15. — The length of the truce ordered by Dictator Joseph V. Stalin in his order last night through the central committee of the communist party for the relaxation of the harsh measures against churches, priests, rich peasants and traders has not been mentioned. But the decree, a reversal of the chief communist policies, has created amazement which is reflected not only in the Baltic press but also in communist papers in Moscow.

These papers hint that Stalin is following in the footsteps of Lenin and legalizing a new economic policy in permitting private trade once more in order to tide the soviet state over its present economic crisis.

Feared New Famine.

In some quarters Stalin's action had been expected for some time since agriculture has been on the verge of collapse owing to the forcible establishment of communal farms. Continuation of the program threatened Russia with a famine worse than the one of 1921.

According to the Moscow Isvestia 14,264,300 individual farms were liquidated up to March 1, and the 110,200 communal farms that were supposed to result were only half organized. This figure, says the paper, embraced half the farms in Russia. These communes have only 26,083 tractors, of which 27 per cent are in need of repairs.

Recently Stalin published an article on the front page of the Pravda which foreshadowed his present volte face. He said that the communist party was dizzy with the success of its recent persecutions and hinted that a halt would have to be called in order to give the overturned villages time to reorganize themselves.

It is conservatively estimated that during the last three months more than 300,000 families of kulaks, or wealthy peasants, have been dispossessed of their property in Russia.

The cheka's extreme methods, Stalin found, would have meant almost certain death to 3,000,000 Jews whose living depended on acting as village storekeepers and small traders. The impossibility of caring for so large a class, together with the energetic protests of foreign Jewish organizations, is believed also to have influenced the permit for private trading to be resumed.

The world wide wave of protest at Russia's war on religion is likewise supposed to have influenced the lifting of the categorical ban on worship. Hereafter, until the order is rescinded, churches may only be closed voluntarily by the people.

New York Prays for Russia.

New York, March 15.—[Special.]—Prayers for a cessation of religious persecution in Russia will be offered tomorrow by all faiths at special services in New York churches, temples and synagogues. Special services will be held at St. Patrick's cathedral and the 444 other churches in the archdiocese of New York. At the Cathedral of St. John the Divine the prayer services and special meeting tomorrow afternoon will be attended by Bishop William T. Manning, by Archbishop Platon, metropolitan of the Russian orthodox church in America, and Archbishop Alexander of the Greek church in North and South America.

Boy, 8, Saves Sister from Lynx with Bow and Arrow

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

REGINA, Sask., March 15.—Defending themselves with only a bow and an arrow, Robert Martenson, 8, and his 5 year old sister drove off a lynx at their farm home at Warmley, near here. The little girl was badly injured by the animal. The two had gone into the bush to play "Indian." The lynx sprang on the girl. Her brother kicked it and then drew his bow. The arrow hit the lynx which disappeared in the brush.

FRENCH RENEW PLEA TO U. S. FOR SECURITY PACT

Stimson Promises to Seek a New Formula.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 15.—There may be a five power naval limitation treaty—limitation, not reduction. There probably will be at least a three power treaty.

The French have renewed their wheedling of Uncle Sam for some kind of security insurance, and Secretary of State Stimson has promised to see if he can work out a formula that will assure France that America will not aid her enemy in time of war but that will not commit America to any course of action in advance. This problem has taxed even Mr. Stimson's legal ingenuity, and the chairman of the American delegation has refused all week-end invitations in order to concentrate on a solution.

U. S. Loses All Issues.

The American delegation has lost every point at issue in this conference. How Uncle Sam gave away so much doubtlessly will be the subject of political post mortems on the London naval conference for years to come. Only part of the story is now known. Some day, perhaps, it will all come out. Such facts, however, as are established indicate that there was an elaborate preparation.

And this preparation was carried out, curiously enough, by Ambassador Charles G. Dawes, who in his speech opening the peace bridge in Buffalo in 1927 ascribed the failure of former President Coolidge's Geneva conference to lack of sufficient preparation.

Fate, in an unusually ironical mood, decreed that Gen. Dawes be given a chance to make those careful preparations that he had declared essential to a successful arms conference. And even more ironically, fate had decreed that he should do it in the role of the sort of ambassador he had pictured as ideal in his speech. In that speech Gen. Dawes derided the career of diplomats and argued for the commitment of our representation abroad to men of large affairs and without diplomatic experience.

Admirals Are Eliminated.

Gen. Dawes began the preparations for this conference with a speech in London after a talk with Prime Minister MacDonald, in which he said that statesmen, not admirals, should write this treaty. Admirals are all very well in their way, such as giving technical advice, but must be kept in their places, he said. This was a reflection of the view of Mr. MacDonald and President Hoover, and pacifists generally that admirals as delegates wrecked the Geneva conference. So admirals were kept off the American and British delegations to the London conference.

When the negotiations began, Gen. Dawes acceded to the British demands for a division of cruisers into eight inch gun and six inch gun classes. That was the fatal surrender America refused to make at Geneva. From that moment the British had America on the run. Gen. Dawes came down to 21 eight inch cruisers to Great Britain's 15, and Mr. Stimson completed the surrender.

As the British had foreseen, to give the Japanese a 60 per cent tonnage of America's twenty-one big cruisers would have given Tokio 86 per cent of the tonnage of Great Britain's fifteen cruisers, which the British could not tolerate. So Mr. Stimson came down to eighteen to save the British from this predicament. This situation would not have been produced but for Gen. Dawes' acceptance of the British demand for limitation of eight inch gun cruisers in a class apart. All cruisers would have been lumped together and Japan's present cruiser strength would have been 63 per cent of America's allowance and 61 per cent of Great Britain's.

U. S. Delegation "Loaded."

The preparation at the Washington end included loading the delegation and advisory board with advocates of the British six inch gun cruiser school of thought, which had sprung up under the Hoover administration.

Rear Admiral Hilary P. Jones' protest against acquiescence with the British program went into Mr. Stimson's waste basket and Admiral Jones went home, ill and broken hearted. Admirals and other officers who have raised their voices against giving away the little that is left have been relegated to the sidelines.

Only recently Capt. W. W. Smythe and Commander Harold C. Train, who hold Admiral Jones' views, were removed from the experts' subcommittee.

How Uncle Sam lost to Japan was described in my dispatches yesterday. That a complete agreement had been reached between the American and Japanese delegations was admitted at American headquarters, though official confirmation was withheld. The news came from the British and the Japanese. The American delegates had denied an agreement had been reached.

Japan Is the Winner.

The agreement with Japan provides that it scrap the battle cruiser Kongo, and that America shall scrap three capital ships, and Great Britain five, which would leave Great Britain and America fifteen each and Japan nine.

America, though allowed eighteen big cruisers, will lay down the last three between 1933 and 1935, completing, therefore, only fifteen during the life of the treaty. That will give Japan 72 per cent of America's big cruiser tonnage until the next conference. Japan is to have 70 per cent of America's allotment of small cruiser strength, 61 per cent of her destroyer strength, and 86 per cent of her submarine tonnage.

TARDIEU ARRIVES FOR FINAL EFFORT TO SAVE PARLEY

Meets MacDonald Today in Secret Session.

BY HENRY WALES.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 15.—Premier Tardieu of France arrived in London tonight for a final discussion with Prime Minister MacDonald tomorrow at Chequers. Their talk will hinge on two problems—France's naval requirements and a security pact. The fate of the naval conference, it is believed, depends on the meeting. The French premier tonight declined to make a statement.

"What can I say now?" he said. "Maybe tomorrow evening I will have something important to tell."

Despite America's and Great Britain's insistence that they will not undertake any political guarantees, the French persist in the belief that some sort of an undertaking will be offered by President Hoover and Prime Minister MacDonald rather than see the conference go to pieces.

Italians Remain Mute.

The Italian delegates remain mute, with Foreign Minister Dino Grandi reiterating the same old story—"We have no figures—our only claim is for parity with France."

At informal conversations again today the British and Americans hammered the Fascist delegate to make some conciliatory move and indicate Rome's idea of what its sea power should be.

"Our attitude is identical with the policy of the United States," said a member of the Italian delegation. "We cannot understand how the United States fails to grasp our position when it is absolutely the same as that of Washington. America insists on parity with Great Britain—Italy insists on parity with France. Let France name any figure—500,000 tons, 300,000 tons or zero—we will accept."

French Point Out Difference.

Commenting on this, the French point out that while America is willing to accept parity with any amount of tonnage Great Britain sets, nevertheless she is actively seeking to negotiate an agreement through suggesting various formulas while the black shirts sit silent.

Considerable interest has been aroused among the delegations by the sudden arrival in London of Jonkheer Loudon, Dutch chairman of the league of nations preparatory disarmament commission.

Herr Loudon explains his visit by stating that he merely wants to confer with the heads of the various delegations to arrange a satisfactory date for the next session of the league's disarmament commission when this conference concludes its labors. He recalls that the last league session a year ago the naval phase of disarmament was handed over to the five powers principally interested in a solution and that the results were to be taken by the league as a basis for its work.

The present intention is to call the league disarmament commission's next meeting at Geneva in June to take up whatever agreement may be reached here as a basis of discussion. It is expected that the assembly will propose February, 1931, for a full international disarmament conference.

Watch Channel Tunnel Plan.

The French delegation is watching the channel tunnel situation closely and expressed gratification of the investigating committee's report, which recommended the construction of a pilot tube immediately, which afterward may be used as a drainage and ventilation tunnel for two big railway bores.

With this committee reporting favorably on the economic and financial aspects of the scheme, the only remaining factors are the political and imperial defense committees, which will now be asked to examine the project.

The British cabinet is understood to be unanimously in favor of constructing a tunnel and Prime Minister MacDonald is prepared to begin conversations with the French government over the necessary military and naval arrangements to safeguard the continental approach and to protect the tube beneath the channel.

U. S. LAUNCHES NEWEST SUB WHILE PARLEY TALKS NAVY 'CUTS'

Mare Island, Cal., March 16.—[U. P.]—While delegates to the five power naval conference in London still struggled with reduction problems, the V-6, most up to date undersea craft yet built, was launched here today.

More than 20,000 people witnessed the submarine's plunge into San Francisco bay, after a bottle of cider had been broken on its bow. Gov. C. C. Young and many other dignitaries were there.

Jeanne Kessling, San Francisco schoolgirl, officiated at the christening. It was she who broke the bottle of cider over the bow just as the lever was released at 1:50 p. m., to send the huge craft gracefully down the ways to its new habitat.

Although not the largest submarine in the world, France being the possessor of the largest, the V-6 is credited with being the most modern. The vessel is 381 feet long and has a displacement of 2,878 tons. Its surface speed is 21 knots. The submerged speed is eight knots. The craft will carry a crew of eight officers and 80 men.

PRESIDENT WON'T LET CABINET QUIT IN POLISH CRISIS

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WARSAW, Poland, March 15.—The Polish cabinet, which yesterday decided to resign as a result of a vote of nonconfidence against Minister of Labor Pryster, called on President Ignace Moscicki to tender its resignation today.

President Moscicki refused to accept the resignation, expressing surprise that parliament precipitated a government crisis at a moment when the budget discussion was uncompleted. The president issued an official statement declaring he will visit Marshal Joseph Pilsudski and discuss the entire political situation with him and act on his advice.

The government will continue to hold office Monday and sign the Polish-German commercial treaty, which was delayed by yesterday's events.

STATE-CHECKED RUM MONOPOLY, DU PONT'S PLAN

Criminals Are in Control Now, He Declares.

tion be the parent of further devices of deception, but if harsh and unpopular restrictions continue to be imposed by law, these criminals, popularly known as bootleggers, stand ready to fill the gap. Never before has such a situation confronted lawmakers. An illegal power sufficiently strong to threaten the power of the law itself! We need not fight with this statement. It is lamentably true and may in the end prove a wholesome check on the system of liquor control which is to be devised. The whip of the bootlegger will drive the states to a more sane study of the liquor problem."

In reply to blunt questions as to his original attitude toward prohibition and as to his long family tradition in social customs, Mr. du Pont said:

"When a plan for control and distribution of intoxicating liquors is proposed, it is well that the listener should have benefit of some personal facts concerning the author of it.

"I was brought up in a home where alcoholic drinks of all kinds were easily available, never under a lock of which the key was hidden from me.

Drank Little When Young.

"As a young man I drank little, entirely from my own choice, although I never refused if I might be thought opposed to the use of intoxicating beverages or fearful to trust myself to take a drink. In my earlier days nearly all of the liquor I used was at home in the presence of my parents.

"I have always been opposed to 'prohibition' and in my youth looked upon total abstainers as freaks, with something defective in their makeup.

"When national prohibition was proposed, I was led, like others, to believe it the wish of the people of the United States and I regretfully acquiesced in the adoption of the eighteenth amendment. It was not until several years after its passage that I realized actual conditions and the consequent train of ill effects. I have observed the prohibition laws quite as well as many who profess to approve and uphold them, but at heart I have not the least resentment or condemnation of those who violate the law. The eighteenth amendment is so contrary to my conception of the principles of the constitution of the United States and with my ideas of republican government that I cannot for myself accept it as part of the constitution, even though the Supreme court may differ with me."

Not Financially Interested.

Right there Mr. du Pont interjected this statement, adding, in his courtly way, "I will ask you to include that in your report, if there is room."

This was the statement:

"I have never, in any way, financially or otherwise, had any connection with the liquor interests."

Then he disclosed in detail his plan, which is, in brief, to take the liquor business out of the hands of criminals and put it in the hands of a private monopoly strictly accountable to the state.

"In view," he said, "of the chaotic and demoralizing conditions we face, it is imperative to place control of liquor, even though the quantity be small, in hands best qualified to dispose of it. Were the consumption of alcohol reduced to five per cent of what was consumed in the year 1914, it would still be the equivalent of 200,000,000 gallons of 4 per cent beer.

"The importance of this procedure is magnified in proportion to the increasing estimate of the amount actually in use. Many believe our consumption still as great as in 1914, but even the lowest estimated quantity requires legal, not illegal, distribution.

"We may assume as part of the problem that probably one-half of the people of a state would consume some quantity of intoxicating liquor if it were obtainable legally, of good quality, and at fair price. The liquor traffic is a business subject to business rules. Therefore, the first problem in successful management is that of service. A state cannot escape the obligation to serve those who wish to use intoxicating liquor in a moderate and legal way. Under our laws the people are entitled to a good quality of liquor, a reasonable choice, accessible at reasonable times, and at fair prices. In fact, the people are entitled to the greatest freedom in so far as it can be met without harm to the community.

GIVES WET VIEWS

PIERRE S. DU PONT.

"And on the other side of the problem are the conditions necessary in order to avoid harmful results. Some restrictions require little more than passing notice, as all will agree.

Drunkenness Not Countenanced.

"First, no man is entitled by law to interfere with the rights of his neighbor. Therefore, drunkenness, with consequent risk of injury to the person or property of others, cannot be legally countenanced. The sale of liquor to minors or to others whose health would undoubtedly be impaired by its use must be forbidden.

"Beyond these restrictions of undoubted propriety, there is some danger. We have the menace of a tremendous and now powerful illegal organization, the bootleggers, ready to serve where the state fails in its obligation to the community.

"A majority of the American people will agree that state governments are not capable of conducting business operations. Much less are they capable of conducting a business embodying the peculiar requirements and intricate problems of distribution of intoxicating beverages. The very fact that the business is one to be restricted and discouraged makes it a particularly proper subject for supervision and policing. Therefore, its administration and management should not be in the hands of the state, the hands that are to govern the restrictions and control the police department. This peculiar condition, added to the general incapacity of governments for business affairs, points strongly to a system of private management, such as has been successfully established in Sweden."

Asked About Power, Profits.

I interrupted, saying:

"In a country so vast as ours would not this system give the power of a giant and incredible profits to a private monopoly?"

"At first thought," Mr. du Pont replied, "the powers of this proposed monopoly might appear appalling, but if the idea of service is to be recognized the monopoly must be made up of men of undoubted integrity, capable of handling and administering the business in a satisfactory manner. These men, in addition to their capacity as managers, must finance the undertaking and devise a satisfactory plan of operation. Penalty for failure would be the cancellation of the monopoly and return of the business to the state. The monopoly would, therefore, have very limited power, in view of its uncertain lifetime."

As to the profit of the states under this system Mr. du Pont thinks they would be more than a billion a year if English liquor prices were charged, and considerably less at Quebec prices.

Profits Are Restricted.

"I grant," he said, "that the profits flowing from the liquor industry under the system of state-controlled private monopoly will undoubtedly raise a picture of tremendous financial power, but under the Swedish system profits are restricted to an agreed percentage on capital invested. This system is already in vogue in the United States in the regulation of our railroads, the profits of which are limited in return on capital.

"In the proposed case the problem would be somewhat easier, as an agreed system of bookkeeping at the start would insure an accurate determination of the capital investment at all times, free from the controversy now existing with the railroads. The profits above those allotted to the monopoly would flow to the state governments.

Revenue Would Exceed Billion.

"A rough estimate indicates that, if the prices now prevailing in England were applied in the United States, a total revenue in excess of a billion dollars would flow to the states; while, if the prices now prevailing in the province of Quebec, Canada, were used, a material reduction would result."

This fixing of prices would be a most important matter, Mr. du Pont thinks. If prices were too high the curse of bootlegging would not be stamped out. If they were too low there might be danger of excessive drinking through the greater purchasing power of the weak brother. The proper course, he says, would probably be to establish prices somewhat in line with those prevailing in Canada.

He was interesting—and he was dealing with a phase of the drink problem that few have considered—when he discussed the new peril which he described as "the bottle as the unit of consumption." Vicious as was the old saloon's system of dramselling — selling by the drink — he thought the present frantic consumption by the bottle, because the bottle has become the unit, was not less infamous.

Might Sell by the Drink.

"A bottle purchased by the individual," he said, "tends to become a unit of consumption. It has to be emptied before it is to be set aside. This has been particularly true under our prohibition laws when the presence of a partly filled bottle might lead to results more undesirable to the drinker than mere overindulgence or intoxication.

"The question of kind of liquor to be sold is one of importance also. Under the slogan of service, no liquor should be forbidden unless there is definite cause for such restriction. During the war it was found in England that much abuse of liquor resulted from the custom of serving beer and whisky together and the practice was forbidden. Whether such restriction is wise or necessary in the United States is questionable."

Mr. du Pont drew to a close by picturing what the state-controlled liquor dispensary of the future might be.

"We may picture," he said, "the distribution of liquor in the future as taking place from a store conveniently located for the people to be served. Under state supervision it is required to be clean, orderly, and as safe for the customer as the best stores of the community; its shelves displaying in sealed packages a choice of liquors to meet the tastes of the population, each package labeled as to kind, quality and alcoholic strength. The individual wishing to purchase must be licensed and all purchases must be entered in a book with a limitation as to the amount purchased. The store will carry no advertising material, and no advertisement in the street or in newspapers or magazines will lure the customers to visit the establishment.

Emphasizes Service.

"The principle of this whole scheme of control must be service to the people. Whatever is done must be done well, and done by and for rational people.

"I consider the abuse of alcohol by irrational people as a problem of society to be reckoned with as are other diseases. The rights, customs and habits of the many should not be interfered with in an endeavor to hold a few abnormal cases in check. Prohibition laws permit this all inclusive interference, with all too evident result that the normal are annoyed but the abnormal still fail of proper treatment."

"What do you think of the current hearings on prohibition before the judiciary committee of the house of representatives?"

"Very valuable. The more ideas honestly expressed the sooner we shall get out of the wilderness."

"What will be the influence of women's organizations, such as Mrs. Sabin represents?"

Women's Influence Effective.

"Very effective. The women of our country, the employers of labor, and others in responsible positions can do much toward solving the liquor problem. The question before us is one of information, toleration, and coöperation."

"One more question, Mr. du Pont. What hope of reasonably prompt and definite change have you?"

"Developments in recent months indicate that some change is near, and the prospect is that the prohibition law will soon break down. It is going to be a very difficult task, however, to effect a constructive change because an element of the prohibitionists will never give up."

Some Observations by Pierre S. du Pont

[Chairman of Du Pont de Nemours company, chairman of General Motors corporation, director of Philadelphia National bank, director of Bankers' Trust company, director of American International corporation, member of American Philosophical society.]

It is the whip of the bootlegger that will drive the states to a more sane study of the liquor problem.

Under the present liquor laws the normal users of liquor are annoyed, but the abnormal still fail of proper treatment.

Many believe that our consumption of liquor is as great as in 1914, but even the lowest estimated quantity requires legal, not illegal, distribution.

Prohibition has set us back, but it may have taught us a wholesome and valuable lesson in the conduct of our affairs in the future.

A new generation has been reared on strong drink only. They must be weaned from it. They cannot be forcibly deprived of their choice.

DEAN MATHEWS IS HONORED BY PARIS SEMINARY

Church Leaders Witness Awarding of Degree.

BY THE REV. JOHN EVANS.

Chicago's leadership in Protestant theological education was recognized yesterday when the Paris Theological seminary conferred the degree of doctor of theology on Dean Shailer Mathews of the University of Chicago divinity school.

Dean Mathews is the first American professor of theology to be so honored by the French seminary, the oldest Protestant theological institution. The formalities of conferring the degree took place at a luncheon at the University club at which 30 religious leaders of the city were guests of the Paris seminary. President Robert Maynard Hutchins of the university presided. The Rev. Dr. John A. Maynard, pastor of the French Episcopal church, New York, and an alumnus of Chicago university as well as of the Paris seminary, conferred the degree.

Dates from Reformation.

Dr. Maynard pointed out that the Paris seminary goes back to the days of the Reformation. Prior to the Franco-Prussian war it was located at Strasbourg, but it was removed to Paris at the close of the war in 1871. At present the seminary is related to the Sorbonne and is open to students of all Protestant faiths, although officially the school belongs to the Reformed Church of France and to the French Lutherans.

"The faculty members of the Paris seminary know Dean Mathews," said Dr. Maynard, "as a prophet of honesty; as a man who cares nothing for religious fads. They know him as the author of a notable history of the French revolution, and so they thought that the first American professor of theology ever honored by a doctor's degree from the Paris seminary should be Dean Mathews."

Noted Facutly Members.

The faculty of the Paris seminary is especially noted in America for such members as Doctors Auguste and L. H. Sabatier. The latter has had wide influence on the development of the philosophy of religion, according to Dr. Maynard. Archbishop Soderblom, head of the Swedish Lutheran church, is an alumnus of the school.

Dr. Maynard was introduced by Dean Duncan H. Browne of St. James Cathedral. Among those present were F. C. Eiselen, Garrett Biblical institute, Evanston; F. C. Grant, Western Theological seminary, Evanston; Charles W. Gilkey, Chicago university chapel; Ozora Davis, Chicago seminary; E. B. Snow, Meadville seminary, and Bishop Francis J. McConnell, president of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America.

U. S. ART PRAISED AT SPECIAL SHOW IN STOCKHOLM

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, March 15.—(AP)—The American art exhibition at the Academy of Art was officially opened today by the minister of education, Prof. Claes Lindskog, in the presence of the crown prince, Prince Eugene, diplomats and painters.

"American art as we meet it here," said Prof. Lindskog, "is rich and free from too heavy traditions, and is full of powerful ideas of proud and original culture.

"I am sure that the exhibition will give our Swedish art strong impulse. Sweden is grateful to be the first state of Europe to receive an American art exhibition of this high standing."

U. S. NAVY OFFICER SHOT IN ATTACK BY CHINA BANDITS

SHANGHAI, March 15.—(AP)—Five American and two Chinese steamers, attacked with heavy machine gun and rifle fire by Chinese bandit soldiery late yesterday, beat off their attackers and escaped from one of the most dangerous rapids in the Yangtze river. Hidden among rocks of mountainous cliffs between which roars the Hsontang rapids in foaming whirlpools, the bandits fired from both banks, where the great river is narrowed to sixty yards.

The brunt of the attack was borne by the American steamer Chiping, whose American guard under command of Lieut. C. M. Winslow, U. S. N., of Newport, R. I., fired more than 3,000 bullets at the hidden foe. Lieut. Winslow, son of a fighting father, Rear Admiral Cameron McR. Winslow, retired, was struck in the left leg with machine gun bullets. At an Ichang hospital physicians said Winslow was not wounded seriously. Three Chinese members of the Chiping's crew were wounded severely. The Chiping was reported hit by 500 bullets and its side pierced by the fire of a field piece.

Four other American vessels and two Chinese boats were hammered by the bandit firing, but escaped.

Find Society Woman's Body in Barge Canal

Utica, N. Y., March 15.—(AP)—The body of Mrs. Beecher M. Crouse, Utica society woman for whom a nationwide search had been prosecuted, was recovered from the barge canal here tonight by two men in a rowboat. Mrs. Crouse, the wife of the president of the Shenandoah Rayon corporation of Utica, disappeared mysteriously from her home here Nov. 14 last. She had been in ill health for several years. Dr. Gordon A. Holden, coroner, pronounced it a case of suicide.

TURKEYS DINE ON GOLD; DUST FOUND IN CROPS

Keyser, W. Va., March 15.—[Special.]—Gold dust has been found in the crops of a number of turkeys owned by James L. Marshall of Grant county, who resides near Greenland Gap. The birds, seventeen of them, were sent to the market at Burton, Md. When they were dressed and cleaned a small quantity of gold dust was found in their crops.

It was stated today that several offers for a lease on the farm had been made to Marshall but that he had refused to consider them after learning of the gold in the turkeys' crops.

LEWIS SAYS U. S. VIOLATES OWN DRY AMENDMENT

Nation Ignores Grant of Power to States.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

Inside history of the 18th amendment is being dusted off by James Hamilton Lewis, who presents the argument that the government in its enforcement methods is violating the express provisions of the amendment itself.

Mr. Lewis says that as senator from Illinois in 1918 he was author of section 2 of the prohibition amendment giving congress and the states "concurrent power" to enforce. He declares that the debate and background show the reason of this section was to establish the "right and privilege" of the states to administer prohibition.

Says Issue Is Obscured.

In his campaign for the Democratic nomination for the senate Mr. Lewis is assembling documents and notes giving the historical setting of the battle in congress when the dry amendment was submitted.

"You ask me what is the basic issue," said Senator Lewis, "and I reply that I see a need to re-state the true issue. It is fogged or misrepresented in the congressional hearings, as it appears to the people at large.

"Let me invite you to note that the vice in the administration of the national prohibition amendment is the deliberate refusal of the federal administration to recognize the law as stated in the amendment itself.

"The amendment gives to the states the very thing we who are opposing the present method of administration of the national prohibition law insist upon.

History Is Recalled.

"When the eighteenth amendment was presented to the senate I was leading an opposition to it on the ground that the matter of drink, food, school, and religion, should, whenever supervised under law, be the subject of the local law of the home county or state where the citizen lives who is to be the object of the enforcement.

"Senator Morris Sheppard of Texas, one of the ablest supporters of the prohibition law, was the author of the 18th amendment. On the floor of the senate he asserted in reply to my opposition to the amendment, 'I stand for state-wide, nation-wide, world-wide prohibition.'

Insists on State Rights.

"I insisted that the amendment should not be voted upon until the close of the war when our people were where they could consider its merits freed from the fever and the excitement which the war had put upon them, but if the amendment was to pass under the assumption that it was mere legislation to avoid saloons while our soldiers were in service, that there should be attached to it the right of the states to enforce the law within the state and by the officials of the state.

"Much discussion followed this proposition. In the final committee Senator Sheppard suggested that I prepare the proposed amendment. I wrote the phrase that is now appended to the amendment giving to the state the privilege of concurrence in the enforcement of the amendment. The words I used I copied from a decision of the Supreme court of the United States construing these phrases as it applied to the federal government and the state in the control of the waterways within the states, particularly the Dubuque dam of Iowa.

"I now ask the public to see that in the amendment the very words are that the states shall have the right to concur or concurrence in the enforcement of the amendment."

ADDED TO HIGHWAY BUDGETS OF STATES QUARTER OF BILLION

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 15.—[Special.]—The road building programs of the states will be boosted a quarter of a billion dollars in 1930 as a part of the general expansion in construction activities recommended by President Hoover to improve the unemployment situation.

Officials of the bureau of public roads reported today that reports from state highway departments indicate that state and local authorities will spend $1,601,167,455 for highway improvements in 1930. The increased funds will be utilized in improving 32,352 miles of roads, an increase of 3,126 miles over this last year.

Five of the east north central states, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, and Wisconsin, plan to spend 303 million during 1930, the bureau of public roads said today. As New York, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania plan to expend 374 million, the bureau figures show that these seven states will expend almost half of the entire total.

"The planned expenditure by state highway departments for construction and maintenance of state highways is $937,500,455; the balance, $663,667,000, will be spent, according to the estimates, on local roads and bridges," the bureau said.

Thomas Fortune Ryan II. Is Injured in Auto Crash

Sheridan, Wyo., March 15.—(AP)—An X-ray examination today disclosed that Thomas Fortune Ryan II. suffered a small fracture of the skull and that a piece of his jaw bone was chipped off in an automobile accident last night.

Ryan, a grandson of the late Thomas Fortune Ryan, New York multimillionaire, drove his automobile into two trucks at the end of a street near his home here.

He received two severe gashes on the head, a badly lacerated neck, and other lesser cuts and bruises on the hands, arms, legs, and chest.

Dr. W. H. Roberts said that, while Ryan's condition was good, he was not definitely out of danger.

MRS. McCORMICK JOKES DENEEN ON COURT STAND

Says League, Tribunal Spurn Separation.

Bloomington, Ill., March 15.—Ruth Hanna McCormick told an audience here tonight that while Senator Charles S. Deneen is "seeking to divorce the world court from the league of nations," the court itself wants no separation from the league as its meal ticket.

"Senator Deneen has been going from town to town," said Mrs. McCormick, "trying to divorce the world court from the league of nations. As a lawyer he ought to know his business, but I want to warn him that before he goes too far with that suit he should take the precaution to ascertain whether the court really wants a divorce.

Might Get a Cablegram.

"As a matter of fact, I do not believe his client, the demure little court, knows anything about what the senator is doing. Of course, the foreign statesmen and politicians over there in Geneva and The Hague are not paying much attention to what is going on in this Illinois campaign.

"But I suspect that if the league court finds out the senator is trying to divorce her from that rough old swashbuckler, the league of nations, little Mrs. League Court will send the senator a cable message reading something like this:

"'Dear Senator: Stop the suit. All I have I owe to the league. He pays my expenses and in addition gives me a nice income. In fact, the league is my only means of support. Furthermore, we are happy and affectionate, and you should know we are regarded by all our neighbors in Europe as an ideal couple. Please stick to the waterway problem and leave us alone. Your old friend, the court.'

"'The senator has uttered thousands upon thousands of words, but he has not yet told his audiences whether he proposes to vote for the Root formula as incorporated in the new world court protocol.

Have Two "Friends."

"My opponent says we have a Kellogg peace treaty now and that war is outlawed. He says there is no further danger of trouble with foreign countries. At Galesburg the other night he said the United States has two friends to protect her—the Atlantic ocean and the Pacific ocean. It is well known in Cook county that the senator has something of a fondness for wet friends in local politics, but we did not suspect he took to them in international politics.

"When George Washington in his farewell address solemnly warned us to guard against the dangers of foreign alliances and intrigues I suppose the father of our country had not read any of the senator's speeches."

TRANSFER SEVEN POLICE CAPTAINS AND 35 OTHERS

Seven police captains were shifted to new commands yesterday in a transfer order issued by Commissioner of Police Russell for the "good of the service." Four lieutenants, four sergeants and twenty-seven patrolmen were included in the transfers.

The captains transferred and their commands are Charles L. Larkin, Austin to the detective bureau; William P. Kennedy, Morgan Park to the detective bureau; David C. Fitzgerald, detective bureau to Morgan Park; Luke J. Garrick, West Chicago avenue to Austin; Patrick Gallery, East Side to West Chicago; Joseph Palczynski, first deputy's roll to East Side; and Patrick J. Collins, South Chicago to Chicago Lawn. Lieut. Joseph Dubach of the Chicago Lawn station was assigned as acting captain at South Chicago.

The four lieutenants transferred are Stewart Moss, Fillmore to Warren avenue; Thomas O'Hare, Warren avenue to Cragin; Thomas J. McGrath, Cragin to Fillmore; and Edward J. Kelly, Hudson avenue to East Chicago avenue.

Irishwoman, 119, Scores Modern Girl's Late Hours

TIPPERARY, Ireland, March 15.—[U. P.]—The modern girl may know more of life than her grandmother did, but she'll never live as long, Mrs. Mary Buckland observed here on her 119th birthday. She claims late hours and amusements will bring the girl of today to an early grave. "Early to bed and early to rise," Mrs. Buckland said, was the secret of her longevity.

GERMANY'S NEW SPEED LINER IS REAL GREYHOUND

Europa Longest Ever Built; Several Novelties.

BY TOM PETTEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 15.—[Special.]—The longest ship in the world will point her blunt nose New Yorkward next Wednesday in an effort to capture the blue pennant of the Atlantic. When the new Europa of the North German Lloyd line steams out of Bremerhaven another chapter will have been written in the epic of Germany's recovery to a high place in maritime trade, and the spring phase of the Atlantic shipping war will have begun in earnest.

The Brooklyn terminal, where the great liner will dock, is being put in shape to receive the fleet visitor and today North German Lloyd officials here prepared final plans for the reception, and revealed interesting details concerning the Europa.

There will be no mob scene nor stripping of the vessel by souvenir hunters on this occasion, for all visitors will have to pay an admission price of $1. When the Bremen, sister ship of the Europa, arrived last July a horde of more than 100,000 curious men, women and children overran the boat. Practically every rug in the liner had to be replaced because of cigaret burns. Drapes and curtains were torn and practically everything small and movable was taken as a souvenir. The $1 tax on admission is expected to prevent a recurrence of the stampede.

Germany Off in the Lead.

With France, Italy and England building new liners in the war for passenger and fast freight trade, and America reconditioning its ocean greyhounds, as well as building new ones, Germany is off to the first start.

The North German Lloyd line already flies the mythical blue pennant for speed, the Bremen having established a record of 4 days, 17 hours and 24 minutes last October. The Europa, with its 20,000 more horsepower and its innovations in construction, however, is almost certain to cut hours from this record. The record may not come on the maiden voyage, for the Atlantic usually is in an angry mood in the spring. It probably will be late summer before the Europa steps out to steal the honors from her sister ship.

The Europa, according to descriptions available here today, differs from the Bremen in many respects. She has an over-all length of 936 feet—more than 15 feet longer than the Bremen—and her breadth is 101 feet. She will carry 2,200 passengers and a crew of more than 900.

Funnels Elliptical in Shape.

From the front the Europa resembles the Bremen except that she has an even more bulbous nose. Her funnels, instead of being streamlined or pear shaped, are of elliptical shape, measuring 18 feet long diameter by 7 feet short diameter. The masts are 237 feet in height and there are three bridges. The Europa draws three feet more than the Bremen, and viewed from behind resembles a fat duck sitting on the water.

The two boiler rooms are widely separated as indicated by the distance between the smokestacks and the engines are in two separate watertight compartments to reduce the possibility of both being flooded at the same time in event of a collision.

There are in all seven watertight compartments for the boiler and engine equipment. The propellers are of bronze cast in one piece and each weighs approximately fourteen tons.

Steam is generated in oil fired water tube boilers an delectric power is generated by four large Diesel driven dynamos supplying power to 420 electric motors of various kinds and an equal number of auxiliary machines.

The Europa will be under command of Commodore H. Johnsen and is expected to dock in Brooklyn early Monday, March 24.

ENDS OWN LIFE

BURR CULLEN DOWNES.

Burr Cullen Downes, 45 years old, Du Page county realty dealer, ended his life by firing a pistol bullet through his heart yesterday morning in the Masonic temple at Downers Grove. "Financial difficulty" was given as the cause of the suicide.

When Mr. Downes left his home in Downers Grove in the morning he did not appear to be depressed, his widow, Mrs. Bertha Downes, said. He went to the Masonic temple about 10 o'clock and entered a private room, where he spent some time in telephoning. Whom he called or the nature of his conversation was not revealed, but investigators said he apparently had failed to get the assistance he needed.

"Mr. Downes was too optimistic about real estate values in Du Page county and he tied up all his fortune in land for which there was not a ready sale," said one of his friends. "He was pressed for money and he couldn't realize on his assets."

He is survived by his widow and one daughter, Jane, 14 years old.

HORSE DRIVER FREED.

Frederick H. Konow, 2611 Lowe avenue, who was charged with driving a horse while intoxicated, was discharged yesterday when he was arraigned in the Speeders' court and showed that he had made restitution to Edward J. Siegel, 513 Marengo avenue, Forest Park, for the damage inflicted on Siegel's automobile when the horse climbed onto the hood of the machine.

CHARGES FORMER HUBBY BEAT HER AND MAN GUEST

Mrs. Beulah Getschow, 2244 Farwell avenue, yesterday filed in the Superior court a $100,000 suit, charging assault and battery, against her former husband, Roy M. Getschow, secretary of the Phillips-Getschow company, plumbing contractors.

Mrs. Getschow charges that last Sunday night she was entertaining Lawrence Robbins, a theatrical booking agent, when Getschow and a man unknown to her entered the apartment. She says Getschow told her she had no right to entertain men in her apartment, and began beating her. Robbins was also beaten by the two intruders when he attempted to interfere, she charges.

The law firm of Socrates & Davis representing Mrs. Getschow, announced that Robbins will also bring suit against Getschow. Mrs. Getschow has been confined to her bed since the alleged attack, Attorney Nicholas A. Socrates said.

The Getschows were married on April 17, 1917, while Mrs. Getschow was appearing in a theatrical production here. They separated on Jan. 24, 1927, and the wife later filed a bill for divorce on charges of cruelty. The suit was contested for almost two years. Mrs. Getschow won a decree on Nov. 28, 1928, before Circuit Court Judge Klarkowski.

South Bend Doctor's Death Laid to Heart Disease

Dr. Hugh Miller, 52 years old, 2215 Mishawaka avenue, South Bend, who was found dead in his room at the Fort Dearborn hotel, 125 West Van Buren street, early yesterday, died of heart disease, Coroner's Physician I. N. Feinberg announced yesterday. Dr. Feinberg decided that no inquest was necessary.

JUDGE SULLIVAN, 3 OTHERS HURT AS AUTO UPSETS

Prof. R. W. Millar of N.U. Also Injured.

Judge Denis E. Sullivan of the Superior court; Robert W. Millar, professor of law at Northwestern university, and Judge William B. Wright of Effingham, Ill., were slightly injured yesterday when the automobile in which they were riding overturned in a ditch at St. Elmo, Ill. William G. Thomas, a Chicago court reporter, was also slightly injured in the crash.

Judge Sullivan, Prof. Millar, and the court reporter arrived in Effingham on the Illinois Central railroad with members of the judicial advisory council of Cook county to attend a joint meeting with the state council at Vandalia. They were being motored to that city by Judge Wright to visit the state penal farm. In attempting to avoid a collision with an oncoming machine while they were being passed by a third car, the judge drove into the ditch.

Able to Attend Meeting.

All were taken to a hotel and physicians said the party would be able to attend the meeting. Circuit Judge Harry Fisher and Justice Frederic R. De Young of the Supreme court were following Judge Wright in another machine.

Frank J. Young, 2519 Morse avenue, an insurance agent, was acquitted of a charge of driving an automobile while intoxicated by Justice of the Peace George Busscher Jr. of Niles Center yesterday. Young was arrested on Dec. 13 on a warrant obtained by F. W. Briggs, 7235 Sheridan road, an accountant, after a collision at McCormick road and Main street in Niles Center. Briggs' leg was broken in the accident. Chief of Police Holmes testified that Young showed no signs of having been drinking when he was arrested.

Isadore Tillis, 25 years old, 673 Kennard avenue, Waukegan, died yesterday in the Victory Memorial hospital at Waukegan of injuries incurred on Friday when his automobile was struck by a North Shore train in North Chicago. William Bates, 26 years old, of Waukegan, was killed, and William Woods, 32, of North Chicago, was injured seriously in the crash.

Miss Katherine Harding, 22 years old, 738 Briar place, and her escort, Clifford Detjon, 26 years old, 4935 Warwick avenue, were injured probably fatally early this morning when they were struck by a hit and run motorist at Halsted street and Belmont avenue. They were taken to the John B. Murphy hospital. The motorist in making his getaway brushed the car of E. L. Weigner, 4505 North Lawndale avenue, and Weigner started in pursuit.

At Cornelia street and Oakley avenue Weigner caught the fugitive, who again escaped after a tussle. A few minutes later Sergt. Sidney T. Sullivan and his squad found Albert R. Moir, 26 years old, 3134 North Lawndale avenue, hiding behind a building in the vicinity and took him to the Sheffield avenue police station. Moir denied that he was involved in the accident.

With no death reported yesterday the 1930 Cook county motor toll remained at 182.

YRIGOYEN LOSES ARGENTINE GRIP IN PARTY DEFEAT

[Copyright: 1930: By the New York Times.]

BUENOS AYRES, March 15.—The counting of the ballots of the March 2 election for the partial renewal of the Argentine chamber of deputies, has proceeded far enough to indicate an overwhelming defeat of President Yrigoyen's party.

In twelve of Buenos Aires' twenty wards, the Yrigoyenistas have lost 33 per cent of the votes cast for them at the congressional election two years ago and the Socialists so far are leading for all fourteen seats, representing the capital, with 105,000 votes, against 47,000 for the Yrigoyenistas. Señor Yrigoyen carried only one of the first twelve wards counted, and that by only 33 votes.

Helen Costello Becomes Bride of Lowell Sherman

Beverly Hills, Cal., March 15.—[U. P.]—Helen Costello, member of the famous stage and screen family, and Lowell Sherman, film actor, were married here tonight at the Beverly-Wilshire hotel. John Barrymore, stage and screen star and husband of Dolores Costello, gave the bride away. Harry Edwards served Sherman as best man and Evelyn Brent, motion picture actress, was matron of honor.

$327,810 PAID TO 15,610 FOR WORK AT REGISTRATION

The 15,610 clerks and judges of election who conducted the registration of voters were paid last night by Michael J. O'Connor, deputy county controller. They received $327,810, which was secured from the Strawn citizens' committee through the sale of tax anticipation warrants.

The compilation of the number of registrants stricken from the election rolls will not be made until this morning, it was announced. The postponement is made necessary because the returns from the judges of election were not received until late last night.

MRS. BROWNING FETED ON HER 93D BIRTHDAY

President Congratulates Traveler of Note.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 15.—[Special.]—Mrs. Charlotte Prentiss Browning, mother of Mrs. Frank J. Loesch of Chicago, was the honor guest at a special birthday luncheon given at the Mayflower hotel here today. Among the sixty guests invited by Mr. and Mrs. Loesch to help celebrate the ninety-third birthday of Mrs. Browning were three members of the Hoover law enforcement commission and friends from all sections of the country.

Among the scores of congratulatory messages received by Mrs. Browning during the day was one from President Hoover.

"I congratulate you most cordially upon your birthday, and send you my best wishes for many happy returns of the day," the President stated in his letter which was read at the luncheon table.

Friends Come From Chicago.

Included in the sixty guests were friends of Mrs. Browning who had come from Chicago, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, and Miami, to be present at the luncheon. Dean Roscoe Pound of Yale, Judge William S. Kenyon of Fort Dodge, Ia., and Kenneth Mackintosh, all three co-members of the Hoover law enforcement commission with Mr. Loesch, were among the guests.

Others present included Mr. and Mrs. Carlos Drake of Chicago, Mrs. Alexander F. Stevenson of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Harriman and Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Britten of Chicago.

Longevity Secrets Sought.

Speeches were delivered by Mr. Loesch, Dean Pound, and several others. Mr. Loesch told the President's interest in the birthday party for Grandmother Browning and added that Mr. Hoover had expressed a desire to know the secret of her success in living to such a ripe age.

Mrs. Browning replied to the toasts in her honor, but did not reveal any longevity secrets.

Mrs. Browning is known as a great traveler. Her 88th birthday was celebrated in Jerusalem, her 90th in Chicago, her 91st on the Carribean sea en route to the Canal zone, and her last birthday at Biloxi, Miss. She is a native of Cooperstown, N. Y. Her father, Col. John H. Prentiss, represented the Otsego county, New York, district in congress from 1837 to 1841 in President Van Buren's administration.

GEM SALESMAN SENTENCED FOR FAKED HOLDUP

Maurice Barnett, jewelry salesman, was denied a new trial yesterday by Judge Harry B. Miller in the Criminal court and was sentenced to 1 to 5 years in the penitentiary for his part in the conspiracy to defraud an insurance company by staging a fake holdup of Mrs. Laura B. Price, wife of a wealthy woodenware manufacturer. Max Krakow, a co-defendant, was sentenced to six months in the county jail and fined $500.

Barnett, said by the state to have been the "brains" of the plot, showed no concern when he was denied a new trial. He announced that he would appeal to the Supreme court. Krakow also was given a 30 day stay to file an appeal.

3 BANK ROBBERS WHO KILLED ONE, SHOT 3, CAUGHT

Jetmore, Kas., March 15.—(AP)—Cornered in a shack two miles south of here, three men who robbed the Manter, Kas., State bank of $4,000, shot and killed a Colorado deputy sheriff, and wounded three other persons in their flight in the wild arroyo country near the Kansas-Colorado line, were apprehended late today.

Police Chief Lee Richardson of Garden City said tonight the three admitted they robbed the bank.

One of the prisoners, giving the name of Jim Walker, 45, was wounded in the leg. His head also apparently had been grazed by a bullet. The other two men, Frank Reed, 30, and Eph Frazier, 35, were uninjured.

Young Bandits Slay Marshal.

Dubuque, Ia., March 15.—(AP)—A bullet from a youthful bandit's pistol today sent Henry Hanfeldt, 49, day marshal of Dyersville, to his death. Hanfeldt was slain as he tried to halt the flight of two high school youths from an early morning holdup of a Luxemburg, Ia., filling station, which netted only $30.

Less than two and one-half hours later Raymond McCormick, 17, and Gerald Haberman, 16, of Prairie du Sac, Wis., had been arrested by Dubuque police and had confessed to the holdup and slaying.

ARREST PARTNER OF RICH KIDNAPED NEWYORK BROKER

Interlaken, N. J., March 15.—(AP)—After two hours questioning by Prosecutor John J. Quinn, Herman Goodstein, 37, of New York, partner of Samuel Barron, wealthy New York realty broker and Interlaken resident, who was kidnaped Wednesday night as he neared his home, was arrested tonight as a material witness. He was held in $10,000 bail.

The complaint upon which Goodstein was arrested was signed by County Detective Charles O. Davenport. Goodstein, said Prosecutor Quinn, had declined to go into details regarding operations of the Barsam corporation in which he was interested with Barron.

New York police said Barron had been associated with Arnold Rothstein, slain Broadway gambler, some years ago in directing the affairs of a holding corporation.

Schipa to Sing in Easter Concert to Aid Hospital

SENATORS BARE SALES OF U. S. JOBS IN SOUTH

Brookhart Committee Says Housecleaning Needed.

Washington, D. C., March 15.—[Special.]—Evidence of widespread corruption in the appointments and conduct of federal officeholders in southern states was submitted to the senate today by the Brookhart patronage investigation subcommittee of the committee on postoffices and postroads.

In Georgia, Mississippi, South Carolina, and Texas the inquisitorial group found an established system operating for the sale of government jobs on a wholesale scale, according to the report, while similar operations to a less flagrant degree were uncovered in Tennessee, Arkansas, Florida, Alabama and Kentucky. The report recommended abolition of these "most reprehensible practices, prosecution of offenders, and tightening of the corrupt practice act."

Inquiry Started Year Ago.

Members of the subcommittee were Senators Smith W. Brookhart [Rep., Ia.], chairman; Kenneth McKellar [Dem., Tenn.], and Daniel O. Hastings [Rep., Del.]. The latter did not sign the report, explaining that he was appointed near the close of the inquiry.

Selected under the terms of resolutions adopted by the last session of congress, the subcommittee launched its investigation more than a year ago. It conducted extensive hearings in several southern cities and in Washington, subpoenaing several hundred witnesses and voluminous books and records.

Bartering Is Condemned.

"Your committee," the report concluded, "believes that the practice of dispensing federal appointments as shown by this report and the evidence obtained in the investigation surrounding the barter and sale of federal offices should be abolished at once, and your committee condemns this practice as most reprehensible.

"Your committee further recommends that the department of justice make a careful survey of the evidence obtained by your committee and if the facts warrant that they start proceedings against all persons who have violated the statute covering the barter and sale of public offices.

"It is further recommended that the federal corrupt practice act be amended so as to include any person soliciting funds from a federal officeholder or federal employé for political purposes or for carrying on any organization work connected with any political organization, or accepting notes for such purposes from any federal officer or federal employé."

Assail Georgia G. O. P. Treasurer.

John W. Martin, treasurer of the state Republican central committee of Georgia, the committee report charged, was found to have "set up a regular collecting organization which would indicate from the cards turned over to the committee that its purpose was to secure from 5 to 10 per cent of the salary of the postmasters and practically all the other federal officers appointed in Georgia."

"The committee further ascertained from the examination of witnesses that in many instances lump sum donations were requested at the time the candidate for federal office was appointed," the report stated. "If it was impossible to secure a lump sum, they resorted to a monthly payment proposition and the federal officer was requested to pay a stipulated amount monthly to the treasurer of the state organization."

Negro Committeeman Accused.

The investigators found a "most unusual condition" with regard to office peddling in Mississippi by the colored national committeeman, Perry W. Howard, assistant attorney general under the Coolidge administration. There was an "abundance of evidence" to prove Howard's guilt of selling political plums, the report asserted.

"From testimony taken by the committee and summing up of the affidavits submitted with other testimony, it would indicate beyond a reasonable doubt that practically all the federal offices in South Carolina were placed on sale by S. J. W. Tolbert or through his representatives," the report continued. Numerous extracts from testimony involving Tolbert were cited.

R. B. Creager, Republican national committeeman from Texas, was a target for the committee's most scathing criticism. He was depicted in the report as a political boss who manipulated Republican offices to perpetuate his own organization and for his own profit.

Throughout the testimony as reviewed by the committee ran a trail of corruption, bribery, and inefficiency due to the prohibition law, dry officials in several cases being charged with illicit dealings with bootleggers and rum runners.

The outstanding example of the prohibition scandals cropped up in the case of former United States District Attorney J. D. E. Meyer of Charleston, S. C. According to the report, Meyer admitted that he hired "the king of the bootleggers" of "Hell Hole Swamp," a G. D. McKnight, as a prohibition agent, adding that he, Meyer, had been indorsed by the W. C. T. U. Numerous instances were related in which Meyer failed to prosecute liquor law violators and engaged in questionable associations with them.

BANK BANDITS BLAME DANCE MARATHON DOPE

3 Youths "Crazed" from Lack of Sleep, They Say.

Indianapolis, Ind., March 15.—[Special.]—Wracked by the ravages of narcotics administered in a Michigan marathon dance and nerves shattered by the ordeal of days and nights without sleep, three youths stood in the County Criminal court here today and pleaded guilty to holding up two banks.

Aroused by the revelations of physical and mental punishment resulting from their participation in the marathons, Judge James A. Collins terms such affairs a disgrace to any community and a breeding place for crime.

The youths, sentenced to state prison for one to ten years each, are Harry Reed, 16; William Stone, 19, and George Swift, 23.

They were charged with robbing the Cumberland bank of $1,000 four days after they had quit the marathon dance, and Swift and Reed also admitted robbing the Fairland State bank. Reed was wounded after the Fairland robbery.

"We didn't know what we were doing. We were wrecks, physically and mentally, and had been 'doped' so long we couldn't sleep," Swift and Reed said.

Swift and Reed asserted they had been promised by promoters of the marathon in Michigan that they would receive medical care for a week after the close of the contest, but that the promise was not kept. For nearly a month after the contest, they said, they were unaccountable for their actions.

"We had been doped for weeks," they asserted. It was all hazy afterward."

Judge Collins branded dance marathons "the most disgraceful animal display ever perpetrated in a community."

"Statistics I have gathered," he declared, "show 60 per cent of the participants in these uncivilized exhibitions end by getting into trouble."

Such a display now is being held here, Collins said, under the auspices of the American Legion.

"Enough American patriotism should be shown by Legion members promoting this thing that the treatment of human beings like animals would sting their conscience," he declared. "It is the moral ruin of more girls than any other influence in a civilized land."

TIRE STORE ROBBED.

Three men yesterday forced Joseph Freud, 7747 Wabash avenue, to open a safe in the Warshawski tire store at 107 West Lake street, of which he is manager, and, after tying up Freud and Edward Dowarak, 4725 Byron street, a clerk, they fled with $400.

REALTY CHARGE AGAINST HUSTON IS THROWN OUT

New York, March 15.—(AP)—The Federal District court today dismissed the complaint of E. H. Price & Co., Florida real estate operators, against Claudius H. Huston, chairman of the Republican national committee, in an action recently brought against the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers for $900,000 commissions in connection with the brotherhood's land development at Venice, Fla.

The action, brought on Jan. 22, charged two causes of action against Mr. Huston, the first on an alleged promise by Mr. Huston to pay the brotherhood's debt to the plaintiff, and the second for alleged false representations claimed to have been made in connection with the debt.

An opinion handed down by Judge Alfred C. Coxe held neither charge alleged a cause of action against Mr. Huston.

THE PHILIPPINE CONUNDRUM.

The Philippines have again appeared above the horizon of congress. That august body cannot place its previous handling of the problems of government imposed upon us by the valor of Admiral Dewey among its successes. It might conceivably have done worse, but it would have been compelled to extend itself to do it. Perhaps it will do better now, but only an unquenchable optimism will cherish the hope.

Two fatal weaknesses have ruled our treatment of the Philippines. One has been that the American public has never been interested in them and congress is not interested in anything the public has no interest in. The result of such a situation is always that our government's action falls under the influence of theorists, sentimentalists and representatives of special interests who are burdened with no luggage of theory or sentiment. The other weakness is that added to our lack of interest, indeed the chief cause of it, is a lack of knowledge of the islands and their people, their history and ethnic character, their conditions of life and possibilities, political and social.

The net result is that we have made a mess of our trusteeship in the Philippines, in spite of certain specific benefits we have brought to their peoples and of much devoted, disinterested, and effective service. We agree with Henry Cabot Lodge, who has contributed a very sound criticism of the situation to the January Harpers, that our basic error was in assuming that tropical man wishes or is ready, or is likely ever to be ready, for the political institutions evolved by the peoples of northern latitudes and more particularly those of our race. That is a persistent mistake in our dealing with tropical people. Our policy and practice are directed by our own conceptions of law and government, with no corrective consideration of the fact that they were evolved from our own racial character as it has been developed by a constant struggle with unfriendly nature, the energizing cold and variation of our climate, the need for constant effort to provide food and shelter, and reserves to tide over the recurrent periods in which nature can supply nothing. The tropical man finds pretty generally that nature supplies food with little effort. Clothing and shelter are minor requirements easily provided for. The result is that he has no urgent needs exhorting him to industry, thrift and foresight, and he resents the imposition of any system which demands them. For ages he has submitted to tyranny because, as Mr. Lodge sarcastically remarks, an effort to resist it and govern his own affairs was more irksome than submission to the will or whim of a master. It is at least worth a moment's consideration by our libertarians that Asiatic and African mankind has never in its long history evolved a free form of government.

Mr. Lodge discusses the present situation of the islands and concludes, soundly, we think, that we ought, as Theodore Roosevelt said of British control in Egypt, to govern or get out. We are willing apparently to do neither. Our idealogues at home prevent us from adopting the former desirable alternative. The latter, if perhaps easier, presents certain serious difficulties. We may, of course, simply take our hat and go. But, apart from the objections from intelligent and responsible elements of the Philippine peoples, this action would create an international situation the consequences of which would in due time return embarrassingly to us. If, as is probable or certain, anarchy or endemic disorder and irresponsibility occurred and Japan, the nearest neighbor, should intervene, as we were compelled to intervene in Cuba, Australia and New Zealand and probably the Dutch colonial power would be seriously alarmed. An international crisis of far reaching possibilities would at once appear. The peace of the Far East and indeed of the civilized world would be threatened and a situation created in which we could not fail to be involved. If the Dutch, who are competent and experienced administrators in this region, were disposed to assume the responsibility for keeping the islands in order, which is not likely, since their existing problems in the Dutch East are about all they can manage, the Japanese would object as they probably would to a mandate to Australia.

In short, if some one must govern, the most acceptable agent, from the international viewpoint, seems to be the United States. And so we are back at our starting point, the present highly undesirable situation. That situation means discontent fomented by Filipino politicians, uncertainty which paralyzes economic advance and retards such social progress as the islanders are capable of, and a continuation of futile or premature experimentation in political institutions which the Filipinos neither want nor understand, but which gives endless opportunity for exploitation by Filipino politicians.

A TARIFF FOR EMPLOYMENT.

Congress has been fiddling around with the tariff for months and no one can yet say when the law will go to the President or what he will to do with it when it does. Writing a tariff law is, at best, a complicated job. It has been made more complex by the fact that congress lacks any well-defined policy upon which to base the schedules. The tariff debates disclose how unprincipled congress is in this matter.

Unprincipled, of course, in both senses of the word. Partly because of the lack of a clear-cut idea of what the new tariff is to do, our representatives have engaged in a shameless trading of favors. The senate voted a reduction in sugar schedules in committee of the whole, only to change its mind a few weeks later and vote increases. The change of heart resulted, so the Washington correspondents explained, from a combination of interests which wanted more substantial protection. Sugar, oil, timber, and cement, it was said, formed an offensive and defensive alliance, with the result already quoted.

We have had a variety of tariff policies in this country, much to the annoyance of doctrinaires who prefer to regard such matters as immutable. The fact is that tariff policies ought to change as the economic life and circumstances of the nation change. The tariff law passed by the first congress was enacted for a country nearly all of whose manufacturing industries perforce were infant industries. The situation today is very different. Our automobile industry, for example, or at least that part of it which manufactures the cheaper type of car, knows that it can hold the home market with little or no protection and it regards high tariffs on its product as an encouragement to foreign nations to enact retaliatory tariffs to the injury of the American export trade. Tariff policies have been modified even in a conservative country like Great Britain, which for generations before the world war attributed its prosperity to its policy of free trade. Business depression forced parliament to enact a protective law and later to modify it as circumstances dictated.

It is a curious fact that, though there appeared to be substantial agreement on the tariff between the rival presidential candidates at the last election, there is no agreement on principle in congress today. The paradox is the more difficult to understand in the face of the fact that there is much unemployment in the country. In the past we have had, among others, tariffs for infant industries, tariffs to strengthen industries already firmly established, and tariffs for revenue only. The great need today is for a tariff for employment, but congress is paying scant attention to the need.

In general we should put duties on all factory products which are imported into the United States in any quantity, whether or not there are factories in this country which produce these articles. In most cases it will be found that these articles compete more or less directly as substitutes with American made goods, and even if they don't we should arrange for manufacture in this country to provide additional industries and therefore additional jobs. The aim should be to provide more employment in existing American industries or more American industries.

While a dozen governmental commissions are engaged in searching for facts of various sorts, one such commission might well be employed in searching for possibilities for further diversifying American industry. In this connection it is well to bear in mind, too, the possibilities of employment on the farms. We import vast quantities of raw materials, such as vegetable oils and blackstrap molasses, many of them duty free, or at very low rates, though these articles compete with our agricultural production. We import much foodstuff, though all of it is in direct competition with home grown produce. In the interest of the unemployed in the United States, if for no other reason, these imports should be reduced to a minimum.

Editorial of the Day

WOMEN'S CITIZENSHIP.

[New Haven (Conn.) Journal-Courier.]

It is gratifying to learn that Connecticut's representatives in the congress are taking a leading part in the congressional fight to secure the admission into this country of the youthful wife of Mr. John Munsill Ulrich of this city. The case is by way of becoming a cause célèbre of the first caliber, and exclusive of the particular individuals involved it has a general interest and bearing which are important. Our readers are doubtless acquainted with the circumstances by which the wife of an American citizen who served gallantly in the world war is forbidden to join her husband here, and has been forbidden over a term of ten years, because of some trifling escapades in Berlin during her extreme youth which have since been expunged from the records of the German courts. The American courts, held to the strict legality of the matter, have declared against Mr. Ulrich from the lowest to the Supreme court itself; the sole relief now possible is through congress.

This struggle should center attention upon a still larger aspect of this whole matter of the citizenship of wives. Ruth Bryan Owen of Florida has recently faced some of the difficulties of the present peculiar status of women in this regard. There is afoot a well established movement to bring about an alteration of the Cable act of 1922 by which the present conditions were erected. It deserves success. The Cable act itself is one of those legislative ironies which, when examined after passage, are found in many ways distasteful to the very individuals who fought to put them over. The act, it is true, gave women a measure of recognition as independent beings when it held that an American woman marrying an alien does not lose her American citizenship; but it did impair that citizenship to some extent nevertheless; for, while she retains it, she is looked on not as a citizen by nativity but by naturalization, and is subject to all the rules of expatriation which bear upon naturalized citizens who are absent from the country for five years or more. It also cancels her citizenship completely if she marries a person ineligible himself for citizenship; and it surrenders any of her children in the matter of citizenship automatically to the whim of the condition of the father, rather than leaving it a subject for agreement between both parents.

OBSTACLES IN IRELAND.

A motorist driving through Ireland was struck by the number of notices in Irish which he saw in every village.

"Tell me," he asked an old Irishman, "why do they have all these notices in this language?"

"Well," came the reply, "I'm sure I don't know meself. You see, none of the people who can read can understand Irish, and the ones who understand Irish can't read!"—Tit-Bits.

"—Read, Mark, Learn, and Inwardly Digest Them"

The following Bible reading begins with the twenty-third verse of the twenty-first chapter of Matthew. The American standard version [copyright by the Religious Education Society of America] is used. The only change is in paragraph form and punctuation method.

BY WHOSE AUTHORITY?

And when he was come into the temple, the chief priests and the elders of the people came unto him as he was teaching, and said, "By what authority doest thou these things? And who gave thee this authority?" And Jesus answered and said unto them, "I also will ask you one question, which if ye tell me, I likewise will tell you by what authority I do these things. The Baptism of John, whence was it? From heaven or from men?" And they reasoned with themselves, saying, "If we shall say, 'From heaven,' he will say unto us, 'Why then did ye not believe him?' But if we shall say, 'From men,' we fear the multitude, for all hold John as a prophet." And they answered Jesus, and said, "We know not."

He also said unto them, "Neither tell I you by what authority I do these things. But what think ye? A man had two sons; and he came to the first, and said, 'Son, go work today in the vineyard.' And he answered, and said, 'I will not,' but afterward he repented himself, and went. And he came to the second, and said likewise. And he answered and said, 'I go, sir,' and went not. Which of the two did the will of his father?" They say, "The first." Jesus saith unto them, "Verily I say unto you, that the publicans and the harlots go into the kingdom of God before you. For John came unto you in the way of righteousness, and ye believed him not; but the publicans and the harlots believed him; and ye, when ye saw it, did not even repent yourselves afterward, that ye might believe him.

Hear another parable: There was a man that was a householder, who planted a vineyard, and set a hedge about it, and digged a winepress in it, and built a tower, and let it out to husbandmen, and went into another country. And when the season of the fruits drew near, he sent his servants to the husbandmen, to receive his fruits. And the husbandmen took his servants, and beat one, and killed another, and stoned another. Again, he sent other servants more than the first; and they did unto them in like manner. But afterward he sent unto them his son, saying, 'They will reverence my son.' But the husbandmen, when they saw the son, said among themselves, 'This is the heir; come, let us kill him, and take his inheritance.' And they took him, and cast him forth out of the vineyard, and killed him.

When therefore the lord of the vineyard shall come, what will he do unto those husbandmen? They say unto him, "He will miserably destroy those miserable men, and will let out the vineyard unto other husbandmen, who shall render him the fruits in their seasons." Jesus saith unto them, "Did ye never read in the scriptures, 'The stone which the builders rejected, the same was made the head of the corner; this was from the Lord, and it is marvelous in our eyes?'

"Therefore say I unto you, The kingdom of God shall be taken away from you, and shall be given to a nation bringing forth the fruits thereof. And he that falleth on this stone shall be broken to pieces; but on whomsoever it shall fall, it will scatter him as dust." And when the chief priests and the Pharisees heard his parables, they perceived that he spake of them. And when they sought to lay hold on him, they feared the multitudes, because they took him for a prophet.

And Jesus answered and spake again in parables unto them, saying, "The Kingdom of heaven is likened unto a certain king, who made a marriage feast for his son, and sent forth his servants to call them that were bidden to the marriage feast; and they would not come. Again he sent forth other servants, saying, 'Tell them that are bidden, Behold, I have made ready my dinner; my oxen and my fatlings are killed, and all things are ready; come to the marriage feast.' But they made light of it, and went their ways, one to his own farm, another to his merchandise; and the rest laid hold on his servants, and treated them shamefully, and killed them.

But the king was wroth; and he sent his armies, and destroyed those murderers, and burned their city. Then saith he to his servants, "The wedding is ready, but they that were bidden were not worthy. Go ye therefore unto the partings of the highways, and as many as ye shall find, bid to the marriage feast." And those servants went out into the highways, and gathered together all as many as they found, both bad and good; and the wedding was filled with guests. But when the king came in to behold the guests, he saw there a man who had not on a wedding garment; and he saith unto him, "Friend, how camest thou in hither not having a wedding garment?" And he was speechless.

Then the king said to the servants, "Bind him hand and foot, and cast him out into the outer darkness; there shall be the weeping and the gnashing of teeth. For many are called, but few chosen."

Then went the Pharisees, and took counsel how they might ensnare him in his talk. And they send to him their disciples, with the Herodians, saying, "Teacher, we know that thou art true, and teachest the way of God in truth, and carest not for any one; for thou regardest not the person of men. Tell us therefore, what thinkest thou? Is it lawful to give tribute unto Caesar, or not?" But Jesus perceived their wickedness, and said, "Why make ye trial of me, ye hypocrites? Show me the tribute money." And they brought unto him a denarius. And he saith unto them, "Whose is this image and superscription?" They say unto him, "Caesar's." Then saith he unto them, "Render therefore unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's; and unto God the things that are God's." And when they heard it, they marveled, and left him, and went away.

JUDEAN HILLS ARE HOLY.

Judean hills are holy,
  Judean fields are fair,
For one can find the footprints
  Of Jesus everywhere.

One finds them in the twilight
  Beneath the singing sky,
Where shepherds watch in wonder
  White planets wheeling by.

His trails are on the hillsides
  And down the dales and deeps;
He walks the high horizons
  Where vesper silence sleeps.

He haunts the lowly highways
  Where human hopes have trod
The Via Dolorosa
  Up to the heart of God.

He looms, a lonely figure,
  Along the fringe of night,
As lonely as a cedar
  Against the lonely light.

Judean hills are holy,
  Judean hills are fair,
For one can find the footprints
  Of Jesus everywhere.

EDISON'S FOOD AND SLEEP.

A RECENT issue of the American magazine had a story in which Mrs. Edison told of some of the habits of her illustrious husband. He is 83 years of age and far from senile mentally or physically.

The largest single factor in Mr. Edison's longevity is his inheritance. Several of his direct parental ancestors lived more than 100 years. It appears that Mr. Edison should live to vote for five or even six successors to Mr. Hoover unless some accident overtakes him, provided his mother did not introduce a short lived strain into the family stream. According to the expectancy established by his fathers to the third or fourth generation, Mr. Edison should be inventing synthetic rubber or something else in the year 1950.

About a year ago he had an attack of pneumonia. Fortunately pneumonia is not very prone to leave prolonged after-effects. When convalescence has been established it is generally found that the organs have not been left crippled.

Mr. Edison is a very light eater. Just now he is living on not much more than milk, bread, and fruit. He says few people know how much nourishment a person can get from a single slice of bread. He is a moderately fat man, and he has vigor enough to work hard; therefore it is certain that he eats more than one infers from the story of his habits. This much is certainly true: he does not gorge, nor eat large meals, and he sticks to simple foods.

One of the most interesting parts of the story dealt with the inventor's sleep habits. The writer added up about six and a half hours of sleep daily during his periods of hard work. This is generally divided into two sleep periods, and sometimes more. After a few days of sustained effort and less than seven hours' sleep, he relaxes and sometimes does not awaken for 18 hours on a stretch. The probability is that if his days were averaged it would be found that he gets eight hours a day of good sleep. He wastes no time going to sleep or for that matter in breaking though into consciousness. His deafness saves his nervous system much fatigue.

His intense interest in his forward looking work contributes to his good mental health.

HIGH TEMPERATURES.

Thankful writes: What causes a high temperature in the morning? It goes down during the day and comes up again a little in the evening. The party concerned, a child of six, is otherwise perfectly well. He has been examined by two doctors. The temperature has lasted now for one week. This is the first time I ever heard of a temperature in the morning.

REPLY.

The child has some kind of an infection. Just what kind I have no way of knowing.

The morning period is apt to be the time of low temperature, but such is not always the case, as you have found.

PSYCHOLOGIST AND PSYCHIATRIST.

J. J. writes: I understand that a psychiatrist is one who makes a study of the human mind and is able to relieve one of any complexes or inhibitions he may be laboring under. That is, such a doctor would be able to take the timidness or the bashfulness out of a person.

REPLY.

The difference between a psychologist and a psychiatrist is that the former works principally with normal minds, the latter with diseased ones. Since the abnormality you write of is so minor it falls rather in the field of the psychologist or, better still, the psychoanalyst. Overcoming timidity is a matter of training.

SOFTENING OF BRAIN.

T. Y. writes: Is there such a disease as "softening of the brain"? A man here died of it the other day—at least, his disease was called that. Is it physical or mental, and what causes it?

REPLY.

The term is seldom used now. Many cases once called softening of the brain are now called paresis. Many are called arteriosclerosis of the brain. Many are known as senile dementia.

A closer diagnosis than "softening of the brain" should be made.

HERE'S SOME GOOD ADVICE WHICH WON'T BE APPRECIATED.

Chicago, March 6.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—In my civics work I need help in answering the following questions: When was the last grand jury called in Cook county? And what were some of its accomplishments? Your answers will be greatly appreciated.

M. C.

It seems probable that your instructor's principal purpose in asking you to look up this material was to test your reasoning power and give you experience in research. Neither of these purposes would be served by your securing a ready made answer from us. We are confident that library material suitable for answering your question is available for your use and that you will derive profit from working with material.

STILL A CITIZEN.

Naperville, Ill., March 4.—[Friend of the People.]—I am European born. My father became a citizen of America in 1927 when I was 16 years of age. I understand I was made a citizen through my father's naturalization, but I married a foreigner in 1927. Did I lose my citizenship? My husband was naturalized in January, 1930.

F. J.

Under the facts stated, the writer became a citizen through the naturalization of her father, and she did not lose her citizenship by marriage to an alien after Sept. 22, 1922.

BUILDING UNSAFE.

Chicago, March 7.—[Friend of the People.]—The building at 1043 Washburne avenue is in very bad condition. Children of the neighborhood are taking it down and may be be injured or killed in the operation. Health department officials have examined the building and declared it unsafe and I believe it has been condemned, but no action has been taken to remove it or bar it up to prevent its occupation by strays.

F. R.

Our district inspector reports that the building is in unsafe condition under date of March 6 and this department has notified the owner to demolish the building.

ON OWNING A REVOLVER.

Chicago, March 6.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—1. May a person own a revolver without a license? 2. Can he keep it at home for his protection? 3. May he have it in his automobile?

T. J. C.

1. Yes. 2. Yes.

3. The statute provides: "No person shall carry concealed on or about his person a pistol, revolver, or other firearm." In 322 Illinois at page 52 our Supreme court held "about his person" means sufficiently close to the person to be readily accessible for immediate use. A firearm is concealed about the person when it is pushed down behind the cushion of an automobile on which the accused is sitting. But not when it is lying on the floor under a rug.

65 YEARS AGO TODAY

MARCH 16, 1865.

WASHINGTON.—President Lincoln has directed that all persons within the United States who have been engaged in holding intercourse or trade with the rebels by sea, if they are citizens of the United States or domiciled aliens, shall be arrested and held as prisoners of war until the war shall cease. All nonresidents and foreigners who may have been engaged in violating the blockade of southern ports are ordered to leave the country within 12 days from publication of the order.

NEWBERN, N. C.—Gen. Sherman has opened communication with Wilmington from Fayetteville, N. C. He sends word that everything is all right and that he is marching on.

WASHINGTON.—A dispatch from Newbern, N. C., says that the prisoners taken by the rebels in front of Kinston have been recaptured; that Gen. Terry has formed a junction with our forces there, and that Gen. Sherman was expected in the rear of the rebels at Goldsboro on March 11 or 12.

BATON ROUGE, La.—[March 9.]—The cavalry expedition sent from here by Gen. Herron occupied Clinton and Jackon, Miss., after some heavy skirmishing. The rebel force is concentrated at Liberty under Gens. Scott and Hodge. Our cavalry was commanded by Gens. Davis and Baily.

MADISON.—A joint resolution was offered in the legislature by Mr. Talton denouncing the shameful spectacle presented by Vice President Johnson at his inauguration and calling upon him to resign.

CHICAGO.—Frederick N. Belz of New York City and Miss Agatha E. Bruner of this city were married on March 12 at the residence of D. J. Pridham by the Rev. N. D. Williamson. Lieut. David G. Hudson, company E, 156th Illinois volunteer infantry, and Miss Hattie M. Rhoades of Ohio were married at Camp Douglas on March 13 by the Rev. S. S. Smith.

30 YEARS AGO TODAY

MARCH 16, 1900.

LONDON.—State Secretary Reitz of the Orange Free State in refuting arguments in Lord Salisbury's reply on peace proposals to Presidents Steyn and Kruger, declares that England after the Bloemfontein conference endeavored by threats to force changes in the Transvaal and imported troops in great number, thus bringing on the war, although President Kruger's demand for withdrawal was not intended as a message of war. He asserts that Kruger was willing to grant reforms.

NEW YORK.—A new and remarkable record in the matter of dividend distribution was established today by the Standard Oil company when it mailed to its stockholders checks aggregating $20,000,000 in payment of the dividend of $20 a share declared on Feb. 6, last. This is the largest amount of cash ever disbursed for a similar purpose in the history of American industrial activity.

CHICAGO.—After devoting 61 years of his life to the ministry the Rev. R. R. Coon died at his home, 6313 Normal avenue, at the age of 84. He came to Chicago in 1888 and organized the Lake View Baptist church. He held pastorates in Illinois at Alton, Peoria, Pana and Sublette and in Michigan at Vernon and Durand.

PARIS. — Rostand's new tragedy, "L'Aiglon," was presented for the first time by Sarah Bernhardt to an immense fashionable, literary and artistic audience. The presentation lasted from 8:30 p. m. until 1:30 a. m. and was received throughout with great enthusiasm.

10 YEARS AGO TODAY

MARCH 16, 1920.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Although the senate today adopted the new Lodge reservation to Article X of the league of nations covenant by a vote of 56 to 26, one more than a two-thirds majority, leaders on both sides tonight were predicting the defeat of the German peace treaty on the ratification roll call the latter part of this week.

BERLIN.—The counter revolution in Germany appears to have reached the end of the road. There is a strong probability that shortly one government will be in control and that President Ebert will come back to Berlin with his ministers. According to a reported agreement between Chancellor Dr. Wolfgang Kapp and Gustave Noske, minister of defense in the Ebert cabinet, Kapp will abandon his intention of forming a new cabinet, and a cabinet is to be formed composed of experts. A new president of the republic will be elected, not by the reichstag but by the people. Pending the election Ebert is to remain in power.

BERLIN.—Several persons were killed or wounded in fighting today at Dortmund, Westphalia, and the big smelting works there are idle. It is stated that a soviet government has been proclaimed at Bochum and Essen. Frankfort-on-the-Main is reported to be in the hands of the workers. Workmen stormed the railway station at Hanover.

TEN MONTHS' PAY.

Chicago, March 5.—Now that Chicago business men have saved Cook county from actual bankruptcy, it is gratifying to note that during the long payless period there was no letting down in efficiency or morale among the unpaid workers; the essential work of the county was performed well and cheerfully by men and women who did not know if they would find their household goods on the street on their return from work.

The reason for this uncomplaining attitude was that in the minds of the workers the emergency was unavoidable and not the result of negligence or mismanagement. The fact that taxes had not been collected for two years was accepted as good and sufficient reason for the lack of funds.

But to these same workers and to fair minded people in general the proposition of ten months' pay during the present fiscal year of twelve months presents an entirely different aspect. They can see no good reason for it, and it seems to them to be an act of unjust discrimination against a group of earnest and faithful workers. The money collected by the Strawn committee is sufficient for the needs of the county until taxes are collected, and if the county nevertheless is unable to pay its workers it must be because of mismanagement or previous extravagance.

This unbusinesslike proceeding threatens to break down the morale of the entire force, and the men and women who have to suffer are certainly going to find out who is responsible for their plight and for the discredit brought upon their city and county.

If there are loafers on the pay roll, let the citizens' committee point them out and have them removed, but let those who are doing their work well and faithfully receive twelve months' pay for a year's work, as they would if they were working for any other solvent and properly managed concern.

IMPROVED SUBURBAN SERVICE.

Hinsdale, Ill., March 3.—In a recent editorial you mildly criticized the steam roads for their poor suburban service. As a commuter I have watched the western suburbs grow and would call attention to a few facts along this line. I have before me a Burlington suburban folder dated July, 1920, which shows but three fast trains between 4:30 and 6 o'clock in the evening making the Hinsdale stop, with an average running time of 41 minutes. The current time table shows seven fast trains during the same period, with an average running time of 35 minutes. Ten years ago the trains were made up of little wooden coaches with dinky engines; today practically all are made up of large, new, well-lighted steel coaches, pulled by heavy road engines recently assigned to this service. Six to nine hundred passengers are carried per train. The Burlington is now engaged in eliminating the railroad crossing at Canal and Sixteenth streets, putting in a viaduct which will permit a saving of five minutes in time on each train. This road is also definitely planning grade separation work between the Chicago city limits and Downers Grove, part of the way by elevating the tracks, and from Hinsdale west a depression through the Du Page county hills, with the addition of another track, making this the only four-track line out of Chicago. The service is clean, courteous and dependable, and there are seats for everybody.

BELITTLING THE CONFERENCE.

Chicago, March 7.—The cartoon on the first page today is an insult to such outstanding Americans as Stimson, Dawes, Adams, Reed, Robinson, and the other members of the delegation now in England. When news is lacking your Mr. Henning imagines things and does all he can to belittle the work of the conference. It has seemed to be the policy of THE TRIBUNE to do everything in its power to prejudice the people of America against anything that may be done in London by the conference. Your correspondents are evidently complying with instructions to do all in their power to prejudice the people of this country against any result which may be reached, as is evidenced by the work of your entire staff, editorial writers, column conductor, cartoonists, etc.

Your conduct is unworthy of any newspaper. You must have some hidden hatred and grudge to gratify. No other motive could prompt such policy as has been pursued. When information is lacking, your correspondents invent something which is very often the exact opposite of what the facts are later shown to be.

In the minds of fair-minded persons, your paper is losing its prestige.

J. L. ROGERS.

FAITH AND PARITY.

Oak Park, Ill., March 5.—If I believed that people who happen to live in other countries are so thoroughly untrustworthy and treacherous as you apparently assume them to be, I would certainly be a pessimist of the deepest dye; and if all publications and all people in positions of influence stooped to the methods which you employ to create suspicion, hatred, superiority and fear, there certainly would be no alternative but resort to war and the eventual destruction of western civilization.

Such headlines as a recent one, "British Giggle as Uncle Sam Gives Up Shirt," is an insult to the decency and intelligence of a considerable percentage, I imagine, of your readers.

CASH FOR VETERANS.

Chicago, March 7.—Several months ago mention was made of various public works to be projected in order to relieve the unemployment situation. Nothing has actually been done. Millions of men and women are walking the streets in an unsuccessful quest for a job. Their buying power has been stopped, which in turn affects the general business situation.

Why can't the government give the ex-service men full cash value of their adjusted compensation certificates now, instead of in 1944 and 1946? Not all of the ex-service men would spend their money, but such a move on the part of the federal government in rehabilitating buying power of one class of consumers is bound to lift business and employment conditions out of the trough into which they descended.

Four Years Spent Perfecting This New

EIGHT

(Twin-Ignition, Straight-Eight Motor)

Four years ago Nash engineers set themselves to develop the finest eight cylinder motor car on the market.

The most modern facilities and the newest specialized machines devised solely for eight cylinder work were installed to aid them.

Step by step, month by month, they progressed from improvement to further improvement.

Other makes of eights were introduced from time to time but with traditional devotion to quality Nash refused to permit haste to sacrifice the perfection sought.

This Eight in 9 different body styles is now available for your inspection.

It is a supremely outstanding motor car, of great power and speed, aggressively alert in action, of the highest quality thruout, and luxurious in fittings and appointments.

Always you have wanted the best money could buy. That's a natural and justifiable ambition. Now Nash affords you the opportunity of securing the very finest in motor cars.

Notable Features of the Nash Eight

A high compression, valve-in-head straight eight with Twin-ignition; 9-bearing, integrally counterweighted, hollow crankpin crankshaft; aluminum alloy connecting rods and pistons; cable operated brakes; Bijur centralized chassis lubrication; Duplate non-shatterable plate glass, at no extra cost, in all windows, doors and windshields; built-in automatic radiator shutters; life-time lubricated springs cased in steel spring covers.

Nash builds fine cars from $935 to $2385

EVEN GERMAN CLUB WILL HONOR SAINT PATRICK

Mayor Walker Forced to Cancel Engagement.

BY KATHLEEN McLAUGHLIN.

St. Patrick, for many centuries the patron of the Irish, has been adopted by the German Club of Chicago. That organization yesterday announced that it would observe tomorrow, the seventeenth of March, with "the wearin' of the green" at a smoker in the strictly Teutonic precincts of the Steuben club. A program will be staged and a buffet luncheon, German style, will be served.

In numerous other features tomorrow's celebration promises to stand unique among the scores of similar festivities honoring the anniversary of Ireland's patron saint.

Walker Cancels Engagement.

Mayor Jimmie Walker of New York last night announced in a telegram to Robert E. Crowe, president of the Irish Fellowship club, that he would be unable to attend the various functions for which he was scheduled here. The engagement was canceled because of the death of James J. Byrne, president of the borough of Brooklyn and close friend of the mayor.

However, Judge Daniel F. Cohalan of the Supreme court and prominent Democrat of that city will be present as the representative of Mayor Walker. Judge Cohalan will attend the various functions at which the mayor was scheduled to appear.

The principal religious service of the day will be held at St. Patrick's church, Adams and Des Plaines streets, where Irish notables invariably gather each St. Patrick's morning. Judge Cohalan will attend this service. Mass will be celebrated by the Rev. William O. Gallery, who was baptized in the church and said his first mass there following his ordination. The Rev. Michale J. Mulcaire, C. S. C., vice president of Notre Dame university, will preach the sermon.

Attend Fellowship Dinner.

At 7:30 o'clock in the evening Judge Cohalan, Dr. Thomas [illegible]eane of New York, Judge Patrick McShane of Cleveland, and Prof. Shaun McGuire will be guests of the Irish Fellowship club for the annual dinner at the Palmer house. Shamrocks will be distributed as favors, 50,000 having arrived from Dublin.

Eamon de Valera, formerly president of the Irish republic, is expected to appear at the twelfth annual ball of the American Association for the Recognition of the Irish Republic at the 131st Infantry armory.

Thirty-four divisions of the Ancient Order of Hibernians will be represented at the fiftieth annual observance of the day by that order, at the Car Men's hall. Judge Martin Sweeney of Ohio, international president, will crown an Irish beauty selected for that honor.

Fiddlers, pipers, and accordion players will help make merry at Father Perez hall, 67th and May streets, where dancing and Irish moving pictures will feature the festivities of the Shamrock Athletic club.

To Stage Irish Program.

Music, songs, and dances of modern Ireland will be demonstrated at St. Mel's auditorium, 4315 West Washington boulevard, tomorrow night. The Rev. Joseph Lonergan, past national chaplain of the American Legion, will talk on St. Patrick.

Sarah Ann McCabe concert artist, will present a program of Irish numbers at Mercy High school auditorium, 81st street and Prairie avenue, at 2:30 and at 8:15 o'clock tomorrow under the auspices of the Holy Name society of the Little Flower parish.

Genuine shamrocks raised especially for St. Patrick's day from seed sent from Ireland will be on display in the Garfield park conservatory all day today, together with varieties popularly and mistakenly supposed to be the real shamrock. Park commissioners invite the public to inspect the exhibit in horticultural hall.

Some Offices to Close.

Both the county building and the city hall will be closed tomorrow with the exception of emergency departments. Tax operation department will remain open by an order of President Anton J. Cermak of the county board.

United Irish societies and the Clan-na-Gael guards will be hosts at a dance at Guyon's Paradise ballroom at which 10,000 are expected to be present.

Graham Junior High school will present a pageant and musical, including Irish songs, music, and folk dances, at 1:30 o'clock tomorrow.

Winners in School Rug Contest

1,000 on Display

Winners in the rug making contest conducted by the bureau of recreation of the Chicago public schools were announced yesterday, when more than 1,000 rugs made by children at 64 playgrounds were placed on exhibition at the board of education offices. Hooked, braided, crocheted, and woven rugs were entered in the contest.

The Scanlan playground, 117th street and Lafayette avenue, won first prize in the hooked rug competition, with the Fiske playground at 61st street and Ingleside avenue, second. Avondale playground, Sawyer avenue and George street, was first in the braided and crocheted rug division, and the Burroughs playground, 35th street and Washtenaw avenue, second. The children, ranging in age from 7 to 15 years, provided their own looms and materials.

$80 THEFT COSTS ROBBER PRISON TERM FOR LIFE

Frank Carr, 40 years old, was sentenced to life imprisonment in the penitentiary yesterday by Judge Daniel P. Trude in the Criminal court in accordance with the guilty verdict returned by a jury under the habitual criminal act. The crime for which Carr was given the severe punishment was stealing $80 worth of poultry from the butcher shop of Louis Rosenstein, 3343 West North avenue.

Assistant State's Attorneys Owen West and Charles E. Lounsbury said that in view of the fact that Carr resorted to thievery within a few months of his release on parole from the penitentiary it was ample proof that he is a confirmed criminal and should be sentenced under the habitual act despite the small amount of his loot.

Will R. Moody, Evangelist's Son, Speaks Here Today

Will R. Moody, son of the famous evangelist, Dwight L. Moody, will address the Sunday Evening club tonight in Orchestra hall. Mr. Moody, who is head of the Northfield schools in Massachusetts, came to Chicago yesterday to deliver a series of lectures at the Presbyterian Theological seminary.

AIRPORT CHIEF KILLED IN STUNT WITH TEST PLANE

Benton Harbor Aviator Dies in Fall.

Pilot Albert Jacobs, 22 years old, manager of the Twin Cities airport at Benton Harbor, Mich., was killed yesterday while stunting an experimental plane. A wing of the test plane collapsed and the ship fell 1,500 feet, crashing through telephone wires a short distance from the airport.

Flying for Year.

According to relatives Jacobs was a licensed commercial pilot and had been flying about a year. His plane was an "Air Trainer," a new two place open monoplane built by the Royal Aircraft company of Detroit and powered with a Le Blonde 60 horse power motor. Airport attendants said the plane was licensed for experimental purposes and was to be flown back to the factory today by Jacobs.

The pilot took off from the airport at 10:30 for a local hop. He had been up about 20 minutes when, according to David Russell, an airport attendant, the pilot put the plane into a loop. The wing collapsed as the plane reached the top of the loop, those who saw the accident said. Disabled, the plane dropped out of control and buried its nose in the soft earth.

Escapes in Previous Crash.

According to Chief of Police Charles Steeples of Benton Harbor, Jacobs escaped injury in another crack-up a month ago when the motor of a Waco biplane failed while the pilot was flying over Benton Harbor and the plane fell beside a house on Wauconda avenue.

Jacobs lived with his mother, Mrs. Marie M. Jacobs, at 528 Pearl street, Benton Harbor. He was the son of the late Henry W. Jacobs, former president of the Oxwell Railway Service company of Chicago.

ANN CARTERE, NOTED ARTIST'S MODEL, IS DEAD

Conneaut, O., March 15.—(AP)—Madaleine Maneval, also known as Ann Cartere and "the magazine cover girl," died here last night at the home of her aunt, Mrs. James Reiner.

Miss Maneval had been ill nearly a year and had been living in seclusion. Death came from heart failure.

At one time known as the highest paid artist's model, Miss Maneval's picture had appeared, relatives said, on the cover page of Saturday Evening Post, Red Book, McClure's, American, McCall's, Woman's Home Companion, and Cosmopolitan magazines. Among the artists for whom she had posed were Haskell Coffin, Charles Chamber, and J. Knowles Hare.

CELEBRITIES OF STAGE ATTEND ALBEE FUNERAL

New York, March 15.—[Special.]—The funeral of Edward F. Albee, vaudeville pioneer and former president of the B. F. Keith circuit, who died on Tuesday in Palm Beach, was held today in the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, which is the beneficiary of a $500,000 gift from Mr. Albee.

Bishop William T. Manning officiated at requiem services attended by 1,500 persons, including many associates of Mr. Albee in his theatrical career of half a century. Burial was in Kensico cemetery.

A choice position near the sanctuary and close to a coffin of hammered cast bronze blanketed with orchids and lilies of the valley was reserved for old time actors from the National Vaudeville association and the Actors' home on Staten island.

Celebrities of the stage were seen in all parts of the cathedral. They included Fred Stone, his daughter Dorothy, Ed Wynn, Henry Chesterfield, secretary of the National Vaudeville association; Laura Burt, once leading lady with Henry Irving, and Nellie McHenry.

ROUTS 2 THIEVES, BATTLES THIRD DESPITE WOUND

George Langas, 44 years old, proprietor of a fruit store at 5845 West Chicago avenue, last night routed two robbers and grappled with a third until the arrival of a policeman. Langas received a slight scalp wound when the third robber, who identified himself as Louis Assie, 4437 Congress street, fired one bullet during the struggle.

The three thieves entered the store as Langas was counting his day's receipts. At their command to turn over the money Langas floored the bandit nearest him with one blow. He turned quickly and hit a second who also went down. Assie was armed but he was knocked down before he could fire. The first two robbers fled. During the struggle that followed the bandit succeeded in firing once, wounding Langas. The shot attracted Policeman Daniel Ryan of the Austin station who disarmed the robber.

Langas received first aid at a drug store and went back to finish counting his money, while the robber found both eyes swelling shut as the result of the pommeling he received. The thief was held at the Austin station.

CITY FACES SUIT FOR PAVING DELAY ON ASHLAND AVE.

Michael J. Faherty, president of the board of local improvements, was given notice yesterday that a suit for damages will be filed against the city tomorrow because of the failure to complete the Ashland avenue improvement. The notice said that the suit would be filed on behalf of Walter and Mary Makowski, owners of property at Elston and Ashland avenues.

Ten grounds for the damage action were listed in the notice and announcement was made that twelve more will be incorporated in the suit. Among the grounds given are the loss of rents and inability to make a lease for any length of time, loss due to withdrawal and drifting away of business, and violation of the constitutional right that no person shall be deprived of property without due process of law.

A bond issue for $8,715,000 has been placed on the April 8th ballot for the purpose of paying for the property taken by the city in the widening of Ashland avenue.

COL. WHALLEN, DEMOCRATIC LEADER, DIES

Louisville, Ky., March 15.—(AP)—Col. James Patrick Whallen, 72, Democratic leader and business pioneer, died here at 2:45 this morning as a result of a heart attack suffered on Feb. 12.

Col. Whallen took an active part in nominating Woodrow Wilson for the presidency at the convention in Baltimore in 1912, and was later a member of the convention at St. Louis in 1916, and he spoke for the nominations of James M. Cox and John W. Davis at the conventions in San Francisco and New York in 1920 and 1924.

Born in Kentucky, he enlisted with Gen. John H. Morgan during the civil war, and although only 13 years old was cited for bravery.

A period of business followed the war for Col. Whallen, when saloons he operated laid the foundation for a fortune that later was use in establishing the Empire Circuit company, a chain of burlesque theaters.

Col. Whallen is survived by his wife, Mrs. Susie McDermott Whallen. Funeral arrangements have not been completed.

AUSTRIA STAMPS FOOT ON RULE OF SOCIALIST LABOR

New Law Aims Blow at Closed Shops.

BY WILLIAM SHIRER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VIENNA, March 15.—That curious and ofttimes comic brand of socialism which ruled Austria after the overthrow of the Hapsburgs, and which now, although but a minority in the country, still presides over the destinies of the Vienna city government, suffered another setback yesterday with the decision of the majority parties to rush through parliament a severe "anti-terror" law.

The measure in reality is designed to break the closed shops, which make Austrian workmen the best organized in the world and have given their Socialist unions great power in dictating the policies of the country's industries. Since parliament has a clear anti-Marxist majority, the projected law is almost sure to pass.

Law Terse and to the Point.

The projected open shop law is terse and to the point. It first declares void all closed shop agreements forced upon the employers.

Second, the law makes it a legal misdemeanor to hinder any person taking work when it can be gotten, whether he is a member of a union or not.

Third, it is made unlawful for an employé or employer to force a worker either to join or quit a union.

The fourth clause forbids employers to make deductions for union dues from pay envelopes.

But, although they have been driven from the government of the state, the Socialists are still firmly entrenched in Vienna and there is little probability that they will be driven out for many years.

Indeed, the municipality of Vienna stands as the chief stronghold of social democracy in Europe today. It is curiously paradoxical. It finances are controlled by one of the best financial brains of central Europe, Hugo Breitner, who, although working for the Marxists, uses the methods he learned in private banking.

It has accumulated much of its great reserve capital by purely capitalistic methods and is one of the biggest buyers of foreign currencies.

Capitalism Pays Tribute.

All of the capitalistic enterprises which thrive here pay heavy tribute to it in the form of the highest taxes in Europe. And it has gone into business for itself on a large scale.

Its coöperative stores are among the largest institutions of their kind in Europe. It maintains a savings bank, restaurants, bakeries, book shops, libraries, public baths, and schools. It supports the Teetotalers' league, for the Austrian Socialists believe in partial prohibition, the Free Thinkers' league, and numerous athletic and sporting clubs.

But it is in housing where the city has gone into business on the largest scale. It enjoys practically a monopoly in the building trade. No private enterprise wants to sink a penny in such a business as long as the ridiculously low rents are maintained by law.

Already the municipality has constructed 25,000 dwellings and intends to build that many more within the next few years.

For four or five dollars a month a worker can get a clean, airy apartment with modern plumbing.

Luxury here, as might be expected in Marxist Utopia, foots the bill. You are allowed one servant per home, but if you need two, that is a luxury and you are taxed accordingly. The municipality decrees how many rooms your family may live in.

Automobiles, too, are a luxury and only the very rich can afford them. An American car costing $1,000 sells for two times that here.

Where Is Clothing?

Superior Judge Gentzel yesterday ordered a search of the home of Joseph M. Synnerdahl, professor of mathematics and astronomy at Loyola university, at 11933 Wallace street. The search was requested by the professor's estranged wife, Mrs. Ethel Kesner Synnerdahl, 644 Wrightwood avenue, who charged that he is holding eighteen pairs of shoes, seven hats, seven dresses, three purses, six pairs of gloves, two coats, two scarfs, jewelry, and one unused corset belonging to her.

Synnerdahl repeated charges made last March 1 that his wife is holding property belonging to him. At that time Judge Gentzel continued the case, threatening to jail either the husband or wife for contempt of court, if he could discover which of them was committing perjury. Yesterday the judge confessed that he was no nearer a decision than he had been two weeks ago and continued the case until next Tuesday. Mrs. Synnerdahl is suing for divorce on charges of cruelty. Her husband has filed an answer charging her with misconduct with three men.

Seek Physician on Charge of Murder by Abortion

Dr. D. E. Lucas, 2946 Jackson boulevard, a practicing physician in Chicago for nearly thirty years, was being sought by police last night on a warrant charging him with murder by abortion. A coroner's jury, concluding an inquest yesterday in the case of Mrs. Alberta Aird, 30 years old, 730 Cornelia avenue, found that her death last Friday in the Bethany hospital was the result of an illegal operation.

REPORT BRITAIN PLANS ARREST OF MAHATMA GANDHI

May Act Quickly to Halt Indian 'Freedom March.'

BY JOHN STEELE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 15.—The Sunday Times learns from well informed quarters in London that the arrest of Mahatma Gandhi, leader of the passive resistance revolt for the freedom of India, is "imminent."

This view is entertained owing to the situation which has been brought about by the resignation of the head men of several villages through which Gandhi has passed on his "march to the sea," where he expects to manufacture salt in defiance of the government monopoly.

This action of the head men is in direct response to Gandhi's appeal and is regarded by the British as a defiance of the law which not even the greatest sense of official tolerance can countenance. The authorities are expected to act with firmness and quickly.

India Takes Precautions.

NEW DELHI, India, March 15.—(AP)—With a view to counteracting the Mahatma Gandhi movement against the salt tax an important notification was gazetted today with approval of the Bombay government.

The central board of revenue plans to invest every police officer above the rank of constable in the presidency of Bombay—excepting in Sind and Aden—with all the powers of a salt revenue officer.

That would enable them to order confiscation of salt made otherwise than under the government monopoly, or take any other action necessary.

Gandhi Followers March On.

NADIAD, Bombay, India, March 15.—(AP)—Despite fatigue, Mahatma Gandhi and his party of civil disobedience volunteers pressed forward today on their ten mile march from Matar to Dabhan.

At Dabhan they were welcomed by a large assembly of villagers, including the headman and other village officials, who announced they had resigned in accordance with the campaign for Indian independence.

Calcutta Ceases Work.

CALCUTTA, India, March 15.—(AP)—A partial hartel—cessation of work—was observed here today in protest at the arrest of Mayor Sengupta Thursday on charges of sedition. Most schools and colleges remained closed.

Province Joins Move.

MADRAS, March 15.—(AP)—It was understood today that the Andhra provincial congress working committee had appointed Konda Venkatapayya as director and had authorized him to fix a day and place for starting the civil resistance campaign in Andhra province.

N.Y. Bank Sends $3,000,000 to Brazil to Cover Fine

RIO JANEIRO, March 15.—(AP)—The equivalent in Brazilian currency of $3,000,000 was deposited in the Banco Do Brazil today by the National City bank of New York as a guarantee for a fine of a like amount recently laid on the bank's Sao Paulo branch by the inspector general of banks. The inspector general alleged that the National City bank branch there had carried on exchange transactions contrary to the banking laws of Brazil. The bank today also filed an appeal, alleging the fines were imposed without full and complete examination of the transactions. It contends there is no authority in Brazilian laws permitting the imposition of a fine of such magnitude.

Claim U. S. Thirst Brought $4,300,000 Liquor Profits

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

VANCOUVER, B. C., March 15.—British Columbia has to thank thirsty Americans for $4,300,000 profit made on the government's liquor operations last year, according to a statement in the legislature this morning by Attorney General Pooley.

LUXEMBURG IS SATISFIED WITH LADY MONARCH

She Keeps Fingers Out of Political Pie.

[This is the first of two articles on Luxemburg, a little grand duchy between France and Germany.]

BY ANN SOMERS HOUSE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LUXEMBURG, March 15.—The little grand duchy of Luxemburg seems satisfied with her lady monarch. There wasn't the slightest unpleasant murmur recently when Grand Duchess Charlotte cut her birthday cake, with 34 candles on it, and demurely set out on the second decade of her soverignty in the little buffer state between France and Germany. Charlotte is the most popular grand duchess Luxemburg has had as yet. She keeps her fingers out of the political pie, lets the steel magnates govern the country, and devotes herself to rearing heirs for the dynasty. She has five children, the youngest being about 4.

Luxemburg's dynasty nearly went broke when Germany passed through the inflation crisis. While they had been one of Europe's richest reigning families before the war—second probably only to the immensely wealthy Czar—the Luxemburg princes had invested their money in Germany where of course it vanished with the German paper mark mirage.

Has Grown Economical.

So Grand Duchess Charlotte has grown economical. She and her prince consort, Felix of Bourbon, spend the summer on a small farm where there isn't even room enough for guests. It is said the grand duchess moved there when impoverished and dethroned German relatives sponged on her too much during lengthy summer vacations.

Charlotte, so all Luxemburgers hope, will be the last woman ruler for some time to come, two of her children being boys. Not that Luxemburg minds lady monarchs; only you can't always tell how they'll turn out! Charlotte suits everybody, but Grand Duchess Marie-Adelaide, her predecessor, proved quite a strain on the country's nerves.

After her father had been declared unfit to rule and her mother had been regent for a while Marie-Adelaide, eldest of six sisters, took the reins of the country into her dainty fists at the age of 18. When her ministers wouldn't do what she wanted, she would bang those fists on her grand ducal desk.

During the world war this autocratic young grand duchess sided openly with the kaiser. Though German armies overran her neutral country, just like Belgium, Marie-Adelaide kept her German courtiers or let them serve in the German army without firing them. She was openly proud of her German descent. The kaiser and his chancellor called on her during the war and were cordially received. Marie-Adelaide even visited the German battle front with German officers. Two months before the German collapse she got her younger sister Antoinette engaged to the Bavarian crown prince without telling her government ministers a word about it.

New Ruler a Good Mother.

If Germany had won the war Marie Adelaide probably still would govern Luxemburg. But when thrones began to shake all over Central Europe Marie-Adelaide's crown also toppled off. Her army of 250 soldiers revolted against her. Her "subjects" asked her to kindly abdicate. Marie-Adelaide became a nun in 1919, left the throne to her sister Charlotte, and died at the age of 30 in a Bavarian chateau. She grew half insane after her abdication. Whenever somebody mentioned the words "Luxemburg" or "hunting" in her presense she would go into fits of fury.

All Luxemburg felt immensely pleased and relieved when the new grand duchess, Charlotte, proved a self-effacing ruler and, above all, a good wife and mother. She, too, had been reared as a German; three of her sisters were married to Germans; and her own husband had served in the Austrian army. But Charlotte knew her country's feelings. She dismissed all German court dignitaries and received the president of the French republic with great honors in her castle. She is a close friend of the Belgian king and queen and visits them often.

Luxemburg's real ruler is not Charlotte, but steel. Though bedded in the midst of roses, Luxemburg is the old world's steel capital and a grand center of industry. Grand Duchess Charlotte's palace is an unobstrusive building; but the main office of the "Arbed," Luxemburg's great steel trust, strikes every stranger as the town's most magnificent edifice.

Compared to the power which the "Napoleon of Europe's steel industry," the late Emil Mayrisch, wielded, Grand Duchess Charlotte's influence is nil. Even after his death, Mayrisch's creation, the "Arbed" steel trust, continues to function. It owns 22 smelteries and 20 steel plants in Luxemburg and abroad; it keeps 70,000 workers busy all year around.

Foot Troubles
Cause Bad Health

They affect the body in many different ways. The feet swell, burn, ache, sharp pains under heels, ball of foot becomes sore and feels as if you are walking on marbles; corns, calluses, ingrown nails and bunions; excessive perspiration with offensive odor, overdeveloped ankles and legs, varicose veins; legs cramp, knees stiffen; pains in hips, small of back, shoulders and neck, poor circulation, with a weak and nervous feeling.

Most people think they have rheumatism, neuritis, arthritis, or kidney trouble when their troubles are all caused from their feet.

Do not be discouraged. Regardless of what your condition may be or what you have tried, or whom you have consulted, Dr. Pinkston guarantees to relieve all foot troubles and cure nine-tenths of them regardless of the nature or condition of the ailment.

NEW TUBS FOR OLD

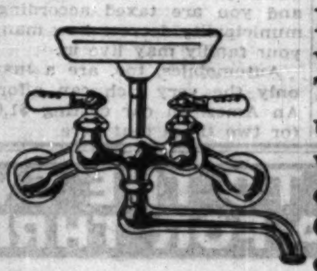
If your old bathtub, lavatory and sink are in good condition, don't tear them out. Modernize them without disturbing water supplies or redecorating, by replacing the old faucets with the very latest styles of Chicago Faucets.

Spring cleaning and renting time approaches—homes and apartments will sell or rent more quickly if your plumbing fixtures are brightened up in this attractive, practical, inexpensive way.

Add-a-Shower

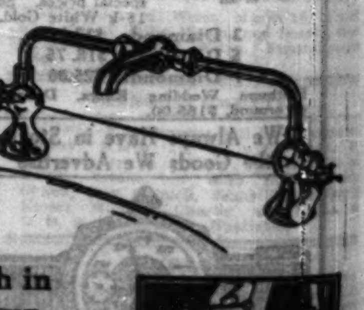
This up-to-date shower fits any old bathtub without remodeling. Easily installed—gives all the advantages of the most modern bathtub and shower installation at low cost. Solid brass throughout—several exclusive features of construction—beautifully finished in nickel or chromium plating.

NEW SINKS FOR OLD



Replace your old sink faucet with a swing-spout Classic. The single spout permits using hot, cold or tempered water—the spout swings out of the way when not in use. Can also be equipped with convenient hose and spray, making it easy to wash and rinse dishes, clean vegetables, fill tall vases, shampoo hair, etc. Keeps the housewife's or maid's hands out of the water. Classics are made in 35 types and styles as sanitary and convenient as they are practical.

NEW LAVATORIES FOR OLD



This popular lavatory fixture is used to replace two separate faucets without any change in your present piping. Here again the single spout allows you to wash in hot, cold or tempered running water. This is but one of the many ways in which you can beautify and modernize your old lavatory.

Call Your Plumber

Any master plumber will gladly inspect your property and give you an estimate without any obligation on your part.

TAXES DRY RULE IN FINLAND WITH ROTTING MORALE

Law Expert Sees Breakdown of Justice.

BY B. VON ALFTHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HELSINGFORS, March 15—A far from optimistic view of the results of prohibition in Finland is taken by Prof. Allen Serlachius, counselor of justice, in a series of articles which have recently issued from his pen. Not only does he tax the dry régime with breaking down respect for law but it has even, he thinks, so hurt the cause of temperance that even its repeal will not mean a return to the temperate outlook of the country before prohibition.

The morale of the nation, he maintains, has been lowered, its respect for law decreased, and its appreciation of temperance degraded to a point which means that years of work will be necessary to regain the position which was held before prohibition was adopted.

No Clear Cut Issues.

Prof. Serlachius, member of a prominent Finnish family and an authority on law, is opposed to the idea of a referendum on the prohibition question, proposed recently by Dr. Paavo Wirkkunen, chairman of the diet. A referendum, he points out, must be on one of two or more specified alternatives. The public would be asked to vote for the present prohibition on one hand and for some suggested alternative on the other. A vote on either side might mean simply less dissatisfaction with one alternative than with the other. A voter opposed to prohibition might nevertheless be dissatisfied with the opposite proposal; he would be unable, therefore, to vote on the clear cut issue of prohibition or no prohibition, as he would have been able to do at the inception of prohibition legislation if he had been offered a choice between the status quo and prohibition.

Problem Is Not Simple.

It is for the government, Prof. Serlachius says, to work out a new scheme. Failing that, he asks that prohibition be enforced with the utmost rigor. In that case, he says, time will at least be gained, for it will be evident so much sooner that it is impossible to legislate a nation into temperance.

But the problem of the government, he continues, is by no means a simple one. Abolishing prohibition will by no means end the evil. Ten years of paper prohibition but actual increase of drinking has fostered a double morality, a hypocrisy which has become a chronic disease of society. A change of the law must provide for a transition period during which the social malady may be cured. The country has lost the habit of obeying the law, and it will take time to restore it to that habit.

DULUTH BISHOP TO PREACH AT LENTEN SERVICES THIS WEEK

The Rt. Rev. Granville G. Bennett, Episcopal bishop of Duluth, will be the Lenten preacher at the noon services at the Garrick theater this week. The services are held under the auspices of the Episcopal Church club of Chicago. Bishop Bennett will preach at 4:15 p. m. today at St Chrysostom's church, 1424 North Dearborn parkway.

BARE WIDE SCOPE OF CANADA'S BILL TO END RUM FLOW

BY GEORGE SMITH.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

OTTAWA, Ont., March 15.—Amid applause from both his followers and his opposition in parliament, Prime Minister Mackenzie King's bill, by which Canada will endeavor to stem the $30,000,000 a year flow across the Canadian border, has passed second reading and now seems assured of enactment.

House of commons legal authorities unanimously give the opinion that Premier King's daring step will give the government absolute power to control liquor exports. It gives the cabinet a wide scope of action.

Text of Bill.

The full text of the bill follows:

"1. The export act, chapter 63 of the revised statutes of Canada, 1927, is amended by inserting therein the following section immediately after section 7 thereof:

"8. [1] Notwithstanding the provisions of any other statute or law or of any regulation made thereunder, or of any bond, agreement or other instrument relating thereto, [a] no intoxicating liquor now or hereafter held in bond or otherwise under the control of officials of the dominion government, under the provisions of the excise act, the customs act or any other state of Canada, shall be released or removed for purposes of export from any bonding warehouse, distillery, brewery or other building or place in which such liquor is stored in any case in which such liquor is destined for delivery in any country into which the importation of such liquor is prohibited by law;

Bars Ship Clearances.

"[b] It shall be unlawful to grant a clearance to any vessel having on board any intoxicating liquor destined for delivery in any country into which the importation of such liquor is prohibited by law.

"[2] 'Intoxicating liquor' in this section means any liquor coming within the definition of 'intoxicating liquors' in the Canada temperance act.

"[3] The governor in council (the Canadian cabinet) may make such orders and regulations as he may consider necessary for giving effect to any of the provisions of this section."

CORD

Powered by Lycoming

AN INVITATION TO COMPETITORS

NEXT week we will announce an "Invitational Week" to the public. Its purpose is to give people an opportunity to drive the Cord front-drive automobile. Due to the interest that this special Cord showing will arouse, you will be asked many questions. Those who have never enjoyed a demonstration of the exclusive advantages of having a car pulled instead of pushed, are going to be impressed. Many of these people are your customers. They naturally respect your judgment. In answering them you do not want to depend upon second hand information. You want to be able to tell them that you have ridden in the Cord and driven it and that your estimate of it is based on actual experience. You are perhaps aware, even more than the public is, that we have refrained from advertising the Cord car in a superlative manner. We have been content to wait until several thousand people owned Cord cars and had opportunities to drive them many thousands of miles. The time has now come to reveal the many remarkable features of this, America's first production front-drive automobile. Before doing so, this week is dedicated to the trade, in order to let competitive dealers learn of the Cord. All automobile dealers, their salesmen and mechanics are cordially invited to visit our stores and become thoroughly informed on the design, construction and performance of the Cord. Here are some of the things we are going to tell the public about the Cord car: It is the easiest car to handle in traffic because it steers easier and turns shorter than any other car of comparable wheelbase. No other car as long as the Cord turns as short nor with as few revolutions of the steering wheel. The Cord requires less motion of the driver's hands and arms; Due to the high ratio of sprung to unsprung weight, possible only with front-drive construction, the Cord is without an equal in riding comfort, especially under hard and adverse road conditions; The absence of any tendency of the Cord to tip or lean on turns is very noticeable; The inherent qualities of the Cord's design enable it to travel in a straight line better than any other car; The rear wheels do not bounce around, but follow in a true manner; There is no inclination to side sway over cobble stones and chuck holes; The Cord has scientific seating comfort unapproached by any other automobile; The Cord has a lower combination insurance rate for fire, theft and collision; The Cord affords lowness of body with greater visibility from within than any rear drive car of comparable height; When riding in the Cord you are impressed by the built-in rigidity and solidity of the body and chassis making them more of a unit than any other automobile; And you sense when driving the Cord, a security that is unexplainable, undefinable, and unobtainable in any other car. You will want to verify these claims in advance, for yourself. It is to be expected that you will be more critical, because it is your business to know automobiles from every angle, therefore you are qualified to appraise the Cord. After such an experience your word will carry weight with the public.

HINDENBURG ASKS PEACE SACRIFICE EQUAL OF WAR'S

Appeals for Unity to Rebuild Fatherland.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, March 15.—Following the first explanatory message he has ever issued to the German people, in which he explained his signing of the Young plan bill, President Paul von Hindenburg today deemed it advisable to issue a supplementary statement addressed especially to the students of Germany.

The Federation of Student Associations got under his skin by writing him a letter in the name of "the dead of Langemarck," appealing to him not to sign the Young plan bill. The dead of Langemarck were several thousand German students too young to be drafted who volunteered early in the world war. Insufficiently trained and led by inexperienced student officers they rushed headlong into battle at Langemarck, Flanders. Charging across no man's land in mass formation they were mowed down by Belgian machine gunners.

War Memory Stirs Soldier.

The reference to Langemarck stirred the old field marshal's memories of wartime when youthful rashness was at a premium, and broke through his post-war political prudence enough to provoke a special reply.

"I hope my manifesto the other day to the German people straightened out some of the misconceptions you hold," President von Hindenburg paternally said. "But your mention of Langemarck makes me desire to address a special reply to you. However, my feeling is that the very sacrifice made by students at Langemarck ought to suggest that you also make a sacrifice for the Fatherland. The sacrifice Germany now needs is a unified, harmonious effort for its reconstruction."

President von Hindenburg's tolerant rebuke addressed to the over eager student patriots has a deeper meaning, however. It is a grave refutation of the growing storm of abuse from the Nationalist camp ever since the Young plan bill became a law.

Nationalist Continues Attack.

The rabid Nationalist, Adolf Hitler, today wrote in one of his organs that President von Hindenburg and members of the reichstag who approved the Young plan ought to be tried and sent to prison for treason.

The violent Nationalist protest is expected to reach its peak tomorrow noon when students' massmeetings are scheduled throughout the nation. The police are preparing for trouble.

HERRMANN, ONCE A BOOK BURNER, TURNS RESCUER

Gets Relief Loan for Public Library.

U. J. [Sport] Herrmann, theater owner and yachtsman, who two years ago was delegated by Mayor Thompson to burn all pro-British books in the Chicago public library, yesterday came to the rescue of the library. Mr. Herrmann, now president of the library board, announced he had raised a $250,000 loan so the board can pay overdue contracts with publishers.

Herrmann's bonfire was never built, although the mayor's war against King George brought about the ouster of William McAndrew as superintendent of schools.

Only One Book Burned.

The net result of Herrmann's attack on the book shelves was the seizure of four volumes and the burning of one copy of A. M. Schlesinger's American history. Herrmann purchased the book for the purpose of burning it.

Recently the library trustees faced the same financial troubles that have beset all of Chicago's governmental agencies. Although many employés have already been discharged, further curtailment of the operating force was regarded necessary due to a shortage of funds.

In addition, contracts with publishers for books already ordered called for payment not later than tomorrow. If outside financial aid were not forthcoming, the library faced the possibility of losing the books or being sued for breach of contract, the trustees said.

Herrmann Gets a Loan.

Herrmann announced yesterday that the Seneca Securities corporation, of which he is vice president, has agreed to furnish the library $250,000 to buy books and pay other obligations and operating expenses until the taxes from which the library derives its funds are collected.

The corporation has taken 1928 building fund tax warrants as collateral.

MILLION AUTOS NOW REGISTERED IN SPRINGFIELD

Springfield, Ill., March 15.—[U. P.]—Passenger automobile registration in Illinois passed the one million mark today, according to William J. Stratton, secretary of state. Last year the sale of license plates did not reach the million mark until April 1.

Stratton stated the indications were that the total registration of passenger automobiles for 1930 would be more than 100,000 in excess of last year's figures. The total collections of the department to March 1 were $11,953,913.42, exceeding last year's figures for that period by more than two and one-half million dollars.

U. S. WITNESS AIDS DOHENY IN OIL TRIAL

Takes Part of Blame for Elk Hills Lease.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 15.—[Special.]—District Supreme Court Justice William Hitz today denied a defense motion, made immediately after the government unexpectedly rested its case, for a directed verdict in favor of E. L. Doheny, multimillionaire oil man, charged with having paid former Secretary of the Interior A. B. Fall $100,000 for a lease on the navy's Elk Hills, California, oil reserve.

Present prospects are that after a few preliminary witnesses in his behalf are heard, Doheny, who always has insisted what the government charges was a bribe was in reality a loan to a lifelong friend, will take the stand in his own defense Tuesday. He is to be followed by Mrs. Doheny, and it is expected the case will be given to the jury before the end of next week.

Charge, Proof Differ.

Among other grounds offered in support of the motion for a directed verdict, Frank J. Hogan, chief of defense counsel, contended there is an important variance between the charge in the indictment against Doheny and the fact proved by the government's evidence in that while the indictment charges Doheny with "giving" the $100,000 to Fall, the evidence shows he "caused" the money to be given.

Although called as a government witness, S. E. C. Finney, former first assistant secretary and now solicitor of the interior department, proved a more powerful defense aid today under cross-examination, readily assuming a large measure of responsibility for the Elk Hills lease negotiations and throwing what he did not shoulder himself on to subordinates in the interior department or navy department officials.

Witness Aids Defense.

Fall, Finney insisted in response to Hogan's queries, did not participate in the actual negotiations and never knew, until after the leases on the reserves and the contracts for construction of oil storage tanks at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, were awarded to Doheny, that privileges and rights not offered other bidders had been given to Doheny.

Throughout the negotiations, Finncy continued, changes in the leases or contracts were either dictated, suggested, or approved by Rear Admiral J. K. Robison, retired, after consultation with the late Secretary of the Navy Edwin Denby.

Dr. Harned's Wife Wins Divorce on Cruelty Plea

Mrs. Jessie M. Harned, 27 years old, of the Bismarck hotel, president of the Association of Recording Librarians of North America, yesterday won a divorce from Dr. John W. Harned, 1720 North Kedzie avenue. The case was heard by Superior Judge Lewis. Mrs. Harned charged cruelty, asserting that her ear drum was broken when her husband pushed her against a table. The Harneds were married on Oct. 7, 1925, and separated last Jan. 3. Mrs. Harned's attorney, Harry X. Cole, announced that she received a settlement of $7,000.

NEW TRIBUNE CONTEST OFFERS FLAT HUNTERS MONTH'S RENT FREE

Are you going to move between now and May 17? Here is an opportunity to get your first month's rent paid by THE TRIBUNE.

This new contest is for those actually in the market for apartments and carries weekly prizes up to $700 for the best ideas and opinions submitted about TRIBUNE apartment-to-rent want-ads. All you have to do, according to the contest editor, is to cut out or copy from the classified section not more than five apartment want-ads that interest you most and not more than three ads that interest you least. Then list briefly the points you want to know about an apartment before you take the trouble of inspecting it. Send your list and your "cut-outs" to "Renters' Contest No. 1," THE TRIBUNE. Complete instructions will be found in a page advertisement in this issue.

Three cash prizes will be awarded each week to successful contestants in these groups: those who pay $75 or less rent per month, one month's rent; those who pay more than $75 and less than $125, one month's rent; and those who pay more than $125, one month's rent not to exceed $500. In addition, a grand prize of one year's rent not to exceed $2,400 will be selected from all entries sent in during the life of the contest. The principal stipulation is that you must rent an apartment during the time specified, although it is not necessary that this apartment must be selected from THE TRIBUNE'S rental columns. All replies to Contest No. 1 must be received by 6 p. m. March 12.

HUNT WIEBOLDT CHAUFFEUR FOR $13,000 ROBBERY

The theft of $8,100 in jewelry and a $5,000 automobile from Werner A. Wieboldt, 700 McDaniels avenue, Highland Park, head of the Wieboldt Department stores, was revealed yesterday when warrants were issued charging William Melzer, 40 years old, the Wieboldt chauffeur, with burglary, larceny, and forgery. In addition to the theft, Melzer is accused of forging Mrs. Wieboldt's name to four checks totaling $250.

The theft was discovered on Thursday when Melzer, who had been an employé in the Wieboldt home for a year and a half, disappeared with the automobile. The jewelry was taken from a jewel box in a dresser drawer where Mrs. Wieboldt had placed it on Wednesday night. Later, she learned that Melzer had cashed four checks signed with her name, at Highland Park stores.

Mr. Wieboldt told Chief of Police Edward Maroney that Melzer was a native of Germany and had talked of returning to his native country. A note book found in Melzer's effects contained figures indicating that he had made several thousands of dollars in recent months in stock market speculations.

Sentenced to 60 Days for Fake Wreck Injury Claim

Abdurehman Ali, 1528 Jackson boulevard, whose attempt to claim damages for injuries which he didn't receive in the wreck of a Chicago, North Shore and Milwaukee train at Kenosha caused his arrest, pleaded with Judge Herbert G. Immenhausen in the South State street court yesterday to let him take a long trip for his health. Judge Immenhausen granted the request by sending him to the Bridewell for 60 days on a charge of attempting to obtain money under false pretenses.

Chevrolet announces

A NEW SERVICE POLICY

The Chevrolet Motor Company and its dealers are pleased to announce that a new and broader service policy has now been made effective for the benefit of Chevrolet owners throughout the United States.

This policy is one of the most liberal ever offered on a low-priced automobile in the history of the automotive industry.

Put into force as a written and signed agreement given to the purchaser by the Chevrolet dealer when the car is delivered—it sets forth, in plain and understandable language, the greater service protection to which every Chevrolet owner is now entitled. Briefly, it offers the following provisions:

1 Every Chevrolet owner receives his car from the dealer in perfect condition—thoroughly lubricated, properly adjusted, and ready to operate efficiently from the first mile of ownership.

2 Every Chevrolet owner is entitled to free inspection and adjustment of his car at the end of the first 500 miles of usage.

3 Every Chevrolet owner is entitled to free inspection of his car every 1000 miles thereafter, so long as the car is in operation.

4 Every Chevrolet owner is entitled to free replacement of any part which may prove defective, either in workmanship or in material, within the terms of Chevrolet's standard warranty. This includes labor as well as parts.

Owner's Service Policy
Ignition Key No..........
Door Lock Key No..........
Tire Lock Key No..........
Rear Deck Key No..........

5 Provision number 4 will be carried out by any Chevrolet dealer in the United States. As a result, the Chevrolet owner may change his residence, or travel to any part of the country, with full assurance that the guarantee on materials and workmanship will give him complete protection.

In addition to saving money for the Chevrolet owner, this new policy constitutes definite proof of Chevrolet's high quality—for such liberal provisions could only be made in connection with a car built of fine materials to exacting standards of workmanship.

Back of this policy, and assuring its successful operation, is one of the most complete and efficient service organizations in the motor car industry.

There are more than 10,000 Authorized Chevrolet Dealer Service Stations in the United States alone—operating under the general supervision of fifty-two Chevrolet district offices. Every one of these Service Stations is capable of performing any service operation that a Chevrolet may require. Each employs skilled mechanics thoroughly trained at Chevrolet Service Schools. Each has specially designed tools and machinery developed exclusively for Chevrolet service work. And each has on hand, at all times, an adequate stock of genuine Chevrolet replacement parts. As a result, Chevrolet's flat-rate charges, including both parts and labor, are the lowest in the industry on many service and repair operations!

In considering the purchase of a low-priced automobile, think what this service means to you—in terms of lasting satisfaction, as well as in increased economy.

MINE INSURGENTS ELECT HOWAT AS THEIR PRESIDENT

Walker Made Secretary; To Quit F. of L.

BY THOMAS WREN.

Alexander Howat, a leader of the Kansas miners, late yesterday was elected president of a new national union of coal miners which has been formed by insurgent groups from the United Mine Workers of America. The election took place in the closing session of the insurgent convention at Springfield.

John H. Walker, president of the Illinois Federation of Labor, accepted the secretary-treasurership of the new union, and Adolph Germer was elected vice president. The insurgent union has taken the name of the United Mine Workers of America.

Await Views of Green.

Meanwhile at Indianapolis the convention of the regular United Mine Workers, which still controls the union's $900,000 treasury, was adjourned until tomorrow, when it will be addressed by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor. Mr. Green's speech is awaited with interest by organized labor because it is expected that he will express his views on the action of the insurgent miners and may indicate whether steps will be taken by the federation to discipline them.

In accepting office in the insurgent union Walker announced last night that he will offer his resignation as president of the state federation of labor. His new position pays $5,000 a year, while as head of the state federation he received a salary of $8,000.

Walker Accepts After Delay.

Walker accepted the post with the insurgents only after informing them repeatedly that he preferred to remain with the state federation. Friends are said to have told him this would be made difficult because of his activity in promoting the Springfield convention, which was called in violation of laws of the American Federation of Labor.

Germer, the insurgent vice president, was a leader of the Illinois district of the United Mine workers before the Illinois unit was ousted from the regular union on charges of graft.

Howat, the insurgent president, has been a storm center in the American labor movement. He served a five month jail sentence in 1921 for refusing to comply with an edict issued by the Kansas industrial court. He was also suspended from the Kansas miners by John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine workers, for refusing to obey the industrial court and to halt a strike which, Lewis charged, was called in violation of agreement.

Howat got into more hot water with old line labor leaders when he attended a Pittsburgh meeting in 1923 with William Z. Foster, the alleged director of the 1919 steel strike, and planned the establishment of a new miners' union. After an appeal to Lewis, Howat was again admitted to membership in the United Mine workers.

Discord for Ten Years.

For the last ten years discord has marked the relations between the United Mine Workers and the Illinois union. Lewis charges the insurgent meeting was promoted by Walker, Frank Farrington, and Harry Fishwick, the president of the Illinois union. Litigation between the Illinois group and Lewis is still pending in the Appellate court.

At the Indianapolis convention yesterday Lewis charged that officers of the Illinois group financed to the extent of $150,000 a nonunion mine in Virginia in competition with the unionized Pennsylvania fields. It was said that as a result of the insurgents' action the regular union will probably concentrate its organizing forces in Illinois and reorganize the coal diggers into locals under the banner of the American Federation of Labor.

Drastic changes in the organization of the regular union are proposed in a 138 page pamphlet of resolutions introduced at the Indianapolis convention. Included in the resolutions are demands that Lewis resign as president and that international officers take material decreases in salaries.

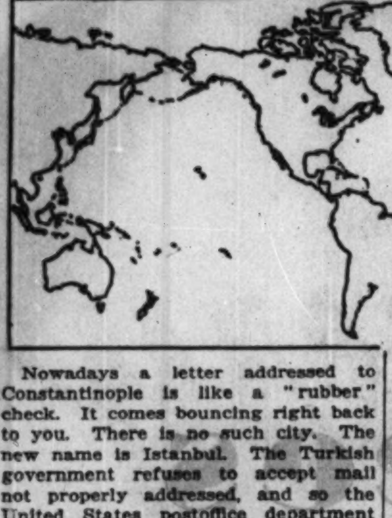
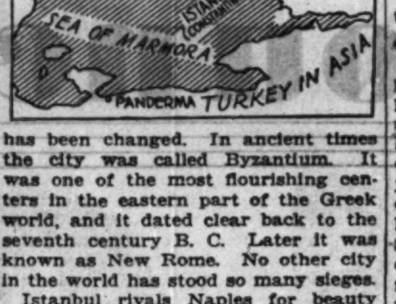
FROM ISTANBUL, TURKEY

(Picture in rotogravure section.)





Nowadays a letter addressed to Constantinople is like a "rubber" check. It comes bouncing right back to you. There is no such city. The new name is Istanbul. The Turkish government refuses to accept mail not properly addressed, and so the United States postoffice department stops all such on this side of the Atlantic.

This is not the first time the name has been changed. In ancient times the city was called Byzantium. It was one of the most flourishing centers in the eastern part of the Greek world, and it dated clear back to the seventh century B. C. Later it was known as New Rome. No other city in the world has stood so many sieges.

Istanbul rivals Naples for beauty of situation. Its mosques and minarets give off a view of splendor. But a closer inspection reveals a labyrinth of crooked, dirty lanes and crowds of low, evil looking dwellings.

Since the Turkish empire has passed out and the republic has come in, everything is being modernized, so that Istanbul has lost much of its oriental picturesqueness. Furthermore, it has yielded pride of place to upstart Angora, the new capital. The old royal palaces have surrendered their mysteries and the quarters once occupied by the sultans' wives have been opened to the profane gaze of the multitude.

PUT CREAM IN NOSE AND STOP CATARRH

Tells How to Open Clogged Nostrils and End Head-Colds

You feel fine in a few moments. Your cold in head or catarrh will be gone. Your clogged nostrils will open. The air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more dullness, headache; no hawking, snuffling, mucous discharges or dryness; no struggling for breath at night.

Tell your druggist you want a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream in your nostrils. let it penetrate through every air passage of the head; soothe and heal the swollen, inflamed mucous membrane, and relief comes instantly.

It is just what every cold and catarrh sufferer needs. Don't stay stuffed-up and miserable.

AUSTRALIA REDS CLAMOR AS LABOR SITS IN PARKS

Prices Soar, but Business Stands Still.

BY CHARLES DAILEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SYDNEY, Australia, March 15.—The first thing that strikes the visitor to New South Wales, especially if he has come directly from New Zealand after a fortnight's visit, is the contrast between two British colonies in virtually the same latitude, and less than five days away by fastest steamers.

Whereas the New Zealander has peace and employment and to all appearances a government that has the support of the people, in which the labor element is combined with the conservative faction to give a majority, yet in Australia—and especially the more peopled and assumedly more progressive state of New South Wales, of which Sydney is the capital, one finds the expansive waterfront and the parks and breathing places filled with unemployed, many of them almost at the end of their rope.

And another thing that impresses the newcomer is the cost of living, together with the idle factories. Labor sits on the park benches from early morning until twilight and reads the newspapers that have been tossed into wire waste baskets by the more fortunate. Prices in the shops, at the hotels and everywhere else are much higher than in New Zealand; the people are not as well dressed, except among the better classes, and the farmer and sheep grower is suffering as well.

In fact, the price of wool is so low that in spite of the high American tariff the exports of that staple from Australia to the United States are rapidly increasing. From general appearances, a dollar will go about two-thirds as far as it will in either the United States, Canada, or New Zealand.

For weeks the great collieries of New South Wales have been closed, owing to a labor dispute and the inability of the Labor government to handle it. The unemployed miners are on a dole that is eating the heart out of unions and the jobless.

Banks Are Hard Hit.

The banks also are hard hit and the counter business is nil. As early as Feb. 7, Sir Robert Gibson, chairman of the great Commonwealth bank, announced that he was shipping $35,000,000 in gold to London for the immediate purpose of building up the reserves to meet overseas obligations. This followed a previous shipment of several millions and the total shipment of gold by this bank alone to aid its London reserves since last July has reached $85,000,000.

Sir Robert insists that imports must be held down to the minimum until the position is completely adjusted and the values of Australian securities restored to something near normal.

Talk of High Auto Duty.

There is talk of a further rise in the import duties on motor vehicles, which would hit America severely, but the acting commissioner of trade and customs is frankly opposed to such radical action. He points out that a recent tariff increase of 100 per cent on carburetors benefits a single manufacturer, employing but three men, and at the same time imposes a burden on motorcar users. One sees fewer motorcars in Sydney than in the two larger cities in New Zealand.

All over New South Wales, as well as in other parts of the great commonwealth of Australia, the communists are busy and there have been frequent clashes with the police. A workers' defense army has been organized.

There was a great demonstration by this army, broken up by Sydney police after many heads had been smashed by batons.

On this occasion about 2,000 communists entered the domain, usually the scene of Sunday afternoon talks, after the police had worn themselves out clubbing. Senator Rae, a communist and a representative of the Labor party in the Australian upper house, stood on the platform with a Red flag flying above him, and urged force.

Sore Throats

Sore throat cases are all around us. Health authorities urge the utmost caution. The so-called "common sore throat" should be checked before the infection injures the nasal passages, or affects the hearing. Many cases of very serious illness have had their beginnings in a neglected sore throat. Physicians are advising a gargle made by crushing two tablets of Bayer Aspirin in four tablespoons of water. This brings quick comfort to the inflamed area, and reduces the infection. Take these tablets to relieve any cold, headaches, neuralgic pain. If you get genuine Bayer Aspirin it is perfectly harmless. The tablets should bear the Bayer cross.

THE NEW PEERLESS

The New Peerless Custom Eight

…INSPIRED BY A GREAT PAST

The public is watching with genuine interest the great new success being scored by Peerless this year. Seldom, if ever before, has any motor car been held in more affectionate esteem. Peerless recalls to many the very earliest days of the motor car. Peerless means the time-proved, the enduring, the fine thing—well done.

. . . To the Peerless organization this is more than tradition. It is an active and always present responsibility.

In engineering, for instance, Peerless seeks above all to be sound and on known ground every step of the way.

In fashioning the Peerless no attempt is made toward the eccentric or extreme. Peerless long ago learned the true values of simplicity and good taste . . . In building, Peerless, while efficient, is not a "clock watcher." To do every detail perfectly is the greatest of all ideas.

You can expect every fine thought you have ever had about Peerless to be today doubly certain. Will you see and ask to drive the new Peerless?

COPS PUT ON DIET TO GIVE 'EM THAT SLENDER FIGURE

Russell Prescribes Menus for Weighty Ones.

The era of the slender, graceful policeman was inaugurated yesterday. Commissioner of Police Russell dictated the reform to a select group of all two hundred pounders and over who were told to get rid of surplus weight and join the thinning ranks.

In the program for a reduction of waistlines the commissioner has distributed a booklet containing a foundation diet and sample menus for ten days to the group of overweight policemen. Reductions were decreed also for a number of other hefty ones, but an examination in their cases disclosed that each requires a special diet with medical attention, so that the dieting poundage will not interfere with his health.

Reduces Without Injury.

"The consensus was that this diet can be used by the greatest number of obese policemen without harmful effects," said Commissioner Russell. "It is balanced to sustain the health and the proper weight. We give no guarantee on the amount of weight that can be lost, but we do guarantee that a difference will be detected on the scales.

"It will save lives and save efficiency, and the reduction should result in great personal benefit to the members concerned by increasing their physical well being and prolonging the number of their years in active service. Such personal benefits, then, accrue to cause a general increase in the efficiency of the force as a whole. It will also keep them from becoming flatfooted."

Commissioner Russell emphasized that the booklet diet has been designed for the "rigorously selected special group of men."

"It is distinctly not for popular use by unselected obese individuals, for in certain instances such a diet might prove harmful," he said. "Furthermore, it is not a 'ten day' diet or a reduction fad."

The Gourmand Will Sigh.

The appetite inclined toward large portions finds little consolation in the foundation diet. The dieting policeman must choose his food from the list that follows and the portions selected must stay within the limits set by the list: One pint of milk, two eggs, one serving of lean meat of not more than six cubic inches, two strips of bacon, six slices of bread, one potato the size of an orange, three squares of butter, and two teaspoonfuls of sugar. Two to four servings of vegetables that grow above the ground may be had if they are cooked or raw without fat or sugar added. Two to three servings of fruit served raw or cooked also are permitted.

The weight reduction program was outlined by an advisory committee under the direction of Commissioner Russell consisting of Health Commissioner Kegel, Dr. Elmer Mosley, chief surgeon of the police department, and Dr. Joseph A. Luhan of the health department.

E. I. FRANKHAUSER CHANGES COURTS TO GIVE DIVORCE

Gives Secret Hearing in County Building.

Mrs. Ethel G. Smith of Evanston yesterday won a divorce from her husband, Howard H. Smith, secretary and treasurer of the Dashiell Motor company, in a secret hearing before Superior Judge E. I. Frankhauser. The judge left his bench in the Criminal courts to hear the case in which his former associate in the practice of law, Frederick A. Banks, is appearing as attorney. The action, while it is within his legal powers, is contrary to the usual practice of the court, according to officials.

Goes to County Building.

Judge Frankhauser opened his courtroom on the eleventh floor of the county building, which has been closed since he was assigned to the Criminal court more than two months ago, as Mrs. Smith and her attorney arrived. The judge has never sat in the divorce court. Mrs. Smith testified that she was married Dec. 14, 1904, and left her husband last Jan. 13.

She had brought suit for divorce on charges of cruelty April 5, 1926, but dismissed her bill when her husband promised to reform, she said. Shortly after their reconciliation he resumed his cruelty against her, she declared. She made formal charges of cruelty asking for the custody of her daughter, Shirley Marion Smith, 18 years old, and waiving alimony.

Suit Is Uncontested.

The hearing was concluded in ten minutes. Mr. Smith, who did not contest the suit and who did not appear in court, was represented by Attorney Jacob Schwartz of the law firm of Mayer, Meyer, Austrian & Platt. The case had previously been assigned to Superior Judge Sabath. The reassignment, Judge Frankhauser said, was made with the approval of Judge Denis E. Sullivan, chancellor of the court.

Attorney Schwartz announced that Smith has made a settlement of $155,000. Of this sum Mrs. Smith is to receive $100,000 in cash and the balance will be placed in trust for the daughter.

QUINCY CONTRACTOR DIES.

Quincy, Ill., March 15.—[Special.]—E. W. C. Kaempen, 79, prominent contractor, died in St. Mary's hospital here this morning of uremic poisoning. He headed the Kaempen company, one of the largest of its kind in the middle west.

RUPTURE

Don't submit to avoidable operations or the use of antiquated trusses, as they all act where the lump is and not where the opening is. The opening is seldom larger than a dime (no matter the size of the rupture), and all cases can be retained with the end of a lead pencil.

"The Spermatic Shield-Complex in combination with the Retainer-Simplex (Patent No. 747247 and other patents pending)—a scientific achievement in a highly specialized art. It will not only retain any case of rupture perfectly, but contracts the opening in 10 days on the average case. Infinitely superior to any instrument method or operation and producing results in no other way obtainable. All cases are secure a lifetime as against further trouble or expense. Large or difficult cases or incisional rupture (following operations) specially solicited. This instrument received the only award in England and in Spain, producing results without surgery, injections, medical treatments or prescriptions, with distinguished personal patrons of all nations."

"If you want done what the rest cannot do—see Seeley."

Will be glad to demonstrate without charge or fit them if desired.

MELLON DENIES FAVORITISM IN STEEL REFUND

$33,000,000 Tax Repayment O. K., He Says.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 15.—[Special.]—Secretary of the Treasury Andrew Mellon today denied the government had been guilty of favoritism in granting a tax refund of $33,000,000, yesterday, to the United States Steel corporation on income and profits taxes for the years 1918, 1919 and 1920.

In a defense of the refunding action, which was sharply attacked on the floor of the house yesterday by Minority Leader John N. Garner [Dem., Tex.], Mr. Mellon asserted the sum turned back to the steel corporation represented the very minimum to which the corporation is entitled.

The minority leader, in his attack on the treasury, asserted Mr. Mellon had adopted a general policy of favoritism toward the big corporations.

Fails to See Basis.

"I fail to see any basis for criticizing proposed action of the treasury," Mr. Mellon said. "The case has been handled by the best experts in the treasury. It has been examined carefully by the staff of the congressional joint committee and reviewed by the joint committee itself.

"The overpayment is admitted. Sound business judgment and good administration demand we return the amount promptly. A tax settlement cannot be understood by a consideration only of misleading and inaccurate statements made for partisan purposes. We should not permit politics to become injected into the administration of our tax laws."

Only One Question.

"The only question to be determined," he said, "is what did the steel corporation owe the government on account of taxes under the laws enacted by congress. This, the bureau of internal revenue has determined, after the most painstaking and thorough consideration.

"The taxpayer had brought suit in court for the recovery of about 130 million dollars. As a result of the final settlement, in an amount of approximately $33,000,000, this suit is being dismissed."

OFFICIAL WEATHER FORECAST

The official forecast for today and tomorrow and yesterday's table of records follow:

Indiana—Generally fair, slightly warmer Sunday; Monday partly cloudy, possibly showers in south portion.

Lower Michigan—Mostly fair in south, partly cloudy to cloudy in north portion, rising temperature Sunday; Monday unsettled, possibly showers.

Upper Michigan—Mostly unsettled Sunday and Monday, probably occasional snow or rain; slightly warmer Sunday in east and south portions.

Wisconsin—Probaly fair Sunday, except unsettled in extreme north portion, rising temperature in east portion; Monday unsettled, showers probable, cooler Monday in southwest portion.

Ohio—Increasing cloudiness and warmer Sunday, followed by showers Sunday afternoon or night, and on Monday.

FREE WIFE WHO DRANK MATE'S PRIVATE STOCK

A husband has no right to complain if his wife drinks up his private stock after he has carelessly left it where she can get to it. This was the ruling yesterday of Judge Alfred O. Erickson in the Town Hall court in the case of Mrs. Mae Miller, 29 years old, 2252 North Damen avenue, who was arraigned on charges made by her husband, Philip, 30 years old.

Miller testified that he went home and found his wife "rather tight." He then punched Mrs. Miller in the eye, in the presence of their three children and had her arrested.

Judge Erickson decided that Miller had no right to become violent and sent him to a cell to cool off for an hour. When the hour was up, the court released both on their promise to settle their problems amicably.

WOMAN FOUND SUFFERING FROM CATTLE DISEASE

Tests made in the health department laboratories revealed yesterday that Mrs. Jennie Gregory, 4611 South Damen avenue, had contracted undulant fever, a disease which comes from contact with cattle, hogs, and goats. The illness of Mrs. Gregory over the last three months had puzzled physicians until blood tests were completed by Dr. Fred O. Tonney of the health department.

According to Dr. Tonney, the disease seldom is found in Chicago, but is more common on dairy farms. He said it is often fatal.

Mrs. Gregory was taken to the County hospital on Jan. 3 with her husband. Both are employed at the stockyards. Mr. Gregory was released from the hospital recently, apparently having had only a mild attack.

SENATE LEAVES LEATHER TARIFF FATE IN DOUBT

Watson Predicts Passage of Bill Soon.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 15.—[Special.]—The question of whether hides, leather, and shoes are to be placed on a protective basis in the new tariff bill was undecided tonight after the senate had put in four hours of fruitless discussions today.

Senate leaders predicted that the hides, boot and shoe schedule would be disposed of late Monday, under an agreement made today to limit debate on the Oddie amendment placing a duty on these materials to fifteen minutes for each senator. When the senate adjourned Chairman Reed Smoot [Rep., Utah] of the finance committee and Senator James E. Watson [Rep., Ind.], majority leader, predicted the tariff bill would be finally passed in the senate by the middle of this coming week.

Duty on Hides Loses.

During today's session the senate rejected half a dozen proposals to modify the Oddie amendment, which is so framed that all of the duties proposed must be voted upon as a whole under the rules of the senate. Senator R. B. Howell [Rep., Neb.], continued his unsuccessful effort today to increase the duty on hides and lessen the rates proposed by the Oddie amendment for boots and shoes, but was defeated on three votes.

Opposition to the placing of a duty on boots and shoes was led today by Senator H. B. Hawes [Dem., Mo.]. The Missouri senator, representing one of the largest shoe manufacturing centers in the United States, said that the boot and shoe industries were not demanding a protective duty and that there was no reason these articles should be taken off the free list.

Predicts Higher Prices.

Senator Hawes asserted that a duty on boots and shoes, such as proposed by the Oddie amendment, would increase their cost to the consumer by 117 million dollars, while the benefit to be obtained by the cattle growing states would amount to but $29,000,000 through the proposed duty on hides.

Of the increased duty on shoes Senator Hawes said New York state would bear $13,431,000 and receive in benefits $1,006,400.

"Such tariff making," he said, "will be resented by the American people and would place a direct burden on everybody. In high price shoes the duty might be absorbed," he continued, "but in low price shoes of the type purchased by farmers and workingmen the price would be increased in proportion to the duty."

Bandit Kills Policeman and Gang Forgets Loot

New York, March 15.—[Special.]—Pay roll bandits killed a policeman today at the Martin & Weinstein Shoe factory in Brooklyn. The policeman, Arthur De Castilla, was shot in the head and died instantly. There were five men in the group of bandits. They entered the office of the factory, which is on the eighth floor of the building, shortly before noon. Apparently one of the holdup men was a novice for, surprised to find a policeman on guard in the place, he fired without parley. This broke up all plan of robbery, and the men fled, making no effort to get the $7,200 pay roll.

TRIBUNE RENTERS' CONTEST

APARTMENT HUNTERS! Are you looking for a new dwelling place? Are you going to move between March 16 and May 17, 1930? If you are, here's a golden chance to win a sum equal to your rent for one month.

The Chicago Tribune wants to know the facts about apartment hunting. For years Tribune Want Ads have served to lighten this tiresome job by offering a complete directory and guide to apartments and dwelling places in all sections of Chicago—throughout the entire range of monthly rentals.

Landlords and tenants have found the Tribune Want Ad section to be their most convenient meeting place. Landlords and renting agents advertise here because they know they will reach the people they want. Tenants shop here because they know they will find the greatest variety of attractive offerings in the Tribune.

But why do some of the Apartment Want Ads attract more prospects than others? Why will you, as a prospective tenant, go to look at certain apartments after reading the offers in the Tribune, and why do certain other Tribune offers, located in the same districts, at about the same rentals, fail to get your particular interest?

The Tribune wants your opinions and ideas. You are the men and women who do the apartment hunting and who pay the rent. We want to hear from you.

In short, what Tribune Apartment to Rent Want Ads, in your opinion, are the most effective in getting your attention—in getting you actually to visit the apartments advertised? Among the Want Ads appearing in the daily and Sunday Tribune, which would you select to inspect, and which would you hesitate to follow up.

HERE IS ALL YOU HAVE TO DO

1. Simply cut out or copy from the Apartment-to-Rent columns of the daily and Sunday Tribune not more than five Want Ads that interest you most in the apartments advertised and mark them "Good."
2. Cut out or copy not more than three other Apartment-to-Rent Want Ads that interest you the least and mark them "Poor."
3. Then list the main points that you usually want to know about an apartment before taking the time and trouble to inspect it.

You may paste or pin or copy the Want Ads on a piece of paper. Then note the coupon. Fill this in or write this same information on another sheet of paper and attach it to the Want Ads you have clipped or selected.

This contest is designed to interest only those who will sign a new lease for an apartment at a new address between March 16, 1930, and May 17, 1930. Remember, you will be competing only with people like yourself who are apartment hunting now or who will be in the market for an apartment in the next few weeks. You can work it the same time you are hunting for your apartment. You pay nothing!

Turn to the Want Ad section and make your selections now!

THE WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

Three Prizes Each Week

A cash sum equal to your rent for one month (up to $500.00) will be paid to you by the Tribune if your entry is adjudged the best in YOUR rental group. The groups are as follows:

1. Those who pay $75.00 or less rent per month.
2. Those who pay more than $75.00, but less than $125.00 rent per month.
3. Those who pay $125.00 or more rent per month. In this group the maximum amount paid will be $500.00.

The RULES

Three cash prizes, each equal to a month's rent, will be given for the best entries submitted in this week's contest—Renters' Contest No. 1—as follows:

1. For the best entry selected from among those who under their new leases pay $75.00 a month or less for their apartment, a cash prize equal to the winner's new monthly rental will be paid.

2. For the best entry selected from among those who under their new leases pay more than $75.00, but less than $125.00 per month for their apartment, a cash prize equal to the winner's new monthly rental will be paid.

3. For the best entry selected from among those who under their new leases pay $125.00 or more per month for their apartment, a cash prize equal to the winner's new monthly rental up to a maximum amount of $500.00 will be paid.

Remember! There will be one prize in each group. Prizes will be paid direct to winners and not to landlords or agents.

Winners of the three weekly prizes in Renters' Contest No. 1 will be selected from the entries which are received in the Tribune office before 6 p. m. on Saturday, March 22, 1930. You do not have to sign a lease this week to be eligible for this first week's contest. Every week during the contest three similar prizes will be offered. Awards to successful contestants in Renters' Contest No. 1 will be announced as soon as possible.

There will be a Grand Prize awarded for the best entry submitted during the life of the contest, to be selected from all the weekly entries. This Grand Prize will be a sum equal to one full year's rent under the terms of the winner's new lease up to a maximum of $2,400.00. The Grand Prize winner will be announced as soon as possible after the close of the final weekly contest.

This competition is open to apartment hunters who sign new leases for apartments at new addresses between March 16, 1930, and May 17, 1930, in the territory included within a 40-mile radius of Tribune Tower. Tribune employes and their families are barred from competing.

NOTE: You do not have to rent an apartment that has been advertised in the Tribune.

You need not buy the Chicago Tribune to compete. You may clip the Want Ads from the paper or you may copy them down on a separate sheet of paper. The Tribune may be examined at the Tribune offices or at public libraries free of charge.

Judges will be appointed by the Chicago Tribune and their decisions will be final. In case of ties duplicate prizes will be given.

Entries should be addressed to "RENTERS' CONTEST NO. 1," the Chicago Tribune, Chicago, Illinois.

75 YEARS—go just like that!

And Mandel's is 75 years old! But we don't overestimate the importance of that fact . . . we merely mention it in passing, for no one really cares whether or not we sold horsehair sofas in the 90's or hoop skirts in the 60's. Like the charming young women of today (whether of 16 or 60), we're too busy enjoying this modern age.

In these 75 years Chicago has grown . . . a little settleme on the prairie is now a mighty metropolis—the Kinzie cabi has become a Tribune Tower. We've grown, too . . . a two-story frame store has become two tall buildings on the busiest corner of the world. Grown—because people recognize a flair for fashion—because people enjoy shopping where prices are in their most amiable mood.

Today people take for granted luxuries unknown even so brief a time ago as the days of "Alexander's Ragtime Band!"—they demand fashions and values in tune with the times. Today hundreds of thousands of alert men and women come here, because we know how to serve the fashionably and financially alert. If it's a question of wisely spending Aunt Abigail's thrifty check, or selecting things that have the air of going to good places, young people and old (but not a whit less modern!), come to Mandel's—for Mandel's is

- ● a store of youth
- ● a store of fashion
- ● a store of . . . . . moderate price

BY FRED YOUNG.
[Big Ten Official]

No one who has had the fortune to watch the rhythmic Purdue Boilermakers in action this season will question the right of two of Ward Lambert's men to places on the all-conference five. Two other Boilermakers are placed on the second and third teams. Purdue completely dominated the field, winning all of its ten games. The stars that twinkled brightest were not confined to Lafayette, however, for Wisconsin, Northwestern, Illinois, Michigan, and Ohio State all boasted topnotch performers. Thus the task of naming the honorary teams was no easier than in other years, in spite of the standouts.

Charles Stretch Murphy and Johnny Wooden are the Boilermakers who merit the first team. Only a shade behind this duo come Glen Harmeson, handsome forward, and Boots, guard.

Form Brilliant Combination.

Purdue without Stretch Murphy would not have been a 1.000 per cent team. And Murphy without Wooden would not have been as effective. Wooden's tremendous speed, shooting ability, and remarkable dribbling took some of the emphasis off Murphy and enabled the big fellow to wind up his career with his greatest season.

Harmeson also was a big factor in the success of the Purdue team. He is one of the most graceful athletes in the Big Ten, and his fighting ability played no small part in the success of the Boilermakers. But for his failure to click more consistently early in the campaign he, too, would have rated the first honor five.

The forward positions are awarded to Branch McCracken, Indiana captain, and Bert Riel of Northwestern, the most consistent player in the Purple cast this year.

McCracken Accurate Shot.

McCracken, listed as a center, was a forward after the tipoff. He was the most dangerous man between the foul line and basket in the conference and led the league in scoring with a new record of 147 points. His selection provides the mythical five with a second big man to alternate with Murphy on the jump.

Riel played great basketball all year. He is a fine dribbler, an excellent shot, and carried the Purple when some of Lonborg's players were in a slump.

Riel crowds Harmeson off the first team, but the latter is placed at forward on the second five with Bur Harper of Illinois, one of the sensations of the conference the first half of the season, but who was bothered with kidney trouble in the closing month of the campaign. Harper is an exceptionally graceful youth, a great ball handler, and should be a standout in 1931. The powerful Truskowski of Michigan, Rut Walter of Northwestern, Kawal of Illinois, Schoening of Minnesota, Orwig of Michigan, Changnon of Chicago, and Lockhart of Northwestern are the best of the other forwards.

Over Supply of Centers.

There were more good centers than ever before. Bud Foster, Wisconsin's great captain, and Chapman of Michigan both rank within a hair of Murphy. Foster, who carried the bulk of the scoring burden for the Badgers, and Chapman, shifted to a defensive post because of his height, are stars of the first rank. It is regretted that there are not places enough to go around. Either would make any team in the country that did not include Murphy.

Of the other centers, Russ Bergherm carried a big load for Northwestern, Boesel of Chicago developed into a strong defensive man, and May of Illinois also showed improvement.

The phenomenal Wooden and Gaga Mills are named as first team guards, but the only reason Ted Chmielewski of Wisconsin and Wesley Fesler of Ohio State are placed on the second team is because there are only two places. You could toss all four names into a hat and make no mistake here, but Wooden gets the call for his part in helping Murphy, and Mills is awarded the other place because it was largely his play that enabled Illinois to have a successful season.

Mills was a star both offensively and defensively, and one of the smartest ball players of the year. Only against Wisconsin at Champaign did Mills' shooting falter, and his record for the season compares favorably with Wooden's.

Chmielewski in many respects is the superior of either guard selected for the first team. As a dribbler and ball handler he had no equal, but he did not score as consistently as the others.

In the WAKE of the NEWS

GOLDEN GLOVES TICKETS.

FRIEND DON: Well, Don, I'm home and ready to go right to work, but there is so much accumulated Wake mail I thought I'd better drop you a little note and take the mail home to open. I'm completely recovered from that nervous breakdown and don't anticipate anything more of the kind until about next February. I've had a good rest, and now I want to do some good work for the paper. So I'm ready to do anything you want except report a wrestling match.

By the way, the Louisville hotel has just confirmed Kentucky Derby reservations. Same old rate—$15 per day for the four day Derby period and $5 extra for each additional person sardined into our room. Shall I accept? Suppose as long as we have to pay for four days, anyway, you'll want me to go down a little early, perhaps a week or ten days in advance of the Derby, which this year is May 17. Perhaps I can write some good stuff if I don't work too hard before that time, for I'm all rested up now. But, as I said, I want to do anything you say except wrestling.

Another thing—there were several pieces of mail marked "Urgent," so I opened them. One is from a friend who wants ten tickets in the first row for the Golden Gloves bouts Wednesday night. He says he reads my Wake every day and enjoys it very much and that it's real clever. He thinks you write mighty fine stories, and he wants you and me to play at Bob o' Link with him this summer. He didn't say whether he wanted us to play if he doesn't get the tickets, but his letter sounded as if he liked us real well and he knew we were great newspaper men.

Anyway, I phoned him to call up Bill Sturm. He phoned right back that he did and Bill acted sort of tired like, as if he had been up late, and told him, "There are no more $3 tickets left." He said he knew that wasn't so because that's what the theaters always tell you, and then you go right out and buy them from scalpers, and he knew we weren't in the scalping business.

Then there was another letter from a friend, but he only wants five seats. Anywhere in the first ten rows will do. He once gave me a stock market tip, and I guess the tip was good, only he gave it to me just before that financial disturbance last November. So I don't care very much whether he gets the tickets or not; but he's all right, at that.

Then there's another chap who wants two for his chauffeur, and he wants box seats and complimentary. You can pass him up because, as I understand it, all the net proceeds from this show go to charity and this bird must be sort of cheap. I think you know him. I'll tell you his name when I see you.

There'll probably be other requests in the unopened mail, so I'll turn them all over to you and write them you are sporting editor and to call you up any morning about 8 o'clock. You'll be sure to be home then, because you work nights and don't get to bed until about 5 o'clock in the morning, anyway.

By the way, I suppose you have a seat for me in the press stand? I've been looking forward to these bouts for a long time, and that's the principal reason why I hurried home only a week later than I told you I would be back. It will be a real treat to see some honest to goodness boxing after watching Sharkey and Scott at Miami, although the rest of the card that night was very good. I'll tell you why the Garden crowd had to hold that bout although they knew it probably would be a financial frost.

Glad to be back, and I want to do some good work for you on anything except wrestling. Regards.

HARVEY T. WOODRUFF.

Washington Wins Indiana Prep Cage Title

Indianapolis, Ind., March 15.—[Special.]—The Indiana High school basketball crown went back far downstate here tonight, when Washington defeated Muncie, 32 to 21. It was the nineteenth annual Indiana High School Athletic association state championship basketball tournament, but to the thousands who schemed and bargained to get tickets to the game it always will be recalled as the carnival of upsets.

Washington alone remained secure of the several tournament favorites and except among its own fans it, too, had not been taken seriously as a candidate. This is Washington's first championship. Never before has it even approached the fame which it received here tonight—a fame that is more coveted in Indiana than most any other community prestige.

After winning its own sectional and regional with ease, Washington in the final tournament here Friday and today first routed Martinsville, 20 to 14, repulsed another former champion, Franklin, 13 to 11, and then stopped the machine gun crew from Connersville, 35 to 17.

Washington is coached by Burl Friddle, former Franklin High school and Franklin college player. The principal Washington star is De Journet, big Negro center, and his duel tonight with Mann, even bigger Muncie Negro center, was one of the best of the tournament.

Muncie was state champion in 1928 and runner-up in 1923 and 1927.

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

San Antonio, Tex., March 15.—Old Sarge Connally's reclamation program struck a sad snag this afternoon and the New York Giants finally won a ball game from our White Sox. The Sarge succeeded Ted Lyons at the start of the fifth with a handsome 4 to 1 lead.

When Mr. Connally had finished his work the Giants were victors, 6 to 5.

The prodigal Texan was lucky to get out with his hide in the first inning he pitched, but escaped with a two run bruise. In the eighth, however, he finished up the job by blowing a lead of 5 to 3.

Heving Fans Three.

George Blackerby, who had relieved Carl Reynolds in the middle of the game and previously had tripled and doubled, was up in the ninth with Hunnefield on second, but struck out. George wasn't alone in the ninth inning whiffing business, however, for Joe Heving had previously eradicated Pinch Hitter Ernie Smith without Ernie getting his bat off his shoulder. Ernie, incidentally, has twice been a pinch hitter against the Giants and he has yet to take his bat off his shoulder. Heving also fanned Jeffries on a called strike.

The first run of the game was acquired by the Sox and was unearned. After Jackson had thrown out Harris, Cissell singled; Parmalee sought to catch Spider Bill off first and threw the ball away. Bill took third, and scored on Clancy's sacrifice fly to Fullis.

Sox Score Pair.

Our boys came back for two more in the next inning, the third. Lyons walked and went to second while Jackson was throwing out Jeffries. Hunnefield walked. The two base runners advanced while Parmalee was throwing out Reynolds and both scored when Watwood singled to left center.

The fourth inning produced another run for the Chicagoans. Cissell opened with his second hit, a hot drive to center, went to second while Clancy was grounding out to Terry, took third on a wild pitch and scored on Berg's single to left.

Mr. McGraw's fellows broke their chain of zeros in the fourth, after Cissell had thrown out Terry. Ott walked and moved to second on Jackson's sacrifice bunt to Lyons. He scored when Marshall singled to right center. O'Farrell flied to Blackerby.

Blackerby Hits Triple.

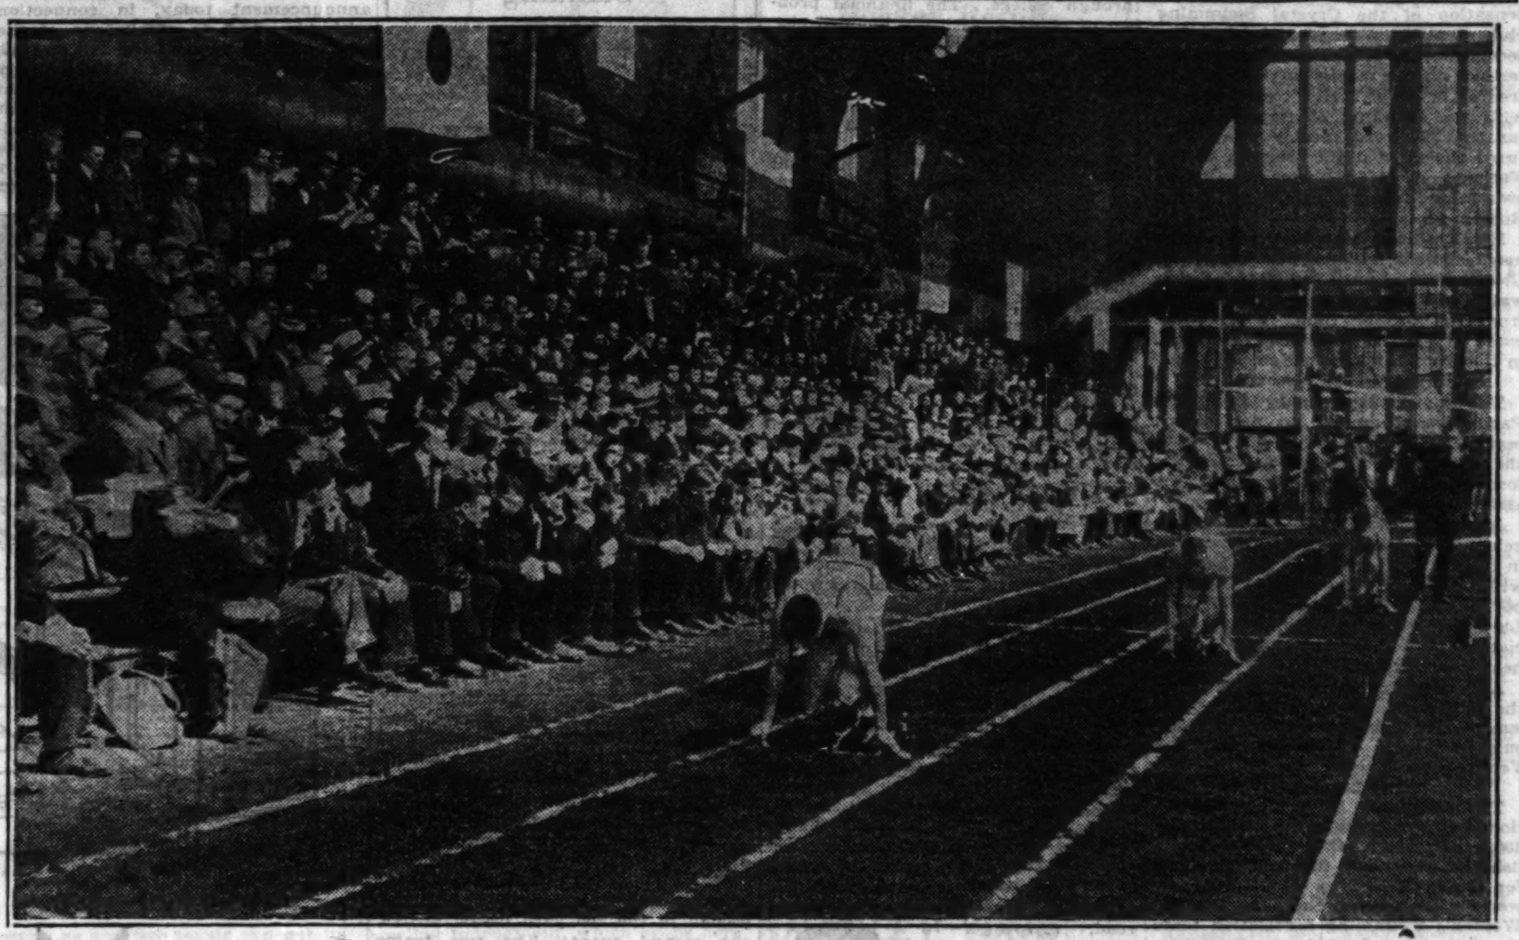
The Sox fifth should have produced, but didn't. After Hunnefield was out by an eyelash at first, Blackerby tripled to the scoreboard in center field but died when Watwood grounded to Parmalee and Harris struck out for the second successive time.

Sarge Connally got himself in a mess of trouble in the fourth but escaped with two runs being chalked up, both of them forced in by walks. Cissell threw out Hogan, who batted for Parmalee, then walked Fullis. Farrell got his third hit, a single to center, Fullis stopping at second. Leach's sacrifice fly put Fullis on third, Farrell holding first. Farrell stole second. Terry walked, filling the bases. Ott walked, forcing Fullis across the plate and Jackson walked, forcing Farrell across.

The sixth was uneventful for both teams, but the Sox made a run in the seventh, after two were out. After Connally had been disposed of, Hunnefield walked. He stole second and continued to third when O'Farrell threw the ball into center field. Blackerby doubled off the left field wall, scoring Hunnefield.

Here's how the Sarge lost the game in the eighth. O'Farrell started it with a double. Crawford batted for Lucas and walked. Fullis forced Crawford, Cissell to Hunnefield, O'Farrell stopping at third. Farrell got his fourth hit, a single past Cissell, which scored O'Farrell and put Fullis on third. Leach also singled past Cissell, scoring Fullis, and putting Farrell on third. Terry dropped a single in left center, scoring Farrell, and putting Leach on third. Fisher walked, filling the bases. Jackson hit into a double play, Connally to Berg to Clancy.

WHEN 900 ATHLETES COMPETED



Nine hundred athletes competed in the annual Illinois relays yesterday. Runners are preparing for the start of one of the heats in the 300 yard dash. The finals in the event were won by Gordon of Miami university, who ran the distance in 31.7 seconds. Campbell, Michigan; Useman, Illinois, and Treps, Marquette, finished in that order behind the Ohio star.

CUBS ARE IDLE; RAIN POSTPONES COAST GAMES

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Los Angeles, Cal., March 15.—Rain today put Joe McCarthy, the Cub chief, in a spot where he had no team to manage. His Goof outfit was storm bound at San Diego. He was here with a trio of his veteran pitchers, who came over to the mainland yesterday. The remainder of the squad was twiddling thumbs over at the Catalina camp, having been told early this morning to remain there and forget about the exhibition scheduled here with the Angels. The local Wrigley field was under water and there is some fear it still may be submerged tomorrow, thus preventing another act in the training spectacle.

If conditions seem suitable tomorrow morning the athletes marooned on Bill Wrigley's magic island will be herded onto the steamer and unloaded here in time for an afternoon of work. The washout of today naturally upset McCarthy's plans to start Moss in one game and Grampp in the other. His revised scheme is to give tomorrow's assignment to Moss and when the young southpaw tires or is blasted off the peak by the enemy, either Grampp or one of the regular hurlers will be rushed to the rescue.

Goofs Visit Agua Caliente.

The rain did no injustice to the men included in the Goof expedition. Just across the line from San Diego are the swinging doors of Auga Caliente and Tia Juana, and that's where most of the boys went, supposedly to see the races. Because the Goofs were washed out at San Diego today games have been arranged there for Monday and Tuesday as well as tomorrow.

This means the second squad will not be forced to return to the island camp for the final three days of training. They'll rejoin the regulars here next Thursday, when a three weeks' stay is inaugurated.

When Manager McCarthy gets around to cutting his squad it isn't going to be much of a task. Thus far, for various reasons, he has refrained from giving the bad news to any of the boys, but he knows in his own mind what is going to happen eventually. Even an outsider can just about select the squad for the season, with the possible exception of one or two pitchers.

When McCarthy brought his pennant winners into camp at Catalina he had only 31 men on the list. More could have been fetched across the continent and the roster still been within the legal limit, but the Cub boss wanted only players with more than an even chance to make good, hence the absence of messenger boys on whom some big league clubs waste eating money each spring.

Tolson, Jones Slated to Go.

McCarthy's theory is that the majors should buy only from the class AA minors. That's where the Cubs found fellows like Root, Malone, Stephenson,

N. Y. Golden Gloves Fighters Arrive for Intercity Meet

BY FRENCH LANE.

New York's Golden Glove warriors are in Chicago ready to battle THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S team at the Stadium next Wednesday night.

They arrived on the New York Central's Century Limited at 9:30 o'clock yesterday morning. They made so much noise as they traveled from the La Salle street station to their quarters at the Medinah Athletic club that even the staid old loop workers were startled.

Thirty-five were in the party, including 27 chin sharpshooters whose confidence, as they came to town, indicated it will be a bad night for the Chicago boys when the combat starts. If they can fight like they can talk it is all over but the shouting.

21,000 to See Bouts.

And while all this was happening 21,000 fans were getting ready to jam the Chicago Stadium when the two great teams of fighters clash head-on for the amateur boxing championship of America's two largest cities. Fifty thousand fans might have been getting ready for the pilgrimage to the Stadium if the huge Chicago sports arena could accommodate that number. All reserved seat tickets had been sold yesterday. Thousands who made eleventh hour attempts to purchase seats were turned away.

Only on one previous occasion has a New York Golden Glove team invaded Chicago. That was in 1928 at the beginning of the intercity series. The teams fought to a deadlock, Chicago and New York accounting for eight bouts each. Last year the Chicago team invaded Gotham and was handed a neat lacing for its trouble.

Invaders Spend Easy Day.

The New York team, which came to Chicago in 1928, didn't bounce into the loop with the same confidence characterizing the arrival of the New York team yesterday. "We're high pressure boys" was the way this newest New York team appeared.

It was an easy day for the New York team. An hour after the easterners had checked into the Medinah Athletic club, Trainers Jack Elliott and Al Caesar ordered the 27 glove swingers out onto Michigan boulevard for a half an hour's brisk walk. Even our tall buildings didn't seem to impress the New Yorkers as they blinked their eyes into the bright March sunshine.

After the promenade came lunch. It was a specially prepared menu wired on in advance from New York, and which the eastern trainers guarded as a deep, dark secret.

Work Out Again Today.

The New Yorkers rested after the noonday meal, but all were in the Medinah A. C. gym at 4 o'clock and for and hour went through limbering up exercises. They will engage in some serious boxing this afternoon, but to hear the New Yorkers talk about it, they are ready now to knock Chicago's boys into slumberland.

The boxers in the New York party included the following:

Jimmy Siclari [Capt.]
Johnny Maure
Joe Comforti
Patsy Pasculli
Walter Palm
Andy Mella
Arthur Rodenbach
Sylvan Taylor
Joe Viola
Howard Williamson
Jerry Mazza
Bobby Carlton
Andy Groce
Willie Frieden
Jimmy Hughes
Billy Donohue
Jimmy Turco
Charley Alvarez
Pete Simonetti
Ed Fuchs
Mike Vetrano
Max Glickman
Vincent Valenti
Ray Meyers
Al Santora
Charles Hodson
Al White

George Trafton to Fight Carnera in Kansas City

Kansas City, Mo., March 15.—(AP)—Primo Carnera and George Trafton of Chicago have been matched for a 10 round bout here March 26 under the auspices of the American Legion.

GRANT FORTNEY NAMED CAPTAIN OF CHICAGO TEAM

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

Grant Fortney, heavyweight champion, yesterday was elected captain of the Chicago Golden Gloves team which will meet New York at Chicago Stadium Wednesday night.

"It is an honor to lead the Chicago team," Fortney said. "I am sure the boys will fight as hard with me as their captain as if any other member of the team had been chosen. We are eager to win. I intend to go down fighting if I lose and I am sure the other members of the team feel the same."

Steeve's Hand O. K.

Members of the Chicago team went through another intensive workout at the Chicago A. A. yesterday. Rounds were cut short to save them from injury.

One of the best workouts was between Ed Steeve of the University of Illinois, champion in the 160 pound class, and John Baima, runnerup in the same class. They boxed three rounds.

Carl Ogren, champion in the 147 pound class, and Benny Goldblatt, who won the Golden Glove in the 126 pound class, boxed two interesting rounds. Fortney and Mendoza, the latter second place winner in the 175 pound class, traded punches for two rounds. Fortney also boxed with Kranz, the alternate in the light heavyweight division. Other fighters were sent through hard workouts by Coaches Young, Yanger, and Darwent.

End Hard Work Today.

The team will be given its final course of hard training today. The boys will go on the road this morning and report at the C. A. A. this afternoon for boxing drills. They will taper off tomorrow, and nothing but gymnasium work will be permitted Tuesday.

With the exception of general admission seats, every ticket has been sold. When the 2,000 general admission tickets are sold Wednesday, the Stadium will house about 22,000, the largest crowd ever to see amateur or professional indoor shows. All profits go to charity.

BEG YOUR PARDON! SHARKEY'S NAME IS ZUKAUSKAY!

LONDON, March 15.—[U.P.]—Believe it or not, Jack Sharkey's real name is John Zukauskay. Sharkey may disagree, as he frequently has declared that his Lithuanian name is John Coccoskey, but the Lithuanian legation here is determined that this error be corrected.

In a letter to British newspaper men an attaché at the legation protested the "offensive mutilation of Sharkey's Lithuanian name." "Coccoskey is an absolutely impossible combination of letters calculated to make anybody familiar with the Lithuanian language writhe in anguish," he said.

SENTMAN RUNS 75 YARD EVENT IN 9.2 SECONDS

Seven Records Fall; Berlinger Wins.

All-Around Standing

Berlinger [Pennsylvania]	6058.5
Utterback [Pittsburgh]	5041
B. R. Harper [Illinois]	4842.5
Douglas [Grinnell]	4543
Parker [Lake Forest]	4403.5
Crain [De Pauw]	4313
Stearns [Butler]	4292
Holden [Crane]	3362.5

Champaign, Ill., March 15.—(AP)—Seven records, including a world's mark, were shattered tonight as more than 900 athletes, representing 85 universities, colleges, and high schools, finished competition in the University of Illinois' thirteenth annual indoor relay carnival.

Lee Sentman, the slightly built, spindle legged hurdler from Illinois, had the distinction of breaking the world 75 yard high hurdles mark twice in one day. Sentman, fast developing into one of the world's greatest hurdlers, cut one-tenth of a second off the record of :09 4-10 in winning his preliminary event.

Nears Own Meet Record.

Sentman shaved the record one-tenth of a second more in :09 2-10 in the semi-finals and repeated the performance in winning the final. Not content with winning the high hurdle event, Sentman returned a few minutes later to capture the 75 yard low hurdles in :08 2-10.

New carnival records were established in the four mile university relay, one mile university relay, college medley relay, 75 yard high hurdles, 1,500 meter run, 1,000 yard run, and the shuttle hurdles.

Sentman shares honors with Barney Berlinger, University of Pennsylvania star. Coming back to defend his championship, Berlinger outclassed the field to win his specialty, the all around, with 6,058½ points, 11½ short of his carnival record. Everett Utterback, University of Pittsburgh Negro star, was second with 5,041 points. Buford Harper of Illinois was third with 4,842½ points.

Simpson Easy Victor.

Berlinger, a 22 year old youngster, weighing 197 pounds and standing 6 feet 1 inch, won four of the seven events. He captured the pole vault, with a leap of 12 feet 10¾ inches, the shot put with a toss of 96 feet 6 inches, the high jump with 6 feet 1½ inches, and the 75 yard high hurdles in :10 5-10.

Running a sparkling race, George Simpson, Ohio State's dash star, who holds the world's record of :09 4-10 for the 100 yard dash, was a comfortable winner in the 75 yard dash event. He jumped the field by nearly a yard at the start to beat his rival, Eddie Tolan of Michigan, by this margin in :07 5-10.

Orval Martin, Purdue's great runner, set a new carnival record for the 1,000 yard run, cutting the mark by 2-5 of a second to 2:16 4-10. He led all the way, beating Hinshaw of Kansas to the tape by 20 yards. Putnam of Iowa State had an easy time in winning the 1,500 meter run. With 30 yards to spare, he set a new carnival record of 4:00 4-10.

Quakers Win Long Race.

Pennsylvania, Missouri, Marquette and Iowa divided the university relay honors. The races produced no thrilling encounters with the exception of the one mile event, in which Missouri established a new carnival record of 3:32 9-10.

Pennsylvania's crack team galloped to an easy victory in the four mile event, running the distance in 17:50.5 and clipping nearly three seconds off the carnival record set by Illinois last year. Pennsylvania's splendid quartet, consisting of Ritchie, Montgomery, Coan, and McKniff, lapped the field once and some of the stragglers twice, with Wisconsin taking second place.

The university medley distance event went to Marquette's well balanced quartet composed of Rohan, Sisk, and the Walter brothers, who won by 40 yards in 10:31.7. Notre Dame won the university two mile relay in a romp, with Northwestern trailing in second place.

Led by their Canadian Olympic stars, Brant Little and Alex Wilson, the strong crew of half milers from Notre Dame jumped far ahead of the field and pounded along to an easy victory in the two mile university relay. Little gained a large advantage at the start, Capt. Joe Abbott and Quigley held their own, and then Wilson rushed far to the front to cut the tape with a driving finish in 7:58.2. Northwestern, a poor second, was trailed by Iowa and Indiana.

Two Tie in Pole Vault.

Capt. Verne McDermont of Illinois and Tom Warne of Northwestern deadlocked at 13 feet 6 inches in the pole vault. Canby of Iowa, another stellar entry, was third with 13 feet.

Major John Griffith, commissioner of athletics for the Western conference, announced tonight the date of the Big Ten outdoor track and field championships had been changed from May 31 to May 24 in order not to conflict with the final examinations of some universities. The meet will be held at Northwestern university, as originally planned. Summaries:

HELEN MADISON SETS RECORD IN 220 YARD SWIM

Clips 5 3-5 Seconds from Former Mark.

Miami Beach, Fla., March 15.—(AP)—Helen Madison, 16 year old aquatic sensation of the Crystal Swimming club, Seattle, Wash., established her second world's record here today, shattering existing marks in the 220 yard free style event. Her feat, together with the breaking of former marks for the 300 yard medley relay, featured the third day's program of the National A. A. U. women's indoor swimming championships in the Roman pools.

Miss Madison, who had never competed against national stars in A. A. U. competition until the Miami Beach water carnival, clipped 5 3-5 seconds from the former time, which was made by Martha Norelius, New York, in the Roman pools on Feb. 28, 1926.

Miss McKim Second.

The youthful mermaid from the Pacific coast tacked up her record beside the one set yesterday when she chopped 1 2-5 seconds from the former mark for the 100 meter try against time.

Josephine McKim of the Los Angeles, Cal., Athletic club, was second in the 220 yard free style event today, with Barbara Beckwith, Venetian pools, Coral Gables, Fla., and Lisa Lindstrom, Women's Swimming association, New York, finishing in a dead heat for third place.

As a result of the third place finish the one point allowed for the place was divided equally between the Women's Swimming association and the Venetian pools team.

Set Relay Record.

The Women's Swimming association, however, romped away with the 300 yard medley relay event to establish the easterners firmly in the lead for the meet and to establish a new world's record for the event. The Women's Swimming association team No. 1, composed of Agnes Geraghty, Eleanor Holm, and Catherine Ames, negotiated the distance in 3 minutes 38 4-5 seconds.

The former record, held by a Women's Swimming association team, was set in Brooklyn, N. Y., March 24, 1928, and was 3 minutes 45 4-5 seconds. Members of the former record holding team were Miss Geraghty, Lisa Lindstrom, and Martha Norelius.

The Illinois Women's Athletic club team of Chicago, composed of Mary Lou Quinn, Jane Fauntz, and Fanchon Homar, finished second in the event, with the Women's Swimming association team No. 2, composed of Dorothea Dickinson, Losa Lindstrom, and Adelaide Lambert, coming in third.

Team standings, according to points, at the end of the third day's events follow:

Women's Swimming association, New York,	21½.
Illinois Women's Athletic club, Chicago,	13.
Crystal Swimming club, Seattle,	10.
Los Angeles Athletic club,	9.
Venetian pools, Coral Gables,	½.

Phillips Nips Morgan Park for Title, 20-19

Wendell Phillips heavyweights, favorites for the City league title since the opening of the schedule two months ago, verified the predictions of prep prophets yesterday by defeating Morgan Park of the south section, 20 to 19, in the championship game at White City.

AGIS BRAY.

Phillips lost one practice game during the season and after three-quarters of yesterday's game it appeared that Morgan Park also was going to turn Coach Harris' boys back. The south section champions led at the quarter, 8 to 4; at the half, 13 to 9 and at the third quarter, 16 to 12. Only the free throwing accuracy of Capt. Agis Bray, mainstay of the Phillips five during the entire season, gave the Pershing Road team a victory. Bray was held to one basket, but made six free throws in as many attempts, the last two coming in the closing minutes with his team lagging by a point.

With the score 18 to 16 McKinnis of Phillips dropped in a long shot to tie it up. Shortly after he fouled Penson, Morgan Park forward, and the latter delivered on the free throw to give the south siders a one point lead. Bray was then fouled by Havey and the Phillips captain came through on both free throws.

Bray and McKinnis starred for the victors, while Capt. Handbury of Morgan Park headed the scorers with four field goals and three free throws.

SOUTH CHICAGO WINS ILLINOIS Y SWIM CROWN

South Chicago "Y" won the Illinois state Y. M. C. A. swimming championships held at South Chicago last night. The winners scored 34 points. One Hundred and Eleventh Street was second with 23 points, and Peoria was third with 15 points. South Chicago scored a slam in the 40 yard free style by taking all four places. State records in all the events were broken. Stevens of South Chicago set a new national record in the 40 yard back stroke.

The meet attracted 86 swimmers from 14 different associations throughout the state. Coach Larry Brillake of the South Chicago "Y" will take his team to Wilmington, Del., March 28 and 29 to compete in the national championship.

The Inquiring Reporter

Every Day He Asks Five Persons, Picked at Random, a Question.

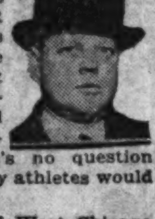
The Question.

Do you favor the suggestion that colleges pay their athletes?

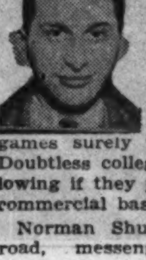
The Answers.

John E. Coughlin, 3421 North Hamilton avenue, druggist—Every college should set a standard rate of pay. In that way the athletes could attend the college of their choice. Furthermore, much time is spent in practice, and many young men have to work their way through college. The financial problem of many athletically inclined students would be solved if the colleges paid them.

Charles Goldman, 710 South Oakley avenue, superintendent of shipping—It would be a good idea to provide rewards, financial inducements, or scholarships. I am greatly in favor of scholarships for athletes of promise who are poor in purse. All colleges should provide athletic scholarships. This would free college athletics of suspicion now directed at them.



Hubert H. Burke, advertising solicitor, Colliers magazine—No; because it is sportsmanship that makes college games what they are. If the players were paid it would remove the spirit of competition and put games on a commercial basis. There's no question that a movement to pay athletes would be detrimental.



M. C. Shoffman, 3756 West Chicago avenue, druggist—I do not, because the college with the most money would get the best players, and the competition between players would not be so keen. With pay checks an inducement, college games surely would be drab affairs. Doubtless college would lose their following if they put athletics on such a commercial basis.

Norman Shulewitz, 3908 Roosevelt road, messenger—Instead of paying athletes in dollars, which probably would result in objections and criticism from the public, the colleges might reward them with scholarships and jobs. This procedure would give them aid and still keep college athletics free of any professional stigma.

Western Men Capture Day's A.B.C. Honors

Cleveland, O., March 15.—(AP)—Ten places in three events of the American Bowling congress annual championship tournament here changed hands today.

Western pinsters outdid the eastern as eight of the positions were assumed by the former and two by the latter. Fred Lewis of Waukegan, Ill., went to the top of the all events list with 1,857 to beat out George Peterson of Kenosha, Wis., who temporarily perched on the top with 1,856. Al Edtolm of Waukegan took sixth place in the same event by a nine game mark of 1,827, and Joe Fiener of Buffalo tenth with 1,798.

E. Bjurstrom and E. Littow of Chicago won first in the doubles with 1,272. Third place was assumed by A. Wegner and J. Williams of Kenosha combining for 1,230. Right behind them rolled Sam Furcinito and Walter Cliffe of Utica, with 1,229. A Waukegan pair, H. Sanders and A. Edholm, gained seventh by their 1,209, and ninth place was captured by L. Stackhaus and H. Stegkamper of Detroit with 1,200 flat.

Scoring games of 917, 965 and 924, the Wass and Schrader five rolled into eighth place in the team division with a total of 2,806.

The Continental Bank and Trust company five were second high among the fifteen Chicago fives carded on the opening squad with 2,701.

BRITISH RACER DRIVES AUTO 198 MILES AN HOUR

Daytona Beach, Fla., March 15.—(AP)—Kaye Don, British contender for the world's automobile speed record sent his powerful Silver Bullet machine over the ocean speedway today at a clip of approximately 200 miles per hour in a practice run under poor weather conditions.

The driver, who expects to make an official assault upon the record of 231 miles per hour next week, put his racer through two fast runs at low tide this afternoon, with the visibility poor and the beach in only fair condition.

On his first trip, south down the course, Don sped approximately 150 miles per hour, and on his return pushed down the accelerator to 198 miles per hour. The official timing apparatus was not set up for the test runs, but Don announced afterward that his tachometer showed those readings.

Between the runs, and again at the finish, Don was given a careful physical examination by Dr. Kenneth Eckstein, who accompanied him here from England.

BY HARLAND ROHM.

Smashing two national intercollegiate records, but showing a bit more respect for conference records than in the preliminaries, Northwestern broke Michigan's three year reign as Big Ten swimming champion last night. The Wildcats piled up 45 points, including 15 points for three firsts by Al Schwartz, to 31 for Michigan. No other school was close.

Dick Hinch and Bob Howlett were the two Wildcats to break national intercollegiate records. Hinch swam the 150 yard back stroke in 1:39 3-5, clipping a second off his own record set last year. Howlett raced the 200 yard breast stroke in 2:35 3-5, breaking the former record of 2:36 5-10 set by Allan of the Navy.

Eight Marks Broken.

Including the four marks bettered in the preliminaries, two national intercollegiate records and six western conference records were broken in the meet. The only Big Ten record to be beaten last night, aside from the two national marks, was in the medley relay. Dick Hinch, Bob Howlett and Don Petersen swam the 300 yards in 3:09 1-5 which broke the old mark of 3:10 3-5 set by the Purple last year. The other records were bettered in the preliminaries Friday night.

Though Michigan won the opening event on the program, the 160 yard relay, Northwestern caught them when Howlett and Petersen took first and second in the 200 yard breast stroke, the second event. The two teams were tied at 20 points after four events, but Hinch's and Schwartz's victories in the next two events put Northwestern in front and they were never in danger again. It was sweet revenge for the Wildcats, since the Wolverines had defeated them in a dual meet.

Ault Gets Decision.

While Capt. Al Schwartz didn't set any records on the final night, he won three first places, which is the first time the feat has been accomplished since 1912, when Vosburgh of Illinois first rolled up 15 points in a night.

The best race of the night came in the 400 yard free style, in which Garnet Ault of Michigan holds the record of 5:04. Kieding of Illinois set the early pace, but with half of the 22 lengths of the tank behind them, Ault had taken the lead and Billy Wilson, a Northwestern sophomore began to pull up. With four lengths of the tank to go Wilson was swimming practically on even terms with the Wolverine and they finished those last 80 yards like a team. So close were the two at the finish, it appeared they had swum a dead heat but the judges ruled Ault had won by a couple of finger widths.

Another great race came in the 200 yard breast stroke, two Northwestern lads, Howlett and Petersen, swimming the last four laps stroke for stroke. In their last two meets they tied for first, but last night Howlett, who was swimming in his first and last Big Ten meet, having transferred to Northwestern for his senior year had a bit more left and won by a couple of feet.

Purple Wins Six Firsts.

Northwestern won six first places in the nine events, Michigan two and Lobdell won the fancy diving for Iowa, the only other school to take a first. Wisconsin, which finished third in the 300 yard medley relay, was disqualified, the anchor man taking off before his partner had touched the end of the tank.

The summaries:

COLLINS DEFEATS APPLEBY IN CUE PLAYOFF SERIES

St. Louis, Mo., March 15.—(AP)—Percy Collins of Chicago defeated Edgar Appleby of New York, 300 to 283, in the first game of a playoff series for the national amateur balk line billiard title here today. R. V. Fessenden is the third contender for the title.

The playoff series was made necessary early today when Appleby defeated Collins, previously undefeated in the tournament.

Culver Academy Defeats Armour Swimmers, Boxers

Culver, Ind., March 15.—[Special.]—Culver Military academy scored a double victory this afternoon defeating Armour Tech of Chicago in a swimming meet 35 to 24, and winning a boxing tournament meet 8 bouts to 2. Cadet Lewis won the 40 yard and 100 yards swims. Ustryski, 145 pounds, and Larkin, 165 pounds, saved Armour from being blanked in the boxing meet.

Navy Gives in to Army Rule on Eligibility

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., March 15.—The Navy is now ready to withdraw all its objections to the Army's rules of eligibility for football players and resume play as soon as the Army can accommodate the naval academy with appropriate dates on its schedules, play to continue for three years under these conditions. Congressman Fred A. Britten [Rep., Ill.], chairman of the house committee on naval affairs, made this announcement today, in connection with his effort to obtain one of the games for Chicago in the fall of 1932.

Congressman Britten stated flatly that such a game would be played in Chicago in 1932, regardless of the fact that the Army has filled its 1932 schedule, including a final game with Notre Dame on the traditional Army-Navy date on the last Saturday in November.

Three Games on Contract.

Three games remain to be played under the Navy's old contract with the Army which was abrogated by Rear Admiral Louis M. Nulton, then superintendent of the Naval academy, after Navy's defeat in 1927.

Representative Britten said the Navy men had come to regret that Admiral Nulton broke off relations in an argument over rules of eligibility without first fulfilling the obligations of the contract. He added that for the three remaining games, the Navy would probably use the Army's rules of eligibility, employing the best players in the Naval academy, with the exception of first year men, regardless of any previous varsity experience which they might have obtained elsewhere before going to Annapolis.

Guarantee Each $90,000.

Maj. Philip B. Fleming, athletic officer of the Military academy, in a long distance conversation from New York, said the Army would wait to hear a proposition from the Naval academy. However, he indicated that West Point would not find it easy to make room for the Navy in the football schedule before 1934 or 1935.

Congressman Britten said he stood ready to guarantee each academy's athletic fund a net sum of $90,000 for the Chicago game. The expense of transporting the entire corps of cadets and the regiment of midshipmen to and from Chicago would be defrayed by Chicago.

Nearly 22,000 Boys Compete in Sports Tests

Nearly 22,000 boys club members are competing simultaneously throughout the United States and Canada in the ninth annual indoor athletic competition of the Boys Club Federation of America. It is estimated 60 boys clubs, representing 21 states, the territory of Hawaii and the Dominion of Canada are participating. The test will close April 1. It includes: Standing broad jump, basketball shooting, running high jump, pullups, and hop, step and jump.

Miss Norelius, Joseph Wright Wed Yesterday

White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., March 15.—(AP)—The wedding of Martha Norelius, famous swimmer, and Joseph S. Wright Jr. of Toronto, Canadian sculling champion, was solemnized here tonight at the Greenbrier hotel.

Miss Norelius wore a cream lace afternoon dress, with close fitting turban of the same material and shoes and stockings to match.

The simple Presbyterian wedding service was read by the Rev. C. K. Taffe of White Sulphur Springs. The ceremony was witnessed by members of the immediate families and many friends of the bride and bridegroom. There were no attendants.

Men to whom 2% is sacred still have the wasteful 10 cent habit

What up-to-date business man does not scrutinize every bill for the 2/10 clause? Yet, many of them still pay more than they need to for a mild, solidly contenting smoke.

Others, by the thousands, have learned that buying 10 cent cigars is only a habit. They have switched to WHITE OWL.

YANKEES SCORE THIRD WIN OVER BRAVES, 4 TO 2

New York Gets All Runs in Fourth Inning.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 15.—(AP)—One big inning was enough for the New York Yankees to defeat the Boston Braves, 4 to 2, today. It was the Yanks' third victory over the Braves in four games. The American leaguers fell on Bob Brown in the fourth inning for five hits that produced all of their runs. The Braves' two runs came off Andrews in the opening inning.

Boston [Natl.] ......200 000 000—2 5 1
New York [Am.].....000 400 00*—4 9 1
Batteries—Brown, Cunningham and Gowdy and Spohrer; Andrews, Gomez, Pelli and Hargrave and Dickey.

BROWNS, 9; BREWERS, 0.

West Palm Beach, Fla., March 15.—(AP)—The St. Louis Browns, playing their second exhibition game of the season here today, gained a 9 to 0 decision over the Milwaukee Brewers of the American association. Crowder and Caldwell, Brown pitchers, allowed only three hits. Oscar Melillo hit a home run with one on base in the second inning.

Milwaukee ....000 000 000—0 3 5
Browns ....030 300 21*—9 10 0
Batteries—Block, Starck, Hopking and Young, Shanks; Crowder, Caldwell and Ferrell, Hungling.

MACKS BEAT ROBINS.

Miami, Fla., March 15.—(AP)—The Philadelphia Athletics defeated Brooklyn today, 8 to 5, in the first of a two game series. The champions collected 14 hits off a trio of Robin hurlers. Two were home runs by Williams and Lebourveau. Grove, Rommel and Quinn kept the 13 Brooklyn hits scattered until the last inning, when four hits produced a like number of runs.

Brooklyn [Natl.] ...100 000 004—5 13 1
Philadelphia [Am.].010 230 20*—8 14 2
Batteries—Clark, Morrison, Elliott and Lopez; Grove, Rommel, Quin and Shang and Perkins.

RED SOX IN SHAPE.

Pensacola, Fla., March 15.—(AP)—Every one of the Boston Red Sox regular pitchers, except big Ed Morris, was described as being in perfect trim here today by Manager Heinie Wagner. Morris, always slow in getting into shape, promises to be ready to take his turn when the season opens, Wagner said.

The Red Sox were slated to stage an exhibition clash here this afternoon with the Mobile club, but rain interfered. Wagner had planned to make all of his regulars go the full nine innings.

FRISCH GETS MORE REST.

Bradenton, Fla., March 15.—(AP)—Frankie Frisch will be the only Cardinal regular missing when the St. Louis team engages the Philadelphia Phillies in an exhibition game at Winter Haven tomorrow. Manager Street plans to give Frisch another week before pressing him into service.

Street said today that he still had to be convinced that it would be wise to shift Frisch to third base and use Sparky Adams at second, leaving Andy High for utility infield duty. Frisch said he had no objection to the proposed shift.

Bill Hallahan will be Street's starting hurler against the Phillies tomorrow.

RAIN HINDERS REDS.

Orlando, Fla., March 15.—(AP)—Showers today prevented the Cincinnati Reds from playing a practice game, but it did not hinder Manager Dan Howley from sending his squad through an intensive training session.

The entire pitching corps was sent through its daily leg conditioning exercise, which consists of an hour's drill in covering first base on infield drives. Howley then put the candidates through a hit and run workout and followed it with batting practice, pepper games, fielding practice, and several runs around the ball park.

The Reds will play their first exhibition game tomorrow against the Detroit Tigers at Tampa.

RHIEL PLAYS TODAY.

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 15.—[U. P.]—Bill Rhiel, purchased from Brooklyn, is scheduled to play second base for the Boston Braves in tomorrow's game with the New York Yankees. Manager McKechnie was disappointed at the showing of Recruit Second Baseman Bernie James in today's game and indicated he would develop the Brooklyn veteran as understudy to Freddy Maguire.

TIGERS BEAT PHILLIES.

Tampa, Fla., March 15.—[U. P.]—Timely hitting and air-tight pitching enabled the Detroit Tigers to win their third exhibition game of the season from the Philadelphia Phillies, 9 to 1, today. Three rookie pitchers who are slated for regular jobs worked for the Tigers and were never pressed. Stone, Funk, and Alexander hit homers for the winners.

Philadelphia ....001 000 000—1 5 2
Detroit ....310 020 30*—9 13 2
Batteries—Sweetland, Dailey, Bollard and McCurdy; Herring, Wyatt, Hogsett and Shea.

PIRATE PITCHERS FIT.

Paso Robles, Cal., March 15.—(AP)—The last game scheduled between the regulars and the reserves was called off today on account of rain at the Pittsburgh Pirates' training camp, where outdoor activities have been greatly hindered thus far by wet weather.

The pitchers, however, were declared in good shape for the first game of the exhibition campaign with the Frisco Seals on Sunday at San Francisco.

The Pirates will break camp here on Monday.

Western State Cagers Get Gold Basketballs

Kalamazoo, Mich., March 15.—[Special.]—Eight members of the Western State Teachers college basketball team of Kalamazoo, winners of the Michigan collegiate conference championship and undefeated during the 1930 season, have been awarded letters and gold basketballs symbolic of the conference championship and of the undefeated season. The men honored are Warren Byrum, South Bend, forward; Harold Althoff, Fremont, O., forward; Capt. Otto Grein, Reed City, center; Paul Grein, Reed City, guard; Robert Decker, Three Oaks, guard; Malcom Mackay, Kalamazoo, forward; Frank Overton, Kokomo, Ind., forward; Henry Collins, Detroit, guard.

Joe and Donie Know Art of Playing Legree

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

San Antonio, Tex., March 15.—Chicago's two major league baseball managers, Donie Bush of the White Sox and Joe McCarthy of the Cubs, are more alike than any two managers we know. The thing that makes them similar, perhaps, is that both are stern but not grouchy. That's an art—to play the rôle of Simon Legree, but still be able to be a good guy when not cracking the whip.

It so happens that we had an opportunity to form definite opinions of both Donie and Joe before we ever knew them personally. And the character picture we conjured up was that they were Legrees all right. But where we missed was in thinking that they always carried their whips with them.

We know that many fans think that the two men are growling misanthropes, whose idea of a swell time is to walk past school buildings and kick little children. Neither, since reaching voting age, ever has kicked a small child, we are told.

Firmness Tempered by Fair Play.

It's none of the public's business about their dispositions so long as they are good baseball managers. And each has proved that. Each has led pennant winners in the American association and each has copped a National league pennant.

We've never talked to Joe much about Donie, but we have heard from Donie about Joe. He thinks Joe is a great manager, and one of his greatest sources of pride is that his club of last year, the Pirates, was the only team to win the season series from the Cubs.

Both have the much discussed power of leadership, which in their cases, at least, is nothing more intricate than firmness tempered by a sense of fair play, plus a knowledge of what the business of playing baseball is all about.

Donie and Joe both are men of keen judgment, but when their judgment is wrong they are not buck passers. This trait is shown to the baseball public through the fact that each coaches at third base. Buck passers and second guessers among the managers and other baseball officials dodge that spot—the third base coacher's box.

Both Quick of Temper.

The manager who coaches at third base puts himself on the firing line in many ways. If he holds up the winning run at third and the runner dies there, he's a sap because he didn't send him home. If he sends him home and he's thrown out at the plate, he's a sap because he didn't hold him at third for that single that follows. And he's out there where the fans can tell him about it. A manager doesn't have to coach on third, or at all, but both Donie and Joe do every day.

Both Chicago big league managers, despite normally jovial dispositions off the ball field, are quick of temper. And here is where their characteristics differ most. When Joe is mad his lower jaw shoots out and you know he's mad. When Donie is angered his neck gets red; that is, it gets redder. But you can't always tell. It might be sunburn.

Both men are stubborn as a couple of mules. Nice, smart mules, we mean. But if we were trying to find fault with them, we'd pick on that. Joe and Donie are both mighty stubborn.

There are some items in which Donie and Joe are unlike. McCarthy chews gum incessantly. Maybe because he works for Mr. Wrigley and maybe because Mrs. McCarthy hates to have a cuspidor in the house. Mr. Bush chews scrap tobacco. Which is all right, for he does not work for Mr. Wrigley and he's a crusty old bachelor who does just about as he pleases, except when he's home in Indianapolis. Then his mother is boss and he has to hide his chewing.

WOLVERINES WIN FOUR BIG 10 MAT CHAMPIONSHIPS

Champaign, Ill., March 15.—[Special.]—Michigan and Illinois won seven out of the eight titles in the Western conference wrestling championships today. The Wolverines won the 125, 155, 165, and 175 pound titles to lead the field, while the Illini were victorious in the 115, 135, and heavyweight divisions. Chicago won the only other title in the 145 pound class.

The feature bout of the finals was the battle between Al Steinke, Michigan, and Gene Tonkoff, Illinois, in the light heavyweight match. Steinke, guard on the Michigan football team, gained his time advantage in the last half of an overtime period. Summaries:

115 POUND CLASS—Joe Sapora, Illinois, threw Aldridge, Indiana, with half nelson and bar arm hold. Time, 6:26.
125 POUND CLASS—Hewitt, Michigan, beat La Favour, Northwestern. Time advantage, 7:14.
135 POUND CLASS—Bauerle, Illinois, beat Stetson, Wisconsin. Time advantage, 2:22.
145 POUND CLASS—Dyer, Chicago, beat Hall, Ohio State. Time advantage, 4:05.
155 POUND CLASS—Kelly, Michigan, beat Hammer, Wisconsin. Time advantage in overtime, 1:04.
165 POUND CLASS—Parker, Michigan, beat Jarrard, Iowa. Time advantage, 8:41.
175 POUND CLASS—Steinke, Michigan, beat Tonkoff, Illinois. Time advantage, in overtime, 3:09.
HEAVYWEIGHT CLASS—Burdick, Illinois, beat Fairall, Ohio State. Time advantage, 2:07.

ENTRIES EXCEED 3,000 MARK FOR MARBLE TOURNEY

Joliet, Ill., March 15.—[Special.]—Entries for the eighth annual marble tournament for boys and girls of Will county here March 29 exceed 3,000. No entries will be considered after March 26. Preliminary tournaments at various schools will determine players for the finals here. The county champion and three runners up will be given a trip to Chicago when the New York Yankees play at White Sox park. Babe Ruth will be asked to autograph a baseball for the county champion.

Tilden and Partner Win Nice Mixed Doubles

Nice, France, March 15.—(AP)—Bill Tilden and his German partner, Miss Cecilie Aussem, won the mixed doubles in the Nice championship tennis tournament today, defeating Charles F Aeschliman of Switzerland and Mrs. Isaac, 6-3, 3-6, 6-3.

Tilden plays Lyttleton Rogers of Ireland in the singles final tomorrow.

Six Hockey Teams Begin Cup Battles Thursday

BY HARLAND ROHM.

Wasting no time after the finish of the league season Tuesday night, the three leading teams in each division of the National Hockey league begin the series of games to determine the world's championship Thursday night. Five series of contests on an elimination basis, with a minimum of eleven and maximum of fifteen games, will determine the holder of the famous old Stanley cup for the next year.

Boston's Bruins, who have set new records in virtually every division of the game this year, and winners of the cup last year, naturally are favorites to repeat. Two great scoring lines, backed up by a powerful and rugged defense, have put them out in front in the American division with the greatest point total ever scored by a team in a 44 game schedule. The only team to defeat Boston more than once this year is the Chicago Blackhawks.

Bruins Handicapped by Injury.

The Bruins will be handicapped by the loss of Lionel Hitchman, who, despite the praises heaped on Eddie Shore, is the real backbone of Boston's defense. Hitchman's jaw was broken in a game a short time ago and there is little chance of his getting into the playoffs.

The Bruins will engage the Montreal Maroons in the first series of games between the two first place clubs, and it should result in as bitterly contested a series as any two teams can put up. Boston has the advantage in the regular season, having won three games to one, but in goals scored in the four games Montreal leads, 13 to 12.

Both teams are the same type—hard, almost vicious, body checkers, with speedy forward lines to race through the opponents' defense. The rugged style of play often results in going a bit farther into swinging fists and sticks, and two of their four games have been marked by battles more like a prize ring than hockey. They'll decide who goes into the finals on a basis of three out of five games.

Exact Pairings in Doubt.

Which teams play against each other in the other two series, series B between the second place teams in each division and series C between the third place teams in each division, hinges on the last games. Both series will be decided on a basis of total goals in a home and home series, and though the exact pairing is in doubt, the four teams who will play in the two series are Montreal's Les Canadiens and the Ottawa Senators of the Canadian division and the New York Rangers and Chicago Blackhawks.

The Chicago Blackhawks will be making their first appearance in the playoffs since the first time major league hockey was introduced into Chicago four years ago. The Hawks of that year finished third and were beaten in their first series in the playoff.

Maroons Look Ahead to Next Cage Season

Coach Nels Norgren next year will not have to worry about a dearth of basketball material at the University of Chicago. Only two regulars from this year's five will be lost, and in their stead Norgren has one of the best freshmen teams ever seen on the Midway from which to select his material.

The most outstanding prospect is Alvin Jackson, a 6 foot 4½ inch colored marvel from Gary, Ind. Jackson is an all around athlete, playing center in basketball, is a high and broad jumper, and a great forward passer and receiver, goal kicker and end in football. The big boy is counted on to solve Norgren's center problem for three years, as he is a great ball handler, and is fully as effective as Stretch Murphy of Purdue under the basket. He is a bit weak defensively, but can be brought around in this department in due time, coaches believe.

Marshall Dziubaniuk, Englewood captain in 1927 when the south side school won the city championship, is the classiest forward of the lot. He has an eye for the basket and is a fast dribbler. Charles Farwell, who played at Hyde Park high, is handicapped a bit by his size, but should come along in good shape as he belongs to a basketball family. One brother was a star on the Midway two years ago, and another was a captain at Wisconsin some eight years back.

Jim Porter of Topeka, Kan., a 6 foot 2 inch back guard, is a fine prospect, as is E. T. Jagnow of Griffith, Ind., another big man. The lack of size so apparent in Maroon teams the last few years should be overcome when this crew of freshmen becomes eligible for varsity competition.

Capt. Harry Changnon, forward, and Harold Boesel, center, are the only two men lost by graduation, and Norgren will have such old reliables as Marshall Fish, Harry Ashley, Paul Stephenson, and Joe Temple of this year's five available, as well as Sid Yates, his chief scoring threat, who was out of the game virtually all season with a broken wrist.

Riflemen of 3 Conferences to Compete at Iowa City

Iowa City, Ia., March 15.—[Special.]—Marksmen from three midwestern athletic conferences will compete in Iowa City April 5 when the shoulder to shoulder matches of the midwest section of the National Rifle association are held on the University of Iowa fieldhouse range. One hundred of the best riflemen from schools in the Big Ten, Big Six, and Missouri Valley are entered.

CAMBRIDGE BEATS OXFORD TRACK TEAM, 8 TO 3

LONDON, March 15.—(AP)—Cambridge defeated Oxford, eight events to three, in the sixty-second athletic meet between the two universities at Stamford Bridge this afternoon.

This was Cambridge's fifth successive victory and the thirty-first time she had won from the Oxonians. Scoring was by first places only.

Oxford has won 25 times while six times the meet has been a drawn affair.

The only American student in either university figuring in the results was H. H. Bayley of Cambridge and Columbia university, who tied for second place in the pole vault with F. Jacquard Smith, Oxford, at 10 feet 6½ inches.

FORMER ILLINOIS ATHLETE NAMED MIAMI U. COACH

Champaign, Ill., March 15.—[Special.]—John W. Mauer, former University of Illinois basketball and football player, has been named basketball coach at Miami university, Oxford, O., it was announced today. Mauer also will be back field coach in football and freshman baseball coach.

Mauer won basketball letters at Illinois in 1924, 1925, and 1926 and was captain in 1925. In 1923 he was one of Red Grange's understudies. Mauer came to Illinois from Batavia, where he won fame as a high school athlete.

Freshmen Win Notre Dame Interhall Track Title

Notre Dame, Ind., March 15.—[Special.]—Freshman hall won the finals of the inter-hall track championships here this afternoon with 45½ points. Howard was second with 30, and Brownson third with 22. Due to the slippery condition of the gym floor today the high jump will be run tomorrow morning, but neither Howard nor Brownson can catch Freshman hall. The three teams in the money are all residence halls for freshmen.

WISCONSIN STATE LEGION BOWLING STARTS APRIL 5

Menasha, Wis., March 15.—[Special.]—The state American Legion bowling tournament, which opens here Saturday, April 5, will have an entry list of 300 five man teams, 600 doubles, and 1,000 singles. The tournament will be opened with a match between officers of Henry Lenz post of this city, which is sponsoring the meet, and state Legion officers, headed by State Commander Marshall Graff of Appleton.

Teams which come the farthest will occupy the drives on week-ends. The midweek rolling will be done by Fox river valley bowlers.

BRUINS HANG UP 21ST SUCCESSIVE HOME VICTORY

Boston Hockey Champions Beat Detroit, 5-2.

Hockey Results

Ottawa, 8; New York Americans, 7.
Toronto, 3; Montreal Maroons, 0.
Boston, 5; Detroit, 2.

Boston, Mass., March 15.—(AP)—The Boston Bruins toyed with the Detroit Cougars tonight when they won their 21st consecutive home hockey game, 5 to 2. The Bruins played in easy fashion and as a result escaped penalty. Detroit drew two.

Marty Barry opened the scoring for Boston in less than three minutes. He scored again in the second period. Dit Clapper, Dutch Gainor and Harry Oliver netted the other Bruins' tallies. Both of the Detroit scores came in the final period, Carson Cooper caging the first one on an assist from Jimmy Herberts and George Hay put over the second without help. Lineup:

SENATORS NIP AMERICANS.

Atlantic City, N. J., March 15.—(AP)—The Ottawa Senators ended their regular hockey season tonight by moving into second place in the league's international group with an 8 to 7 victory over the New York Americans. The victory put them one point ahead of the Montreal Canadiens, who have one more game to play, meeting the Americans Tuesday.

LEAFS BLANK MAROONS, 3-0.

MONTREAL, Que., March 15.—(AP)—Toronto Maple Leafs defeated the Montreal Maroons, 3 to 0, tonight in a listless hockey game. Red Dutton and Wilcox, two of the three of the Maroon sick list, returned to the game tonight, but Babe Siebert, star wingman, still was missing.

BRADLEY GRID PLAYERS OPEN SPRING DRILL

Peoria, Ill., March 15.—[Special.]—Spring football practice was inaugurated this week at Bradley university by Coach A. J. Robertson. All letter men of the 1929 team and twenty freshmen reported. Assistant Coaches John Meinen and Don Fuller were assigned to the preliminary workout. The squad is led by George Thornton of Warren, O., captain-elect.

Week's Fight Results

At New York—Maxie Rosenbloom won on a foul from Larry Johnson [6]; Lou Scozza beat Rosy Rosales [10]; Joe Banovic won on a foul from Henry Lamar [1]; Al Keegan knocked out Gene McCue [1]; Bob Olin defeated Italian Jack Herman [6]; Eddie Proveo and Joe La Pucci drew [6].

At Peoria, Ill.—Earl Mastro stopped Spark Plug Russell [4]; Tony Sanders outpointed Jackie Moore [8].

MISS QUIER AND MRS. LAKE GET BIDS TO ENGLAND

New York, March 15.—(AP)—Edith Quier of Reading, Pa., and Mrs. Marion Turpie Lake of Jackson Heights, N. Y., have accepted invitations to joint the American women's golf team that will play an English combination at Sunningdale, England, May 1, it was announced today.

The team, which is scheduled to sail from New York April 22, now numbers 12 star golfers headed by Glenna Collett, national champion and captain. The others are Mrs. Stewart Hanley, Detroit, manager; Maureen Orcutt, Englewood, N. J.; Virginia Van Wie, Chicago; Helen Hicks, Hewlett, N. Y.; Bernice Wall, Oshkosh, Wis.; Marion Bennett; Peggy Wattles, Buffalo; Rosalie Knapp, New York, and Virginia Holzderber, Baltimore, in addition ot Miss Quier and Mrs. Lake.

HENRY CAGERS WIN A. A. U. TITLE AT KANSAS CITY

Kansas City, Mo., March 15.—[U. P.]—In a slow, erratic game the Henry Clothiers cage team of Wichita, Kas., tonight won the 1930 national A. A. U. basketball title by defeating the Olympic club of San Francisco, 29 to 16.

Both teams showed the effects of the strenuous play of the last week, the Californians tiring most as the result of three games in three straight days.

East Central Teachers college of Ada, Okla., won the consolation game against Bethany college of Lindsborg, Kas., 42 to 21.

LA GRANGE PREPS PLACE FIFTH IN INTERSCHOLASTIC

Ann Arbor, Mich., March 15.—[Special.]—Led by Myers, who placed in three events, the La Grange, Ill., track team took fifth place in Michigan's sixth indoor interscholastic meet in Yost fieldhouse this afternoon.

Northwestern High of Detroit, won first place with 35 points after a stiff battle with Froebell of Gary, Ind., which finished with 30 1-5 markers. Just ahead of La Grange was Lakewood, O., and Scott of Toledo, O., with 12 and 11 points, respectively.

Myers, the La Grange star, won the broad jump with a leap of 21 feet 10½ inches. In addition to this he tied for third in the pole vault and was in a five way tie for third in the high jump. Zimmer won fourth in the low hurdles and shot put, after setting a new meet record of :07.5 with Ward, of Northwestern, in the preliminaries. Lillig got La Grange's other point, a fourth, in the high hurdles.

Waukegan's hurdling star, Malmberg, took second in both highs and lows to give his team a tie with Redford for sixth.

Wonsowicz of Froebel set a pole vault mark of 12 feet 5½ inches. The Froebel 880 relay team of Smith, Feister, Hart and Perrotta, did 1:35, two seconds better than the record.

NOTRE DAME GRID COACH SEEKS MEN FOR VACANCIES

Rockne Expected Back on Thursday.

Notre Dame, Ind., March 15.—[Special.—" Who will be the fourth horseman on Notre Dame's 1930 football team?"

This question is receiving serious consideration at Notre Dame now that spring practice again is under way.

Jack Elder, brilliant left halfback, is the only one of the national championship "Second Four Horsemen" back field to be lost to the 1930 team by graduation. Frank Carideo, Larry Mullins, and Marty Brill will be back at quarter back, full back and right half, respectively, this fall. Five first string linemen and three shock troops have finished their careers here, however, and the search for front line material is particularly intensive these days under the direction of Assistant Coach Hunk Anderson.

Rockne Expected Thursday.

Coach Rockne is expected back Thursday to supervise the search for a successor to Jack Elder and men to fill the places left vacant by five of the best linesmen ever developed here. More than 250 men are at work every afternoon, and the problem of finding a left half back apparently will be one of selection rather than of hunting for prospects.

March Schwartz, who played with the shock troops last year, stands out as the most prominent candidate for Elder's position. Bernie Leahy of Chicago, former St. Mel star, is another prospect almost on a par with Schwartz. Leahy, playing with the third string last year, did not get the chances to distinguish himself that Schwartz did, but played creditable ball.

May Move Mullins.

Hot stove league members have it that Rockne may move Mullins to left half back and use Joe Savoldi, the Wandering Italian, at full back exclusively. This seems within reason, inasmuch as Al Howard still would be left to plunge with the shock troops, as would Fritz Staab, Madison, Wis., sophomore prospect. Savoldi, however, is weak on defense, and Mullins is not the triple threat man that Leahy and Schwartz are. Steve Banas, who distinguished himself with the frosh last fall, is another fourth horseman possibility.

Yarr Only Experienced Center.

Joe Nash, shock troop center, also is lost by graduation, leaving Tommy Yarr the only outstanding man from the 1929 squad. Two Chicago sophomores, however, seem likely to give good account of themselevs in the positions left vacant by Moynihan and Nash, also from Chicago. They are Frank Butler of Tilden Tech and Ed Agnew of Loyola. Ed Amyett of Memphis, Tenn., is another outstanding candidate.

At the guards, Tom Kassis and Bert Metzger probably will be found next fall. Both played with the shock troops and are in line for advancement to the varsity. The left tackle position will be one of the most sought after posts on the team. Regis McNamara, Art McMannon, and Al Culver are the outstanding candidates from last year, and Bill Smithers of Yonkers, Joe Kyrth of Madison, and Sam Goldstein of Chicago are the most prominent freshmen for the post.

Drill Until Vacation.

The graduation of Colrick and Collins leaves only Johnny O'Brien at left end. O'Brien possesses the speed necessary to be a good pass receiver and he can cover well on punts, but he is without the all around ability necessary for a varsity job. Roger Beirne, John Abbatmarco, and Francis Donghue, all of New York, lead the freshman candidates. Donoghue is the brother of Dick, varsity right tackle.

Spring practice will continue until the Easter vacation when it will be concluded with games between various teams picked by the varsity coaches.

Leland Beats Bracey in Two Texas Sprints

Fort Worth, Tex., March 15.—(AP)—Roy Leland of Texas Christian university outran Claude Bracey, Rice institute track star, twice in the southwestern stock show meet here today.

Twice the T. C. U. flyer, who achieved considerable fame as "football's fastest human" last fall, unlimbered his long legs to beat his more experienced rival to the tape. In the 100 yard dash it was by a foot; in the 220 it was 12 feet.

Apparently a much improved runner from last year, Leland did the century in 9.6 seconds against a stiff breeze and on a sodden track. His time of 21.5 for the furlong was not so impressive, but was sufficient to leave Bracey well in the rear.

Leland's victory over Bracey in the 100 yard event was his first in a half dozen attempts the last two seasons.

ANNOUNCE DATES FOR ROSENBLUMS, ROCHESTER PLAY

New York, March 15.—(AP)—Dates for the final play-off series for the world's professional basketball championship between the Cleveland Rosenblums and the Rochester Centrals were announced today by John J. O'Brien, president of the American Basketball league.

The Rosenblums, world's champions last year and winners of the first half race this season, meet the Centrals, who clinched the second half supremacy last night, in a series of the best four out of seven games which gets under way at Rochester, March 20. The second game will be at Cleveland, March 21; the third at Rochester, March 22; the fourth and the fifth, if necessary, at Cleveland, March 23 and 24, and the sixth and seventh, if necessary, at Rochester, March 26 and 27.

Schools Seek Invitations to Purple Meets

Forty-five high schools of the central states have requested entry blanks for Northwestern university's eighteenth annual interscholastic track, swimming and wrestling meet Saturday.

In addition blanks have been sent to the 88 schools represented last season, which indicates that the entry list for the coming meet will be larger than ever before. Seven hundred and twenty-five athletes from eight states participated in the 1929 meet.

Tulsa, Okla., again is sending its wrestling team which won the championship last year. The entries include four of last year's individual champions.

Clayton Mains of River Rouge, Mich., national interscholastic 440 yard swim champion, will represent his school in the swimming division. The first track team to send in its entries was Pekin High of Pekin, Ill.

Froebel High of Gary, Ind., winner of the track meet a year ago, will enter another strong team. Highland Park High of Detroit, Mich., winner of the swimming meet, will be unable to enter because of a ruling which prohibits Detroit High School association teams from competing outside the state.

All of the Chicago high schools will enter teams in the three sports. Last year Cook county schools were represented by 17 track teams, nine swimming teams, and eight wrestling teams.

FOUR GAMES OPEN K. C. TITLE CAGE TOURNEY TODAY

Eight of 15 Survivors Move Into Action.

Play begins this afternoon at the Chicago Stadium in the annual championship round of the Knights of Columbus Basketball league. Four games are scheduled, starting at 2 o'clock, with eight of the fifteen survivors taking part.

The second batch of title games will be played Thursday night at the Stadium, with the survivors paired off in the second round Saturday night.

The two standouts are on the schedule today, bringing together Madonna of the central division against Aquinas of the south, and De Soto of the north against Setters of the west.

De Soto Favored to Win.

De Soto, winner of the north division championship, is one of the favorites to win the title. Setters also has a powerful combination.

Maury Nash is one of the stars of the Aquinas outfit. Madonna won the central division title.

The clash between Dowling and De La Salle also should provide thrills. Dowling, whose play centers around Bill Brown, lost its first five games and then won ten of its next eleven to tie Aquinas in the south section race.

De La Salle Won Third.

De La Salle won third honors in the central division.

Today's schedule follows:

2 p. m.—O'Connor, north division, vs. Ridge, southwest.
3 p. m.—Madonna, central division, vs. Aquinas, south.
4 p. m.—Dowling, south division, vs. De La Salle, central.
5 p. m.—De Soto, north division, vs. Setters, west.

FORESTERS PLAY TODAY

The eighth annual basketball championships of the Catholic Order of Foresters league gets under way at 2 o'clock this afternoon at St. Rita's High school gym, 63d street and Oakley boulevard. Qualifiers were not determined in any of the three divisions without the necessity of play-offs to break ties following last Sunday's windup of the regular schedule.

This season's arrangement calls for eight teams instead of the usual nine, the customary bye for one of the third place teams having been replaced with an elimination between the winners of third place in the west, north, and south sections. In the ensuing play Queen of Angels, north, was eliminated. Thus the north division will be represented by only two teams, St. Monica and St. Eugene, while the south and west divisions each will have three.

St. Monica, league champion, is a slight favorite to repeat. St. Sabina, south division champion, is figured to give St. Monica the most trouble. Today's pairings:

2 p. m.—St. Sabina [south] vs. Lawndale [west].
3 p. m.—St. Monica [north] vs. Associated Courts [west].
4 p. m.—Harmony [west] vs. St. Elizabeth [south].
5 p. m.—St. Eugene [north] vs. Englewood [south].

English, Scotch Rugby Classic Ends in a Draw

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 15.—Staid old London looked like bonnie Scotland this morning when nearly 50,000 lads and lassies invaded the capital in full regalia en route to Twickenham, where England's and Scotland's rugby aces this afternoon struggled to a scoreless tie in an effort to win the coveted Rugby cup.

Their brilliant tam o' shanters along smart Regent street, bagpipes blatting in the Strand, kilties on Piccadilly, and gay plaids in Trafalgar square—such were the crowds who came to cheer the Scots.

With full enthusiasm the Scottish rugby enthusiasts traveled through snow all night to see the game, even though it cost them almost a dollar and a half. Some hustled to Twickenham early this morning to test the possibilities of sneaking in the field without paying, but most of them stayed over in London long enough to see the principal sights of the capital and the statue of Robert Burns, Temple gardens, the monument of Burns in Westminster, and his complete works in the British museum.

When the game started this afternoon the Twickenham grandstands were groaning with the largest mob on record—over 60,000. The duke of York and Prime Minister MacDonald were among the prominent onlookers, but even such celebrities were almost lost amidst the cheering mob of Scots with their tam o' shanters, plaid shawls, clusters of thistle, and leathern buttonholes.

Following a fiercely contested match the Scots, excited and noisy behind an army of bagpipe experts, scattered either homewards or for further sightseeing of London.

FT. WAYNE PROS FACE BRUINS IN SEASON'S FINALE

Professional basketball bows out the 1929-30 season tonight at the Stadium when the Bruins meet the Fort Wayne Hoosiers. Fort Wayne brings an all-star lineup with Branch McCracken, all-conference Indiana center, who set a new Big Ten scoring record in the season just closed, topping the list. Tilly Voss, Husky Bruin center, who is an artist at the close man-for-man defense in use by the pro basketeers, will guard McCracken.

Whitey Wickhorst, ex-Bruin, will appear in the forward line for Fort Wayne, paired with Davey Banks. Ralph Miller and Rusty Saunders will be the guards. The Bruins will start their usual lineup.

FISCHER SPURNS OFFER TO MEET MALKOV ON MAT

Zack Malkov, Russian middleweight, has been signed by Joe Coffey to appear in his headline bout on the mat card to be staged at the Fronton, March 28. Coffey has been trying without success to get Charles [Midget] Fischer, middleweight champion to take on Malkov.

Coffey also announces he is angling for a bout between Johnny Meyers, former champion, and Bull Montana. The promoter tried to get Meyers to take Malkov at catch weights, but Johnny declined.

CUBS ARE IDLE; RAIN POSTPONES 2 COAST GAMES

McCarthy's Boys Resume Exhibition Today.

Wilson, English and Beck, and this layout makes it appear as if the Cub boss was correct in his ideas about recruiting.

Not counting the pitchers, McCarthy has only two men to shake loose from the tree that he expects to bear another pennant next October. One is Slow Motion Tolson, who was purchased hurriedly last summer when Grimm suffered a broken hand. Tolson will be shipped when the right spot is found for him. The other is Herman H. Jones, a first sacker purchased from Greenville, N. C.

Only two other extra infielders now grace the roster, and both will fill the same utility roles they held last season. They are Clyde Beck, the silent, and Clarence Blair, equally silent. Beck, although a light hitter, rates as one of the best utility men in the league. He can play second, short or third with marked skill. Blair is even more versatile. He can play any infield position, including first base.

Two Extra Outfielders.

The extra outfielders are to be the veteran Heathcote and Danny Taylor, recalled afer a year on the Reading farm. McCarthy was so well satisfied with these two that he didn't go to the trouble of bringing anther fly chaser. Taylor led the International league both in hitting and base stealing last year, and it is rather a bad break for a man of such apparent ability to be tied to a team owning such experts as Stephenson, Wilson and Cuyler. But injuries or mishaps during the season may give Danny his chance.

Including Hank Grampp, the batting practice phenom, as a veteran with Root, Bush, Malone, Carlson, and Blake, there are four places to fill before the hurling staff can be completed. Nine men are after these four jobs. One of the vacancies is a cinch for Lynn Nelson. His showing to date hasn't been sensational, but McCarthy still rates him as the outstanding possibility. Another sure sticker is Malcolm Moss, southpaw from Louisville. The same fate appears to be in store for Al Shealy, drafted from St. Paul. There is room for him as a relief workman.

Just where the other vacancy is going an outsider can't tell.

Only three catchers—Hartnett, Zach Taylor, and Schulte—are under McCarthy's direction, so there is not going to be any alterations in that department. None is needed. If Hartnett and Taylor can't do an excellent job of back stopping in 154 games, then nobody can.

Toil in Mine, Neighborhood Warfare Harden These Boys

(This is the seventh of a series of personality sketches of Chicago Golden Gloves boxers.)

BY HOWARD BARRY.

Sidney Kaplan and Johnny Baima are two of the boys upon whom Chicago will depend to carry off second division honors in the intercity bouts with New York's Golden Gloves team Wednesday at Chicago Stadium.

Until about three years ago Sidney Kaplan, runner-up in the 118 pound division, lived near the corner of Hastings and Throop streets and belonged to a group of young sportsmen who called themselves the Speedways. There was another crowd, known as the White Eagles, and the relations between these two clans were similar to those which existed between the Shawnees and the settlers during that period in which Kentucky earned the name of the Dark and Bloody Ground.

Invades Eagles' Territory.

A Speedway might pursue his business or pleasure with a reasonable amount of security so long as he stayed north of 14th street, and a White Eagle might doze in the sunshine with no impending disaster so long as he did his dozing south of 14th street. But let one venture into the domain of the other, and the world court, with all its diplomats, would have been powerless to settle things by arbitration.

That was the situation when Sidney started out alone to visit a movie house near 15th street and Blue Island avenue, in the heart of White Eagle territory. At 14th place he was set upon by the enemy, and, as he had not even so much as half a brick for purposes of defense, the tide of battle flowed against him. Although it was a west side saying that a Speedway never retreats, Sidney decided to be the exception which proved the rule and withdrew in the general direction of his own back yard.

Once entrenched in comparative safety, he sent out the rallying cry which he knew would stir the blood of all true Speedways, and in response they sprang up from behind dozens of fences and slid down from the roofs of innumerable barns until the force of their numbers and the fury of their onslaught drove the White Eagles back beyond 14th street.

Kaplan 19 Years Old.

Flushed with victory, the young warrior returned to eat a quiet meal with his father and mother, his three brothers and three sisters, in their little home on Hastings street.

The elder Kaplan came from Russia when he was a boy of ten, and Sidney's mother arrived from Germany at the age of three months. Both are Jewish. Nineteen years ago Sidney was born.

His education began at the Rogers school, on Hastings, between Throop and Racine, and it came to an untimely end when Sidney, in true gambler style, staked his future on the flip of a coin—and lost without batting an' eyelash.

It seems that he and four others incurred the wrath of the principal by exploding fireworks underneath her window. She didn't know just where to place the blame, so the five youngsters decided among themselves to toss up to see who should shoulder it all. It turned out to be Sidney, so he was sent home and never came back. This difficulty occurred when he was in eighth grade.

Began Fighting at B. B. R.

The boy then went to work wrapping bundles in a west side department store, but after two weeks it became a bit dull. So he told the boss to give him a new job or he'd quit. He quit.

When he was seventeen years old Sidney began fighting at the Boys' Brotherhood Republic. He's had about 84 bouts, out of which he's lost eight.

Johnny Baima is the runner-up in the 160 pound class. The fact that Johnny never has engaged in a street fight speaks volumes for his knack of taking care of himself, inasmuch as he was brought up in the coal country of southwestern Illinois where they grow them tough. He was born in the little mining town of Benld, which lies about 40 miles northeast of St. Louis, and there he lived for 22 years with his father and mother, two brothers and two sisters.

When Johnny finished first year high school he decided it was time to strike out in the world, so one day he shouldered a pick, took a last look at the blue sky and the green trees drowsing in the summer sunshine and followed his father down into the gloomy caverns of the coal mines. There he stayed for four years, toiling on a blasting gang, swinging a pick and loading cars.

Always Eager to Become Boxer.

Last April Johnny decided to come to Chicago. Although he never had fought, the stories of the game had fired his imagination and he was eager for a career in that line. So the boy who never before had been away from the little mining town got off the train one evening last spring and stood staring at the skyscrapers which dominate Chicago's skyline, with only a ten dollar bill in his pocket, no friends and no prospects for a job.

He settled down in a rooming house at 22d and Crawford, but was forced to leave there before long, due to some little difficulty in connection with the rent. Just after moving he got a job at the Western Electric.

Johnny had been in Chicago only a couple of weeks when his first bout was arranged. The engagement came so suddenly that he had no time to train, but he was of the stuff which makes Golden Gloves fighters. He pulled on a pair of boxing gloves for the first time, stepped into the ring, and won.

That was the beginning of the string of triumphs which came to a climax when he won runner-up honors in THE TRIBUNE'S Golden Gloves tournament.

Out of forty bouts Baima has won 35, one of these victories carrying with it the Illinois amateur championship. He has scored about 20 knockouts and never has taken the count himself.

Johnny works now as a private chauffeur.

CRISLER TO HEAD BASKET TOURNEY FOR LAST TIME

U. of Chicago Prep Meet Opens April 1.

The University of Chicago basketball tournament for the national interscholastic championship starts Tuesday, April 1, and runs, with games every hour from early morn until midnight, until April 5.

H. O. Fritz Crisler, recently appointed athletic director and head football coach at the University of Minnesota, will manage the tourney this year for the last time. As rapidly as state and sectional championships are decided, Crisler is sending out invitations to the meet.

Southern Schools Enter.

Six states champions already have accepted bids. This year the event has been opened to all secondary schools meeting the Chicago scholastic requirements.

Southern schools have been the first to enter. They are Robert E. Lee of Jacksonville, Florida state champion; Jena, Louisiana state title winner for the second consecutive time; Bisbee, Arizona champion; Braselton, Georgia winner; Lenoir City, Tennessee champion, and Denton, Texas champion. Homewood, Miss., a small village in the swamp land of "Ole Miss," accepted its bid, but is having a problem in raising the railroad fare.

Denton Beats Athens.

Athens, Tex., the national championship outfit last year, will be issued an invitation. Denton defeated Athens in the semi-finals of the Longhorn state meet by five points and then went on to win the title, but Athens had won a game with a good margin from Denton during the regular playing season.

Jena is one of the most colorful teams in the list. Last year the small bronzed boys from this high school of 219 students went to the quarter-finals, but lost to Joes, Colo., a rangy six foot aggregation that controlled the ball by batting it around over the heads of their smaller rivals. Jena won the state title again this season.

Illinois Fencers Capture Big Ten Title; Maroons 2d

Illinois last night successfully defended its Big Ten fencing championship, winning first place in all three events for 15 points. Chicago was second with 6½, Northwestern third, 5; Purdue, fourth, 4; Michigan, fifth, 3½; Ohio State sixth, 1, and Wisconsin seventh with one-fourth point.

Chicago won the gymnastic meet with a total of 1,212.05 points. Illinois was second with 1,168.35. Capt. Jack Menzies led the Maroons with two firsts and two seconds.

N. Y. GOLDEN GLOVES TEAM ARRIVES

Twenty-seven members of the New York Golden Gloves team invaded Chicago yesterday for the intercity bouts with The Tribune's fighters at the Stadium Wednesday. They're domiciled at the Medinah Athletic club. George Dauchy, assistant club manager, checked them in, assisted by Sam Schnitzer of the New York News sports staff. Schnitzer is in the center with light hat and coat.

Walker, Foe Ready for Ring Go Tomorrow

It will be Irish night at White City tomorrow night when James C. Mullen, matchmaker for White City, presents Mickey Walker, middleweight champion, against Jimmy Mahoney in the ten round windup.

In Mahoney, Walker will meet a clever light heavyweight, a Chicago boy who had to leave the city to gain pugilistic fame. He has beaten Jimmy Slattery and whipped Larry Johnson twice. In addition Mahoney has beaten or knocked over a host of other contenders for the title.

Mullen will support this headline bout with five other matches, with Ted Ross and Edgar Norman appearing in the semi-windup. Nisse Ramm will take on Blondy Davis, Charlie Retzlaff, the knockout artist, will meet "Man Mountain" Erickson, Mickey McFarlan takes on Johnny Freeman, while Len Finucane, son of the famous Billy Finucane, will toss gloves with Jabber Horn.

SMITH ENTERS ST. PAUL OPEN.

St. Paul, Minn., March 15.—[U. P.]—The Junior Association of Commerce tonight said Horton Smith, senational young Missouri professional, will enter the St. Paul $10,000 open golf tournament in August.

Johnny Baima finds it difficult to get confidential over the phone while Sidney Kaplan is in the room. The two boys are members of the Chicago Golden Gloves team which battles New York Wednesday night.

PAIR CATHOLIC FIVES TODAY FOR NATIONAL MEET

32 Parochial Teams Open Play Wednesday.

Thirty-two basketball teams, featuring more than 160 experienced players, will swing into action Wednesday with the opening of the national Catholic high school basketball tournament at Loyola university. The competition will continue until Sunday night when the parochial champion of the United States will be crowned.

The tournament is limited to thirty-two teams, and when the drawings are made this afternoon the complete list of entries will have been made known. Most of the contestants are district of state champions, while others boast records of consecutive triumphs or clean slates.

All Sections Represented.

All sections of the United States will be represented, the teams coming from twenty-five states. While all of them have attracted attention because of their records, some appear more prominent than others, probably unjustly so.

St. Xavier of Louisville, Ky., by winning twenty-four games and losing two, won the championship for both public and private schools in its section of the Blue Grass, and chose to enter the Loyola tournament rather than compete for the state championship.

The midwest will be well represented with De La Salle of Chicago, last year's champion, Spalding institute of Peoria, winners of the Illinois Catholic title; and Decatur Catholic High of Decatur, Ind., winners of the Hoosier Catholic state title, competing.

Strong Eastern Fives.

The east will have three strong teams in Neumann High of Williamsville, N. Y.; St. John academy of Renssalaer, N. Y., and St. Michaels of Union City, N. J. All three have gone through their campaigns undefeated.

During the process of pairing the teams today two schools will be added to the list. Here are 30 of the entries:

De La Salle, Chicago; Loyola academy, Chicago; Spalding institute, Peoria, Ill.; Campion academy, Prairie due Chien, Wis.; St. Stanislaus, Bay St. Louis, Miss.; De La Salle, Minneapolis, Minn.; Cathedral High, Denver, Colo.; St. Xavier, Louisville, Ky.; St. Michael's, Union City, N. J.; Holy Rosary academy, Bozeman, Mont.; Bishop England High, Charleston, S. C.; St. Theresa High, Detroit, Mich.; Elder High, Cincinnati, O.; St. Mary High, Akron, O.; St. Louis U. High, St. Louis, Mo.; Neumann High, Williamsville, N. Y.; Decatur Catholic High, Decatur, Ind.

St. Mary High, Walsenburg, Colo.; St. John High, Collegeville, Minn.; Altoona Catholic High, Altoona, Pa.; St. John academy, Renssalaer, N. Y.; Father Ryan High, Nashville, Tenn.; St. Gregory High, Shawnee, Okla.; La Salle institute, Cumberland, Md.; Duquesne U. High, Pittsburgh, Pa.; St. Theresa High, Hutchinson, Kas.; Jasper academy, Jasper, Ind.; St. Agnes High, Alliance, Neb.; Rockhurst academy, Kansas City, Mo.

ADD NEW BROOM TO ENTRIES FOR KENTUCKY DERBY

Late Nomination Makes 150 in $50,000 Race.

Louisville, Ky., March 15.—[Special.]—New Broom, a three year old owned by the Eastland Farms stable, is an eligible for the $50,000 added Kentucky Derby to be run at Churchill Downs May 17. Due to a delay in the delivery of mail, the entry of New Broom was not received in time to be announced with the previously published list. The nomination of New Broom makes a total of 150 in the Derby.

New Broom was the highest priced yearling of 1928. He was sold by Mrs. T. J. Regan at the Saratoga sales for $75,000. He is a chestnut colt by Whisk Broom II. out of Payment, a Whitney bred mare by All Gold, from Sallie of Navarre, by Henry of Navarre.

Little was done with New Broom last year. He started only once. He is said to have wintered well at Belmont Park and to appear a fine prospect for three year old racings.

High Foot Gets Following.

The form of High Foot at New Orleans has gained him a considerable following for the Kentucky Derby. Although Black Gold came on from his New Orleans' triumphs and captured the Kentucky Derby, so many winter track champions have failed when confronted with sterner competition that there is a general tendency to discount these cold season performances. But High Foot has something back of a winter campaign to bolster the confidence of his supporters.

He was considered one of the best two year olds in the west last spring. He worked like a whirlwind at Lexington. He won his first start at that track impressively by six lengths. His next start was at Churchill Downs, when he was beaten by a narrow margin by All Upset, Gallant Knight, and Uncle Matt. The Racing Form footnote says of this race: "High Foot was in close quarters, next to the rail, the entire final three-eighths and suffered from weak riding, but was probably best."

Retired After Chicago Race.

His next effort was in the Bashford Manor stakes, in which he was beaten a nose by All Upset. The Racing Form footnote says of this race: "High Foot, away slowly, due to unalertness of his rider at the start, lost much ground while being rushed into second place and swerved repeatedly in the stretch, but, racing kindly near the end, closed fast and just failed to get up." His underpinning bothered him after this, and he was retired for the year after a start at Chicago in which he finished third.

Considering High Foot's known class, his winter track racing must be taken more seriously than that of the average winter star. He belongs to the Valley Lake stable of Nash & Partridge. High Foot is a chestnut colt by Prince Pal, out of Belle Fair, by High Time.

Weights for the Clark handicap, announced yesterday, promise an unusually good contest in this historic race, which was founded the same year that the Kentucky Derby was inaugurated, 1875. The Clark handicap, $10,000 added, is for three year olds and upward, and will be run on the first day of the Churchill Downs meeting, May 10.

Toro Gets Top Weight.

Among the 78 nominations for the Clark handicap are Toro, with 126 pounds; Victorian, 125; Misstep, 124; Jock, 121; The Nut, 118; Clyde Van Dusen, 116, and Golden Prince, 116. The list includes leading performers of both the east and west, and seldom in its history has it seemed more open.

Horses continue to arrive at Churchill Downs and Douglas Park from farms where they have been hibernating and from winter tracks where they have been racing. Stable room is at a premium at both local courses, and there will be no lack of racing material when the bugle sounds here this spring.

ANDREW AGAIN HIGH SCORER OF MARQUETTE FIVE

Milwaukee, Wis., March 15.—[Special.]—Lanky Roy Andrew of Shawano, Wis., Marquette university's elongated basketball center, who closed his varsity career last week, was high scorer on the Hilltop quintet for the second consecutive season, a resume shows.

He tossed in 67 field goals and 21 free throws for 155 points, aggregating more than the total gathered by the next two in the standing. Francis McElligott, Chicago forward, scored 82 points, and Albert Shipley, sophomore guard from Kenosha, Wis., garnered 68 points.

Marquette this season won 11 games, lost 12 and scored 554 points to the opponents' 561.

BRICKIES TO PLAY GARY KICKERS IN PEEL SERIES

Chicago's soccer clubs having been eliminated from the National cup race will return to their spring schedule of local league and cup games today.

The Bricklayers, who last week lost a close decision to the Holly Carburetors of Detroit, will clash with the Steel City club of Gary, champion of the Indiana league, in the first round of the Peel cup competition at De Paul field. The Brickies will have Vic Neate in goal and Ike Walker will be in the half back line.

Olympia and Vienna will play a league game at Olympia field, 47th avenue and 19th street.

Both games will start at 2:30 p. m.

GALAHAD PLOWS THROUGH MUD, WINS N. O. STAKES

[By Associated Press.]

Breezing through a mile and a sixteenth of heavy going like a veteran mudder, Galahad, from the Reuter stable, won the Shell handicap in a gallop yesterday at Jefferson Park, New Orleans.

The 5 year old son of Prince Galahad flashed past the judge's stand five lengths in front of By Product, with the highly favored War Instigator another two lengths back. Although the chestnut gelding from the Reuter stable had won only twice in fourteen starts he was well played, paying 2 to 1 in the mutuels. He was clocked at 1:53 4-5.

The going at St. John's Park, Fla., also was sluggish, but it was the kind preferred by Baron King from the Blue Bell Park stable of Miss Charlotte Mulvaney of Chicago. Baron King won the Mayflower handicap. Leading for the greater part of the mile jaunt, the 4 year old son of High Time won by three-quarters of a length from Playfellow's Dream, the favorite. The latter was easily the best of the remainder of the field, finishing ten lengths in front of Golden Auburn. Baron King, because of his preference for mud, was the second choice and paid $5.80.

Break of Dawn, a 4 year old, was the winner of the claiming handicap at Agua Caliente. Although he has been out of the money only once at the meeting and won two races, the son of Lenardo II. paid $17.40. La Bellotte was second with The Dago third. The winner stepped the six furlongs in 1:12 3-5.

CENTRAL A. A. U. SWIM MEET SET FOR MARCH 25

The annual Central A. A. U. senior and junior swimming championships will be held at Blackhawk Park pool, Fullerton and Lavergne avenues, March 25 under the auspices of the northwest parks district. An added attraction will be the National A. A. U. junior 400 yards relay championship for women.

The Central A. A. U. championships will be for men and women and entries close with Frank M. Kalteux, 4908 Oakdale avenue, on Tuesday. The meet will be open to all athletes registered in the A. A. U.

YOUNG JOCKEYS TO GET CHANCE IN RACE CENTERS

Large Stables Pick Up Promising Youths.

All the young jockey stars from the winter race courses are to get a royal chance to ride their way to fame and fortune on the big tracks in Chicago, New York, Kentucky and Maryland this year.

Kenneth Russell, under contract to Mose Goldblatt at New Orleans, no doubt will be with one of the divisions of the Harry Payne Whitney stable during the spring, summer and fall racing. Verlyn Smith, too young to ride at New Orleans, according to the Jefferson Park stewards, probably will get that ban lifted and his great opportunity will come with Mrs. Payne Whitney's Greentree stable.

The third member of the winter track trio of star riders is Melvin Knight, and his contract has been purchased by Joseph E. Widener. Turfites who have visited the winter courses, say Knight is the best young pilot in America.

Widener Move a Surprise.

It was somewhat of a surprise when Widener reached out and secured Knight's contract. There was a vacancy in the stable because Willie Garner, who rode the Widener horses last year, didn't measure up to the standard demanded on the Metropolitan circuit. With the passing of Garner, it was expected Earl Sande, who is to try a comeback this year, would get his old job back with the Widener stable.

Instead, Widener sent his trainer, Pete Coyne, to Florida to look over young Mr. Knight. And when Trainer Coyne watched Knight win race after race on horses which were perhaps not the best, he lost little time in purchasing the services of the lad.

Goldblatt could get a large sum for Russell's contract. But Goldblatt always has trained the western division of the Whitney stable. He has developed numerous good riders in the last half dozen years and all have gone to Mr. Whitney. His job seems to include the development of a rider each season as much as it does of winning races with the Whitney turf performers.

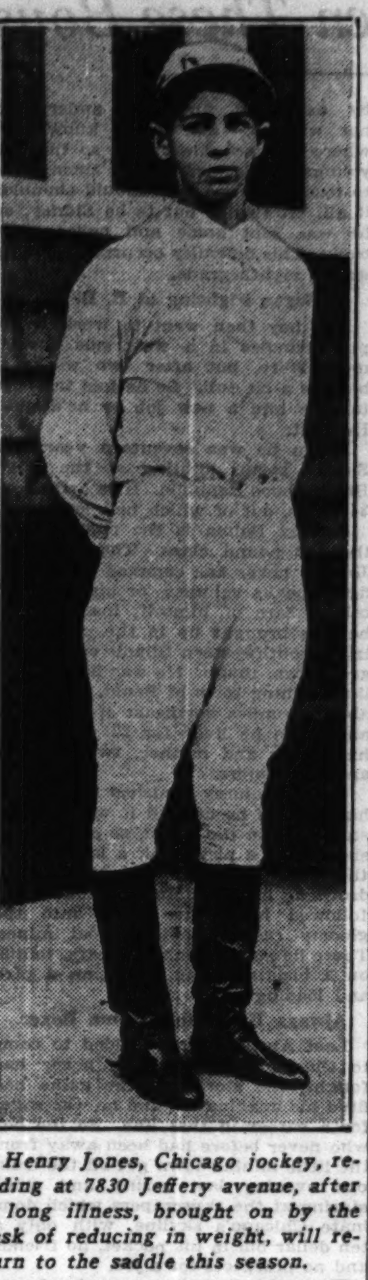
V. Smith Only 14 Years Old.

The Greentree stable already holds the contract of Verlyn Smith. The boy knows how to boot the winners home, for he was first past the line of finish in more than 100 races last year. Now it develops he is only a little more than 14 years of age. If he can't convince the various racing bodies that he is competent to handle a horse, he may have to wait until he is 16 before he gets another license. But it seems hardly likely he will have to wait that long. Smith probably will begin riding in Chicago or Kentucky early in May.

Mexico long has been noted as a training ground for young jockeys. But Agua Caliente hasn't produced a real brilliant youngster this winter. Perhaps some of the lads who are learning their A B C's at Agua Caliente will develop into stars by mid summer, but will have to travel east without much of a reputation.

Maiben, Fator, Mortensen, Philpot, Peternal, Schaffer, and Paul Neal are some of the lads who have come out of Mexico in years past to ride so skillfully they almost made Tia Juana famous. But Agua Caliente has failed to produce any young jockey who can bid for fame.

COMING BACK



Henry Jones, Chicago jockey, residing at 7830 Jeffery avenue, after a long illness, brought on by the task of reducing in weight, will return to the saddle this season.

PLAN 17 STORY APARTMENTS FOR WELLINGTON AVE.

Structure Will Contain 168 Car Garage.

BY AL CHASE.

[Real Estate Editor.]

Chicago's upper Gold Coast, north of Lincoln park, is to have a $1,400,000 seventeen story apartment building. This was disclosed yesterday at the county recorder's office when the property at 414-422 Wellington avenue was transferred by William Ehrat, a real estate investor, to the 418 Wellington Building corporation.

At the same time a trust deed for $900,000 at 6½ per cent was filed for record which disclosed that George M. Forman & Co. have underwritten a bond issue for that amount on the project. These bonds will be the direct obligation of the 418 Wellington Building corporation and will be secured by a closed first mortgage on land, owned in fee, and the seventeen story building to be erected on it.

The value of the property, which is 100x166, including land and building when completed, is estimated at approximately $1,400,000. The structure will contain sixty-six apartments of four and five rooms and two suites of two rooms each. It is to be known as the Kingston building.

Garage Under Same Roof.

An interesting feature of the new structure will be the settlement of the ubiquitous garage problem by including space for 168 automobiles in the building itself. The garage section will occupy the rear portions of the basement, first and second floors. This means the car owner will be able to walk from his apartment directly to his motor without going outdoors.

Color will be used throughout the building in the plumbing and bathroom fixtures to harmonize with the interior decoration. Each apartment will be fitted with individual unit electric refrigerating plants.

Face Brick on All Side.

The exterior of the Kingston building will be of face brick on all four sides, with the lower three floors faced entirely with cut stone. The upper floors will be trimmed with stone. The roof treatment by the architects, Hooper & Janusch, calls for the usual roof paraphernalia being enclosed in one large pent house, or set back story, of the same materials and design as the main building.

The site, which is on the north side of Wellington avenue just west of Sheridan road, is valued at $160,000. It was purchased by Mr. Ehrat from Max M. Rappaport and Henry H. Koven, attorneys, last week for an undisclosed consideration, subject to $95,000. The property is vacant.

The incorporators of the 418 Wellington Building corporation are Arthur M. Wirtz, of Wirtz, Hubert & Little, brokers in the site purchase; H. E. Haynie and F. W. Janusch, member of the architectural firm of Hooper & Janusch. Work probably will get under way on the Kingston some time in June.

NATIONAL LIFE BUYS ST. CLAIR, ILLINOIS CORNER

The National Life Insurance company yesterday purchased the five story fireproof semi-office building at the northeast corner of Illinois and St. Clair streets from Mrs. Edna Best Wroe. The price was not disclosed, but it is understood to have been in the neighborhood of $400,000.

The new owners will use it for their printing, supply, records and file departments, releasing space for added personnel use in the home office building at 20 South La Salle street.

According to an official of the National Life Insurance company the pressure for additional space resulted in a substantial measure from the unusual increase of the company's business in the Chicago area in which there are now established more than five producing agencies.

The building just purchased stands on a lot 100x100 and is of unusually heavy construction, having been originally erected by Mrs. Wroe for use of the Wroe Paper company, which subsequently moved to the Central Manufacturing district. Mr. and Mrs. Wroe now reside in Asherton, Tex. Homer H. Schneider of G. H. Schneider & Co., and Frederick M. Bowes of the Bowes Realty company were brokers. Mrs. Wroe purchased the land on which the Wroe building was erected through the Bowes Realty company seventeen years ago.

DE MET TO OPEN RESTAURANT IN NEW SKYSCRAPER

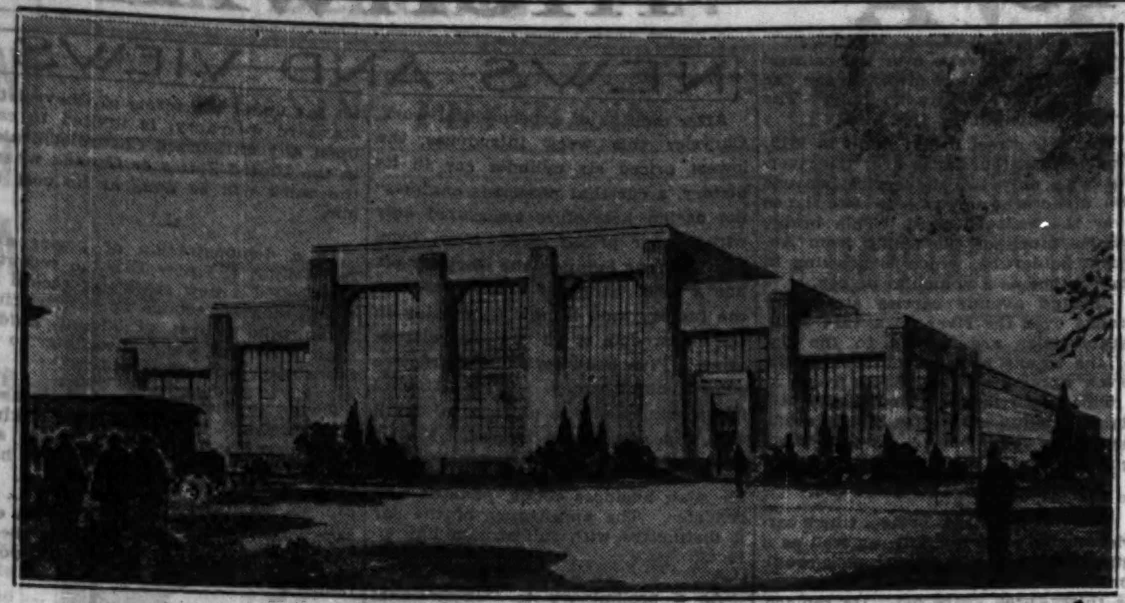
De Met's, Inc., announces the closing of a lease for a second eating establishment which will cater to the appetites of La Salle street financiers and their assistants. The first one, as described sometime ago, will be in the Board of Trade building. And the one announced yesterday by L. J. Sheridan & Co. will be located in the new forty-nine story One La Salle Street building.

Both restaurants are being planned as to layout and design by Holabird & Root and both are to be opened this spring. According to the Sheridan company more than $300,000 is being spent on the interior decoration of the two cafés.

GOLF ARGUMENT IN WHICH COOK COUNTY IS AHEAD

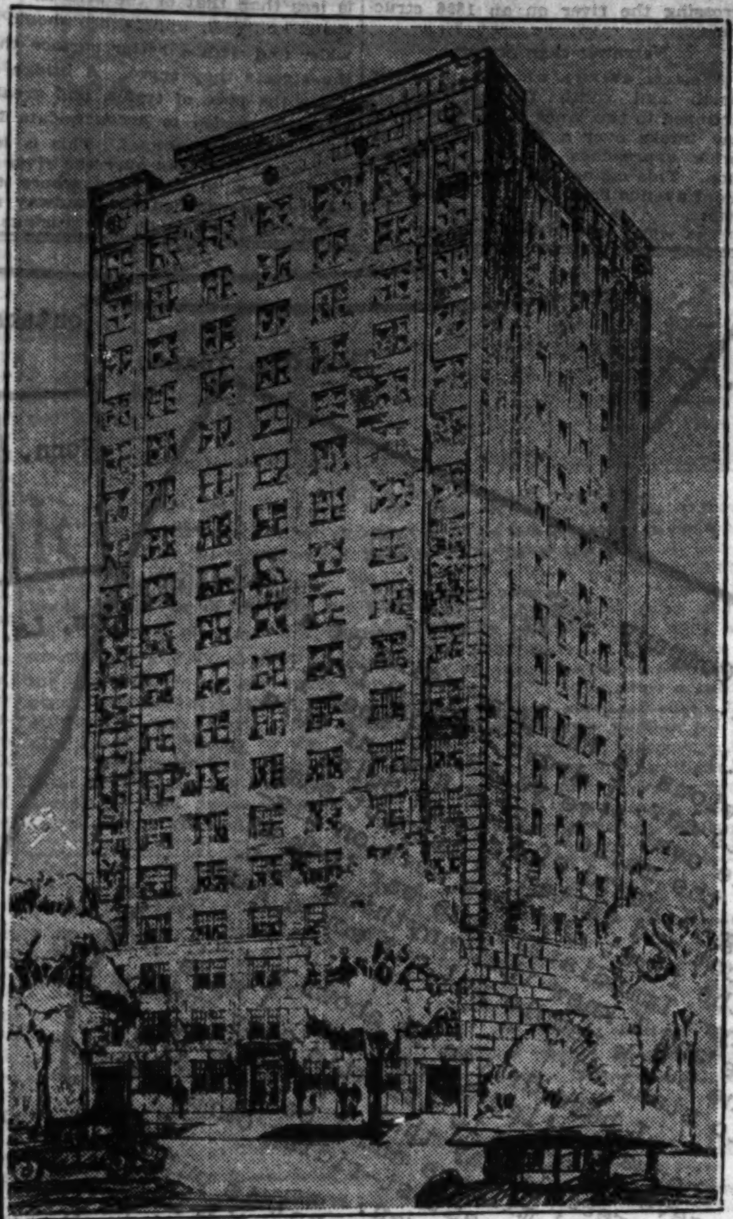
Robert Kingery, general manager of the Chicago Regional Planning association, looking over the New York Times recently came across an item stating that Westchester county, north of New York City, leads the nation as a golf county with its sixty courses—public and private. This assertion inspired Mr. Kingery to look over Cook county statistics, which revealed that our own Cook county has seventy-five golf establishments—sixty-two private and thirteen public. The golf acreage for Westchester county is 8,772 and for Cook 11,300.

MODERNISM IN INDUSTRIAL ARCHITECTURE



The industrial world is slowly beginning to reflect modernism in its architecture, with the above building an interesting example of what can be done with a one story factory building. This is the new plant of the Marquette Tool and Manufacturing company, to be erected in the Clearing Industrial district, at the southeast corner of West 65th street and Natchez avenue. Foltz & Co. are the architects. Details are given in another column.

FOR CHICAGO CLIFFDWELLERS



Above is a de luxe apartment building which is to be erected at 414-22 Wellington avenue, just off Sheridan road in the gold coast district, near the Belmont avenue harbor. The structure will be called the Kingston. Hooper & Janusch are architects. Financing is by George M. Forman & Co.

HARVEY CORBETT TO OPEN EXHIBIT OF ARCHITECTS

The Evanston-North Shore Association of Architects will open its third annual exhibition tomorrow in the Art Center, public library building, in Evanston. The formal opening will be preceded by a banquet at 6:45 p. m. at the Orrington hotel at which Harvey Wiley Corbett, president of the architectural commission for the Chicago World's Fair of 1933, will be the principal speaker. The exhibition will last two weeks. Elmo C. Lowe of Evanston is president of the north shore architects' body. John A. Nyden is vice president. Stanley M. Peterson is secretary-treasurer.

ROSE TREE

ONE TREE $1.00
3 for $2.50
PREPAID

The ROSE TREE OF CHINA (Prunus Triloba) is the most beautiful and showy of all small trees. It begins to bloom before the leaves appear in the spring, being literally covered with very double rose-like pink flowers. As an ornament from early spring until late fall it has few equals. This symmetrically formed, graceful little tree grows usually to a height of but 4 feet, and is attractive as a specimen or when planted in groups or shrub border. It is hardy and easily grown, and no lawn is so small that room can not be found for at least one of these wonderful trees. Many who have seen it declare it to be the most beautiful tree they have ever seen. The roselike blossoms make fine cut flowers. Choice trees for $1.00 each; 3 for $2.50, by parcel post, postpaid.

SPECIAL For 60c extra we will include three small TULIP TREES—fine ornamental shade trees with tulip-like flowers.

Our stock of trees will not last long at these low prices. Order now and state when you want trees shipped. CATALOG FREE. BURGESS SEED & PLANT CO., 278 [illegible], GALESBURG, MICH.

ELECTRICITY TO GIVE 51 MILLION IN BUILDING CITY

Edison, Phone Firms Spend Huge Sums.

BY PHILIP HAMPSON.

Though building construction in the Chicago area has been marking time of recent months, in contrast with the feverish activity of the boom period of a few years back, Chicago's great public utilities whose stock in trade is based on electricity are proceeding on a magnificent scale to meet the demands of the city of the future.

The Commonwealth Edison company and the Illinois Bell Telephone company alone will spend in excess of $51,000,000 during 1930 on new equipment, new buildings, machinery, sites for new edifices, etc.—a definite reply to President Hoover's request for construction to help the workers of the nation. The phone company is spending $40,000,000 in Illinois, of which about sixty-five per cent, or $26,000,000, will go to the Chicago district.

As to the Commonwealth Edison company, its $25,000,000 is divided to finance work in a number of categories.

Three New Substations.

About $5,000,000 will be spent on three new substations, one located at School and Narragansett, another at Congress and Wells and the third at 115 North Dearborn street. The Dearborn street project is under construction and was described in this department some weeks ago. Then $425,000 will be spent for new sites, the location of which the company is not yet ready to disclose. About $4,000,000 is being expended on the service building at California and Addison, including equipment.

Underground transmission lines capable of carrying 132,000 and 66,000 volts will cost the company in the neighborhood of $1,250,000. These lines will carry electricity into the city from outlying generating plants and incidentally they represent a new departure in the way of high voltage lines. Installation of this type of equipment is in line with the company's policy of bringing power to the city from outlying stations rather than producing it within the corporate boundaries.

About $7,500,000 will be used to provide equipment and extensions to care for the normal growth of the city. Approximately $1,081,000 will go for equipment renewals.

Develop New Localities.

Then $1,750,000 will go to put in new underground equipment, renewals, etc. In this category is included development in new territories, where power lines are installed coincident with new pavements, thereby eliminating the necessity of tearing up paving at a later date. Finally, about $811,000 is being spent to effect economies of operation and the rest of the $25,000,000 goes for other incidentals.

It is impossible to go into details regarding the expenditures of the phone company's millions. The Bell Telephone company declines to itemize its expenditures, but does remark that its huge sum will go for equipment, exchanges, buildings and land, etc. One reason the company hesitates to discuss its future sites for telephone exchanges is the effect on real estate prices should further land nearby be required.

The figures for the Commonwealth Edison detailed above are approximate.

HOME BUILDING AND REMODELING

BIT OF COLOR ON HOUSE EXTERIOR OFTEN A DELIGHT

BY LOUISE BARGELT.

[Home Builders Editor.]

To those of us who revel in color contrasts, there are many delightful possibilities of beauty to be obtained from giving the chimneys and walls of a brick home a coat of white cement or paint. Add to these white walls, with a wooded setting around them perhaps, a colorful roof and brightly hued shutters and the result is a charming home exterior.

LOUISE BARGELT.
[Hutchinson Photo.]

It does not matter what type, scarcely, the house may be: colonial or English, Norman, French, Spanish or Italian. White walls the world over blend with nature's colorings of sky and foliage. It is an old colonial idea this, of white walls and colored roofs and shutters, but it is in vogue again. Nor does the home owner need to be fearful lest the whitewashing of brick be out of harmony with his house style. For with white brick as well as red brick or stucco or wood all the architectural details of the different home types may be effectively and correctly carried out.

Many of the home designs submitted by architects throughout the country in THE TRIBUNE home competition of a few years ago, specified walls of whitewashed brick, showing the emphasis of late given to the consideration of surface textures in exterior walls. Design, pattern, and color have always been distinctive points stressed in home construction, but recently texture is also being emphasized. The result is that houses from the strictly decorative angle are lovely indeed at the present time.

True to Red Brick.

Unflagging enthusiasts there are of the old time red brick wall, with its vitality, its warmth, its deep aliveness. These adherents of red brick and of the many other entrancing shades in which brick may now be obtained, lift up their hands in shocked protest when mention is made of whitewashing brick.

"Why? Why paint brick white," they will cry and they are frankly and emphatically opposed to the idea.

Fortunately, after all, not every one thinks alike or has similar tastes and prejudices. Diversity of opinion gives variety to all things, homes included. And there are numbers of people who are enthusiastically adopting this whitewashing of brick, reveling in the contrasts afforded between green foliage and white walls, in the lights and shadows thrown upon its surfaces, in the new depths and images seen.

Nor does one need to make the surface too definitely white. Some architects specify a "light coat of whitewash," and in a short time this coat wears bare in spots and gives glimpses of red brick underneath. It is not long in this case before the house walls begin to have that "weathered" appearance we hear so much of; the look which links them up to storied brick homes of a hundred years ago.

Seems to Expand.

Where the home owner has a small house and he is not averse to having it wear as spacious in air as possible, he can depend upon the whitewashing to increase its appearance of size. For from the moment the paint begins to be applied the structure seems to expand slightly. Trim of dark colors may shrink it again, but by avoiding the too heavy trim we can create the illusion of greater size and not feel we are doing anything dishonest either!

Again if one has a large house which one wishes whitewashed but decidedly has no desire to increase its impression of size, heavy foundation plantings can be given it.

Indeed the planting around a whitewashed brick home is vitally important because of the very possibility for contrast before mentioned. Group planting, close planting, giving the appearance of single plants, are usually effective massed against the whitewashed walls.

Occasionally we see a whitewashed brick wall which is dotted here and there with an occasional red brick or two. A little different touch this, and yet not too bizarre to appeal to the conservative taste.

Or again we find red brick employed in these whitewashed homes as a frame for the windows or as a ledge or as a door facing for the front entrance.

There is a wide range of possibilities in this recent return to an old fashion. Interesting for the consideration of the home owner who wishes, perhaps, to do a little remodeling this spring in the sense of changing the "looks of his house" rather than any structural changes.

It is, moreover, a safe change in that it violates none of the canons of good architectural taste and can be depended upon to give to the home what white brick always does, an atmosphere of dignity and of quiet restfulness.

FARM and GARDEN BY PAUL POTTER

ROSES HEIGHTEN CHICAGO'S FAME ALL OVER NATION

Chicago is rapidly becoming a center of fine floral production under increased appreciation of the public for home flower gardens, as well as for carefully selected cut flowers.

"The fact that the Chicago region produces more flowers than any other center in the world," says Laurent Clody, secretary of the Allied Florists of Illinois, "means that it also makes use of more. It is true that many flowers are shipped to great distances. Chicago roses go in midwinter to New Orleans, when roses are in bloom there. No southern roses can equal in quality the famous Chicago blossoms. But the greater part of our production is used at home.

Impetus to Chicagoland's taste for flowers has been given by women's clubs and garden clubs, which, with commercial exhibitors, are again planning for the Chicago Garden and Flower show, March 28 to April 5, at Hotel Sherman, which represents a branch of intensified tillage of soil on land producing crops valued at $22,500 per acre.

Prof. S. W. Hall of the University of Illinois has collected facts about flower production which show the importance of this industry in Illinois. Seldom is flower growing considered as one of the important industries of Chicagoland.

Yet facts demonstrate that America has the largest flower growing industry in the world and five states produce one-half of the flowers grown in this country for sale. These states rank in production as follows: Illinois, Ohio, New York, Pennsylvania, and Massachusetts. And in Illinois the immediate vicinity of Chicago has an outlet of cut flowers valued at wholesale in excess of $16,200,000 annually.

Cut flower exhibits in the flower show are competitive for prizes totaling $10,000. There are 200 competitive classes, of which 65 are limited to private conservatories, and the rest open to all.

The big feature of the Chicago show is the rose competition, in a city famous for its roses. The feature class in this section calls for a display of cut roses covering 200 square feet and containing not less than 500 blossoms of not less than four varieties. Prizes offered are: First, $350; second, $250.

Prof. Hall gives some facts about the large flower growing plants which exist in the Chicago district.

"One mammoth range covers forty acres of ground, of which twenty-five acres are given over wholly to the production of roses," he says. "It is heated by thirty boilers of 250 horsepower each, and more than 1,000 carloads of coal are burned yearly to heat the 110 miles of steam pipes that warm more than 2,000,000 square feet of glass."

Answers to Questions on Home Owning

Preventing Air Leakage.

Dear Mrs. Bargelt: What shall I use between the window and door frames and sills to prevent air leakage and as a precaution against expansion, contraction, and settling caused by temperature and moisture and so on? Y. B.

Answer: Use a caulking compound that contracts and expands as this will do the work satisfactorily.

For Tiled Floor.

Dear Mrs. Bargelt: 1. Can a tiled floor be placed directly on top of an existing bathroom floor? 2. If the old floor is removed should there be a subfloor before the tiles are laid? Mrs. G.

Ans. 1. Yes. 2. If the old floor is removed, a subfloor is built between the joists and the tile work is set upon the new base. A concrete bed is applied and the tiles are then set in a mortar bed.

Waterproof Foundation Either Inside or Outside

In the matter of waterproofing one's foundation walls, waterproofing paints or compounds may be applied either on the outside or the inside. Naturally application on the outside means that one stops the moisture from getting into the foundation and this is always a wise precaution.

MOTORS — TRAFFIC — HIGHWAYS

VARIOUS STATES' LAWS DIFFER ON VISITING AUTOS

Illinois Reciprocates Up to Six Months.

Automobile owners visiting in Illinois must look to the motor vehicle codes of their home states to determine if they are required to buy a 1930 Illinois license, though their cars are wearing 1930 plates of their home states.

Reciprocity governs for nonresidents in Illinois, with a maximum exemption from registration of six months. Illinois offers visitors the use of her highways up to six months free, with the exception of the gasoline tax, providing the home states of the visitors treat Illinois citizens likewise.

Indiana has a reciprocal provision in its motor registration act, but with a limitation of sixty days. Therefore a Hoosier temporarily in Illinois is required to buy an Illinois vehicle license within sixty days after entering the state.

Reciprocity Without Limits.

Sixteen states and the District of Columbia have reciprocity without limitations. These include Iowa and Wisconsin. An Illinois citizen visiting in these states is exempt from their vehicle tax for six months. An Indiana citizen is exempt for sixty days.

Seven states, including Florida, do not collect vehicle taxes from nonresidents regardless of the length of their visits in the peninsula. The Florida automobile owner enjoys this same privilege not only in the six other states with unlimited exemptions, but also in the sixteen states and the District of Columbia where there is unlimited reciprocity.

Eighteen states, including Michigan, have definite limits, ranging from thirty days to six months, that a nonresident can remain within their boundaries without paying a vehicle tax. Michigan's limit is ninety days. The Michigan citizen, therefore, has only ninety days' exemption in the states with unqualified reciprocity. If he had a summer home in Wisconsin and a winter home in South Carolina, he might be compelled to pay vehicle taxes in three states.

A Summary of the Laws.

A summary of the motor registration laws regulating private passenger cars, as prepared by Joseph H. Braun, general counsel of the Chicago Motor club, is as follows:

ALABAMA—Reciprocal.

ARIZONA—Free nonresident's registration certificate, good for six months, must be obtained within ten days after entering state.

ARKANSAS—Free nonresident's registration certificate, good for ninety days, must be obtained after thirty days in state. Dependent on reciprocity.

CALIFORNIA—Free permit for six months must be obtained within ten days of entering state.

COLORADO—Free ninety day permits.

CONNECTICUT—Reciprocal.

DELAWARE—Reciprocal.

DISTRICT OF COLUMBIA—Reciprocal.

FLORIDA—Unlimited privileges to non-residents.

GEORGIA—Thirty days permitted without having to obtain a license.

IDAHO—Reciprocal.

INDIANA—Reciprocal, but for a period not exceeding sixty days.

ILLINOIS—Reciprocal, but for a period not exceeding six months.

IOWA—Reciprocal, with requirement for free permit within ten days after entering state.

KANSAS—Reciprocal.

KENTUCKY—Thirty days of grace.

LOUISIANA—Unlimited privileges.

MAINE—Indefinite exemption.

MARYLAND — Reciprocal, with three months' limitation.

MASSACHUSETTS—Reciprocal.

MICHIGAN—Ninety days' exemption.

MINNESOTA—Free three months' permit must be obtained within ten days after entering state.

MISSISSIPPI—Nonresidents must pay tax after thirty days in state.

MISSOURI—Unlimited exemption.

MONTANA—Ninety days of grace.

NEBRASKA—Reciprocal.

NEVADA—Must register within ten days for free three months' permit.

NEW HAMPSHIRE—Unlimited exemption.

NEW JERSEY—Ninety days of grace, with reciprocity provision.

NEW MEXICO—Six months' exemption.

NEW YORK—Reciprocal.

NORTH CAROLINA—Reciprocal. Nonresidents from states not granting reciprocity must register, obtain licenses, and pay fees within sixty days.

NORTH DAKOTA—Unlimited exemptions.

OHIO—Reciprocal.

OKLAHOMA—Sixty days' exemption.

OREGON—Free three months' permit must be obtained within seventy-two hours after entering state.

PENNSYLVANIA—Reciprocal.

RHODE ISLAND—Reciprocal.

SOUTH CAROLINA—Ninety days' exemption.

SOUTH DAKOTA—Reciprocal.

TENNESSEE—Thirty days' exemption.

TEXAS—After thirty days in state nonresident must pay $1 fee for ninety day permit.

UTAH—Nonresident must pay $1 fee for six months' permit within ten days after entering state.

VERMONT—Reciprocal in the summer months. Must get license in winter.

VIRGINIA—Unlimited exemption.

WASHINGTON—Must register within forty-eight hours for ninety day permit.

WEST VIRGINIA—Reciprocal up to three months' exemption.

WISCONSIN—Reciprocal.

WYOMING—Ninety days' exemption.

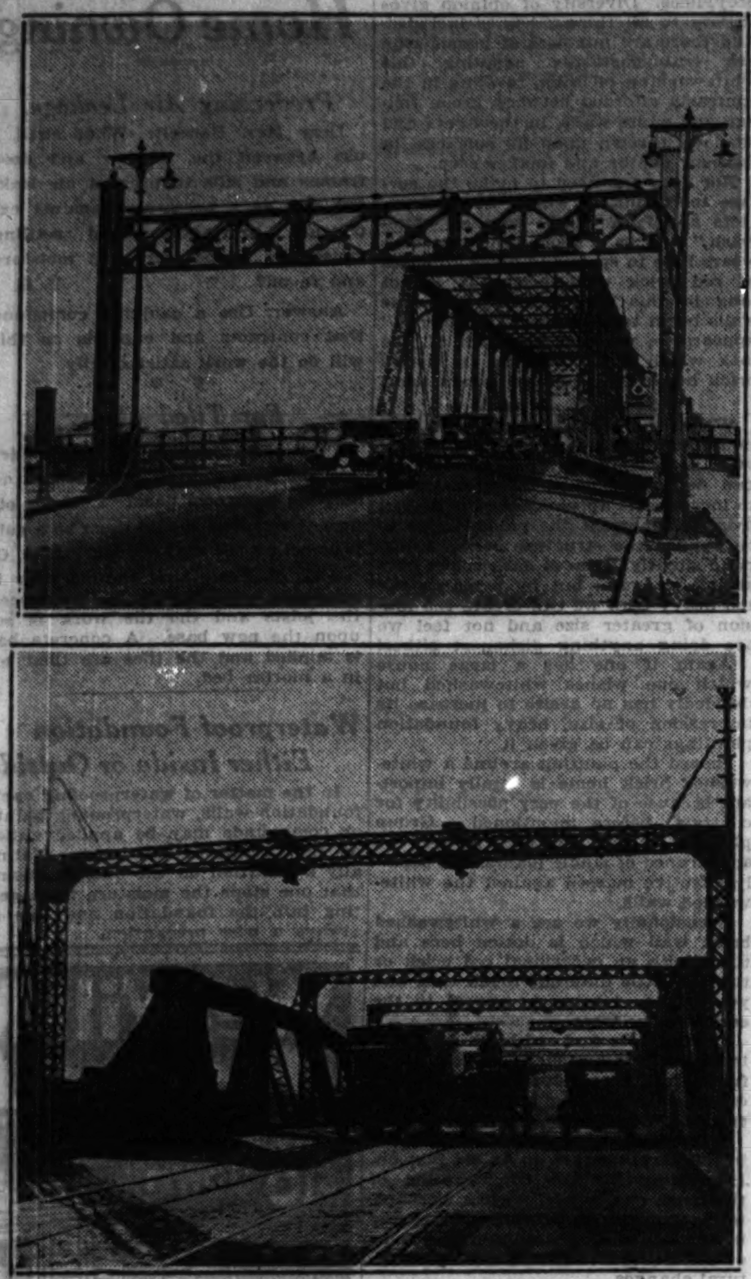
Almost all of the states have more strict laws for collecting taxes from trucks, buses, and taxicabs.

4,000,000 U. S. CARS TO VISIT CANADA IN 1930

Speaking before the annual meeting of the Ontario Motor league, Ernest N. Smith, executive vice president of the American Automobile association, declared that at the present rate of growth the American tourist business would be worth half a billion dollars to Canada in a very few years and predicted that this year's harvest would amount to close to $350,000,000.

"Of this grand total," he said, "expenditures by motor tourists will account for close to $300,000,000. Our affiliated motor clubs in the United States now estimate that 4,000,000 American cars, carrying 12,000,000 people, will cross the international border this year."

TRAFFIC OBSTRUCTIONS



The Chicago river forms a barrier to motorists on the north side because the majority of bridges over the north branch are antiquated or because the approaches to them are in terrible condition. The Diversey avenue bridge, shown above, carries only two lines of traffic, although Diversey avenue itself is capable of four lines. The Chicago avenue bridge, also shown, could accommodate four lines if the approaches made it possible for four lines to reach it.

VOICE OF THE TRAFFIC

FEDERAL ROAD MONEY.

Chicago, Nov. 14.—Reference is made to John Jacobs' letter on "Federal Money" in the Voice of the Traffic. The Engineering News-Record, one of the country's leading engineering magazines, describes the federal highway act, under which the United States bureau of public roads is dispensing federal aid funds, as follows:

"The law has been the direct cause of a reorganization of most of our state highway departments, of the organization of some departments in states where they did not exist, and of the general uplifting of the personnel and technique of the departments in each of the states.

"It has encouraged the construction of through routes, which has a certain significance in carrying out the postal requirements of the construction but a greater significance in making the highway system national rather than local, an obvious necessity in these days of incessant touring from state to state.

"It has helped toward the standardization of construction. It is beginning to be effective in standardizing the marking and signaling systems. It has resulted in research of inestimable value to the road builder, and it has encouraged further research by other agencies. It has made possible a coördination of road building efforts in this country never attempted before.

R. H. HARRISON.

TOURING INFORMATION.

Monticello, Ill., March 12.—Knowing that you are interested in new things that are of real interest to your many readers who own automobiles, I am writing to outline my ideas of what several thousand automobilists who are going to tour the west this season would like very much to know.

Some four years ago my wife and I made an extended trip through the west by automobile and upon our return to our home in Lafayette, Ind., we were besieged by dozens of our friends, acquaintances, and even strangers with every kind of a question imaginable about such a trip.

If so much interest in gathering information about an automobile trip is expressed in this small community, how many of your great family of readers would be delighted to read in your columns a plain, truthful, and accurate story of what, where, how, and to what expense they might find the interesting and enjoyable things of an automobile trip?

No doubt you, as I, have read several published accounts of automobile trips, but in no case have I found any accurate or valuable information that one wishes to know before starting a trip, neither have I been successful in gathering accurate information from an automobile club headquarters which really meant anything for more than a short distance from their home office.

If you believe my idea has merit I will be glad to compile a sample from data gathered upon our trip some four years ago, but it would, however, not be of much value today because roads, hotels, camps, etc., have undergone such radical changes in the last two or three years that it would be necessary to gather first hand information anew.

W. S. CROWE.

AUTO INSURANCE.

Chicago, March 10.—It seems to me that the state of Illinois allows more crooked auto insurance companies to operate than any other state in the Union.

For instance, I have just completed a settlement with a casualty company for damages done to my car a month ago when their insured ran into me. They knew it would cost me more to take the case to court than the damage amounted to and I finally settled, rather than go to the added expense of filing suit.

In addition it was necessary for me to go to the expense of having two other releases, for the parties riding with me at the time of the accident, which called for notarization. In all I had to have the releases executed in order to get half the amount of the damage. On each of the three releases I had to pay a notary fee and each of the other two called for the payment of one dollar and other good and valuable considerations. So far the above insurance company have refused to issue the checks to cover the releases for one dollar and other valuable considerations.

Is there not some way in which a list of reputable insurance companies might be published for the benefit of the public so that more people would not be gypped this way. It does not pay to play square with some of these insurance companies as they skin you every time. In the future if any one crashes into my car I intend to have them arrested then and there so that they will have one of two choices: either pay for the damage on the spot or let it go to court, and I don't believe many of these unreliable insurance companies would let it go that far.

N. M. GRAVES.

CHILDREN IN STREETS.

Chicago, March 13.—Please print in your paper the danger to human life of both children and adults when children play ball or other games in the city streets.

There is absolutely no necessity or excuse for children playing in city streets because we have the finest playgrounds and school yards of any city in the United States and the taxpayers and automobile owners pay extra tax to use the streets for driving and are always in danger of injuring some one as it is without watching for children who use said streets to play on.

We think you will be doing a great help to insert this item in your paper so that people who have children of their own will take due caution to instruct and forbid them to loiter or play ball or any other games in the streets.

MRS. J. B. STOREY.

AGAINST BRICK ROADS.

Chicago, March 14.—You are obligated to the motoring public to protect us against laying any more brick on the highways. TRIBUNE advertisements sold automobiles and you cannot dodge your duty to the buyers.

Illinois, with its concrete roads, has the best highway system in the country. We bought automobiles to ride over these roads. We don't want to bump over brick.

I can't even agree that the state should spend gas tax money to experiment with brick. If the state highway department is curious about brick, let the officials ride around in Chicago for a couple of days.

J. T. ANDERSON.

THANKS TO MR. CLEAVELAND.

Chicago, March 11.—Mr. Cleaveland, the state director of public works, has the right idea about spending gasoline tax money—use every penny to serve traffic, make the villages build their own parking spaces on Main street.

By prohibiting state expenditures for pavements where parking is going to block traffic, Mr. Cleaveland is encouraging towns and villages to reroute through traffic away from business streets. Nothing could be sweeter for the motoring public.

If the small town merchants were only smart enough to realize it, they would thank Mr. Cleaveland for doing them a favor. These merchants get little business from the traveling public. Their customers are local folks. And local folks don't want to trade where there is the hazard and inconvenience of through traffic.

L. C. LANGHORN.

CHAS. KRUTEKOFF IS 110,000.

Chicago, March 14.—Will you kindly answer in your column who is the owner of license number 110,000, Ill. 1930, no city tag? He seems to have a special privilege of a left turn onto the Randolph street bridge while heading south. I was following Mr. 110,000 and was told to go straight ahead while he made a turn.

Also, there is a policeman that hides behind his car on Ellis avenue between the two sides of the Midway handing out tickets for city tags while he still has a 1929 tag, both state and city. Is there no justice?

A. K. BOURNIQUE.

NARROW ANCIENT BRIDGES HAMPER NO. SIDE AUTOS

Add to Congestion Caused by Openings.

BY HAL FOUST.

The Chicago river is a barrier to loop traffic because the bridges continue to open as decades ago when river commerce was more important than vehicular transportation. On the north side, the river is a barrier to intersectional traffic for the additional reason that there is only one modern span south of he most southerly fixed bridge, at Addison street, 3600 north.

The Robey street bridge, completed a little more than a year ago, accommodates four fast moving lanes of automobiles. The thirteen others are antiquated, in need of repairs, narrow, rough, and in most cases burdened with street car tracks.

The first bridge north of Lake street is at Kinzie street. It is a trunnion bascule, built in 1908. It is used principally by trucks bearing freight to and from the railroad yards. The machines are pounded over rough brick and over railroad crossings.

Grand Avenue Viaduct Narrow.

On Grand avenue, automobiles can pass street cars in going over the river, but the trestle over the railroad yards narrows the roadway to the use of the street car tracks only. The bridge was built in 1913.

The Erie street bridge, built in 1910, likewise has four lanes over the river, but with only two of service because the structure narrows to two lanes over the railroad yard. This bridge carries much of the traffic from Augusta boulevard, which is growing in importance as a vehicular artery.

Chicago avenue carries street car tracks over the river on a 1914 span. Automobiles are limited to the use of the tracks because of holes in the brick approaches beside the rails.

This opportunity to double the utility of existing structures through comparatively inexpensive repairs exists quite generally on the north side.

Halsted Bridge 33 Years Old.

The Halsted street bridge, which carries Ogden avenue traffic as well as a street car line, has dangerously rough brick on its approaches. The bridge is thirty-three years old. Its replacement is included in a proposed $5,400,000 bond issue project for a Goose island grade separation that will be on the April ballot.

The Division street span over the river, built in 1904, has room for automobiles to pass street cars, but not all drivers attempt it because of the rough pavement.

The North avenue bridge, dated 1907, likewise carries street cars and has rough approaches between the curbs and the tracks. The same description applies to the Cortland street span of 1902, and it has the additional hazard of a curve on the approach. Bumpy brick also slackens traffic and causes congestion at the Webster street bridge, built in 1916.

The Fullerton avenue bridge, thirty-five years old, is no wider than its street car tracks. Diversey boulevard, important east and west motor route, is limited to two lanes of traffic in crossing the river on an 1896 structure.

Narrower than Streets.

Western avenue, widened to form a north and south thoroughfare, is cramped to two lanes beside the street car tracks over a 1904 bridge. The brick approaches are in fair condition. This cannot be said of the Belmont avenue bridge, built twelve years later.

The width of the bridges generally is less than that of the streets. The spans and their approaches should be wider and with a better surface than the streets they serve. A bridge reduces the pace of traffic, and greater width is needed to accommodate the slower flow of vehicles. This is just as true at passages over the river as at highway intersections where the county has widened the roadway for a hundred yards from the crossings.

NEWS AND VIEWS

After months of experimental work, Chrysler this week introduces the lowest priced six cylinder car in its history, a car that possesses engineering design heretofore associated only with higher priced cars. New, from front to rear bumper, the Chrysler six has a price range of $795 to $845 at the factory, and is now on display in the salesrooms of all Chrysler distributors. Five body styles in attractive color combinations and featuring many refinements in mechanical detail and appearance are offered. Models available include the three window four door sedan, the coupe with rumble seat, business coupe, phaeton and roadster. The appearance of the car is distinctive with full stream line effect.

Gentlemen:

Previous to the purchasing of a Marquette car, I drove a Buick for a little over five years and when I was in the market for a new car this Spring, I heard of the new Buick product and waited to inspect same on the first day they were on display. Immediately the car took my eye and I knew that anything that the Buick people put out would have to stand up.

I have driven it about six thousand miles since June. I made several trips to Atlantic City and can readily say that I am getting splendid mileage and I believe it is one of the easiest-riding cars that I have ever driven.

For the money that is put into it, I do not believe that a person can purchase a better-looking job than this car. Its performance on a hill is wonderful and the getaway in traffic surpasses anything that I have seen yet.

I can recommend this car to anyone.

Very truly yours,
Benj. F. Hare*

U. S. TURNS DOWN CHICAGO'S PORT OF ENTRY PLEA

Local Air Officials Are Still Hopeful.

BY ROBERT WOOD.

Chicago's request to be designated as an airport of entry in order to facilitate air traffic between here and Canadian points has been tentatively turned down by Seymour Lowman, assistant secretary of the treasury and chairman of the interdepartmental committee on airports of entry.

The request that Chicago be made an international airport came from the Chicago Association of Commerce and the American Air Transport association. These organizations pointed out that Chicago's selection is warranted in view of its importance in the commercial interchange of commodities and passengers carried by air and that the present regulations governing traffic between Chicago and Canada provided an obstacle to the natural development of air trade.

Flyers Inconvenienced.

Winsor Williams, manager of the American Air Transport association, in a letter to Mr. Lowman and to Clarence M. Young, assistant secretary of commerce for aeronautics, and Robe Carl White, assistant secretary of labor, pointed out that flyers preparing to leave Canadian points are now delayed and inconvenienced by regulations which require that they must telegraph for permission to land and await approval of the customs collector at Chicago before taking off. The other alternative is to land at Detroit or some other port of entry on the border and clear customs. This eliminates the chief advantage of an airplane—its ability to travel swiftly from one point to another without stopping, Mr. Williams said.

"Speed, convenience and comfort is the airplane's offer to the air traveler, and these three factors are greatly reduced by delays," the communication of the Association of Commerce aviation committee stated. "Inasmuch as Chicago, and not a border city, will be the destination in the majority of cases due to the city's facilities and attractions for the air traveler, such delays should be eliminated by designating Chicago as a port of entry."

"Not Now," Says Lowman.

Mr. Lowman's reply stated that the treasury department confines airports of entry to international borders:

"It is impossible to look after traffic so far in the interior," the letter said. "If international traffic develops at Chicago, of course we will have to take care of it, but until such traffic is established I do not see any point to naming Chicago a port of entry."

The contention of the Chicago aviation interests is that Chicago is the logical destination and point of departure for commercial air traffic between the middle west and points along the Canadian border within easy reach of Chicago by air, but that this traffic cannot develop so long as the present restrictions exist.

Mr. Williams pointed out that the policy of the treasury department to confine international airports to the borders apparently has been suspended in the cases of St. Paul, Albany and Newark, N. J., three inland air centers which have been designated as ports of entry.

Three Inland Ports.

"Albany is 142 miles from Montreal, the nearest point in Canada," he said, "and planes of the Colonial Airways which stop at Albany also stop at Newark, which is 234 miles from the border. There seems to be a duplication there despite the fact that both cities are located inland. St. Paul is 420 miles from Winnipeg, the nearest population center in Canada, and there are many stopping points between. There seems to be as much justification for a port of entry at Chicago as there was for such ports at St. Paul, Albany and Newark. Chicago, whose air traffic is greater than that of any other city in the country, is only 255 miles from Detroit and the Canadian border."

Twenty-two airports have so far been established as international ports of entry for air traffic. These fields serve planes entering and leaving for Canada, Mexico, and Central and South America. Customs officials are stationed at each of these airports and pass on passengers, mail and express arriving by plane from the foreign countries.

The following cities have been designated as temporary and permanent ports of entry for aircraft:

Permanent—Ajo, Ariz.; Albany, N. Y.; Brownsville, Tex.; Buffalo, N. Y.; Detroit, Mich. [Grosse Isle airport]; Key West and Miami, Fla.; Newark, N. J.; San Diego, Cal. [Ryan airport]; San Juan, Porto Rico [Escambron airport]; Seattle, Wash. [Boeing airport and Lake Union seaplane base]; St. Paul, Minn.

Temporary—Akron, O.; Derby, Vt.; Douglas, Ariz.; Port Angeles, Wash.; El Paso, Tex.; Palm Beach, Fla. [seaplane base]; Pembina and Portal, N. D.; Nogales, Ariz.; San Juan, Porto Rico [seaplane base]; San Diego, Cal. [Lindbergh airport]; Laredo, Tex.; Los Angeles, Cal. [two]; Detroit, Mich. [Ford airport].

Boeing to Exhibit New Fighting Plane to U. S.

Pilot Les Tower, test flyer for the Boeing Airplane company at Seattle, Wash., flew a Boeing all-metal pursuit plane through Chicago last week en route from the factory in Seattle to Dayton, O., where it will be demonstrated to the army air corps. This plane is the first of its type to be constructed and successfully flown in the United States. Pilot Tower flew from Seattle to Omaha, a distance of 1,575 miles, in ten hours one minute, elapsed time, Boeing officials reported. This plane is powered with a super-charged Pratt & Whitney Wasp engine. It has a cruising speed of about 170 miles per hour, according to the designers.

FLYING PHYSICIAN

RAILROAD trains are too slow for Dr. Sydney Walker Jr., eye specialist, with offices at 25 East Washington boulevard. When he is called out of the city for consultations with other specialists he uses an airplane and flys it himself. During the last month he has made emergency trips to Rock Island, St. Louis, Milwaukee and other cities within easy reach of Chicago by air.

Dr. Walker learned to fly last fall. After he was granted a private pilot's license by the department of commerce, he purchased an Argo two place open biplane. He regards his plane as indispensable to his work.

"By using the ship, I can make most of my out of town appointments and get back in the same day," he says. "I avoid slow trains and night rides in Pullmans and enjoy a brief and exhilarating flight while I am saving time. I used to ride horses as a means of relaxing after a hard day's work. I have given up riding for flying. There's more kick in it. Now I go to the Municipal airport, take the plane up for an hour's flight above Chicago and find myself greatly refreshed. For business and pleasure I wouldn't be without an airplane."

U. S. HAD NEARLY 10,000 LICENSED PLANES ON JAN. 15

California Leads with 1,237.

A survey made by the Aeronautical Chamber of Commerce last week shows that there were 9,740 licensed and identified planes throughout the United States on Jan. 15. The statistics were compiled by the Washington bureau of the commerce group and made public by Frederick B. Rentschler, president.

Of the total number of planes 6,645 were licensed planes in actual operation. There also are 3,095 identified planes in the country in private use.

California Leads.

For every plane listed there are 2,977 automobiles, the report shows. In addition the report further reveals that there are 1,463 recognized airports and 791 aircraft dealers throughout the country.

California leads the country in the number of licensed and identified aircraft with 1,237 planes. New York is the only other state that claims over 1,000 planes, having a total of 1,160. However, in the matter of licensed aircraft New York leads California with 955, as compared to 875.

Other leaders in the number of planes are: Illinois, 729; Ohio, 571; Missouri, 522; Michigan, 474; Texas, 441; Pennsylvania, 434; Kansas, 432; and Oklahoma, 332. Nevada with only seven licensed and identified planes is at the bottom of the list.

67 Airports in Illinois.

California also leads the country in the number of airports with 154. Texas has the second largest number of airports, 101. Other states in the ten highest are: Pennsylvania, 85; Ohio, 76; Illinois, 67; New York, 56; Oklahoma, 50; Wisconsin, 45; Michigan, 45; Iowa, 45; and Florida, 41.

California further leads the country in the number of aircraft distributors with a total of 66. This is almost double that of any other state, Pennsylvania having the next highest total, 38.

Land biplanes lead all types of aircraft in use in the United States today with 4,349 ships of that type in operation. The report also lists 1,816 land monoplanes and 465 amphibians and seaplanes.

Planes included in the report are only commercial aircraft, no listing of service ships having been made.

Canadian Student Flyers Flew 15,400 Hours in 1929

Members of Canada's 23 light aeroplane clubs flew 15,400 hours during 1929, figures released by the civil aviation branch of the department of national defense show. This flying time is equivalent to 1,232,000 miles, and is nearly twice that flown in 1928. Total membership of the clubs is 5,092. At the end of the year there were 396 solo flyers, while 165 private pilots and 58 commercial pilots had graduated from the student ranks of the clubs.

Air Pilots and Officials Form Own Fraternity

The "Stick and Rudder" society, a fraternity of air pilots and officials, was formed recently at a meeting of flyers in the offices of the Curtiss-Wright flying service, 1338 South Michigan avenue. The fraternity plans to establish chapters at each of 40 Curtiss training bases in the United States. Don. I. Burgett was elected president of the Chicago chapter.

QUESTIONS

Questions relating to aviation are answered in this section by Maj. R. W. Schroeder, famous world war flyer, who formerly held the world's altitude record. Inquiries should be addressed to the Aviation Department, Chicago Tribune, Chicago.

Q.—If the U. S. army consists of the air service, can one learn to fly by enlisting in the regular army? If so, what are the requirements?—R. C. P., Maywood, Ill.

A.—If you enlist, your chances of ever learning to fly are very poor, as there are thousands of applications ahead of you.

Q.—Why is landing hard to learn for a student?—E. L., Chicago.

A.—Landing an airplane is usually taught in four to six hours and is never considered as being hard, though usually more time is required for teaching landings than any other phase of flying, and is therefore said to be hard only for the relative time required. Most student pilots endeavor to bring the airplane in and land it as soon as it is possible instead of bringing it in close to the ground and then endeavor to stay in the air close to the ground. When this is done the airplane will land itself.

Q.—I am interested in taking a complete mechanic's course in aviation. Would you inform me as to the cost of courses? How much time will be required to complete the course? What U. S. department could I write to secure the names of schools they recommend?—R. C. A., Lafayette, Ind.

A.—You can now take a complete practical mechanic's course for $225. About six months are required to take this course and it can be taken during the evening if you so desire. You can take this training in Chicago and I would advise that you write the Chicago Association of Commerce, 10 South La Salle street, or the Better Business bureau, 111 West Washington street, Chicago.

Q.—Who was the better aviator, Guynemer or Richthofen?—J. M., Chicago.

A.—There is no method that I know of measuring the merits of the war time aviators that you mention. During their career they were considered the greatest by their victories in their respective countries. Guynemer was the greatest French ace during his time, while Richthofen was the greatest German ace.

Q.—When making a takeoff with an airplane what would you throttle it to? When taking it up would you travel with the wind or against it to gain altitude?—A. J. J., Chicago.

A.—An airplane should always be taken off heading into the wind and with wide open throttle. The engine or engines are usually throttled when a reasonable height is attained to save them from hard wear.

HUGE MOTORS NEEDED TO OPEN HANGAR'S DOORS

AKRON, O.—So cleverly designed is the mechanism which controls the huge 600 ton doors of the new Goodyear Zeppelin corporation airship factory and dock at the airport here that it costs only about $1 to open either end of the gigantic structure, according to officials.

When the enormous size and weight of each door is taken into consideration, a mere dollar's worth of energy required to open them is almost insignificant, it was pointed out.

Under All Conditions.

This economy of operation is the result of an intricate but substantial arrangement of mechanical and electrical equipment which is capable of exerting sufficient energy to start the doors in motion even though their weight may be increased several tons by snow and ice.

Once in motion, the doors are kept moving slowly and steadily. Such a huge mass in motion is very difficult to control, but a series of brakes automatically controlled cause the doors to slow down and come to a stop as they approach the end of the semicircular railroad track upon which they revolve, even if the operator fails to shut off the power manually.

125 H. P. for Each Door.

One 125 horse power electric motor is required for each of the four doors and is connected to a large "bull wheel" by a series of gears which permit the doors to be moved so slowly that their movement hardly can be detected without close scrutiny.

If it were necessary to operate the doors by man power without the aid of the mechanical system worked out, the services of hundreds of men would be required to insure the opening and closing of a single door with safety.

Change Construction of Plane Which Fell in Bay

MIAMI, Fla.—A change in the construction of the new seaplane Miami Maid is being planned after the crash of a plane of this type here recently in which three lives were lost. The plane was the second plane of its type built by the Miami Aircraft company. It was powered with a Wright Wirlwind motor. The plane fell into Biscayne bay during an experimental hop.

DIESEL POWERED PLANE IN LONG NONSTOP TRIP

DETROIT, Mich.—A record nonstop flight from Detroit to Miami, Fla., was completed recently by Capt. L. M. Woolson, chief aeronautical engineer, and Walter Lees, test pilot of Packard Motor Car company, in a monoplane powered by a Packard-Diesel engine. The flight was made in 10 hours and 15 minutes. The flyers took off at 6:05 a. m. and arrived in Miami at 4:20 p. m.

Capt. Woolson sent the following telegram from Miami:

"Arrived here at 4:20 p. m. after pleasant nonstop flight from Detroit to Miami in what we think is the record breaking time of 10 hours and 15 minutes. We used the first production Diesel engine which recently completed successful army 50 hour test. We made the trip on $8.50 worth of furnace oil."

Cost of fuel for an airplane powered by a gasoline motor would have been at least $32, according to Alvan Macauley, president.

$508,063,439 Spent by U. S. on Aviation in 5 Yrs.

Funds appropriated by the United States government for the support of aviation activities of the army, navy, coast guard, postoffice department, department of commerce, department of agriculture and the national advisory committee for aeronautics have reached a total of $508,063,439 in the last five years, according to a statement of the war department made public by the house committee on appropriations. The amount spent in 1925 was $85,325,867. Last year the figure had mounted to $125,319,510.

This trend to
is a trend to HUDSON

The wide, new interest in 8-cylinder cars is another tribute to Hudson leadership. For it sweeps aside the barrier of high premium on eight-cylinder quality. It establishes in this field a new scale of low ownership costs—in price, in operation and in maintenance. It is ruggedly built for long-lasting reliability.

That is why you find thousands of former "Six" owners enjoying its distinction and brilliant performance with better economy than they ever knew. It is why long-time eight-cylinder buyers are turning in great number to the advantages of Hudson's exclusive new type.

It is why this trend, which you see, toward "Eights", is really the public acclaim of Hudson's Great-8.

This car stands at the pinnacle of Hudson's record of value-giving. Any comparison you choose to make must emphasize that impression. Its advantages of fine appearance, quality and distinction were never so apparent.

Beautiful, luxurious and powerful—no car is faster in get-away—none so smooth and vibrationless in every performance—none more lastingly fine in satisfactory, reliable operation.

Come see, and ride in the most modern and advanced of Eights. From whatever viewpoint you regard car ownership—whether rich appearance, distinguished performance or pride of possession—it questions the wisdom of ever paying more for any car.

UTILITIES SHOW WEAK TREND IN CHICAGO MART

Price List Moves Unevenly; Trading Moderate.

Chicago stocks moved irregularly with a moderate volume of trading in yesterday's week-end session. While there was considerable profit taking, this was readily absorbed, and gains and losses were about balanced.

Among the active issues it was noticeable that what declines occurred were generally confined to fractions, while several issues made gains running to more than two points. Total transactions were 148,400 shares for the two hours.

The public utilities group was inclined to be weak. Middle West Utilities led in activity and sagged a minor fraction. Cities Service and Inland Utilities also declined fractionally. On the other hand, United Gas jumped 4⅝ points in response to reports that 50,000 shares had been bought in the open market by Electric Bond and Share interests in pursuance of plans to consolidate the natural gas industry.

Gains Bare Fraction.

Central Public Service A gained a bare fraction, while Central and Southwest Utilities, North American Power and Light, and Seaboard Utilities were unchanged. On light trading, American Public Service preferred declined 1⅝ and Midland Utilities 6 per cent prior lien dropped 4 points.

In the automotive group Borg-Warner and Cord incurred fractional losses, while Auburn declined 5 points on a few trades. Vice President R. H. Faulkner of the Auburn Automobile company announced that production schedules have been increased to 2,500 cars a month, compared with 1,869 a year ago, that unfilled orders on March 1 were double those on Feb. 1, and that dealers' stocks are low. Noblitt-Sparks lost a point of its recent gain. Allied Motors also was down a point. Houdaille Hershey B gained a minor fraction and Bendix finished unchanged.

In General List.

In the general list the Brown Fence issues gained a point or so, while E. L. Bruce and Kalamazoo Stove jumped 3⅛ and 2⅞ respectively. Allied Products and Libby, McNeill advanced fractionally, but Butler Brothers and Marshall Field were weak. On light trading Sheffield Steel rose 3 points.

The fifty most active stocks traded on the Chicago exchange last week had a market value of $2,969,310,704 at the close of business yesterday, compared with $2,975,685,143 at the close of the previous week, according to a compilation by Swift, Langill & Henke. This represents a decrease of $6,374,439, or .21 per cent. The analysis shows that 31 of these stocks were traded in last year. These stocks had a market value of $667,234,261 yesterday, compared with $530,859,575 on March 16, 1929, an increase of $136,374,686, or 25.68 per cent.

Buy Life Insurance on Weekly Installment Plan

Life insurance worth $7,500,000 is being purchased by workers in one Chicago industry, it is announced by the Western Electric Hawthorne works, under whose plan the payments are deducted weekly from wages. More than 3,400 telephone makers are buying protection much like they might buy a radio or an automobile.

ORDERS INCREASE.

Forward orders for asphalt and paving booked by the General Asphalt company are showing a substantial increase, according to officials of the company.

The Tribune Investors' Guide

Inquiries must bear the signature and address of writer. Answers of public interest will be published; those not of general interest will be mailed if stamped, self-addressed envelope is inclosed. Address letters to Investors' Guide. Answers are based upon information which The Tribune believes correct, but beyond care in securing it The Tribune assumes no responsibility.

Answers to many questions on investments are contained in "Investor's Guide," a recently published booklet, copies of which may be obtained from The Tribune Public Service offices at 1 South Dearborn street, 1101 East 63d street, 4152 West Madison street, or Tribune Tower. The price is ten cents, or, if sent by mail, thirteen cents.

More About Bears.

On Sunday, March 2, we discussed in this column the subject of short selling, expressing the opinion that such operations did not permanently depress prices, for the reason that for every 100 shares sold eventually the short seller must buy in 100 shares to cover his sale.

It was pointed out that short trading is usually indulged in only by professionals and that the amateur speculator is almost always on the long side of the market.

Among the letters received commenting on this article is one from the president of a manufacturing company, whose stock is quoted on the New York curb.

"It is generally known by large speculators," he says, "just how many orders there are in the market for any given stock and unless some one keeps buying orders and stabilizing orders in the market at all times (which requires a very large amount of cash) it is possible for large speculators to raid this stock on the sale of a few thousand shares at a proper time when they know there is not a sufficient amount of buying orders.

"Any stock can be unduly depressed, the weak holders wiped out and the price then bounds back. In the meantime the small investor is entirely wiped out of his holdings. This would be impossible if short selling were eliminated."

We hold no brief for the bears, nor for pools, whether manipulated by bears or bulls. The article on short selling was published merely to throw a little light on a trading operation that is not generally understood.

It would seem, however, that a person who would be in a position to be "wiped out" by the operation outlined in the letter is not a "small investor" but a "small speculator."

Entirely aside from the subject of short selling, it may be pointed out that too few people realize the difference between speculation and investment. To the investor the possible market appreciation of his holdings is a secondary matter. He seeks, primarily, to place his capital in securities that will assure him a steady income without jeopardizing his principal. He isn't a trader, because he selects securities to hold for a comparatively long period.

Bear raids are not particularly dangerous to investors who hold stock outright, unless they become frightened by a sudden slump and sell on the dip.

Finds Feb. Department Store Sales Are 2% Lower

Department store sales for February were two per cent smaller than in February a year ago, according to preliminary reports made to the federal reserve system by 514 stores located in leading cities of all reserve districts.

STILL WAITING FOR BARGAIN DAYS?

SITTING on the sidelines while the parade of American securities marches forward?

Prevented from taking advantage of investment opportunities by the timidity and lack of vision of your advisors?

How could those who profess to be trained in the science of investment practice be so outspokenly bearish following the greatest panic in history, when history shows that anyone who purchases sound stocks in the months immediately following a panic inevitably makes substantial profits.

Those who are most boastful of their prophetic wisdom have been almost continuously bearish while securities have advanced 73 points on the average.

Does it not seem like hypocrisy—this boastfulness from those who had been either openly or covertly bearish for the greater part of the past five years?

Perhaps you would like to see what course McNeel's has been pursuing, what advices it has been giving to its clients, what its recommendations have been during this period and now.

LONDON MARTS BRIGHTEN UP AS CREDIT EASES

General Public Also Takes a Hand.

BY SIDNEY CAVE.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, March 15.—London markets are nearing boom conditions. Investment securities, mainly British government stocks, have experienced an almost unprecedented rise throughout the week, averaging one-quarter of a point to an even point in some cases, which is unusual here in heavy, high class investment stocks.

Big city houses have been helping themselves with both hands all week, and towards the end the general public stepped in to take a hand as evidenced by the volume of bargains in smaller amounts of stock.

The atmosphere of the house shows a decided change, expressions are brighter, and expectations are superseding the pessimism which up to a fortnight ago stalked unabashed and unchallenged round the house.

Reasons for Change.

The reason for this decided change over is due to the very favorable monetary outlook and improving political situation. City circles are becoming less pessimistic concerning Chancellor of the Exchequer Philip Snowden's budget intentions, believing the McKenna duties are likely to remain this year in view of the revenue position, while the opinion is also not so pessimistic concerning the deficit in the national balance sheet for the current year.

The manner in which the chancellor has handled the recent big loan operations and the outstanding success resulting therefrom also are pleasing to financial interests. The fact that cash applications for nearly $350,000,000 of 4½ per cent conversion loan were received in a very short time in a recent offer opened is regarded by the market as remarkable. But his announcement that a further $160,000,000 5½ per cent treasury bonds had been converted also had its effect on Lombard street. The chancellor's operations reduced the total amount of these bonds due for repayment May next to less than $150,000,000.

The reduction of the bank rate also contributed largely to the revival of demand for gilt edged securities, while another cheering influence in British funds is the reduction of the federal reserve rediscount rate.

Rates Still Falling.

Money rates world-wide are still falling, Amsterdam, Berlin, Copenhagen, and Stockholm joining in the movement due in the main to a slackening of commercial activities. The keen demand for money and the limited supply available again led to a decline of discount quotations here, and with little likelihood of an increase in the supply of commercial bills, the prospects are that business of discount houses will be relatively small for some time to come.

A wild fluctuation is occurring in some of the foreign exchanges, making it evident that funds are being moved rather freely from one continental center to another. Belgian exchange remains low, the Swiss exchange is certainly low, and funds are being transferred to Switzerland from other European centers. Sterling has appreciated in New York and is well maintained when measured in French francs.

The cheerfulness of British investment securities is spreading slowly to the better class of European sterling issues, with a number of small gains reported. The outstanding feature is a strong revival of interest in Brazilian government stocks.

PARIS BOURSE RALLIES

BY JAY ALLEN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, March 15.—The favorable impression that followed Premier André Tardieu's announcement of great fiscal reforms contributed this week to another sharp rally of the Paris bourse, which developed with an increasingly firm tendency for greater activity.

The improvement is ascribed in part to the strong technical position of the market and traders were favorably impressed by the vote of ratification of the Young plan by the reichstag and also Premier Tardieu's decision to speed up the work of the chamber's finance commission report for ratification of the Young plan by the French parliament before April 10.

Well informed financial circles consider the strong tone displayed in the bourse this week as a significant sign that the long expected financial reorganization will soon be an accomplished fact and the French market will progressively gain a dominant position in world finance.

Savings Deposits Increase in N. Y. Reserve District

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 15.—During the month of 1930 savings deposits jumped sharply upward to the extent of $41,122,000, reaching a level approximately that of last May at $2,543,000,000. By Feb. 10 the gain had been carried $6,255,000 further, bringing the total to $2,554,721,000, or $3,938,000 higher than the total for May, 1929, the previous high point, when savings in these banks amounted to $2,550,783,000. Had the pace of recent years been maintained during 1929 total deposits of 30 representative banks in the New York federal reserve district would total substantially over $2,660,000,000.

Competition in Metal Field Grows Hotter

BY SCRUTATOR.

There is a competitive battle of the metals in common use in the United States today. Intensive efforts are being made to substitute one for the other, in some cases with considerable success.

The struggle has a large interest for investors. They would like to know whether the present slump in copper production forecasts smaller dividends for copper companies, and whether a comparatively high price can be maintained unless heavy buying develops in a short time.

The most easily understood of the struggles, however, is that being waged by the aluminum concerns and the importers of tin. Undoubtedly aluminum is cutting in on the tin trade now and shows promise of making still greater inroads.

Search Continues.

There are several reasons for this. One is that tin is the most costly of the common base metals. Another is that while the United States is the principal consumer, only one-twentieth of 1 per cent of the country's consumption comes from American sources. The bureau of mines, in view of these circumstances, opines that the search for substitutes has not been abated even by the prevailing tin prices, which are smaller than usual.

The tin can has been one of the outstanding necessities of civilization. Without it white men would have had a tremendous task to live while conquering the tropics. Progress has even been defined as canned salmon. Although tin has not been displaced as a material for plating the sealed containers of food, and is not even threatened seriously, the same is not true of foils and of collapsible tubes such as soaps and tooth paste are often packed in.

Cite Displacement Trend.

Until recently aluminum was not regarded as a good container for soaps, being subject to pitting. The bureau of mines relates that a small addition of sodium silicate to the soap does away with this objection and shaving creams may increasingly be put into aluminum. Even cellulose wrappers for food are displacing tinfoil to some extent. The more rayon displaces silk, the worse it is for the tin mines, as tin salts are used in dyeing and weighting silks and are not required in rayon.

So much for tin. There is a persistent effort to cut down its employment. With aluminum the story is different. Commercially, this metal dates back only to 1890. Now it stands fifth on the list of metals in volume produced and consumed. It has certain valuable qualities that other metals lack. First of these is lightness: its specific gravity is about one-half that of iron. Certain of its alloys have a strength comparable to steel.

Finds New Uses.

Moreover, it has beauty. During 1929 processes were perfected that made it possible to roll large structural shapes from the high strength alloys and it has been remarked that architects have adopted it as a new decorative and utility metal. Several recently constructed buildings have carried from fifty to a hundred tons in the form of cast spandrels or ornamental wall plates. Household furniture and the utilities companies are using large quantities.

About five-sixths of the aluminum consumption is produced from domestic mines. Important deposits of the bauxite ore from which it is taken exist in the south. With the airplane industry looming as a possible large buyer of the metal and with the manufacture in the hands of able and concentrated managements, it is likely that the aluminum industry will grow relatively faster in the near future than some of the older metals.

THE FAIR STORE REPORTS GAIN IN NET INCOME

Moderate gains in sales and profits are shown in the annual report of The Fair, one of Chicago's big department stores. President D. F. Kelly calls attention to the fact that two neighborhood stores required expenditures which will not recur.

Net sales for the fiscal period ended Jan. 31, 1930, were $29,542,584, compared with $28,013,875 in the preceding period. Net income was $1,686,198, equivalent, after preferred dividends, to $3.75 a share on 375,000 common shares, compared with $1,669,224, or $3.70 a share, in the previous period. The balance sheet as of Jan. 31 shows current assets of $7,781,157, current liabilities of $2,077,164, and surplus of $4,153,132.

The Hartman corporation yesterday opened its third store in the Milwaukee district, at West Allis.

EXPLAIN AIMS BEHIND CONTROL OF MO. PACIFIC

Advantages Without Handicaps Is Hope.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 15.—Official confirmation that the Van Sweringen interests had bought heavily into Missouri Pacific threw into relief the fact that these interests now control lines extending practically from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

This situation involves still another complication in an already complicated merger problem. It has a bearing on the fifth trunk line in the east proposed by William H. Williams, chairman of both the Missouri Pacific and the Wabash. It also puts a new aspect on one phase of the interstate commerce commission's consolidation plan.

The Chesapeake and Ohio and Nickel Plate system connect with the Missouri Pacific at St. Louis. The Missouri Pacific reaches the west coast through the Western Pacific, with which it has friendly relations, but which it does not control. The commission allocated the Western Pacific to the Missouri Pacific in its plan.

Recalls Gould's Efforts.

While it is assumed that the Van Sweringens have no intention of actually merging their eastern lines with the Missouri Pacific, the interlocking of control between the western and eastern systems is reminiscent of the efforts of George Gould, made in the early days of the present century, to assemble a transcontinental line. Mr. Gould at one time controlled the Western Pacific, Missouri Pacific, Wabash, Wheeling and Lake Erie, Pittsburgh and West Virginia and Western Maryland. Financial difficulties caused the disintegration of this system.

The reasons which made for the failure of the Gould scheme still apply. Railroad men say there is not sufficient transcontinental traffic to support a railroad running from coast to coast. Moreover, extension of an eastern line west of the Mississippi is a move which every western line would oppose, and they would retaliate by diverting as much traffic as possible from an eastern line thus extended. As it is now, the eastern and western lines exchange traffic at the Mississippi.

No Actual Invasion.

The purpose of the Van Sweringens in buying working control of the Missouri Pacific is therefore to obtain the advantages without the disadvantages of a transcontinental line. Through control of the Missouri Pacific they will be able to insure that all the traffic possible will be delivered by that road to their eastern system. On the other hand, they will not have taken the step of actually invading the west with a transcontinental line.

While in offering $25,000,000 of bonds of the Alleghany corporation through which organization the Van Sweringens obtained the Missouri Pacific holdings, J. P. Morgan & Co. disclosed officially that these holdings had been purchased, the precise amount was not stated. However, it is reported that the Alleghany corporation controls 275,000 shares of Missouri Pacific and a large amount of the $46,392,000 convertible 5½ per cent bonds of the railroad.

The Alleghany corporation is expected to undertake its next new financing through the offering of stock rights to common share holders, it was reported in Wall street today. The corporation was said to be planning to increase its authorized common stock from 7,500,000 to 8,500,000 shares.

Increases Holdings.

Largely through the efforts of Mr. Williams, the Missouri Pacific has been built into a system which, under the commission's plan, would have 18,502 miles of line fully controlled and 387 miles jointly controlled.

It now controls the Gulf Coast lines, which in turn control twenty-three companies in Texas and Louisiana. It has increased its holdings in Texas and Pacific and it holds one-half interest in the Denver and Rio Grande Western. It now seeks the permission of the commission to control the Denver and Salt Lake, which has trackage rights through the Moffat tunnel. All these roads were placed by the commission in its proposed Missouri Pacific system.

The banking aspect of the Missouri Pacific venture of the Van Sweringens is attracting interest. On the basis of mileage as defined by the commission's plan, the Morgan-First National group will have more representation in the railroad field than have Kuhn, Loeb & Co.

OPPOSITION IS UNITING AGAINST WAGE BOOSTS

Will Fight Demands of Iron Workers.

BY THOMAS WREN.

Chicago bankers, builders, architects, and engineers are uniting in their opposition against demands of local building trades for wage increases this spring and early summer.

Back of their opposition is the unanimous opinion that the present economic structure doesn't warrant any further wage boosts. It is expected that the demands of the bridge and structural iron workers for a pay boost from their present $1.62½ an hour rate to $1.75 an hour on June 1 will result in a climax.

Edward Haupt, chairman of the iron workers' joint arbitration board, declares the demand of the iron workers is out of line in view of the unemployment situation throughout the United States and Canada.

Cleveland Situation.

"The true status of the present economic situation was recently recognized by the Cleveland electrical workers when they refused to accept a wage increase, and by the iron workers there, who withdrew their demands in an effort to stimulate building," said Mr. Haupt.

"A year ago the iron workers were given a substantial raise in pay and nothing has happened since then to warrant or justify a wage boost.

"Builders today are endeavoring to stimulate construction and thus relieve unemployment among the building tradesmen. Attempts of the iron workers to procure wage increase will curtail building and add to the unemployment of the mass of artisans."

Oscar W. Rosenthal, head of the Builders' association, believes the structural iron workers will withdraw their demands and aid the general program to stimulate all types of building. He said the employer recognizes the iron worker as a valued employé, but points out the builders and bankers see no justification for increasing the cost of building.

"Wages are extremely high in the building trades," says Mr. Rosenthal, who returned recently from Washington, where he attended meetings with labor for the purpose of establishing a tribunal for adjustment of jurisdictional strife.

Claim Scales Out of Line.

"Many think they are too high and point out the present scales are out of line with all other industry. My opinion is the iron worker will readjust his trend of thought on this and such action will prove entirely to his satisfaction."

George W. Griffiths, Chicago builder of the Merchandise Mart, Chicago temple, the Civic Opera building, the Builders' building, declared labor throughout the country realizes there is no economic justification for increasing building trades pay rates.

Among the Chicago bankers voicing opposition are Eugene Stevens, president of the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust company; Edward E. Brown, vice president of the First National bank of Chicago, and William C. Cook, vice president of the Central Trust Company of Illinois, and Walker G. Laury, president of the National Builders' bank of Chicago.

"Today the volume of construction is light and banking institutions find it difficult to finance it," said Mr. Brown.

CHICAGO BANK STOCKS MOVE INDIFFERENTLY LOWER DURING WEEK

Chicago bank stocks were less active last week, showing a slight downward trend. Continental Illinois Bank and Trust sold down 4 points to 710 low, at which price additional stock was wanted with offerings at 713. Central Trust of Illinois lost 5 points at 411 to 414. National Bank of the Republic held steady, sales ranging between 151 and 153. There were a few reported transactions in Foreman-State National at 800.

First National Bank of Chicago was an exception, advancing 10 points to 745 bid, 749 asked. Northern Trust lost 10 points, being in supply at 900 with little interest on the buying side. Harris Trust and Savings was traded in at 845, off 5. Peoples Trust and Savings was neglected, being quoted at 494 to 498, as was Union Bank of Chicago at 323 to 326.

In the miscellaneous group A. E. Staley common showed the largest advance, being up $20, with last sales at 280. Chicago Rapid Transit scored a 3 point gain at 14 to 14½. Federal Electric common and preferred were again in demand, the common advancing some 6 points to 66 bid with cheapest offerings at 69, while the preferred advanced 5 to 130 bid without attracting sellers. Northwestern Yeast, ex-dividend $3, was in supply at 98, with best bids at 95, off 4 points.

ROADS APPLY FOR PERMITS TO MARKET ISSUES

Washington, D. C., March 15.—(AP)—Permission to issue $45,186,000 of first mortgage bonds was requested today from the interstate commerce commission by the Chicago, St. Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha railroad to be used as security for payment of a note. The Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad applied for permission to issue $4,260,000 in equipment trust certificates to be used in purchasing new equipment.

The Pere Marquette railroad was authorized to issue $14,000,000 of first mortgage 4½ per cent gold bonds to be sold at not less than 94½ per cent of par and accrued interest.

Sees Good Prospect in Foreign Securities Field

A healthy condition in the field of foreign securities is indicated by a review of the foreign dollar bond situation issued by A. G. Becker & Co., investment banking house. Of particular significance are the substantial decline in the volume of new offerings, important prior retirements of outstanding issues, a good record of prompt payment of interest and principal, the increasing ability of Europe to supply its own capital requirements and world wide easy credit conditions.

BY FRED HARVEY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, March 15.—Stocks were irregular today. Most of the active issues fluctuated within a very narrow range.

Further selling came into the general run of leading speculative favorites during the first hour, but enough support for the leaders developed about midmorning to check the decline. For a time it appeared as if the bull element were going to stage a worthwhile rally on which to end the week. Another flood of offerings appeared toward the last, however, and a majority of the final price changes were toward lower levels despite some good looking strong spots.

Byers Moves Ahead.

Among them A. M. Byers and Atlas Powder were outstanding. Byers moved ahead with a display of its old time vigor. Operations in this stock probably were based on the imminent opening of the company's new Ambridge plant for production of wrought iron by its special process. Atlas Powder has been moving up for several days and crossed 100, up 3⅝ points. Other independently strong issues were New York City Traction shares, Bohn Aluminum, Worthington Pump, and Electric Power and Light.

Amusement stocks were generally heavy. Enough buying was in evidence, however, to prevent any very great losses in the group. The motors were irregular, while the oils were mixed. Simms Petroleum registered a new high for the year despite a tendency toward lower levels in other sections of the department, including the Standards.

Food Shares Slip.

Coppers continued on the defense on revival of rumors that producers are at last going to cut prices. Similar rumors have been circulated from time to time for weeks, but the red metal is still quoted at 18 cents a pound and producers are understood to be as determined as ever to keep the price there.

The food shares did a little better than usual. The persistent weakness in the group is becoming a subject of growing discussion in speculative circles. Standard Brands has been weak and under relentless pressure since the publication of its disappointing 1929 results earlier in the week, notwithstanding official reports that its January-February operations have shown satisfactory expansion.

SEVEN CONCERNS TAKE ACTION TO OMIT DIVIDENDS

The National Republic Bancorporation, recently organized by interests connected with the National Bank of the Republic to invest in shares of Chicago banks, yesterday announced an initial dividend of 25 cents, payable April 15 to stockholders of record April 1. It is understood this places the stock on a $1 annual basis. The Indiana Pipe Line company declared its usual quarterly dividend of 25 cents.

Several companies took action to discontinue dividends. The Q. R. S.-De Vry corporation omitted the quarterly dividend of 20 cents. The Automatic Voting Machine corporation deferred action on the 50 cent dividend of the $2 convertible participating stock. Baxter Laundries omitted the dividend of its class A stock. The Amrad corporation omitted the 25 cent quarterly dividend due at this time. The Curtiss Aeroplane and Motor company took no action on its 50 cent quarterly dividend. B. F. Schlesinger & Sons omitted the common stock dividend of 37½ cents due on April 1. Schletter & Zander omitted the 37½ cent quarterly dividend on the common stock.

Stock Exchange Admits Inter. Telephone Rights

New York, March 15.—[Special.]—The New York stock exchange today admitted to trading rights to subscribe to International Telephone and Telegraph corporation common stock, after they had been on the curb exchange for only one day. Trading was active between 1⅛ and 1⅝, closing at the best level after a turnover of 33,750.

UTILITIES AGREE ON LARGE NEW GAS HOLDING CO.

Will Have Assets of $220,000,000.

New York, March 15.—[Special.]—O. R. Seagraves, president of the United Gas company, and E. G. Diefenbach, president of G. E. Barrett & Co., today reached an agreement with the Electric Bond and Share interests for the formation of a new $220,000,000 holding company which will unite Texas and Louisiana natural gas properties with an annual output exceeding 175,000,000,000 cubic feet.

An official announcement of the transaction is expected early next week, together with details of the share exchanges to be effected. It is understood that the Standard Oil Company of New York, P. W. Chapman, and Union Utilities interests are interested to some extent in the plan through contribution of important properties to the merger company.

List Properties.

The properties to be included in the transaction, it is learned reliably, will at the outset consist of the greater part of the United Gas company's system, valued at $110,000,000; the Magnolia Gas company, with assets of $80,000,000; the Louisiana Gas and Fuel company, the Memphis Natural Gas company, and possibly the Northern Texas Utilities company.

Doubt over the inclusion of the latter company rests in whether or not the properties operating in the Amarillo field, in northernmost Texas, are to be included in the merger company. According to certain reports, the Amarillo field will not figure in the present merger, which will involve only central and southern Texas and Louisiana natural gas systems.

Location of Fields.

The new system will depend largely on the Munroe, Richland, and Shreveport fields of Louisiana and the Texas fields lying to the southwest of the Shreveport area, parallel to the gulf coast.

The properties in this territory already are providing natural gas for shipment to St. Louis, to Atlanta, to New Orleans, to Mexico, and to many leading communities in Texas, Oklahoma, Missouri, Arkansas, Tennessee, Mississippi, Alabama, Georgia, and Louisiana.

The new company is expected to obtain control of the Mississippi River Fuel corporation, which is already 47.4 per cent owned by the merger group. The Arkansas Natural Gas Lines, controlled by Cities Service; the Interstate Natural Gas Lines, in which Standard Oil of New Jersey and Columbian Carbon are interested, and Southern Natural Gas Lines, controlled by Tri-Utilities corporation, a G. L. Ohrstrom company, are not involved in the present transaction, it is understood.

How Will Present Low Commodity Prices and Interest Rates Affect Securities?

Every investor seeking the answer should read our coming article by Mr. Thomas Gibson, who for more than a quarter of a century has been one of America's leading economists. Mr. Gibson will show in the March 19th issue of The Financial World the probable effects on business and securities of present low interest rates and commodity prices.

Mr. Gibson's forecasts since 1903 have proved to be exceptionally accurate. We are confident that every investor can profit by this article,—especially as a means for future guidance. WHEAT PRICES CLOSE NEAR TOP ON U. S. BUYING Winnipeg Upturn Helps Local Sentiment.

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Bearish factors in the wheat market continue to have less effect as a price making influence, and while there was fair selling early yesterday, the offerings were absorbed on the breaks, with the government taking May here and at Kansas City.

The finish was well toward the top with prices ⅜c lower to ⅛c higher, with May $1.06⅝@1.06⅞ and July $1.04½@1.04⅝. A sharp upturn in Winnipeg had some effect on local sentiment, with prices there 1⅝@1½c higher, with a much more friendly feeling shown toward the buying side.

Good rains were reported in parts of Texas and Oklahoma and will be highly beneficial for the new winter crop, and the weekly forecast suggested precipitation over the entire belt.

Grains Lower for Week.

All deliveries of grain with the exception of March and May wheat sold at a new low for the season during the week, liquidation being on, and the finish was at net losses of 4¼@5⅝c on wheat, ⅝@4⅛c on corn, 1⅛@1⅝c on oats, and 6⅝@8⅝c on rye as compared with a week ago. Lard lost 50@55c and bellies $1.02@1.10 for the week.

The material reduction in importers' purchases of wheat so far this season has been a distinct surprise to the trade. To a large extent this is regarded as due to a considerable underestimation of the yields of Europe, according to grain men who have returned from abroad. A. L. Russell of New York cabled from Paris that France had an exportable surplus of 15,000,000 to 40,000,000 bu this season, while the previous year it was a liberal importer.

A summary of weather conditions in Europe during the last few months, cabled to the department of agriculture by L. V. Steers, its representative at Berlin, indicates crop conditions are favorable, but according to general opinion high yields per acre are unlikely to follow a winter such as the current one. Precipitation has been below average in Germany, Poland, and parts of the Danube basin.

Corn in Sharp Rally.

There was a noticeable lack of pressure on the corn market except for a brief period early, and with local and commission house buying and short covering prices advanced 1⅝@2⅝c from the inside figures, with the close at net gains of 1⅝@2⅝c, with May 81⅛@81⅜ and July 81⅞@82c. Strength in the cash market with shipping sales of 160,000 bu and a rather general belief that prices were too low as compared with the statistical position were factors in inducing buying. The advance brought in an increase in country offerings with purchases of 36,000 bu to arrive.

Oats were bought on the strength in corn and finished ⅛@⅜c higher, May being 41⅝c and July 41⅜c. Offerings were small, with commission houses fair buyers.

May rye sold at a new low on the crop early due to scattered liquidation, but the selling movement quickly ran its course, and the close was about the top, with net gains of ⅜@1⅛c, with May 59⅝c and July 62⅝c. May rye was about 22c lower than May corn at the last, suggesting that rye could be fed at a profit in place of the latter grain.

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, March 15.—(AP)—The first sale reported by the single selling agency in Cuba in a long while was reported today when a cargo, probably about 25,000 bags, was reported to have been bought by an outport refiner at 3.77c duty paid. Locally, refiners showed no interest at this price and in fact some duty frees from New York only were available at from 3.64 to 3.67c delivered. Raw futures were quiet. The close was net unchanged to 1 point lower in the No. 1 contract with sales of 4,650 tons and net unchanged in the No. 2 with sales of only one lot of 50 tons. Closing prices No. 1 follow:

GILLETTE SALES.

Sales of the new model Gillette razors and blades have exceeded all expectations, Frank J. Fahey, vice president and general manager of the company, states. The Boston plant is producing 80,000 razors and 2,100,000 blades daily.

Chicago Board of Trade Stocks

Allied Mills monopolized trading with 1,450 shares sold at 10@10⅜, the close being at 10⅛, a net loss of ⅜. The only other trade was 100 shares of Mid City at 13⅞, a gain of ⅛.

LARD AT NEW LOWS

General liquidation and stop order selling carried lard prices down to new low levels yesterday on the present break. Absorption by packers and commission houses in the way of covering shorts, brought a good rally. Prices at their lowest were off 30@32½ cents, with the close at net losses of 12½@15c. Liverpool lard was unchanged to 3d lower. Export clearances were 1,053,000 lbs of lard and 156,000 lbs of bacon. Bellies were offered freely at times and closed 25 cents lower on May and 30c lower on July. Prices follow:

BUSINESS PERSONALS

Arrangements were completed yesterday for the sale of a seat on the Chicago stock exchange to James M. Hutton Jr., a partner of the brokerage firm of W. E. Hutton & Co., Cincinnati. This is the twenty-first membership to be sold to brokerage houses outside of Chicago in recent months.

D. M. Curran, operating head of the St. Louis Gas and Coke corporation for seven years, has resigned as its president. Direction of the company's affairs now is in the hands of O. L. Pringle, vice president and general manager, recently of Midland, Pa., where he was an executive of the Crucible Steel company.

Benjamin D. Mosser of Clark, Dodge & Co. and J. Dugald White of J. G. White & Co. have been elected to the board of North Star Insurance company. Herbert R. Hastings, treasurer of the General Alliance Insurance company, has been made a vice president of the North Star company.

Walter C. Brown of George H. Burr & Co. has been added to the board of Russeks Fifth Avenue, Inc.

Looking Backward

To March 16, 1920; 10 Years Ago Today

JOHN WENTWORTH.

One of Chicago's biggest acre sales was closed when the Chicago Title and Trust company purchased for an undisclosed buyer from the estate of John Wentworth 470 acres extending from the drainage canal south a mile and a half to West 55th street, bounded on the east by South Cicero avenue and on the west by Laramie avenue—a half mile wide. It is crossed by Archer avenue. The indicated price was $760,000.

Melville E. Stone has sold his residence on Sheridan road, Glencoe, near the Lake Shore club, to Milton F. Goodman of the Reliance Manufacturing company for an indicated price of $42,500, subject to $12,000. The residence has eight and a half acres around it.

To March 16, 1910; 20 Years Ago Today

WILLIAM D. KERFOOT.

An interesting transaction in the Kingsbury street warehouse and manufacturing district was the sale by Maj. Ernest E. Hatton of British Columbia, through W. D. Kerfoot & Co., to Arthur W. Burnham of the property at the southeast corner of Indiana street and the St. Paul railroad. The plot comprises 37,638 square feet and the consideration was $123,000 of which $58,000 was paid in cash and purchase paper money assumed to the amount of $65,000.

The N. K. Fairbank company has acquired from Arthur B. Burnham the property at the southwest corner of Wentworth avenue and 20th street for $32,500. The property is just south of and across the street from the big soap factory of the Fairbank company and it will be improved with a three or four story structure to provide additional manufacturing facilities.

To March 16, 1900; 30 Years Ago Today

MARY YERKES.

A ninety-nine year lease was closed by Mary Adelaide Yerkes, wife of Charles T. Yerkes, with the North Chicago Street Railway company on the ground in Illinois street, 124 feet east of Wells street, south front, 86x100 feet, at an annual rental of $2,580. The property adjoins the loop power house.

Oliver & Scott, in connection with Edgar M. Snow & Co., have sold for Mrs. Virginia B. Holmes to John M. Kranz the property at 41-45 State street for $170,000. The land has a west frontage of 60 feet in State street, with a depth of 69½ feet, at the northeast corner of Benton place. The improvements consist of a five story building, chiefly occupied by M. Shields for manufacturing purposes. The structure is a part of the old City hotel property on the southwest corner of State and Lake streets, famous in the early days of Chicago.

GOOD SUPPORT TO COTTON

A higher average for cotton prices in all markets was due to lighter selling pressures and higher Liverpool cables, with a net advance of 18 to 20 points and sales of 3,000 bales of spots, also to covering by shorts and a close at nearly the top prices. There were net gains in futures in Chicago of 17 to 25 points and other markets 7 to 15 points. Spots were up 15 points, or 75c a bale, with New York 14.85c, an advance of nearly $5 a bale from the recent low point. New Orleans was 14.65c, Galveston 15.10 and Houston 15c. There were sales in the latter market of 1,165 bales, Galveston 419 bales, and New Orleans 309 bales, and New York 4,400 bales.

Spinners' takings of cotton for the week were 259,000 bales against 269,000 the previous week and 3,222,000 bales last year. There were rains over the western and central belt with mild temperatures. Prices follow:

Top yesterday, 11.25; average, 10.40.

Estimated receipts at Chicago Monday, 16,000 cattle, 43,000 hogs and 17,000 sheep.

Hog prices on both the cash and future markets broke 10@25c on the week-end session and finished unevenly 15@65c below the previous Saturday.

Offerings on the cash trade were meager and some were being held over for Monday in hopes of lighter supplies during the first half of next week. The extreme top dropped to $10.75, lowest since Feb. 6, and compares with $11.60 three weeks ago. The general average declined to $10.00, showing 65c loss in three days.

Volume of trading on the futures market was large for Saturday. Buying centered on March and April heavy grades at $9.60@9.65 near the close, when some of the largest sales of the week were made. One sale of four loads of heavy for this month's delivery was made at $9.60 at the extreme close. Light for April delivery sold at $10.75 and for May at $10.70@10.75. About 1,000 light for March, April or May delivery were being offered at $10.85@11.15 at the finish. During the first two weeks of trading 93 contracts for 6,700 hogs totaling 1,534,500 lbs were sold. There were 25 contracts still open at the close yesterday.

Bargains for Buyers.

In spite of the fact that hog prices were slipping back much of the time last week, producers increased their marketward shipments toward the end of the week and buyers enjoyed several "bargain" sessions. Receipts at some of the leading distributing centers suggested liquidation after light supplies earlier in the week failed to bolster the market. The week's receipts at 11 points at 507,000 compared with 404,000 a year ago.

The general average price at $10.50 stands $1.10 lower than a year ago, but compares with $8.30 two years ago. Loins on the wholesale market were lower at 18@24c and compare with 22@30c a year ago.

The cattle market was unable to stand the slight increase in receipts last week and finished sharply below the high spot a week ago. Bulk of sales were off 50c to $1.00 at the close, but the supply of top kinds was too small to put the market for best grades to a test.

Buyers were in a bearish mood, calling attention to the decline in hog prices and to the slow movement of beef lately. The week's extreme top at $15.50 was paid for a carload of 1,739 lb beeves, while $15.25, the next highest price, obtained yearlings averaging nearly 1,000 lbs lighter. Yearlings averaging 824 lbs the preceding week outsold top heavy by 75c.

Lamb Trade Stronger.

There was a stronger "feeling" in the market for fat lambs last week, which encouraged substantial increases in shipments from Colorado and Nebraska feed lots. A government report that the market supply of the "new crop" of lambs during April, May, and June will be larger than a year ago, and that states which start shipping lambs first have a larger proportion of fat lambs, had little affect on the trade.

The week's general average at $10.60 compares with $10.45 the previous week with $17.05 a year ago and with $15.90 two years ago. Sheep receipts at the seven leading western markets last week at 283,000 were above any corresponding period in recent years and 102,000 above the three year average. The year to date movement is the largest on record and more than a half million above the five year average of corresponding periods.

Receipts for Monday are estimated at 16,000 cattle, 43,000 hogs, and 17,000 sheep, against 17,933 cattle, 59,104 hogs, and 21,427 sheep a week ago and 14,916 cattle, 45,246 hogs, and 5,456 sheep the corresponding day a year ago. Next week's receipts are estimated at 40,000 cattle, 140,000 hogs, and 60,000 sheep, against 43,794 cattle, 147,010 hogs, and 54,160 sheep a year ago.

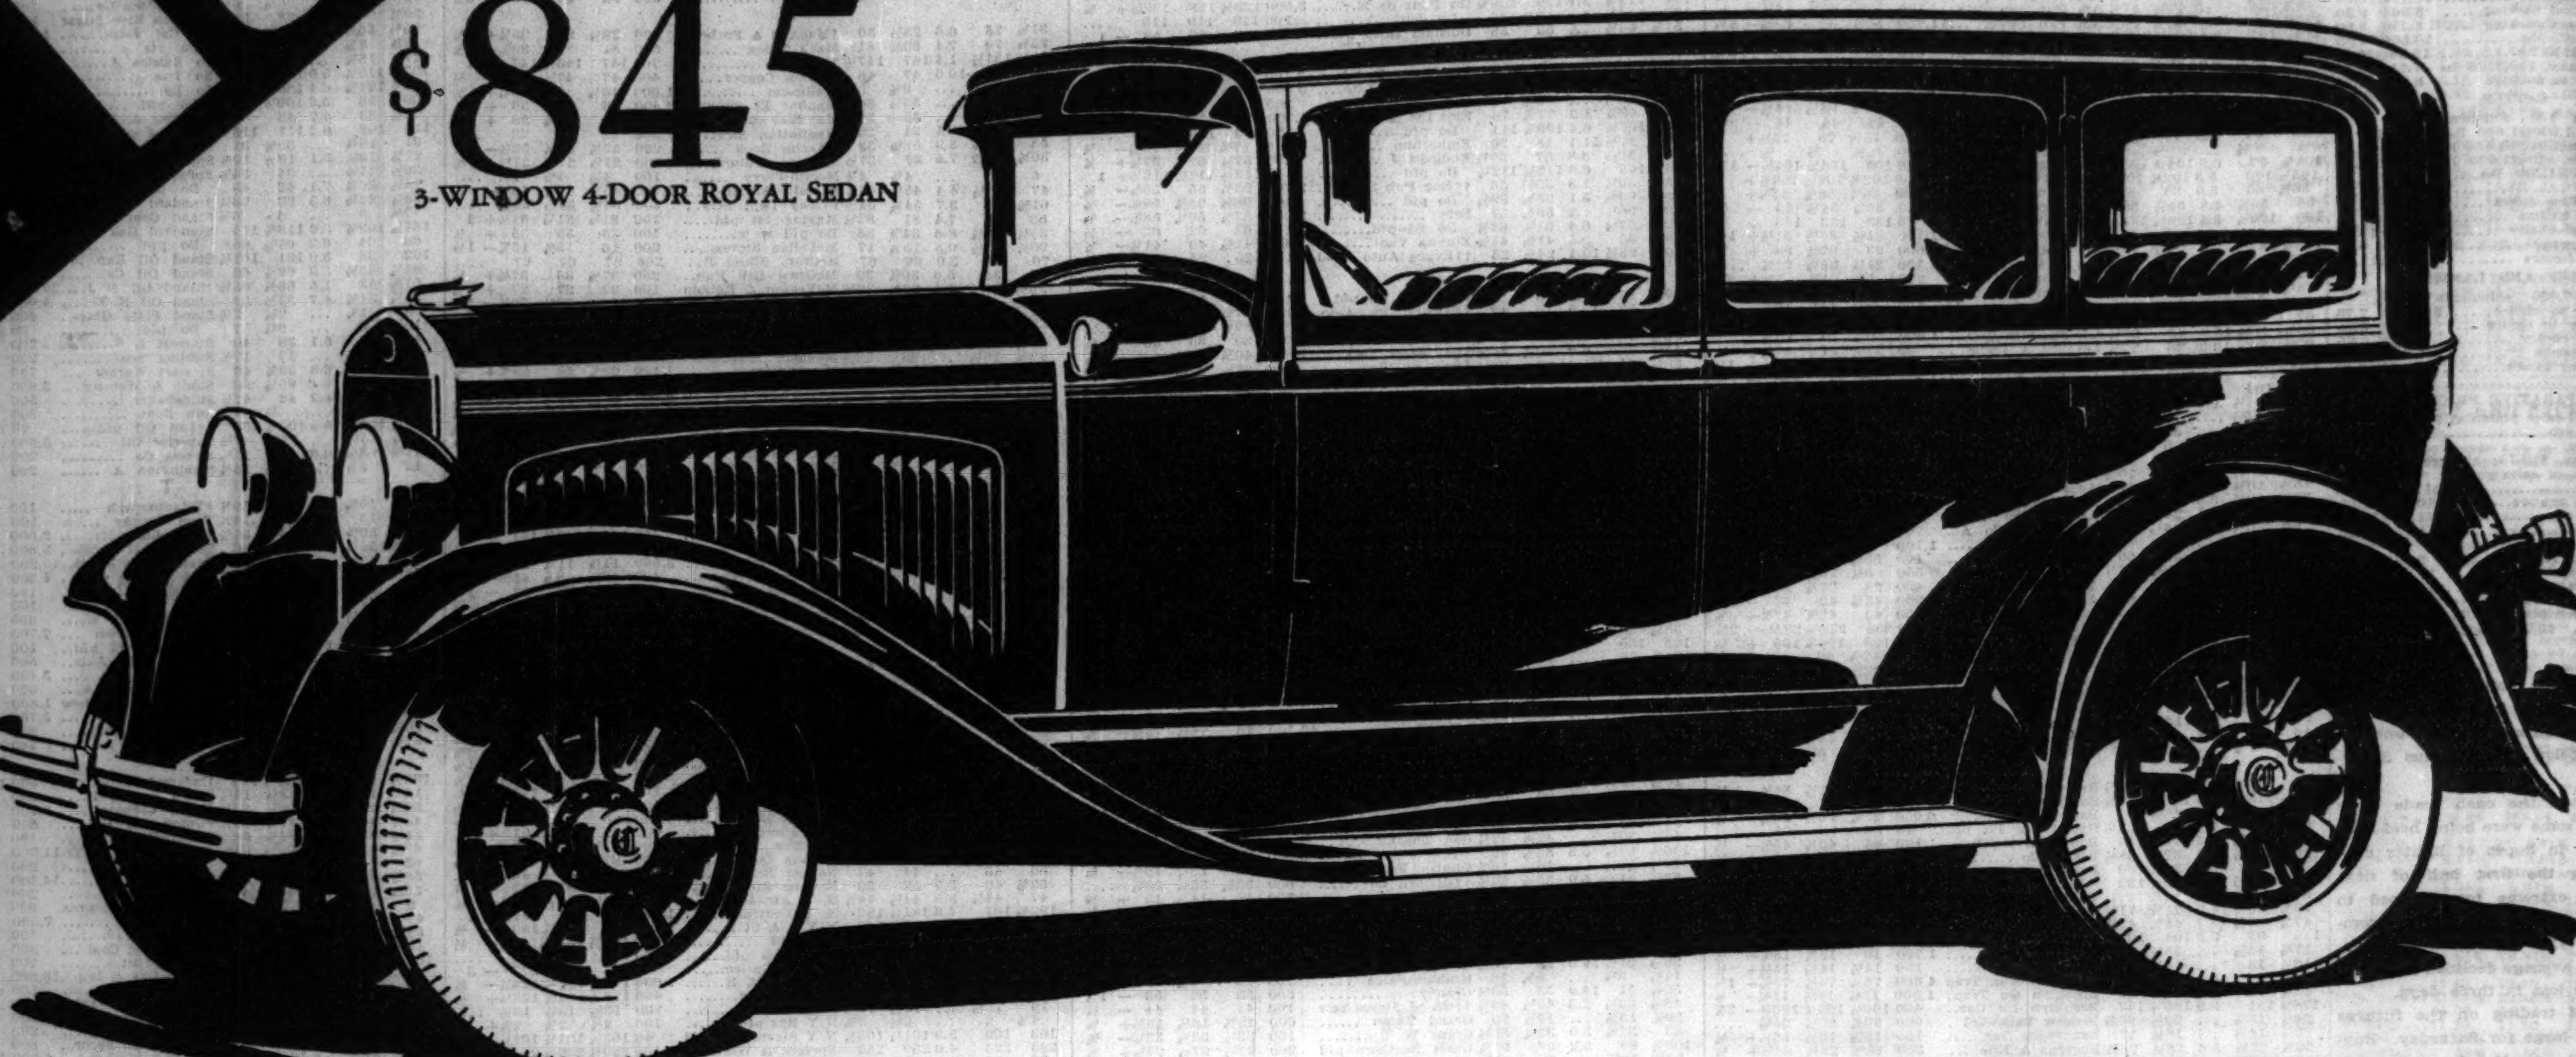
THE NEW CHRYSLER SIX

$845

3-WINDOW 4-DOOR ROYAL SEDAN

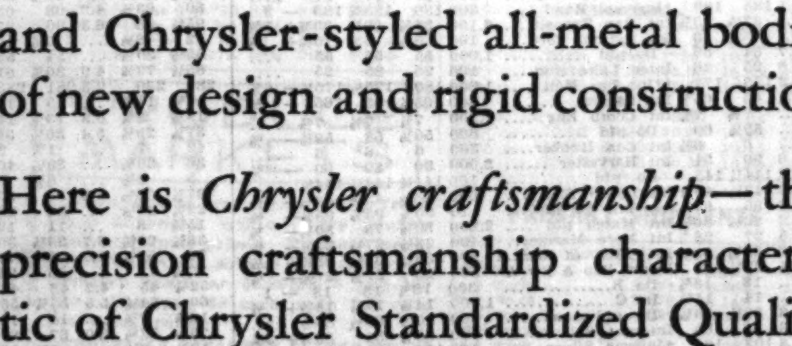


The Lowest-Priced six ever to bear the Chrysler name

Chrysler today introduces a brand-new Chrysler Six—priced from $795 to $845—the lowest-priced six ever to bear the Chrysler name.

Here is Chrysler engineering—with such progressive developments as internal-expanding 4-wheel hydraulic brakes; 62-horsepower high-compression engine mounted on rubber; Iso-therm pistons; fuel pump instead of a vacuum tank; low-swung chassis; special-type spring shackles and hydraulic shock absorbers; small base wheels with large balloon tires; and Chrysler-styled all-metal bodies of new design and rigid construction.

Here is Chrysler craftsmanship—that precision craftsmanship characteristic of Chrysler Standardized Quality.



BUSINESS COUPE

$795

Touring	$835
Royal Coupe	$835
Roadster	$835
Royal Sedan	$845

F.O.B. Detroit (Special Equipment Extra)

Here is Chrysler performance—all of that snap, speed, smoothness and stamina for which Chrysler has been famous ever since its beginning.

Inspection, trial and comparison inevitably lead to the one positive conclusion that by all current measurements of performance, smartness, comfort, safety, economy and quality, the new Chrysler Six takes its place as the greatest six-cylinder value in the world.

We are eager to place a new Chrysler Six at your disposal—today.

CARNIVAL, CHORUS DAY MARK CLUB WOMEN'S WEEK

[TRIBUNE Photos.]

River Forest Woman's club held its annual Chorus day on Tuesday under the direction of the music and drama department, Mrs. B. W. Armstrong chairman. The singing was directed by Mrs. George L. Tenney, with Miss Ruth Broughton the accompanist. Japanese songs were presented by the group in kimonos and parasols above. Standing, left to right: Mrs. J. M. Fitzgerald, Mrs. A. E. Webster, Mrs. M. D. Stinson and Mrs. H. A. Harriss. Seated: Mrs. G. G. Jones, Mrs. W. H. Clough, Mrs. C. M. Wright and Mrs. W. I. Tenney. Above, singers of India. Back row, left to right: Mrs. W. A. Carson, Mrs. W. O. Coleman, Mrs. H. J. Lowe, Mrs. E. R. Carter, Mrs. H. M. Thompson, Mrs. L. D. Wood, Mrs. J. H. Wilkins and Mrs. H. F. Kallenberg. Seated, middle row, left to right: Mrs. W. R. Rittenhouse, Mrs. W. A. Bowman, Mrs. N. R. Wakefield, Mrs. J. W. Scherty, Mrs. C. H. Thorp and Mrs. E. S. Wells. Front row, left to right: Mrs. H. J. Gardiner, Mrs. C. Schiffner, Mrs. E. S. Wells Jr. and Mrs. T. C. Clark.

BAD YEAR FOR THISTLES! IT'S LAWN CONTEST

Garden Clubs Back Tribune Project.

Dandelions, thistles, ragweeds, and milkweeds hardly dare show their heads in a west or northwest side lawn this spring for there are sure to be home owners armed with trowel, spade or hoe ready to perform the executions. According to garden club presidents and improvement association executives, residents are flocking to the support of THE TRIBUNE'S $5,000 lawn contest, convinced that an early start will insure the best greenery and a better chance of winning one of the numerous prizes.

"I congratulate THE TRIBUNE on the lawn contest it is now conducting, and enthusiastically indorse it on behalf of the 92 garden clubs which are members of the Garden Club of Illinois," said Mrs. Frederick Fisher, president of the Garden Club of Illinois. "Lawns are the foundation of all landscaping, and the interest the contest stimulates in them will increase the beauty of thousands of homes and gardens. Many of the entrants in the central states garden and flower show, to be held in the Chicago Stadium from April 9 to 14 under the auspices of the Garden Club of Illinois will illustrate the use of lawns as a leading feature in garden planting. These same people intend to enter THE TRIBUNE contest and are urging others to do likewise."

Plan Radio Talks.

"The response was splendid," remarked Mrs. Charles E. Caldwell, 5535 North Linder avenue, state garden chairman of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs, after she had explained the contest to a group of 150 garden chairmen last Monday morning at the Hotel Sherman. "The various garden circles in the women's clubs intend to concentrate their interest on better lawns, and I know there are going to be many entries. The state federation intends to sponsor some radio talks on lawn making in the near future."

Mrs. Young Enters Lawn.

Mrs. W. O. Young, chairman of gardens in the sixth district of the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs, has given her support by entering her own lawn. Wednesday afternoon she explained the contest to the members of the Austin North End Garden circle, and she will give further details at a meeting next Wednesday at the Garfield park conservatory. "Ever so many people that entered THE TRIBUNE'S garden contests of the last two years have already signed up their lawns," she pointed out.

"It's a splendid idea," remarked Mrs. O. S. Dynes, past president of the Hinsdale Garden club and editor of "Garden Glory," the official bulletin of the Garden Club of Illinois. "Our club has already discussed the competition, and some of our newer home owners, although their plots are small, are showing exceptional interest."

Mrs. Dynes Supports Contest.

Mrs. Dynes is in charge of the regular Saturday afternoon broadcasts for the Chicago garden and flower show given over W-G-N, THE TRIBUNE station. In addition to enlisting the support of her own garden club, she is explaining the contest to the junior group, the Garden Study club of Hinsdale, of which Mrs. Donald McClellan is the president.

OUR TOWN

Paragraphs About Some Folks You Know.

BY FRED PASLEY.

MRS. HENRY JUST fried 750 of her famous doughnuts and baked two hams in the style she had been taught in Virginia, with mint sauce and such, and the brethren of Laurel lodge had a homecoming night they never will forget, advises Ernest D. Hughes. They sang "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here," and, says Ernest, "a lot of the boys almost didn't get home till morning."

Our local showman, William X. Reno Jr. of 2437 North Sawyer avenue, is bringing joy to all the kids—grownups and otherwise—with the prognostication that the pink lemonade and peanut season will open around March 26 at the Coliseum—the Sells-Floto circus being due to arrive then.

MISS BARBARA BYENKA, daughter of Mrs. Leona Byenka of 5354 Patterson avenue, has made an unusual scholastic record during her first semester at college. Miss Byenka is one of six in a class of over 100 freshmen to achieve the honor roll. It is composed of twenty students who hold the highest general average in the entire college. Miss Byenka recently won first place, also, in an essay contest. Chicago's girlhood is something else we can point to with pride.

* *

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. O'Grady of 6541 Oliphant avenue have been entertaining Mr. and Mrs. Edward O'Grady of Iron Mountain, Mich., which, the editor can attest, has as fine and hospitable an Elks club as can be found in this broad land.

* *

John E. Krauspe, the well known Lion and undertaker, is greeting friends again after his sojourn in and around Fort Myers, Fla., where, he says, the fishing is great, the water fine, and the sunshine worth all they chargef or it.

* *

LEO GLASSNER reports that Manny Goldstein is the latest to join the ranks of our fellow townsmen using the fashionable pencil cigar lighters and that Manny expects to have no trouble lighting it as long as his match supply holds out.

J. H. Fuller, the handsome Uneeda Biscuit man, will no longer grace our boulevards and marts of trade, he having followed Horace Greeley's advice and gone west, to settle in Oak Park, where he will continue to break down sales resistance for his company. Mr. Fuller can be seen at 827 Madison street, Oak Park, any time the residents of Bill McKay's town feel they need a biscuit.

WORD has been received from Miss Alice Ryan of 6538 Northwest highway, who left several weeks ago to visit friends in Los Angeles, that the California climate and scenery outdo even the chamber of commerce ads, and that she has obtained a position so she can enjoy them permanently.

OAK PARK FOLK WILL SEE THREE GOODMAN SHOWS

Three performances by the Goodman players will be given in Oak Park during the remainder of March.

Philip Barry's comedy, "Holiday," will be presented next Wednesday afternoon before the women's auxiliary of the Oak Park club in the clubhouse, 721 Ontario street. Luncheon will precede the program.

The players will present "The Rivals" Monday afternoon and evening, March 31, in the auditorium of Oak Park High school. The performance will be a benefit for the senior class gift fund.

Business Men to Form Boys Ball League

The first step in the formation of a boys' baseball league will be undertaken by the Northwest Federation of Improvement Clubs in a meeting to be held on Thursday in the Athletic Park fieldhouse, Addison street and Drake avenue.

The meeting will be under the direction of M. J. Lakofka, president of the East Park View Improvement association, who sponsored the idea at a federation meeting held recently.

Coöperating with Mr. Lakofka is John Klier, president of the Park View association, who will assist him in outlining the working of the league to the assembled boys and their parents. It is planned to charge a nominal fee for membership to the league and issue to each team and every boy a membership card.

Board to Rule on Disputes.

A schedule will be drawn up and baseball diamonds specified for the playing of games. Any disputes which may arise will be settled by the baseball board of the federation.

Boys between the ages of 11 or 12 and 18 years will compose the teams and possibly two leagues divided according to age will be formed.

"We want to have something which will keep the boys interested and happy and yet give them enough freedom to let them think the league is their own," said Mr. Lakofka in explaining the purpose of the plan.

He will report the outcome of his work to the federation in a meeting which will be held shortly after the one held in his own community.

Plan Bus Celebration.

A dinner is being planned by the federation to celebrate its victory in the feeder bus case, won last week.

Gov. Emmerson, Samuel Insull, the members of the Illinois commerce commission, and business and political leaders of the northwest side have been invited.

The place has been tentatively set as the Irving Park Y. M. C. A. and the time will be within the next three weeks, according to John Klier, secretary of the federation.

Bishop McConnell to Speak at River Forest Meeting

Bishop Francis J. McConnell, president of the federal council of churches of Christ in America, will speak tonight before the River Forest Sunday Evening club in the auditorium at Jackson and Quick avenues.

BOYNTON CALLED TO OAK PARK AS SUPPLY PASTOR

Easterner Will Serve Until June.

The Rev. Dr. Nehemiah Boynton has accepted an invitation to fill the pulpit at the First Congregational church of Oak Park through the first Sunday in June. Since the departure of Dr. Albert W. Palmer the beginning of the year to assume the presidency of the Chicago Theological seminary pastors from various parts of the country have preached before the Oak Park congregation. Dr. Boynton has visited Chicago numerous times, but never before has he held a parish in this part of the country.

DR. NEHEMIAH BOYNTON.

Pastor Emeritus Now.

Dr. Boynton entered the ministry in 1882, and after assisting in various churches for six years, the Union church of Boston became his first parish. In 1896 he was called to the First Congregational church in Detroit, Mich., which he left ten years later to become the pastor of the Clinton Avenue Congregational church of Brooklyn, N. Y., of which he is now pastor emeritus.

In 1921 he resigned active charge of this pastorate and became a "pastor at large," delivering sermons before Congregational, Baptist, Methodist, Presbyterian, Unitarian, Universalist, and Episcopal congregations from the Atlantic to the Pacific coasts. He served as moderator of the National Council of Congregational churches during one biennium, the highest office which the Congregational denomination confers upon any of its ministers and laymen.

Chaplain During War.

A graduate of Amherst college, Dr. Boynton received the degree of D.D. from his alma mater in 1897 and that of LL.D. on the fiftieth anniversary of his commencement. Much of his time and efforts have been devoted to international movements, especially in the interests of foreign missions and world peace.

Elmwood Park Acts to Save Juvenile Band

A split in the Elmwood Park Parent-Teacher association as a result of the completion of the new Mills school in that village brought the local juvenile band that was sponsored by the association face to face with extinction.

The village board decided to take up the cause of the young musicians, however, and now, instead of going out of existence, the band faces the prospect of becoming the Municipal band of Elmwood Park.

Village to Support Band.

Besought by villagers to maintain the band as a public charge rather than let so useful a musical organization go out of existence, the board at its last meeting ordered Daniel Webster, village attorney, to draw up an ordinance for a referendum on a small increase in taxes to defray the band's annual expenses.

Since it is too late for the proposition to be put on the April ballot, however, the referendum will probably be held in November, according to Trustee Charles Hoehamer. Meanwhile the board will pass the ordinance and petitions calling for an election will be circulated.

The band of 40 pieces was established two years ago by the Parent-Teacher association and has been directed since by John McCay. The youngsters in uniforms have played at a number of civic affairs under the auspices of the parent-teacher group.

Lose Half of Members.

The association recently lost almost half of its members when a large number of children were transferred to the new Mills school, and the problem of maintaining the band arose.

"I think it is a good idea for the village to take over the band," Mr. Hoehamer said. "The cost will be extremely small—only about a three mill tax—enough to pay for the direction and for new uniforms. The band could be called upon to play at civic functions and patriotic celebrations and would be an asset to the village."

Lutheran Woman's League Sponsors Choral Concert

The Midland College A Cappella choir of Fremont, Neb., will give a concert Thursday evening at Orchestra hall, under the auspices of the Lutheran Woman's league of Chicago and vicinity, for the benefit of the Children's Receiving home at Maywood. Midland's choir is composed

Carnivals, Plays, Parties Lighten Clubs' Calendars

Carnivals, plays, and card parties bring a touch of spring gayety into the more serious business of women's club calendars during the coming week. Members of the Irving Park Woman's club are putting on the annual club carnival this week end. Rehearsals for the comedy "And Billy Disappeared" to be presented next Saturday evening by the members of the Young Ladies' auxiliary of the Congress Park Woman's club are being held every day at the clubhouse. Hundreds of west side women are expected to attend the benefit card party to be given by the West End Catholic Woman's club tomorrow afternoon.

Carnivals in Irving Park.

For three days the carnival spirit will prevail in Irving Park district with headquarters for the event at the Myrtle Masonic temple, 4240 Irving Park boulevard. The Irving Park Woman's club chorus under the direction of Miss Bernice L. Stigman, with Mrs. Charles Mates accompanying, will open the program Thursday afternoon. Miss Lois Johnson wil give a group of readings and the pupils of Miss Cora Louise Runzel will dance. The same numbers will be repeated Friday and Saturday afternoons with the exception of the readings, which will be given by Miss Wilma Kinney. Miss Jane Ployel and Donald Allen will also present a group of piano selections on Saturday afternoon.

A minstrel show in which William T. Reid, Malcolm Dickinson, Miss Jessie Field, Julius Boeckh, Roland Dietze, Henry Du Brule, Miss Pearl Boeckh, Miss Margaret Colwell, Miss Jeanette De Jonge, and Miss Mary Grosch wil take part is the feature of the Thursday evening performance. Specialty dances will be given by Miss Elaine Madsen, Miss Muriel Oster, and the pupils of Miss Vera L. Esheiman and the Irving Park Y. M. C. A. men's chorus is to sing several numbers under the direction of W. R. Evans. Miss Erna Buchholz accompanies the group.

Kitchen Band to Play.

A kitchen band composed of the members of the Evening auxiliary will play Friday evening. Mars L. Kathhan, entertainer, and the pupils of the Celeste Dancing school will be there. Side shows of all descriptions, including a headless wonder, and a chalk talk will serve as added amusement.

The minstrel show, with Miss Dorothy M. Reid accompanying, will be repeated Saturday night. "Manners and Modes," a sketch illustrating costumes from the early 'eighties to the present day, will close the carnival. Taking part in this will be Miss Virginia Bowen, Miss Sarah Hughes, Miss Sarah Yates, Miss Isabel Gibson, Miss Joan Douglas, Miss Ruth McAfee, and Miss Florence Stephens.

Mrs. Flora Fox, Chairman.

Mrs. Flora Mee Mox is general chairman of the carnival, and the members of her committee include Mrs. E. C. Watson, Mrs. John E. Eipper, Mrs. F. H. Proudfoot, Mrs. Fred Weinberg, and Miss Reid. Mrs. Walter Edward Schwind is president of the Irving Park club.

The proceeds from the comedy "And Billy Disappeared," to be presented by the members of the young ladies' auxiliary of the Congress Park Woman's club next Saturday evening in the Community hall, will be divided between the organization and the Community hall board. Thora Gough Allen, president of the club, is directing the performance with the following in the cast: Leo D. Dowd, E. L. Patera, Francis Baldwin, Howard Olson, Charles Hammersmith, Miss Marion Hein, Miss Marie Hammersmith, Miss Helen Gough, Miss Marie Skowbo, Miss Mary Amato, and Miss Wilma Stanyo.

Members of the auxiliary are also making plans for the annual banquet to be held April 18 as a climax to the year's club activities.

Party to Aid Day Nursing.

Mrs. Herman R. Wilson, president of the West End Catholic Woman's club, and Mrs. James V. Touhy, philanthropic chairman, will be hostesses for the card party to be given by the club at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at the Midwest Athletic club, 6 North Hamlin avenue. Proceeds from the affair will go to the day nursery maintained by the organization at 2159 Dekalb street.

The nursery was founded in 1917 by Mrs. Thomas F. McDonald, president of the group at that time, who believed that the West End Catholic club should have a specialized charity of its own. On July 3, 1917, the institution was formally opened as Our Lady of the Holy Rosary Day Nursery at Western avenue and Erie street, and Mrs. Franklin S. Wilson was appointed the first chairman.

Through the efforts of Mrs. McDonald the nursery was taken into the Children's Benefit league in 1918, and in 1919 it was moved to a rented house on Leavitt street. The nursery soon outgrew the quarters there so a two story brick building at 2159 Dekalb street was purchased for it and the name was changed to the West End Catholic Woman's Club Day nursery.

Matron Cares for Children.

From 25 to 40 children whose mothers work are cared for each day, being given a hot luncheon, and light lunches in the morning and afternoon. Those old enough are sent to the neighborhood schools, and medical attention is given when needed. A resident matron is maintained by the club and the child welfare chairman of the organization visits the nursery twice a week. The women who have served in this capacity since Mrs. Wilson include Mrs. William G. Smith, Mrs. Edwin G. Benner, Mrs. John R. Powers, Mrs. Frances McKillip, Mrs. Helen Cummings, Mrs. Thomas McManus, and Mrs. Touhy.

The committee assisting the president with the plans for the card party is composed of Mrs. S. Walter Brundage, Armand J. De St Aubin, Mrs. Edward F. Daly, Mrs. Herbert Nelson, Mrs. M. B. Cummins, Mrs. Frances J. Waindle, Mrs. John J. Flannigan, Mrs. Arthur L. Barry, Mrs. John P. Clancy, Mrs. John F. Binder, Mrs.

CERMAK HALTS HALF DOZEN HOT PRIMARY FIGHTS

Converts Shillalahs Into Plowshares.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

The oil cans had a busy week in west side politics. Anton J. Cermak, serving as a little drop of lubricant, took the squeaks out of the Democratic organization west of the river. He lured a covey of battlers to the hominy trail and, applying the emollients, led them to forsake their fights and follow the nobler but less thrilling political paths of peace.

Mr. Cermak, as successor to the late George Brennan as "boss" of the local Democracy, operated to such effect that in four spots which had the organization nervous the shillalahs were transformed into plowshares. It shows how the committeeman fights are tied into the congressional, legislative, and county ticket battles.

In the Thirty-fourth ward Thomas P. Keane withdrew as a candidate for ward committeeman. His rival was his old pal, Ald. Edward J. Kaindl. The seeds of discord were sown in the caucus over the picking of a county slate. Kaindl, it was said, could have gone on the slate for sheriff or Municipal court bailiff or county commissioner, or whatever he had in his eye. But when the slate came out, although it contained what the headquarters lads regarded as an undue plethora of aldermen running for other jobs, Kaindl's name was among the missing. Ald. Kaindl blamed Committeeman Keane, charging he was snoring when the picking was going on and did not present his name. This Keane denied with emphasis.

Kaindl Gets Field to Himself.

Keane maintained it was a base calumny, insisting he never snored, even at home, and that he had submitted Kaindl's name. Kaindl, however, jumped in to run against Keane for committeeman. At headquarters the friction sounded like dry brakes on a foggy morning. Keane is a jury commissioner and he used to be city collector under the late Mayor William E. Dever, with whom in earlier times he had worked in a tannery. He is also a member of the house at Springfield, and is running for reelection in the Twenty-third district.

The Mr. Kaindl and Mr. Keane feud was going fine when Chairman Cermak approached with his oil can. Mr. Keane pulled out and gave Mr. Kaindl the right of way for the committeemanship, while Mr. Kaindl gave Mr. Keane assurances of support for the legislature. The name of another candidate, Harry Stein, dropped off the ballot Wednesday through an injunction granted by Judge William V. Brothers to restrain the county clerk from printing it—this is the modernist method of withdrawing after the expiration of the withdrawal period. Now Mr. Kaindl has no opponent.

Persuades Igoe's Rival to Quit.

Coincident with this pacifying episode, Mr. Cermak prevailed upon John Delaney, chief of the Cermak statistical staff at the county building, to retire from his campaign in the Sixth congressional district against Congressman James T. Igoe. This battle smoked for two weeks.

Mr. Igoe, who is known as the "stormy petrel" of politics, is a leading modificationist and was one of the impresarios of the hearing on Volsteadism recently at Washington. The Delaney bloc had been spreading word that Igoe had gone in for "high hatting," and some, gifted in the art of mispronunciation, were speaking of the "stormy pretzel" when Mr. Igoe last week sent a blast from Washington which apparently blew Mr. Delaney plumb off the ticket. Igoe called Delaney "a rambler from pillar to post," and laid it down that the talk of "high hatting" was a base canard. Mr. Cermak's oil can at once appeared in the offing, and Mr. Delaney withdrew as a candidate.

In his valedictory Mr. Delaney, however, declared that his short campaign had brought out needs for which the Sixth district has been weeping in vain. He said it had awakened the electorate to the idea that a congressman is most valuable when he is active on questions like the bridge nuisance and the Illinois waterway, affecting his home district, city and state. Cabbaging a phrase from the Gettysburg address, Delaney wound up with: "If this be correct, then my effort to go to congress was not in vain."

Smoothes Way for Sabath.

Likewise, in the Fifth congressional district, the way was made smooth for Congressman A. J. Sabath, author of one of the modificationist resolutions now pending at Washington, by the withdrawal of Benjamin Perlstein, an author and a former auditor for the sanitary district. It leaves Sabath with six other opponents, but Perlstein was regarded at headquarters as the only formidable one. He had the indorsement of the 24th ward organization, of which Moe Rosenberg is head.

In the 19th senatorial district most of the various ward organizations were announced to have got behind Richard V. Graham for state senator. He is a son-in-law of Mr. Cermak. If it goes through as scheduled it means the retirement of Senator John T. Denvir, who for 20 years has sat in the upper house.

These lubricating chapters are held to have smoothed over most of the Democratic anti-organization difficulties on the west side, although there is still a squeak here and there. The 19th senatorial district is left in peaceful shape, with Graham for senator and John E. McSweeney and John O. Hruby as organization candidates for representative. And about half the committeemen in the wards in the 19th senatorial and Sixth congressional district are without contests.

G. O. P. USES OIL AND MATCH

On the Republican side it was different. They threw on the oil, then touched a match. Battles over ward committeemen flamed up like a fire at a filling station. These jobs pay no salary, but in some wards they are producing well-nigh the din and uproar of a mayoral contest. It's a struggle over control of the party organization and the ward fights ramify into the county, congressional, and legislative scrambles.

Perhaps the most lurid of the Republican committee controversies is raging in the Thirtieth ward between James J. Cullen, a west park commissioner, and Edward F. Moore, deputy commissioner of public works at the city hall. Cullen is a member of the Deneen group. He boasts he "wears no man's collar." Two years ago he walked out of a Deneen caucus that was not going to suit him, after inviting the meeting to go to a far warmer clime. In the last mayoral fight he held a meeting for the late Mayor William E. Dever, and introduced Dever on a platform that was banked with Cullen organization captains and precinct workers. Cullen's campaign for committeeman is filled with echoes of the fight he made against the Thompson-Galpin-Crowe machine in 1928.

1928 Battle Renewed.

In the primaries two years ago Moore and Cullen fought over the ward committeemanship, and Moore won, almost two to one. This time things are changed. Moore was nominated for sanitary trustee on the Thompson-Crowe ticket two years ago and in the November election was beaten by Ross A. Woodhull, Democrat, by a quarter million plurality.

Cullen, meanwhile, worked as an "original Emmerson man" on the west side, and the Thirtieth ward rolled up a plurality of almost 5,000 for Emmerson in the 1928 primaries against Len Small, who had the city hall backing in the Thompson-Small combine. Gov. Emmerson appointed Cullen as west park commissioner and Cullen s regarded as one of the administration big shots on the west side. His club is getting out a paper as an adjunct of the fight over ward committeeman. It says:

"Cullen stands in 1930 where he stood in the 1928 primary and the mayoral primary of 1927: Against the Thompson-Galpin-Snow city hall gang."

Attacks Moore as Pay Roller.

Deputy Commissioner Moore is rallying all his forces, and the struggle is intense. Cullen is shouting that a committeeman should be a party spokesman instead of a pay roller. He is sending out leaflets giving a definition of the job. It says:

"A committeeman should be a man of good character and record, public and private; with broad experience in party politics, and a wide acquaintance in the political affairs of his ward. He must be entirely independent of factional politics so far as his source of livelihood is concerned—not a pay roller chained to the chariot wheel of the downtown spoils machine for which he is ward boss. He must be a leader, not merely a noncommissioned officer in an army of spoilsmen such as the Thompson-Galpin-Snow faction of the Republican party."

It has worked into what they call a "battle royal," and, due to the prominence of Mr. Moore at the hall, the remnants of the old machine are concentrating their interest upon this ward.

In the twenty-two west side wards there are some eighteen fights of more or less intensity. One great battle is in the Twentieth, where Morris Eller, city sealer, is this time opposed by August G. Damore, a Deneen man, who served two years on the U. S. flagship New Mexico during the war. There are six other candidates and the ward is sizzling. Two years ago the primary fight in this ward was punctuated by the murder of Octavius Granady, a colored candidate for committeeman.

HOT FIGHT ON MICHAELSON

The "leaky trunk" episode in Florida which brought Congressman M. A. Michaelson into the headlines last year is the overshadowing subject in the Seventh district campaign. A list of the choice spirits and cordials to which the broken bottle of Scotch in the luggage led the government agents is being displayed by one of the candidates as exhibit A in campaign documents.

Eight are running against Michaelson for the Republican nomination in the April 8 primaries. Michaelson's managers pin their hopes to a divided opposition, while others are seeking to determine who is the strongest candidate against Michaelson with a view of concentrating upon him.

Three candidates are actively running on a modification issue. James C. Moreland has been making a post card poll of the district to find how the voters stand on Volsteadism. Results announced to date show sentiment being registered strongly against prohibition.

George Roudanez has armed himself with the records of the leaky trunk trial at Key West a year ago, when Michaelson was found not guilty of importing and possessing liquor from Havana after the jury had been out four hours, and the congressman's brother-in-law, Walter Gramm, described by the federal lawyers as "the fall guy," stepped up and claimed ownership of the trunk.

"This congressman who voted for all the dry acts introduced in congress since he became a member," says Roudanez," was indiscreet to let his trunk leak liquor of the most potent quality known since the distillery was invented."

Roudanez is displaying to his audiences a chart containing the following list of what was found in the trunk as given by the court records:

6 quarts of John Haig.
2 quarts creme de menthe.
1 quart Aquavit.
1 quart creme de cocoa Charae.
1 quart cherry brandy.
10 gallon keg of rum.
1 broken bottle.

Backed By Deneen Lieutenant.

Roudanez is supported by John J. McKeone, Deneen candidate for committeeman in the 40th ward, by Representative Edwin B. Bederman of the 25th district, and by Ald. Joseph C. Ross [40th]. They declare that the Deneen organizations in the wards in the Seventh district will indorse him within a few days.

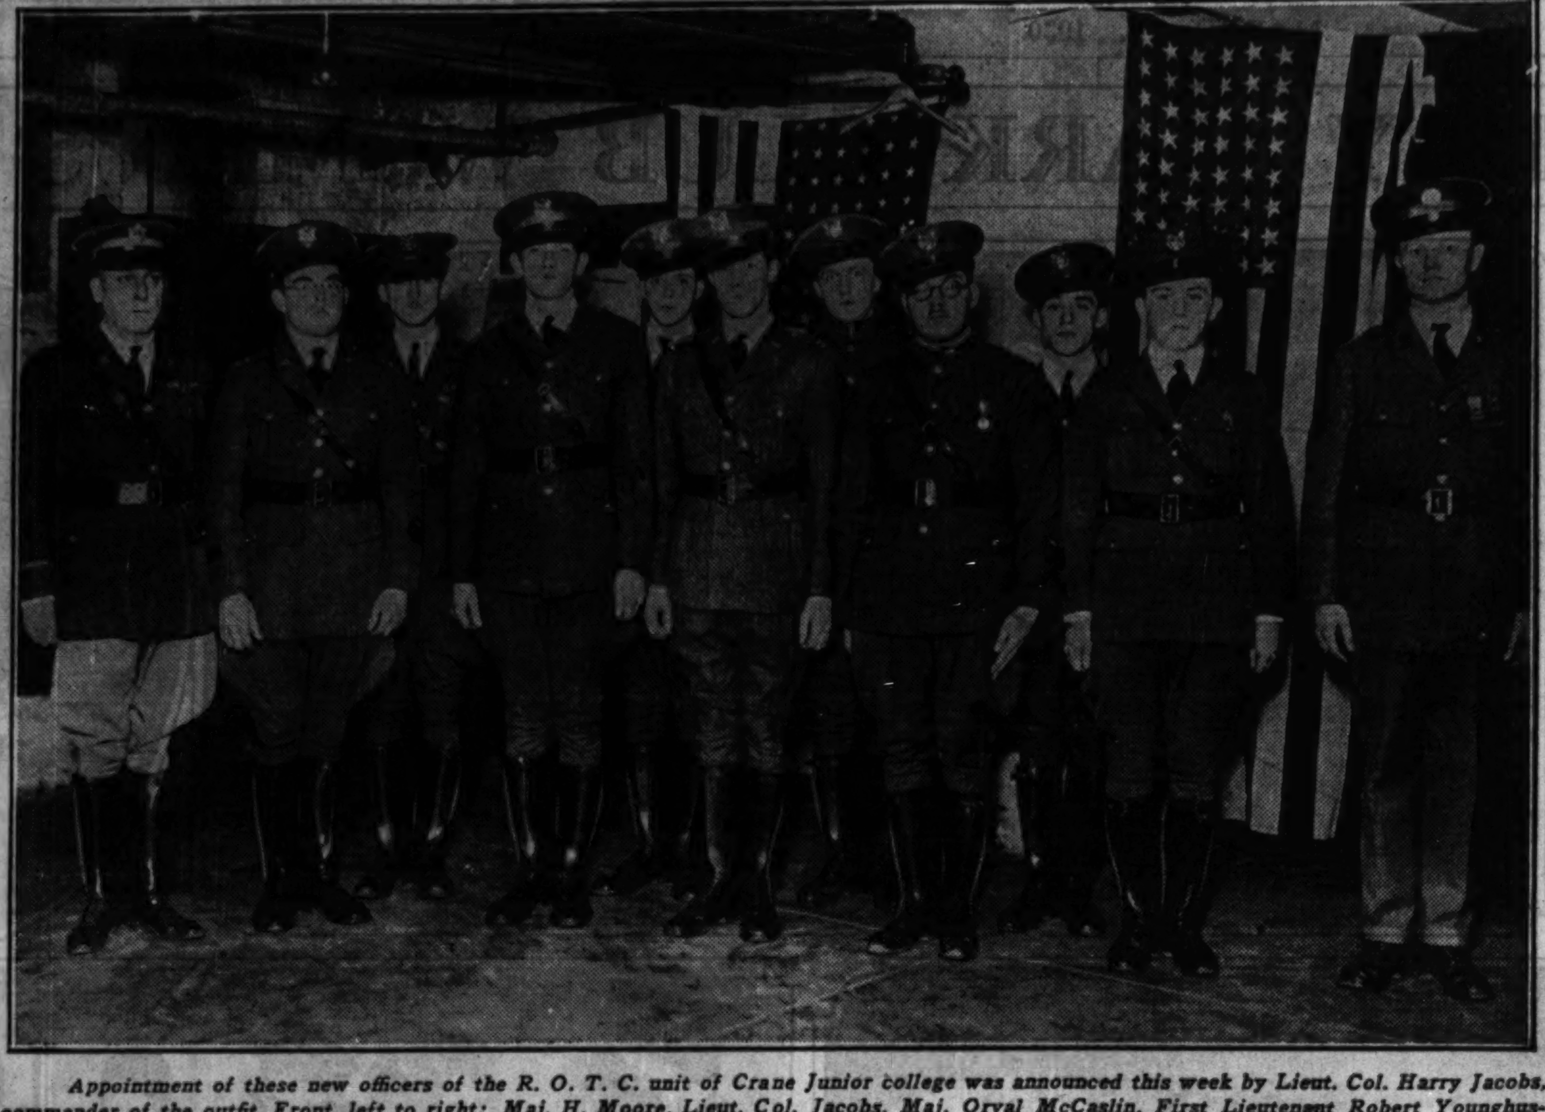
Fred W. Lee, who has lived in the district forty years and is commissioner of the Albany Park district, is running "for modification and true temperance."

"Vote the way you would drink. I am opposed to the present prohibition law," is the slogan on Lee's campaign cards.

"I am for modification absolutely without any reservations," he says. "I am positive that according to all the various tests, the Seventh district is overwhelmingly against prohibition."

Meanwhile voters in the district are pondering over which candidate is likely to develop most strength against Michaelson.

NEW OFFICERS NAMED FOR CRANE COLLEGE R. O. T. C. UNIT



Appointment of these new officers of the R. O. T. C. unit of Crane Junior college was announced this week by Lieut. Col. Harry Jacobs, commander of the outfit. Front, left to right: Maj. H. Political Notes

The 30th Ward Jewish National Republican club, was recently formed for the furtherance of the candidacy of James J. Cullen, Deneen entry for committeman. The club, headed by Jerome A. Fischer, also indorses William C. Neisen, Deneen candidate for state senator from the 21st district.

Jeremiah P. Leahy and Joseph H. Dunne have the 27th ward aldermanic fight all to themselves. They are contesting for the vacancy caused by the death of H. C. Van Norman.

Friends of Charles Vavrik, Snow-City hall candidate for reëlection as Republican committeeman in the 23rd ward, failed last week to obtain an injunction against the candidacy of Charles Vavroch, independent. A committee of women headed the injunction seekers, charging that Vavroch had been put into the race by William Lass, Deneen candidate, to confuse voters with the similarity of names. The injunction was sought on the ground that Vavroch had not previously been registered in the ward and that he has voted Democratic. This the Lass fraction denied. Other candidates are Ladimir Prucha. James F. Klecha, and William Schreiber.

Indorsed by twenty organizations, Mrs. Retta K. Martin, candidate for the Democratic nomination for treasurer of Du Page county, is running on her record, which includes two years as treasurer, filling a vacancy caused by the death of George Fix. Since 1918, she has been chief deputy treasurer, with the exception of the two years she filled the vacancy. Her opponent, Lawrence Hattendorf, is sheriff. Both candidates live in Wheaton.

Edward Goetz, Deneen candidate for reëlection as 7th district central committeeman, states that he expects to win by a larger majority than the 14,000 recorded for him two years ago. Other candidates are Victor J. Losby, William Ganschow, Alvin F. Hansen, and Patrick S. Fallon.

J. L. Lisack, Democratic candidate for judge of the Municipal court, has been indorsed by a number of community civic organizations on the northwest side. Lisack, now in private law practice, is a former attorney for the sanitary district.

Increased aid for disabled war veterans will be sought by George Roudanez, Republican candidate for Congress from the 7th district, if he is elected, he declared at a recent meeting of the 9th district of the American Legion.

Louis F. Masson, village clerk of Schiller Park, will seek reëlection April 8 as the head of a ticket which includes candidates for the village board, Herman Werth and W. F. C. Mueller, incumbents, and G. J. Guillard.

Mrs. Ann Spearing is the first woman candidate to file for a village office in River Grove. She heads the Peoples' Progressive ticket, which includes candidates for trustee, Dan Gillen, Glen Mauzy, and Matt Hess; and candidate for police magistrate, Frank L. Brown.

Ernest L. Lynn, candidate for village clerk of Elmwood Park, heads the list of those indorsed by the newly formed Village party in that suburb. Candidates for village trustee who have the support of the party are Vincent S. Dradi, Frank Chapp, Joseph W. Rowe, and Albert W. Jacobs.

Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, congressman-at-large and Republican candidate for United States senator, will speak at a meeting to be held in the auditorium of the Portage Park school, 5330 Berteau avenue, at 8 o'clock tomorow evening. Mrs. McCormick's address is expected to embrace a discussion of Chicago and Cook county politics and of her opposition to the entrance of the United States into the permanent court of international justice of the league of nations.

Mayor Byron C. Thorpe of Berwyn is running on a business man's platform for Republican nomination for state treasurer. He states that his legal and banking experience with several neighborhood and downtown banks have especialy fitted him for the office.

Andrew E. [Andy] Borg, chief of police of Broadview, is among the sixteen candidates for the Republican nomination for state representative in the Seventh district, which forms a crescent around Chicago. He is a veteran of the Spanish-American war and for twenty years has been a policeman. One of his planks is: "Prevent all efforts to increase state and local taxes."

REID LINKED TO THOMPSONISM IN FIGHT FOR HOUSE

Orwall Opens Drive in 11th District.

Thompsonism is being raised as an issue by S. L. Orwall as a candidate for the Republican nomination for congress against Congressman Frank R. Reid of Aurora, in the Eleventh district.

"Mr. Reid's affiliation with the William Hale Thompson faction in Chicago and his record as a $100 a day pay roller for legal services said to have been rendered the city of Chicago will once more be a major issue," declared Mr. Orwall in opening his campaign.

Backed by Du Page G. O. P.

Orwall, who is "mayor" of Winfield, near Wheaton, begins his fight with the backing of the Republican organization in Du Page county, which was headed for years by Charles W. Hadley, now chairman of the state commerce commission. Political leaders of 17 Du Page county communities attended an introductory dinner last week at the Medinah Country club at which Orwall's campaign was launched. Chauncey Reed, state's attorney of Du Page county and successor to Mr. Hadley as active head of the anti-Small Republican forces, presided.

In Kane county the Orwall forces look for backing from the followers of Ira C. Copley, who was defeated by Congressman Reid in 1922 after serving 12 years in congress.

Besides Reid and Orwall, two other candidates have filed, Earle R. Kelley, mayor of Elgin, and Raymond F. Bick of Westmount.

Has Taken No Position.

Orwall himself has taken no position in regard to prohibition other than to commit himself to carrying out the expressed will of the people of his district should a referendum on the subject of prohibition enforcement be ordered by congress during the next two years.

Orwall, who is president of the Greater Du Page County association, a member of the Illinois Municipal league, and a world war veteran, is thirty-five years old.

The list of speakers declaring for the Orwall candidacy, as opposed to renomination of Congressman Reid, at the Medinah Country club, is as follows: Dr. William V. Hopf, Wheaton; Nick Leis, chairman of county board of supervisors, Cloverdale; Allan A. Myers, mayor of Glen Ellyn; James Cronin, alderman and committeeman, Elmhurst; Frank Ayres, county supervisor, Hinsdale; George Runge, mayor of Bensenville; William R. Friedrich, Naperville; Harry A. Baker, former mayor of Villa Park; Harry Derrick, Winfield; Carl Bue, city attorney of Downers Grove; William A. Kroeger, Bloomingdale; Claude Peterson, mayor of Roselle; Ed Deicke, county supervisor, Lombard; A. W. Fischer, West Chicago; Claude Watson, city clerk of Aurora; Carl Ohrwall, Hugh H. Bolton, city commissioner of water department, Joliet.

ST. ODILO TENOR

ANTHONY J. KOPECKY.

Anthony J. Kopecky, Notre Dame tenor, will present a group of songs at an entertainment sponsored by the St. Odilo players tonight and tomorrow night at the parish auditorium, 23d street and Clarence avenue, Berwyn. Barry Conners' comedy, "The Patsy" will be given by a group of the players, including Miss Berenice Halpin, Mrs. Marie Roth, Louis J. Mueller and Miss Florence Ryan Sima.

DU PAGE LEAGUE SENDS QUIZ TO ALL CANDIDATES

To recommend more effectively the nomination and election of suitable candidates to public office in Du Page county and in the political subdivisions of which it is a part, the Du Page Citizens' league has mailed questionnaires to all of the persons whose names will appear on the ballot at the April primaries.

The information contained in these replies will be supplemented by personal interviews with the candidates.

Qualification for membership in the league is limited to sympathy with the organization's purpose which is that of becoming a force for good government, and the discouragement of its use for selfish purposes. No effort has been made by the league to build up a large membership.

A committee of 15 members, representing various communities in Du Page county, is in charge of the distribution of questionnaires and private interviews which precede the recommendation of candidates. The membership is as follows: Raymond Sischer, Wheaton, president of the league; D. L. Kellogg, Downers Grove, first vice president; Leon Switzer, Elmhurst, second vice president; Mrs. Marjorie Dixon, Glen Ellyn, third vice president; Mrs. Mildred Linden, Villa Park, secretary and treasurer; G. W. Sweeney, Downers Grove; A. L. Dawson, Hinsdale; Mrs. Joseph McKenzie, Itasca; W. S. Weller, Elmhurst; A. H. Bridelman, Naperville; Mrs. F. V. Holmes, West Chicago; William Culver, Wheaton; Miss Hattie Glos, Wayne; E. L. Meservey, Westmont; and William Saurman, Roselle.

ADVANCEMENTS IN R. O. T. C. UNITS ARE ANNOUNCED

Outline Work of Spring Semester.

Appointments and advancements in the Crane college regiment and the Austin High school regiment of the Chicago R. O. T. C. junior unit have been by Lieut. Col. Harry Jacobs and Capt. William Jenks, respectively.

Lieut. Col. Jacobs chose his staff, company commanders, and members of the military court to carry out the program of the group during the spring semester. Maj. Richard Corris was appointed regimental adjutant and Maj. Oscar Meller and Maj. Elmer Vysa will perform the duties of assistant regimental commanders. Capt. Lewis Kaplan was named supply officer, with First Lieutenant Clifford Axelson as his assistant. Maj. Orval McCaslin is the new business manager; Capt. Richard Modjeska and First Lieutenant Harry Grube are color sergeants. First Lieutenant Edward Krug is the publicity officer.

Three Companies at Crane.

Three companies have been organized in the Crane unit this semester. Maj. McCaslin, in addition to serving as business manager, will command Company A, Maj. Harry Raptis is commander of Company B, and Maj. Wesley Hanner will direct the activities of the third company.

Five regiments of the National Guard are represented in the Crane college R. O. T. C. unit. Maj. Erwin Fligelman is a sergeant in the 124th field artillery, Maj. Harry Lawrence is a member of the 108th observation squadron, Lieut. Col. Harry Jacobs is a sergeant in the 132d infantry, Capt. John Konstontalos is enrolled in the 122d field artillery, and First Lieutenant George Chapman is a member of the 56th brigade headquarters.

Military Court Is Feature.

Another feature of the unit this semester is a military court which decides all problems concerning legal matters in military procedure. This judicial body includes Maj. John Hanner, Capt. Robert Cunningham, Capt. Earl Anderson, Maj. James Sauer, Maj. Oscar Meller, Maj. John Labow, and Maj. William Nielson.

In the Austin regiment Capt. Thomas Brown and Capt. Eugene Talbot became majors on the staff. Capt. Russell Pritchard and First Lieutenant Alvin Pieritz were promoted to the positions of captain adjutant and captain S. O., respectively.

Advanced to Captains.

First Lieutenants Harold Aronson, John O'Hern, Stanley Oberg, Frank Smith, and Robert Steiskal were advanced to the rank of captain. Bruce Balderson, John Birkland, Joseph Farrell, Arthur Frohman, James Garrison, Clifford Lamplough, Herbert Grossman, Fred Landeck, Robert Lumby, John Lawrence, George Schultz, and Irving Weis, all of them second lieutenants, became first lieutenants.

Sergts. Arthur Anderson, Horace Christians, Thomas Dedakis, Arthur Dreeback, Louis Dehainaut, James Gilbertson, Frank Jones, Matthew Kruse, William McLean, Edward Olsen, Frank Rodhe, John Ryan, Justin Tuomy, John Wilkinson, and Francis Williams were promoted to the rank of second lieutenant.

Nineteen of the 36 R. O. T. C. officers are members of the honor roll of the school, a record that rivals that of any other organization, according to Capt. Jenks.

BUSINESS MEN TELL WHY THEY BACK JAKE HAHN

Leaders in men's and women's organizations of Du Page county attended a large massmeeting held by the Business Men's Hahn for Sheriff club in Wheaton last Tuesday night. After interviewing all the candidates for sheriff the group decided to throw its support to Jake Hahn, for 14 years deputy sheriff and business man of Wheaton.

Reasons for selecting Hahn as their candidate, as outlined by various speakers at Tuesday's meeting, were that his long experience fits him for the office; that he is not aligned with the political group in the county that makes a practice of trading offices at each election; and that his honesty and aggressiveness will insure law enforcement in the county and will keep out the criminal element.

Mr. Hahn, in reply to the numerous insinuations as to his policy on law enforcement if elected sheriff, replied: "I will assure you that the law as on the statute books will be enforced fairly and impartially and that includes slot machines, booze joints and immoral places."

BATEMAN P.-T. ELECTION DAY TO BE MUSICAL

Dr. J. Lewis Browne to Speak Next Wednesday

A musical program will be held in conjunction with the election meeting of the Newton-Bateman Parent-Teacher association Wednesday afternoon in the assembly hall of the school, 4220 North Richmond street. The speaker will be Dr. J. Lewis Browne, whose subject will be "Discovering and Stimulating Musical Genius in the Schools."

Under the direction of Miss Anna Hintz the following program will be given: A girls' drill, a boys' drill, song and dance, Dorothy Ortman; song and dance, Isabelle Feder; recitation, Adam Miller; "Voices of the Woods," fifth grade class; room 201 in a song, directed by Miss Della McKnight; room 312 in a song, directed by Miss Lillian Tebo.

In addition, Miss Helen Franklin, musical instructor of Bateman school, will present her students in a piano recital.

The mothers of the fifth grade pupils will be hostesses and will serve refreshments in the social hour. The nominating committee is composed of Mrs. J. Cookson, chairman; Mrs. Paul E. Kelly, Mrs. L. F. Paul, Miss Elizabeth R. Daly, and Mrs. S. Spitzer.

Three thousand persons attended the two performances of the Louisiana minstrel show given by the Foreman Junior High school Parent-Teacher association Thursday and Friday night in the auditorium of the school.

There were more than fifty colorfully dressed singers in the chorus and fifteen specialty entertainers. The chorus was directed by Joseph O'Connell. Robert Bremner, Fred Larsen, Albert Holter, George Dunlop, John Hahn, Thomas Jones and Grover Ramsey, were others who participated.

A third performance will be given at 8 o'clock next Friday evening at Falconer school, 3000 North [illegible] Lamon avenue.

The arrangements for the show were under the direction of Mrs. Edna Higbe and the proceeds will be used in child welfare work at the school.

The officers of the organization are: Miss Elma Baughton, president; Mrs. Edna Higbe, first vice president; Mrs. Robert Bremner, second vice president; Mrs. William Jahrke, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Mary Wagner, recording secretary, and Mrs. Orallie Suten, treasurer.

A hard times party was given by the Parent-Teacher association of branch No. 1 of Leyden school at a community hall at Pioneer and Grace streets last evening. Mrs. Mabel Buckles had charge of the arrangements.

Mrs. Minnie Whitham will speak at the meeting of the Parent-Teacher association of the Sumner school, Kildare and 5th avenues, at 2 o'clock Wednesday in the assembly hall. A review of two recent books of fiction will be given by Miss Helen O'Malley. The pupils of Room 209 will give a playlet entitled "The Magic Window," and Mrs. Floyd Anderson, soloist, will present a musical program. Mrs. E. P. Snow is president of the association and Mrs. Frank Wilbur is chairman of the program committee.

SUGGEST NAMING NEW HIGH SCHOOL FOR WM. H. TAFT

The name William Howard Taft was submitted by the United Edison Park Improvement association to the board of education for the proposed high school which is on the 1930 building program, at the monthly meeting held Tuesday night at Schneider hall, 6713 Olmstead avenue.

Frank P. Mies of Norwood Park suggested the name in telling of the plans for the building which is one of the first on the list to be constructed this year.

The membership learned that the city council had recently passed an ordinance authorizing the paving of Avondale avenue from North Central avenue to Ozanam street, a distance of more than four miles. This project has been pushed by the organization for the last three years, according to Arthur O. Prochno, secretary of the association.

J. O. Rees, director of the joint commission on real estate valuation, told of his work.

The next meeting of the group will be on April 8 and a board of directors' meeting will be called for March 25.

Logan Square Lions to Hear Talk on Psychoanalysis

A close-up of the aviation industry was given to the members of the Logan Square Lions club at the weekly meeting held Thursday at 2350 North Kedzie boulevard, in a one reel film. The speaker next Thursday will be Dr. Percy Ward, whose subject will be "How to Psycho-Analyze Yourself and Your Neighbor."

HINSDALE CHURCH TO MARK 55TH BIRTHDAY TODAY

Grace Parish Has Record of Steady Growth.

Grace Episcopal church, Hinsdale, one of the oldest suburban parishes in the Chicago area, tomorrow will complete its fifty-fifth year of service for the west side community. The occasion is being marked today with special services under the direction of the Rev. R. J. Lee, rector.

Since its founding on March 17, 1875, Grace church has developed from a small and struggling mission to one of the strongest suburban parishes in the diocese of Chicago. Its history has been one of slow but steady growth. As a result the parish has come to play an important part in the social and spiritual life of Hinsdale. The growth of the parish and the community have been closely aligned during the last half century with Hinsdale changing from a small farming community to a wealthy suburb.

Much of the credit for the parish's early growth is due to its first three rectors, the Rev. F. N. Luson, the Rev. W. A. Fiske, and the Rev. D. F. Smith. Mr. Luson held the first services in a Unitarian meeting house, and is credited with the actual organization of the church.

First Church in 1886.

In May, 1885, the Rev. Mr. Smith was succeeded by the Rev. Arthur B. Livermore of Kenosha. It was during his rectorate that Mr. William Robbins donated a plot of ground to the parish on which the first church building was erected in 1886.

The Rev. H. W. Perkins succeeded Mr. Livermore in 1894 and was in turn followed by the Rev. W. R. Cross, who remained until 1901. The rectory was built in 1896. The Rev. H. E. Chase of Nashota, Wis., accepted the charge in 1901. The Rev. E. H. Merriman became rector in 1907, beginning a ten year period in which he was to do much toward building up the church and strengthening its influence in Hinsdale. He resigned in 1917 in order to become rector of the church at Rockford and later secretary of the Chicago diocese. For the next three years the Rev. L. C. Ferguson served the parish, being succeeded on Feb. 15, 1922, by the Rev. Richard J. Lee, present rector.

Steady Growth Shown.

The Rev. Mr. Lee came to Hinsdale from Adrian, Mich. Previous to this charge he had been for two years curate of All Saints church, Windsor, Canada. Mr. Lee received his college and theological training at Huron college and Western university, London, Ont., Canada. During the eight years of his rectorship Grace church has shown steady growth and has completed numerous improvements, including the erection of a $20,000 sacristy.

At the present time the parish owns five buildings located on First street between Garfield and Blaine avenues, including a guild hall, church, parish house, and rectory. The church property covers nearly a block of ground, thus affording ample space for future expansion.

Plans are being considered for the sale of the guild hall and the erection of a modern parish house, which will more adequately meet the demands of a growing congregation. The sacristy, which was completed recently, is designed to eventually serve as a connecting link between the church proper and the proposed parish house. The sacristy includes a large hallway, a choir room for the men and boys, and a girls' choir room. The new addition also includes a completely equipped, modern kindergarten and primary room.

Vestry of Parish.

The vestry of the church has coordinated its work closely with that of the rector with the result that a fine parish spirit has been developed.

The vestry includes: Wardens, J. K. Blackman, Alex Frost; vestrymen, D. D. Bayless, J. R. Bowes, Arthur Brock, Judge L. C. Harner, J. D. Hiatt, W. A. Laubenstein, H. G. Prouty, J. A. Schad, and F. P. Veith.

Deaconess Edith Adams is director of religious education in the parish and is in charge of the Sunday school. She is assisted by Edith Cortis in the kindergarten department, Mrs. F. P. Veith in the primary department, Mr. J. L. Ballantine in the intermediate department, and the rector in the classes for high school students.

Mrs. Phillip Clarke is president of the Junior guild; Mrs. William Regnery, president of the Auxiliary guild, and Mrs. Mortimer Scott is director of music. Mr. Semple Kenison is organist.

NAME LA GRANGE FOR PLANTATION OF OLD SOUTH

French Word Descriptive of Original Site.

This the thirty-sixth of a series of stories on place names on the west side.

BY RUTH DE YOUNG.

Poverty and unrest characterizing the aftermath of the civil war were peculiarly responsible for the planning and naming of the residential community of La Grange. Franklin D. Cossitt, a wealthy Tennessee planter, who had lost his fortune as a result of the war, came north in 1871 with the grim determination to succeed in founding a town where futile attempts had been made since 1837. In giving the name of his old Tennessee plantation to the townsite fifteen miles southwest of the loop, he defied fate, but the term was quite appropriate. In the French original La Grange stands exactly descriptive of the region as Mr. Cossitt found it—a farm with a single building upon it.

Shot Wolves and Deer.

The land on which the town was laid out was originally a a part of the 440 acre tract owned by Robert Leitch, who migrated to Cook county from New York in the spring of 1837. When he discovered this section, and decided to remain as a farm laborer, he found only one man in the entire vicinity. Thomas Covell had a hut in the midst of the timber, and, according to rumor, he stood on the front step and shot wolves and deer.

As time went on the agricultural pursuits of Mr. Leitch extended to include cattle dealing and stock raising. But people were skeptical of moving so far from Chicago, even though the soil was known to be extremely fertile. Transportation was poor, the stage coaches running every two or three days between Chicago and the western settlements over the Chicago and Dixon road, which now bears the name of Ogden avenue. This was the main thoroughfare, and had been laid out "at least mile wide." In 1864 John Van Ottrick, president of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy railroad, was persuaded to extend the Aurora line into Chicago, although he said, "It will never pay."

Station Opened in 1868.

A station was opened for the convenience of these settlers in 1868 and called West Lyons, after the township. The building stood very near the site of the present Stone avenue station. Meantime the first school had been opened in 1852, and Samuel Vial, for five years supervisor of Lyons township, had settled in the community. Believing that the time was ripe in the early '60's for starting a town, Mr. Leitch selected the name "Kensington Heights" for the community. Within a few years, however, business reverses overtook him, and he was forced to abandon the suburban plan.

His first move was the subdivision of the section, and the transformation of the natural bleakness of the prairie by the liberal planting of trees, and by landscaping.

Soon a sufficient number of purchases for actual settlement were made to form quite a village, and the residences erected were unusually attractive. The pure well water, reached at a depth of 15 feet, and the ever flowing spring in the center of the town were inducements to city people. There was an "inexhaustible limestone quarry on the edge of the town" which afforded employment for many men. Miniature lakes were laid out under the direction of Mr. Cossitt for boating, swimming, and fish culture. "The large number of streets graveled from the beds in the vicinity, bordered by three rows of thrifty trees on each side, interspersed with handsome evergreens and liberally furnished with wide sidewalks present an attractive feature," said D. B. Lyman, one of the proprietors.

"Garden Spot of County."

With these developments and improvements, "so clean and so handsome," the town was attested by outsiders, as well as the residents, to be "the garden spot of Cook county," and down to the present day La Grange has often been described by this phrase. The Emmanuel Episcopal church was erected in 1875 at a cost of $8,000, "an elegant edifice constructed in rural English style of architecture." The Congregational church with a membership of 36 dedicated "a neat and pretty building" a few months later.

By 1879 there were 70 families in the community, and it was decided to set up a village government. On May 25, a petition was filed for the incorporation of La Grange, and on June 11 by a vote of 42 to 34 village organization was effected. The following month the first officers were elected to include, Mr. Cossitt as president, L. L. Bouford, P. G. Gardner, J. D. Meyers, E. B. Clark, and T. W. McMillan. William G. Little was the police magistrate, Benjamin T. Lewis, the clerk, and Mr. Lyman, village attorney.

BAD YEAR FOR THISTLES! IT'S LAWN CONTEST

Garden Clubs Indorse Tribune Project.

Park and River Forest Garden club have pledged their support. "There are so many beautiful lawns in these communities," explained Mrs. A. S. Holden, president of the organization. "We should have many entries. It is a contest like this that gives the incentive to keep these lawns in first class shape."

In contrast to the spacious grounds in the suburbs are the small plots in the city sections of the west side, but even there, interest is not lacking. Mrs. Elizabeth Gunkel, chairman of gardens in the fourth district of the Illinois Federation of Women's clubs, has explained the contest and found considerable response.

"This is a poor neighborhood and our space is very limited but people do realize that a little bit of greenery around the doorstep makes life much happier."

"As soon as I read of THE TRIBUNE contest I urged our members to enter and get their lawns into shape," explained Mrs. Frank Dunbar, president of the Villa Park Garden club.

The Norwood Park Garden club has given its support to THE TRIBUNE contest through its president, Mrs. R. G. Ball. "Attractive lawns mean a great deal in this neighborhood," she said. "There is space for them in most cases, and they enhance the beauty of the section about 100 per cent."

petition at the April meeting of her organization.

"One hundred per cent for it," said W. J. Orlikoski, president of the Belmont Gardens Improvement association, in giving his opinion of the contest.

MANY ENTER CONTEST

The urge that prompts householders to muster the rake, hoe, and lawnmower for a careful inspection and to stand before window displays in garden supply stores—when they should be hurrying home to dinner—has been manifesting itself unmistakably for the last several weeks in metropolitan Chicago.

A strong impetus was given the general movement to begin garden preparations by THE TRIBUNE'S announcement of a $5,000 Home Lawn contest, if the entry applications which have been pouring into the office of the Lawn Contest editor are a reliable gauge for measuring the community's interest.

Rules governing the contest will be found elsewhere in this section of THE TRIBUNE. The Lawn Contest editor has a word of advice to offer aspirants to the 195 cash prizes which will be awarded the winners:

Perhaps you are in a new home with a "front yard" you think never will look like anything. Don't be discouraged. Start right in as soon as the frost is out of the ground to develop a first prize lawn. If excavating and filling must be done to get the desired grade around the house, the top soil should be removed to a depth of six to eight inches and piled to one side. After grading is finished replace the top soil. If top soil is not good enough then secure some good garden loam elsewhere and add until you have the desired depth.

Freezing and thawing in winter results in a loose surface which should be made firm by rolling in the spring. Numerous rollings should be given to keep the sod firm.

In order to keep a good lawn, once it is established, it should be fed liberally each year. Manure may be applied in early spring as in the fall, as this eliminates bad odors over such a continued period. Manuring is not necessary each year where rich soil is obtained to start with.

If organic matter is not necessary a liberal application of nitrogenous fertilizer, such as nitrate of soda, or sulphate of ammonia, should be used as a top dressing. This also should be applied in the spring and just prior to a rain to dissolve it. Bone meal makes a splendid spring top dressing.

If well rotted manure has not been used as a mulch there is always danger of objectionable weeds being introduced into the lawn. Then you have trouble in getting rid of trying eyesores that are a detriment to a perfect lawn.

CLUB WOMEN PLAN FLOWER SHOW

In preparation for the garden and flower show which the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs is sponsoring at the Hotel Sherman from March 28 to April 5, leading club women are attending preliminary demonstrations of exhibits at the hotel. Left to right: Mrs. H. E. Fischer, garden chairman of the Longfellow Woman's club; Mrs. Edson Haas, garden chairman of the Austin Woman's club; Mrs. W. M. Olson, garden chairman of the Maywood Woman's club; Mrs. W. O. Young, garden chairman of the Sixth district; Mrs. Ewald Weber, garden chairman of the Altrui Woman's club; Mrs. Charles Poulsen, garden chairman of the Arlington Heights Woman's club; Mrs. R. S. Jaquith, garden chairman of the Seventh district; Mrs. George Verbeck, garden chairman of the Forest Glen Woman's club.

1,300 CHILDREN INSTRUCTED IN MUSIC AT PARKS

Lessons Given Free on West Side.

More than 1,300 children of the west side are taking advantage of the extensive music program offered in nine of Chicago's west parks under the direction of the west park board, of which W. R. James is president. Lessons are given beginners in piano, violin, and other string instruments, and group instruction is offered them through the mixed chorus and the junior and senior orchestras. Elementary music is taught younger children free of charge in the afternoon and older children and adults may attend a course in the evening.

Lessons Twice a Week.

Two days a week are spent at these nine west side parks by the following music instructors: William Hoffman, Eckhart park; Adold Erst, Shedd and Dvorak parks; H. L. Bachman, Holstein park; L. Frances Fischer, Pulaski park; Miss Ruth Freeman, Stanford park; Miss Carrie Christiansen, La Follette park; Miss Pearl F. Loucks, Austin Town hall, and Miss Anna Walker, Union park.

Concerts in Small Parks.

Concerts are held in the small parks during the year, culminating in June with a junior and senior music festival arranged by William J. H. Schultz, superintendent of small parks and playgrounds.

The west side public is invited by the park board to take advantage of this music instruction for beginners and advanced pupils offered gratis on the following schedule: Pulaski park, Blackhawk and Noble streets, Mondays from 4 to 10 and Wednesdays from 4 to 8; Holstein park, 2200 North Oakley avenue, Wednesdays and Fridays from 3:30 to 9:30; Austin Town hall, Central avenue and Lake street, Mondays from 7 to 10, and Thursdays and Fridays from 1 to 6; La Follette park, Laramie avenue and Hirsch street, Tuesday and Saturdays from 2 to 6 and 7 to 9; Stanford park, 14th street and Union avenue, Mondays and Wednesdays from 3 to 5 and Saturdays from 2 to 6; Eckhart park, Chicago avenue and Noble street, Tuesdays from 3 to 10 and Wednesdays from 3 to 8; Dvorak park, Cullerton and Fisk streets, Fridays from 3 to 8 and Saturdays from 1 to 6; Shedd park, 23d street and Lawndale avenue, Mondays from 3:30 to 8, and Union park, Lake street and Ashland avenue, Thursdays and Fridays from 3 to 8.

Answers to Quiz on First Aid

1—No. If pale, his head should be low; if flushed, it should be raised.

2—Warm, always.

3—Aromatic spirits of ammonia, a half teaspoonful in one-half glass of water.

4—No. An unconscious person cannot swallow, and a liquid may cause choking.

5—Smelling salts.

6—The uninjured, so that it may be lifted away from the injury without twist or strain.

7—No. He should be kept lying down with head low.

8—None.

9—In a simple fracture the skin is not pierced; in a compound fracture there is an open wound, usually with the broken end of bone protruding.

10—Not unless there is no doctor to be had.

11—Rigid pieces of wood or other substance used to keep in place or protect an injured part.

12—Not until the broken bone is bandaged with splints, otherwise the broken end of bone may cut through the skin.

13—Seventy-two.

14—Blood from an artery is bright red and flows in spurts with the pulse; blood from a vein is bluish red and flows steadily.

15—The treatment is always to cut off the blood supply before it reaches the cut. If an artery is cut, press on the artery between the cut and the heart; with a vein, press on the far side of the cut from the heart.

16—Neither. Nothing should be applied to a wound but a sterile compress or antiseptics such as iodine or mercurochrome.

17—No. Iodine is more irritating on wet than on dry skin.

18—No, for there are always germs in the mouth.

19—Yes, because the blood washes out the germs from the wound.

20—Because of the danger of tetanus or lockjaw from such a wound.

21—No, except on a mere scrape; the plaster itself may contain germs.

22—One which has had all its germs killed, usually by heat.

23—Antiseptic means anything which kills germs, or on which the germs have been killed; aseptic means without germs.

24—First paint the skin with iodine or mercurochrome and then dip the needle in the same antiseptic before using.

25—Ammonia applied to the spot.

21 WEST SIDE GROUPS ENTER FLOWER SHOW

Exhibits to Display a Wide Range of Skill.

Twenty-one clubs in the west side area and western suburbs will compete in the amateur contests of the fourth annual Chicago Garden and Flower show, opening at Hotel Sherman, March 28 and continuing to April 5.

Ninety-five organizations in all have entered these contests, in which there will be more than 350 separate entries representing the work of more than 1,000 active members of exhibit committees. These exhibitions will cover a wide range of skill in garden design, flower arrangement, and interior decoration, all of which are called into play by the competitions. Eight hundred dollars in cash, medals, and ribbons are being offered as prizes to the winners of the contest.

Entrants from West Side.

The following is a list of the west side contestants:

Austin North End Woman's club, Park Ridge Improvement association, Longfellow club of Oak Park, Woman's club of Oak Park, Austin Woman's club, Illinois Colony club, Elburn Woman's club, Aurora Woman's club, Park Ridge Woman's club, Altrui club, Wheaton Woman's Department club, Hinsdale Woman's club, Forest Ridge Woman's club, Portage Park Garden club, Southwest Woman's club of Maywood, Lombard Woman's club, Kane County federation, Twelfth District Woman's club, Cary Woman's club, Catholic Woman's league, Irving Park Catholic Woman's club, Junior auxiliary.

Open to All Amateurs.

Although the Illinois Federation of Women's clubs is directing the amateur contests, the field is open to all clubs interested in gardening; many entrants are not members of the federation.

The amateur section is only one part of the great show, which will include an exhibit of cut flowers and plants for which $10,000 is offered in prizes, and a model garden section in which 17 life size gardens will be built of living plants.

Vaughan's Chicago Parks Lawn Seed

It Contains NO Timothy

TIMOTHY SEED, which is hay seed, is the greatest cause of lawn failures in the Chicago region. Seventy-five per cent of all grass seed mixtures sold in this area are chiefly composed of the seed of this coarse hay, which comes up quickly, but inevitably ruins a lawn.

Vaughan's Chicago Parks mixture (or Columbian for sandy soil and shady lawns) is composed of Kentucky blue grass, red top and white clover (with no timothy). This is the combination which has proved its merit for permanent lawns in this section through fifty years' experience, and is recommended by the United States department of agriculture.

The Value of Recleaned Seed

The only thing of value you get when you buy lawn seed, is the live seed of permanent grasses it contains. Weed seed, dead seed, dirt and chaff, are worse than worthless. Cheap seed which contains these adulterants is more costly in fact than recleaned seed for which you pay more, but which contains nothing but live seeds. All Vaughan's Seeds are tested for purity and germination. They are clean, live, and honestly labeled.

Vaughan's Chicago Parks Lawn Seed (or Columbia blend for shady lawns and sandy soil), ½ lb., 25c; 1 lb., 50c; 5 lbs., $2.40. 1930 Spring Catalog free by mail or at our stores.

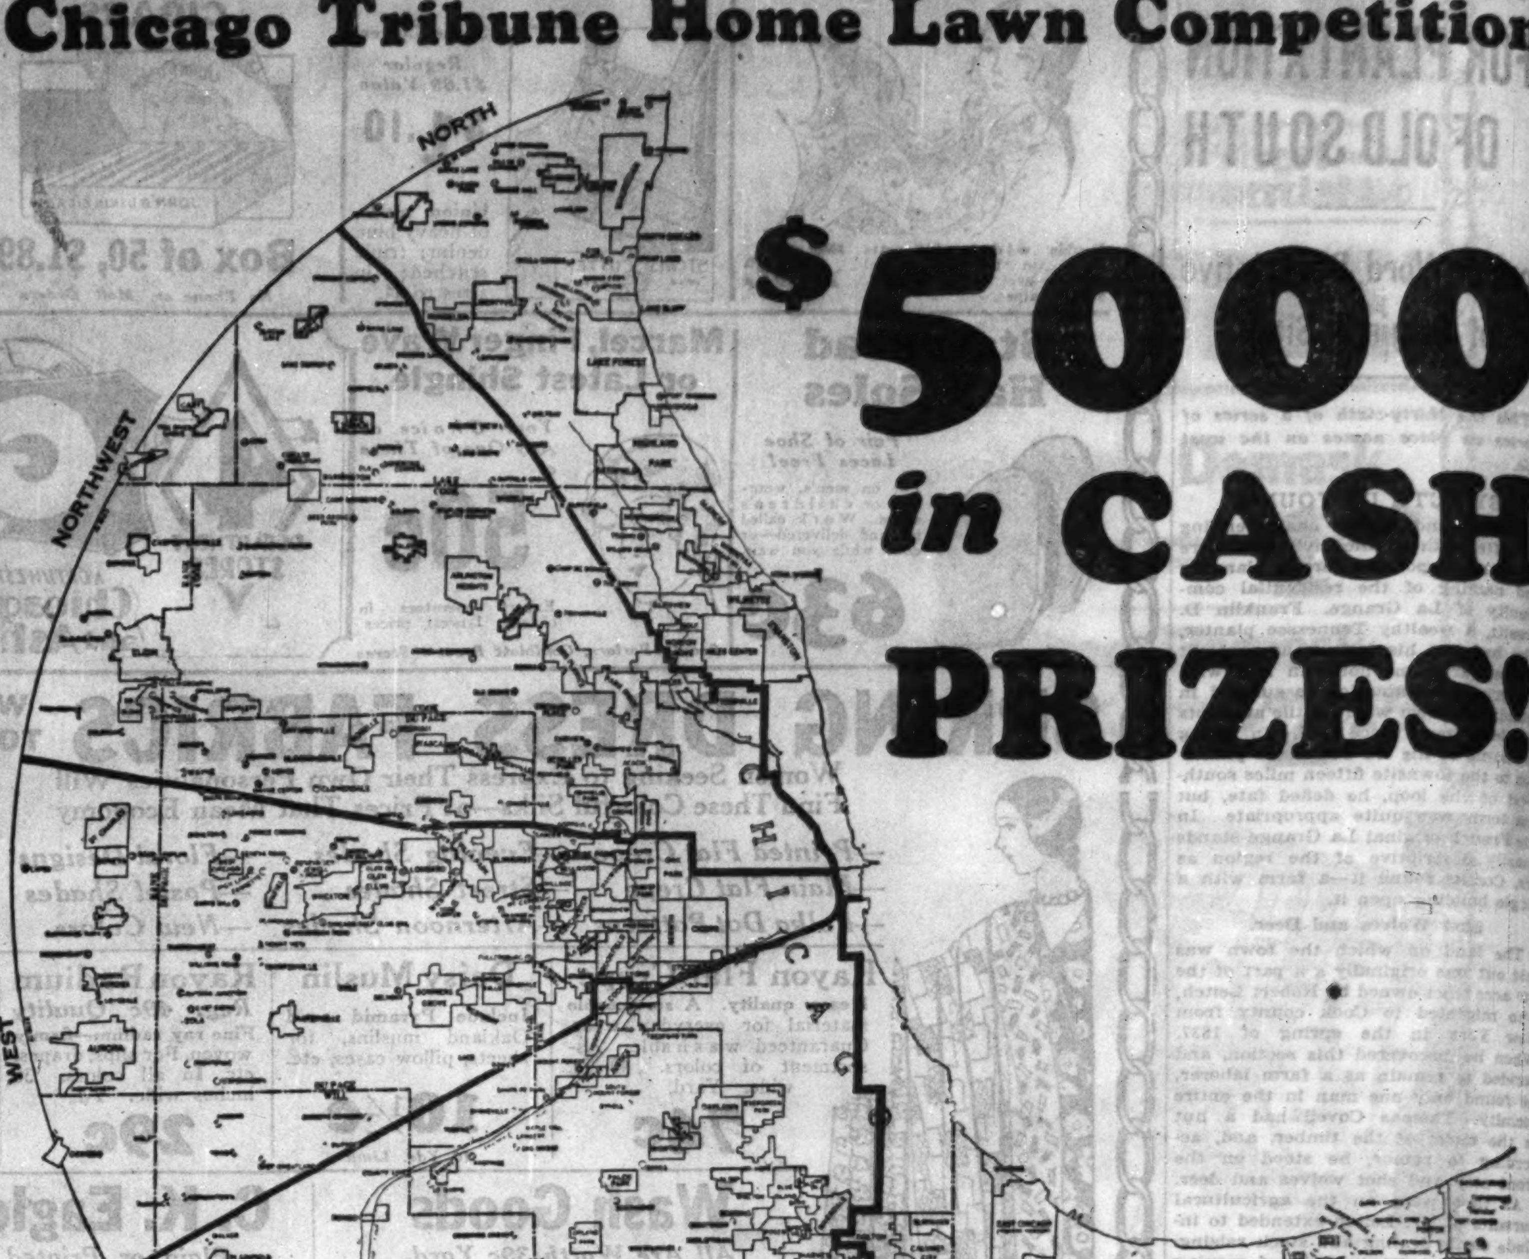
Chicago Tribune Home Lawn Competition

$5000 in CASH PRIZES!



FOR the 195 home lawns in the Chicago area adjudged best in accordance with a few simple rules, the Chicago Tribune will pay $5,000.00 in cash prizes.

This competition is for home lawns maintained by amateurs only. Estate lawns, commercial lawns, or any which are maintained in whole or in part by persons who earn their livings as caretakers, gardeners or landscape architects, are barred.

If your lawn is the equivalent to 20 by 10 feet in size or larger, you are invited to enter the competition and try for the $5,000.00 in cash prizes which the Tribune will pay.

Lawns located within approximately forty miles of Tribune Tower, as shown on this map, are eligible to compete. This area is divided into five main divisions—North, Northwest, West, Southwest, and South, as shown by the lettering on the rim of the 40-mile area. Thirty-nine prizes totaling $1,000 will be awarded to lawns in each of these main divisions, making a total of $5,000 to be awarded in the Chicago area. In filling out the entry coupon, be sure to indicate the division in which you live. You pay nothing. Just prove your skill as an amateur lawn keeper. Read the simple rules and enter your lawn today!

Remember, YOUR LAWN WILL BE COMPETING ONLY WITH OTHER LAWNS IN YOUR OWN TERRITORY. Decide now to have a better lawn this summer! In addition to the enjoyment and satisfaction of having a beautiful lawn, you may win a cash award.

Fill in and mail the entry coupon today! Then read the helpful suggestions which the Tribune will publish every Sunday.

READ the simple rules and mail the entry coupon TODAY

1 For the 195 home lawns in the Chicago area adjudged best in accordance with these rules, the Chicago Tribune will pay $5,000 in cash prizes.

2 To be eligible for prizes, lawns must be located on land on which contestants live at the time of judging and in the territory within a radius of approximately 40 (forty) miles from Tribune Tower.

3 A lawn may be of any size, shape, style, or type, provided only that each contains an area of at least 200 square feet or the equivalent of a plot measuring 20 by 10 feet.

4 The contest area is divided into five main divisions. Thirty-nine prizes will be awarded to lawns in each division. First prize, $250; second prize, $150; third prize, $100; fourth prize, $75; fifth prize, $50; sixth prize, $35; seventh prize, $20; next thirty-two prizes $10 each. Total prizes for each division, $1,000.00. Total for the five divisions, $5,000,00.

5 Estate lawns, commercial lawns, and all others cared for or maintained by persons who earn their livings in whole or in part as caretakers, gardeners, or landscape architects, are barred. The competition is open only to amateur home lawns maintained by the entrants themselves, without paid assistance from anyone other than unskilled labor.

6 This competition is open to all, except employes of the Chicago Tribune and their families, and others automatically excluded by the contest requirements.

7 All entries must be received in the Tribune office bearing a postmark not later than Monday, May 12, 1930.

8 A committee of competent judges will be appointed by the Chicago Tribune and their decisions will be final. In case of ties, duplicate awards will be paid. The exact judging dates will be announced later and will be governed, of course, by the nature of the season.

9 Each lawn will be judged upon its merits as a whole. Points to be taken into consideration include design, neatness, freedom from weeds, ragged edges, etc.; improvements made to lawn during the season, and general harmony of surroundings.

10 The only requirement to enter the contest is to fill out the coupon properly and mail it to the "LAWN CONTEST EDITOR," the Chicago Tribune, Postoffice Box 1718, Chicago, Ill. Coupon must bear contestant's name in full, address, and division—North, Northwest, West, Southwest, or South, of the city or suburb in which he or she lives. DON'T FORGET TO INDICATE THE DIVISION. Judges will inspect your lawn at the proper time. The publishers of the Tribune will not be responsible for the loss, delay, or non-delivery of entry coupons.

THE WORLD'S GREATEST NEWSPAPER

IRISH SET FOR ST. PATRICK'S DAY FESTIVALS

Hibernians Hold Annual Party Tomorrow.

Thousands of Irish throughout the city are ready for the "wearin' o' the green," because tomorrow marks the day of St. Patrick. Numerous celebrations have been planned on the west side and in the western suburbs to do honor to the patron saint who introduced Christianity into Ireland.

MISS MARIE A. BURNS.

Prominent Irish leaders including Judge John P. McGoorty, Robert E. Crowe, president of the Irish Good Fellowship club; Joseph Burke, and Robert E. McMillan will be special guests at the annual St. Patrick festivities sponsored this evening by the Ancient Order of Hibernians in the Men's hall, Ashland boulevard and Van Buren street.

100 Colleens Compete for Honors.

More than 100 pretty colleens will compete for the throne chair on which the winner will be crowned Hibernian queen by Judge Martin L. Sweeney, national president of the society. Miss Marie A. Burns, 908 West 18th place, is among the candidates sponsored by the 35 divisions of the order in Chicago, and by the members of the ladies' auxiliary. Tom Lennon, orchestra director, will present a musical program.

The committee in charge of the arrangements for the event includes Peter Doody, county president; Mrs. Mary McWhorter, state president of the ladies' auxiliary; John C. Kelly, county vice president; M. M. Fee, county secretary; P. C. Burns, county financial secretary; Robert Stack, county treasurer; Maurice N. Cotter, Dr. Timothy McInerney, and Timothy Donegan.

Damen Council to Celebrate.

During the last 23 years the St. Patrick's day party has been the most important event of the year for Damen council, Knights of Columbus. Their party will be held tomorrow evening in the Knights of Columbus club, 4711 West Madison street, under the direction of John J. Lee, grand knight. Robert Peary is in charge of the music for the affair. Edward L. Hardyman, deputy grand knight, and James J. Crowley, financial secretary, are assisting Mr. Lee with the plans.

The annual entertainment at St. Malachy's auditorium, Washington and Oakley boulevards, will continue from 8 o'clock until midnight tomorrow. Stars of the stage now playing in Chicago will provide the fun for the event, and a number of radio entertainers will be present. The proceeds will go to the support of the St. Malachy school, according to the Rev. James F. Callaghan, pastor of St. Malachy's parish.

St. Patrick's day was celebrated by the members of the River Forest Country club at a dance and bridge held last night in the new clubhouse, Grand avenue and York road.

The committee in charge of the party was composed of W. L. Procunier, chairman; C. F. Baumrucker, H. M. Corley, G. M. Mellor, and S. I. Reed.

NILES CENTER PARK CONTRACTS TO BE LET SOON

Contracts for the improvement of the park recently acquired by Niles Center from the forest preserves at Oakton street and Cicero avenue will be let within thirty days, according to William R. Nelson of the Niles Center park board. It is planned to have a grand opening on July 4.

Final plans for the park will include a community building, eight tennis courts, a wading pool and children's playground, football and baseball fields, and a volley ball court and rink for ice skating. Approximately $25,000 has been allotted for the work this spring, and one-half of the community building will be erected.

The swimming pool will be built alongside of it outdoors, to be inclosed later when the second half of the building housing the gymnasium is completed.

Dr. Roberts Again Heads Oak Park Civic League

Dr. Thomas E. Roberts has been reelected president of the Oak Park Civic league. A founder of the organization, Dr. Roberts has held the office of president since its inception. Y. Atkinson Moore was chosen first vice president, Roscoe W. Schumann second vice president, Mrs. W. R. Stephens third vice president, and Mrs. M. J. Snell fourth vice president. A. R. Kaiser became recording secretary, Mrs. C. F. Beesley corresponding secretary, and F. E. Seymour treasurer.

$500,000 PUBLIC IMPROVEMENTS UP FOR HEARING

$203,000 in Paving to Be Considered.

Six paving projects, one calling for an expenditure of $203,000, will come up for a public hearing before the board of local improvements Friday morning in the city hall. Twelve improvements in all, including five condemnation proceedings and laying of one system of water supply pipe, will be heard by the board. The total estimated cost of the improvements is approximately $500,000.

The $203,000 improvement includes a system of streets consisting of Balmoral avenue between Austin and Melvina avenue; and Melvina, Moody, Meade, and McVicker avenues between Avondale and Berwyn avenues. The paving is to be concrete, and provisions call for a roadway width of 34 feet.

Other Projects to Be Heard.

Other paving projects to be heard involve Mulligan avenue between Higgins and Balmoral avenue, and Balmoral and Berwyn avenues between Melvina and Nagle avenues, estimated at $94,500; Mulligan avenue between Avondale and Balmoral avenues, and Catalpa avenue between Melvina and Nagle avenues, estimated at $77,000; Odell avenue from Talcott avenue to Higgins road, and Olive avenue between Harlem and Odell avenues, estimated at $74,000; Willow street from Clybourn avenue to Kingsbury street, estimated at $21,500; and North Shore avenue between Harlem and Oketo avenues, estimated at $25,500.

Condemnation Proceedings Up.

Five condemnation proceedings which will be considered include a system of four parallel streets which, if widened, will open up a new district. Condemnations are to secure land for the widening of Cornelia and Barry avenues and School and Roscoe streets across the right of way of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific railroad between Neenah and Natomah avenues. The other condemnation proceeding is for the widening of Sauganash avenue between Keene and Kilpatrick avenues.

Laying of water supply pipes and construction of fire hydrants on Moody avenue from Avondale avenue to a point 375 feet north of Balmoral avenue, estimated at $1,724.50, will be discussed and acted on.

Opening to Be Cut in North Central Parkway

A 16 foot opening is to be made across the parkway in the center of North Central avenue to permit the turning of vehicles in and out of the first alley south of Bloomingdale avenue on the west side of North Central avenue.

WIDER STREETS, MORE PAVING IS OAK PARK PLAN

Harlem Av. Improvement Is Proposed.

Wider thoroughfares are being planned by the Oak Park board of local improvements for the Lake-Marion-Wisconsin business district. If an ordinance, now being prepared by the board, is approved by village officials Harlem avenue, one of the longest streets in Cook county, will be paved and widened from North boulevard to Chicago avenue. The village board of River Forest has already approved an ordinance for repairing the west side of the avenue, and is ready to let contracts for the work.

The improvement will be completed by the beginning of the summer if plans are carried through, according to Charles M. Crysler, president of the village of Oak Park and president of the Oak Park board of local improvements.

Plan Old English Market.

Williams street property owners have been heard on the proposition of paving and widening that thoroughfare from Marion street to Harlem avenue, to make it an unusual and inviting trading place. A separate ordinance is being prepared for the village board to this effect. Many of the business men on this street have agreed upon a uniform style of architecture to give the avenue the appearance of an old English market.

President Crysler expects to call a public hearing in the near future for the property owners on Holly court. Plans will be considered for the widening and paving of this street from Marion street to Harlem avenue. According to members of the board of local improvements, which includes in addition to President Crysler, Dudley Meyers, public engineer, and B. C. Branscstadt, secretary, the three proposed improvements will increase business in this district, making it more convenient for the public, and will better care for the heavy through traffic on Lake street and Harlem avenue.

Contracts for Incinerator Let.

Contracts have been let by the village board for the new incinerator which will be erected at 624 North boulevard at a cost of $172,000. Work on the project will begin this week, and it is expected the plant will be ready for use by summer or early fall.

The contract was approved by the citizen's advisory committee, the engineer's advisory committee, and the public works committee, as well as the members of the village board.

DARK STREETS ATTRIBUTED TO CUT IN STAFF

Street lights, school facilities and conditions of streets and alleys were the topics for discussion at the second civic conference of the 40th ward called by Ald. Joseph C. Ross. More than 45 civic and social organizations were represented.

Members of the conference estimated that 60 per cent of the lights in the ward were not lighted the greater part of the time. Ald. Ross, on investigation, was told by Fred Schneider, municipal operating engineer, that reduction of his force had caused the condition.

"Our maintenance forces have been reduced," he said, "to such an extent that we are having difficulty in working out the 40th ward trouble, but we are making every effort to remedy the situation."

William Harper, superintendent of streets and alleys in the ward, told the group that his budget was about $4,000 lower than last year. That fact and the inclement weather had hindered his work, he said.

Added school facilities through the opening of the new Von Steuben Junior High school, Christiana, Carmen, and Kimball avenues, and the start of work on the Volta school, Springfield and Carmen avenues, were commended by the group. A third conference will be held within the next few months.

Seek to Change Name of Part of Ingraham Street

Changing the name of Ingraham street, between Elston avenue and Noble street, to St. Stanislaus court, is provided by an ordinance which Ald. G. M. Rozczynialski [33d] has introduced in the city council. The ordinance was introduced at the request of the committee of St. Stanislaus church, said by members to be the oldest Polish Catholic church in the state. The church, of which the Rev. John Drzewieck is the priest, fronts on the affected street. John Nering is chairman of the church committee.

HARRISON HIGH CONGRESS VOTES DOWN DRY LAW

Organization Patterned After U. S. House.

Harrison Technical High school has formed an organization unique among the schools of the city and the state. It is a house of representatives patterned after the national congress, and studying national problems rather than those of the institution. "It is an ideal way of teaching citizenship to students representing as many nationalities, as they do at Harrison," said L. L. Bradley, faculty advisor.

Approximately 60 students, selected each semester by a specially appointed committee and Mr. Bradley, take the parts of representatives and officers of the house and hold a session every Friday afternoon.

The congress has passed an amendment "nullifying" the prohibition amendment, and in a vote taken on woman suffrage, the twentieth amendment was sustained by a large majority. To teach the students the procedure in impeachment a mock trial is being conducted at the present time. Each representative introduces legislation favorable to his state.

Max Terry Is Speaker.

Max Terry is speaker of the house; Milton Albach is the clerk; Miss Sophie Miller, assistant clerk; Miss Lillian Loukota, treasurer, and Percy Silver, sergeant at arms.

The representatives of the 48 states of the Union include, Alabama, Miss Marie Dostal; Arizona, Miss Sylvia Cooperman; Arkansas, Miss Mildred Najemnik; California, Miss Loukota; Colorado, Louis Smith; Connecticut, Miss Helen Kozel; Delaware, Miss Mary Demetrakakes; Florida, Maurice Feldman; Georgia, Harold Tipp; Idaho, Leonard Bloom; Illinois, Miss Lillian Smith; Indiana, Miss Sophie Miller; Iowa, Samuel Terry; Kansas, Herman Zuckerman; Kentucky, Miss Fannie Galper; Louisiana, Max Friedman, and Maine, Nat Grossblat.

Other Representatives.

Maryland, Miss Dorothy Mogilner; Massachusetts, Mr. Silver; Michigan, Miss Julia Brown; Minnesota, Miss Sylvia Levy; Mississippi, Miss Bessie Balaban; Missouri, Miss Frederica Gordon; Montana, Robert Goldstein; Nebraska, Leslie Liss; Nevada, Marvin Laser; New Hampshire, Louis Bauman; New Jersey, Miss Esther Schwartz; New Mexico, Miss Grace Leistner; New York, David Broude; North Carolina, Edward Friedman; North Dakota, George Kvidera; Ohio, Miss Thelma Meitzen; Oklahoma, Milton Baim; Oregon, Alex Pomerantz; Pennsylvania, Milton Albach; Rhode Island, Leslie Bradley; South Carolina, Miss Laura Popovich; South Dakota, Miss Sylvia Titelbaum; Tennessee, Myer Kobinsky; Texas, Miss Jennie Helman; Utah, Harold Saffir; Virginia, Robert Strecker; Vermont, Miss Sarah Berkovitz; Washington, Miss Ethel Robbins; West Virginia, Milton Kodash; Wisconsin, Miss Ann Helman; Wyoming, Miss Bernice Benson.

F. A. BENTLEY HEADS AUSTIN OPERA GROUP

F. A. Bentley was recently elected president of the Civic Opera club of Austin. Mrs. E. E. Kretschmer was chosen first vice president; Mrs. Alex Barr, secretary; Mrs. L. H. Moser, treasurer; Mrs. R. W. Olmstead, membership chairman; Mrs. C. E. Frazier, publicity secretary; Mrs. George W. Post, program chairman; George J. Denn, rooms chairman; and Mrs. Cornelius J. Peeples, chairman of the ticket drive.

Five programs were presented at the Austin town hall during the past opera season, all designed to increase the understanding and interest of the opera goer. Austin's membership quota for the Civic Opera club has been increased for the coming year from 200 to 300. Already 66 persons have signified their desire to join, according to Mrs. Olmstead. A tour of the workshops and warehouses of the Chicago Civic Opera house is being planned as a feature of the program of the club for the coming year.

LOGAN SQUARE BUSINESS GROUP SEEKS LIBRARY

Street Cleaning Drive Brings Results.

As sponsors of new plans and ideas seeking to enhance the community, the Logan Square Business Men's association is seeking a new public library; a solution of traffic, sewerage and lighting problems on Milwaukee avenue; a modern Y. M. C. A.; and elimination of the bottle neck on Kedzie boulevard between North avenue and Palmer Square.

"It is not necessary for us to have launched a project in order to get behind it," said Charles V. Falkenberg, now serving his third term as president of the association. "If anybody has an idea that is for the good of the community, we're for it."

Mr. Falkenberg says that the campaign for clean streets and alleys has already brought results, and that the immediate Logan Square district faces the spring season with brightness.

Oppose Through Traffic.

In the movement for repavement or resurfacing of the streets and alleys traversing Logan boulevard, Kedzie boulevard and Milwaukee avenue, within the territorial limits of Logan Square, and Wrightwood and Diversey avenues have been taken care of.

The association favors a Milwaukee avenue that will be regulated for local traffic, permitting of shopping, rather than for through traffic.

The sum of $150,000 has already been pledged toward the proposed Y. M. C. A., which President Falkenberg hopes to be the finest branch in Chicago. Logan Square must, he says, be taken care of in the way of a branch library, suitable to the status of the community and this without delay.

"A Strategic Location."

"One cannot overstress Logan Square's strategic location," says President Falkenberg. "It is most desirable from both a residence and business point of view. The more substantial class of home owners as well as tenants sought accommodations in the district. The better class of merchants based their selection of the district because of the class of residents. Our stores are as good as any to be found in Chicago.

"As for transportation facilities, we are at the terminus of the Logan Square L; at the eastern, western and northern termini of bus routes; five minutes walk from the Northwestern station; and we have the Kedzie, Fullerton and Milwaukee car lines."

A report of the membership drive of the association was heard at the regularly monthly meeting of the organization Wednesday night at the Logan Square Athletic clubrooms, 2435 North Kedzie avenue.

The organization has hopes of enrolling every business and professional man in the district and around the corner, according to Mr. Falkenberg. That progress was being made in this direction was illustrated by the list of former and delinquent members which was turned in by the membership committee.

Ira H. David is secretary of the Logan Square Business Men's association; F. S. Kunkel, vice president.

The board of directors are J. H. Cavanaugh, Dr. E. F. Baur, M. J. Hurwitz, G. C. Lowe, Eli Kahn, E. H. Mansfield, H. S. Savage, B. J. Schultz and Henry Sklar.

Oreskes to Talk at J. P. I.

"The Origin of the Yiddish Theater" will be the subject of a lecture given today by Herman Oreskes at the Five o'Clock Jewish forum of the Jewish People's institute, 3500 Douglas boulevard.

Scout Leaders to Attend 10 Weeks' Training Course

Boy Scout leaders of the northwest district of the Chicago council are to attend a training course given by Allen E. Hobson, 1525 Addison street, chairman of the leadership training committee of the north shore district. The first session of the course, which is to continue for nine indoor and one outdoor meetings, will be held at 7:45 o'clock next Wednesday at Irving Park Lutheran church, Harding and Belle Plaine avenues.

West Side Kiwanis Club to Hear Judge McGoorty

Judge John P. McGoorty of the Superior court will speak at the luncheon of the West Side Kiwanis club at 12:15 Wednesday at the Midwest Athletic club. Frank Tyrrell and Philip Scanlan are in charge of the meeting. Charles McCormack and George Eberhardt are planning the program for March 25. B. W. Boman is president of the organization.

SORROWS SCHOOL PLANS PARTY FOR SHAMROCK DAY

A St. Patrick's program will be given by the students of Our Lady of Sorrows school, 3110 Van Buren street, in the Parish hall tonight and tomorrow evening. The proceeds from the presentation will be used for the school fund.

An auxiliary was formed recently in order to aid the Rev. Patrick Condon, pastor of Our Lady of Sorrows church, to meet the deficit in the tuition funds for education of the grammar school students in the parish school. Officers of the organization are Miss Marie Geary, president; Miss Helen McGregor, and Mrs. H. Plowright, vice presidents; Mrs. Harriet Bidwell, Miss Frances Mooney, and Miss Julia Maloney, secretaries; D. Sullivan, treasurer, and the Rev. Mr. Condon, spiritual director.

JEFFERSON PARK CALLED OLDER THAN CHICAGO

Phillip J. Barry Tells Story of Growth.

BY ONEY FRED SWEET.

PHILLIP J. BARRY.
[Ruth Photo.]

There were occasions when Phillip J. Barry, traversing the length and breadth of the community of Jefferson Park as a mail carrier thirty-four years ago, had as many as seventeen letters for delivery in a single day.

Mr. Barry bought a lot in the village, three years after his arrival. He built a house on it and has lived there ever since—4930 Lester avenue. Seventeen years ago he became the first president of the Jefferson Park Business Men's association. He has been secretary of the organization for the last twelve years.

"Although my neighbors were few in those days," says Mr. Barry, "yet Jefferson Park as a municipality is older than the city of Chicago of which it is now a part."

Recalls Milwaukee Plank Road.

Among his vivid memories are the Milwaukee plank road with the Snell toll gates, the days when every twenty feet of wooden sidewalk had a different level, and the difficulty encountered by funeral processions on the way to St. Adalbert's cemetery.

"It was possible for the funeral procession to come as far as Lawrence avenue on the street car tracks," Mr. Barry recalls. "At that point they boarded the North Western train to Norwood Park. From there, the casket was carried to the cemetery on the shoulders of the pall bearers.

"The old Milwaukee avenue was a cow path—a road used by stock drivers and truck gardeners to and from the city. The planks were needed, for there was no bottom to the mud."

Today, Milwaukee avenue, with its paving and traffic and its business houses of all types has the same characteristics of activity in Jefferson Park as elsewhere. The city, in its northwest growth, has pushed past and far beyond.

Population Doubles.

"It was about 1914," says Mr. Barry," that the changing of truck farms into subdivisions began. There has been a doubling in population here every year since. Between 1921 and 1924, some of the property changed hands so fast it was hard to keep track of it. Milwaukee avenue property that could have been bought for $50 a front foot when I first came out here is today worth $1,500 a front foot."

Mr. Barry's hobby has been the Business Men's association, which seeks to promote the community and immediate neighborhood and encourage the residents to trade at home.

Among the organization's accomplishments has been the regulation of closing hours for places of business to which the community has conformed, the paving of alleys, the installation of street lights and stop lights at main crossing, and the annual distribution of charity through the Altury club—a women's group, and the backing of the $112,000 community house now under construction by the Jefferson Park district board.

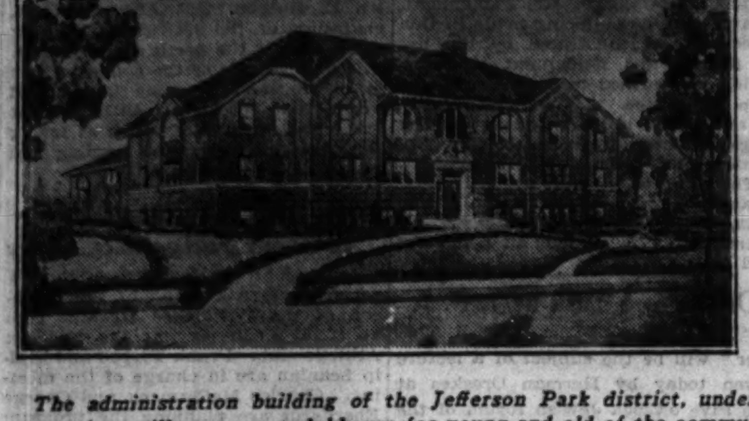
Hold Monthly Luncheons.

During the winter, the association holds its monthly luncheons in the recreation room of the new Jefferson Park Congregational church, of which the Rev. Lewis A. Convis is pastor. In summer, the club holds its session at various Fox lake resorts.

The association, which has 150 members and is non-political in nature, is planning a smoker for its meeting this week. The April meeting will include women at an annual banquet to be held at Rainbo Gardens, if the custom of previous years is followed.

Newton Jenkins is president of the association; Jacob Molay, first vice president; Fred Kirchhoff, second vice president; Otto Gorski, third vice president; Adam Emerich, fourth vice president; P. J. Barry, secretary; C. O. Milner, financial secretary; William J. Schroeder, treasurer; Louis Knobe, sergeant at arms; Rodney D. Andrews, chairman of the executive board.

Club for All Jefferson Park



The administration building of the Jefferson Park district, under construction, will serve as a clubhouse for young and old of the community. Clarence Hatzfeld is the architect, and this rendering is by L. B. Sugarman.

JEFFERSON PARK STARTS $112,000 CIVIC CENTER

Landscaping Work to Begin Soon.

One of the most modern and best equipped community building in Chicago, surrounded by eight acres of playground facilities, will be ready for use by Jefferson Park residents this summer.

This announcement was made yesterday by President Abner G. Erickson of the Jefferson Park district. Construction of the $112,000 community building in Jefferson Park, Higgins, and Long avenues, has been begun, and landscaping of the surrounding park site will be started within a few weeks, he reported.

To Remodel Old Structure.

When the new building is completed the present structure will be remodeled for use as a woman's community house, available for club meetings and social activities of Jefferson Park women, he added.

The new community building will be an architectural combination of the old English and the colonial styles, and will include a basement and two stories, all devoted to community activities.

In the basement will be a large banquet hall, a kitchen, showers for men and women, and a playroom for children to be used in rainy weather.

Ready by Aug. 1.

The first floor will include a fully equipped gymnasium, a clubroom, a boardroom, and offices for the commissioners, a public library, and comfortable lounge rooms for men and women. On the second floor there will be a large assembly hall with equipped stage and dressing rooms, and a small kitchen for use at dances and large social affairs not held in the basement banquet hall. Mr. Erickson predicts that the building and the landscaping will be completed by Aug. 1.

The park is being landscaped at a cost of between $15,000 and $20,000, he added. It will include athletic fields for baseball and football, a running track, and tennis and horseshoe courts.

ISABELLANS TO HOLD BOWLING MEET MARCH 30

The fifth annual bowling tournament of the Ladies of Isabella will be held at Bensinger's alleys, 31 East Congress street, at 2 o'clock March 30. A diamond pin will be awarded the bowler receiving the highest score. Mrs. Mary King of the Columbia council is general chairman of the event. She is assisted by Miss Sadie O'Connor of the Rosary council, Miss Julia Holden, Madrigal council; Miss Marie Matkin, Rosary council; Mrs. John Rolinger, Columbia council; Mrs. Jessie Culligan, Columbia council; Miss Irene Holden, Madrigal council; Miss Eva Stederm, DeSota council; Miss Marie Zimmerman, Lafayette council; Miss Catherine Salika, Cardinal council; and Mrs. Mary Wickers, Perez council.

Oak Park High to Hold Open House on March 27

Annual open house will be held at the Oak Park High school on next Thursday evening, March 27. Many of the departments will be open to inspection. The physical education departments of the school held an exhibition in the fieldhouse Friday evening. The girls and boys alternated in acts presenting exercises, pyramid building, folk dances and drills. Mrs. Florence Griffin Martin is head of the girls' gymnasium department, and Glenn Holmes has charge of the boys' work.

WINS RESEARCH FELLOWSHIP FOR YEAR IN LONDON

Wilton Marion Krogman, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Krogman, 229 South Kenilworth avenue, Oak Park, has been appointed to a foreign research fellowship for 1930-1931 by the National Research council at Washington, D. C. He is required to prosecute the fellowship at the Royal College of Surgeons in London, England.

Mr. Krogman is an instructor in physical anthropology and archaeology at the University of Chicago, from which institution he will be granted a year's leave of absence commencing in August. The proposed research will be concerned with problems in racial craniology and comparative neurology. While in London he will be associated with Sir Arthur Keith, anatomist; Sir Frank Colyer, adontologist, and Dr. G. Elliott Smith, neurologist and Egyptologist.

Although his work will center at the Royal college in London, he will also consult scientific leaders in Munich, Amsterdam, Berlin, and Paris. During the year's course Mr. Krogman hopes to uncover evidence that will throw considerable light on racial evolution and differentiation.

BAPTIST WOMEN SUPPORT HOOVER ON ENFORCEMENT

More than 600 representatives of 51 churches throughout the county met at the Austin Baptist church last Tuesday afternoon for the monthly meeting of the Woman's Baptist Mission union of the Chicago association. The Rev. A. B. Machlin, the Rev. M. P. Boynton, Miss Elsie Kappen, and the Rev. George D. Allison were the speakers. Mrs. B. M. Hamilton was in charge of the musical program. A resolution was unanimously adopted commending President Hoover for the attitude he has taken in regard to law enforcement as expressed in his message to congress, Dec. 3, 1929.

Harry A. Altheide Heads Humboldt Park Gan Club

At a recent meeting of the Humboldt Park Gun club at the clubrooms, 2405 West North avenue, Harry A. Altheide was elected president; William Boening, vice president, and Martin W. Montgomery, secretary and treasurer. Mr. Altheide was formerly president of the Humboldt Park chapter, No. 73, Izaak Walton League of America. The equipment of the organization includes seven 75 foot rifle ranges and two 60 foot pistol ranges.

Bellwood Citizens' Club Elects Ernest Hagerman

Ernest Hagerman has been elected president of the Bellwood Citizens' club. J. H. Slinger is the new vice president; Henry J. Van Dellen, secretary, and Ivan W. Dressander, treasurer. The directors, all of whom were reëlected, include J. H. Slingerland, William C. Gallaway, I. C. Hendrickson, Alfred Ingolsby, Mr. Hagerman and Ralph Goggins.

VILLA PARK CLUB FORMS TO RAISE MORE FLOWERS

The Villa Park Woman's club is organizing a Civic Garden club for the community. More than 50 members enrolled at the first meeting. Many other applications are on file, so that the membership will probably be doubled by the end of the month, according to Mrs. Frank Dunbar, president.

The purpose of the organization, as pointed out by the founders, is to "raise more flowers, make better lawns, and transform Villa Park into a much more desirable place to live."

The club voted to donate 1,500 elm trees to the school children to be planted on Arbor day. A flower show, lectures, and varied programs will be given at regular intervals.

Stop Light Is Ordered.

A stop and go light is to be installed at California avenue and Madison street by order of the city council. Ald. George M. Maypole [28th] introduced the order.

Glen Ellyn Library to Honor Mrs. C. B. Hopper

The Glen Ellyn Free Public library will give a tea at the library this afternoon in compliment to Mrs. Charles B. Hopper, and other former members of the library board. Mrs. Hopper, whose home is now in Traverse City, Mich., was connected with the village library when it began as an association in 1907. She was a member of the board for 13 years, and was instrumental in bringing the Carnegie appropriation of $10,000 to the village.

Dr. Marquardt to Speak at Luncheon in Elmhurst

The Elmhurst Hospital auxiliary will celebrate its first birthday Thursday with a luncheon at 1 o'clock in the Community house. There will be an address by Dr. E. W. Marquardt followed by musical numbers. Mrs. Nettie C. Kenner, grand secretary of the Order of the Eastern Star, will speak on "Service to Others."

"Every one along Ashland avenue and in that vicinity is anxious to have the bond issue passed," said M. S. Szymczak, clerk of the Superior court and vice president of the Northwestern Trust and Savings bank. "Business and real estate have been dead, and the sooner the street can be put in shape the better it will be for all concerned."

J. J. Krause, vice president of the Home Bank and Trust company, 1200 North Ashland avenue, says that business has suffered generally as a result of the delayed action. "If the city had not started it, all right; but, now that it has, it should go through with it. I am working with the West Side Through Streets association for the passage of the bond issue."

Bank Hidden from View.

A new bank building for the Home Bank and Trust company was completed last fall on a building line 27 feet from the existing curb, while the building next to the new structure on the north is only 10 feet from the curb. Thus the bank is hidden from the view of passers-by until the street is widened and the old buildings set back to the new line.

"For ten years we have been awaiting this improvement," pointed out H. A. Brown, president of the Squire-Dingee company, Ashland boulevard and Cortland street. "We are unable to build or improve our factory until Ashland avenue is widened. The whole character of the street will be improved 100 per cent."

GARDEN GROUP OF GLEN ELLYN WILL BEAUTIFY STATION

Flowers and cool green lawns will greet Glen Ellyn visitors this summer, according to plans of the Scilla chapter, Glen Ellyn Garden club, an organization active in the civic beautification movement. The parkway surrounding the Chicago, Aurora, and Elgin station is to be landscaped and turned into a beauty spot.

Scilla chapter will exhibit a "before and after" railway park garden at the central states garden and flower show at Chicago Stadium April 5. According to E. W. Peterson, chairman of the chapter, and Mrs. Heller, in charge of the exhibit, it will show the parkway as it is now and immediately adjoining will be shown the same ground after landscaping and planting with flowers, with the station in the background. The plans used at the garden show will later be used in beautifying the station park at Glen Ellyn.

BISHOP WELCH WILL BE SUNDAY EVENING SPEAKER

Bishop Herbert Welch of the Methodist Episcopal church of Pittsburgh will speak on "Service and Freedom" before the Sunday Evening club at Orchestra hall tonight. The program, beginning at 7:30 o'clock, will be broadcast over WMAQ.

President Clifford W. Barnes will open the meeting with a short address, which will be followed by a selection by the club quartet and an informal Bible talk by Dr. William R. Moody of Northfield Schools, Mass.

An organ recital of classical music will be given by Stanley Martin and a group of anthems will be sung by the choir of 125 voices under the direction of Edgar Nelson. A scripture reading by S. Raymond Thornburg will be followed by Bishop Welch's address.

LOUISE HOMER PREFERS HYMNS TO RADIO JAZZ

Another victory has been scored by Judge Ira E. Robinson of the federal radio commission in his contention that the average listener would rather hear an old fashioned hymn over the radio than 95 per cent of the songs broadcast.

The latest indorsement comes from Mme. Louise Homer, famous contralto.

"You asked whether I agree with Judge Robinson or not," Mme. Homer says. "I cannot speak from the standpoint of the audience, but speaking for myself I can only say that I would rather sing an old fashioned hymn over the radio than anything else!"

EDWARD JOHNSON WILL SING OVER W-G-N AT 8:15

Edward Johnson, American tenor of the Metropolitan Opera company, will sing over W-G-N, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE station on the Drake hotel, and the National Broadcasting company network at 8:15 o'clock tonight.

Mr. Johnson's program will provide a unique opportunity to demonstrate the versatility of his sense of music and drama and will include the famous "Prize Song" from Wagner's "Der Meistersinger." Among his other numbers will be an aria from Gounod's "Romeo and Juliet," the famous tenor aria from "Pagliacci," and ballads and folk songs.

Golden Gloves Finals on W-G-N Wednesday

The winners of Golden Gloves in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S annual amateur boxing tournament at the Coliseum during the last month will meet the winners of a New York Daily News tournament conducted in New York, Wednesday night at the Chicago Stadium. The contest is to be broadcast, blow by blow, from W-G-N, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE station on the Drake hotel. The broadcast will go on the air at 8:30 and will continue until the championship of each class has been determined.

Signal Corps Transmits Entire Map Over Radio

A new use for radio by the United States army has been discovered by the communications personnel of the 108th infantry, the Signal Corps has revealed. It is the sending of a map by radio. The map was transmitted, copied and delivered in "astonishing short time," it was reported, and checking revealed that it was received "with great accuracy."

WHO'S BIGGEST FAN? 8 RADIOS IN WHITE HOUSE

BY LORENZ WOLTERS.

Who is the person most likely to have eight radio sets in his home? Graham McNamee? Rudy Vallee? Wrong! It is President Hoover. Since his inauguration a year ago there has been a constant procession of radio sets along Pennsylvania avenue into the White House. And now there are eight. High powered sets, too, and some of them said to be custom built.

President Hoover has been a radio enthusiast since the industry was in its infancy. While secretary of commerce, he promulgated the Dill-White radio control measure. He speaks expertly over the radio, about radio and is just as adept as a radio listener.

During the past two months, the President has been mainly interested, it is said, in the international broadcasts of the London Naval conference. When King George spoke, the President was at the dial long before 5 a. m. But he cares for other broadcasts, too. Light opera intrigues him, and there are several harmony teams on the air whom he is said to tune in regularly. Foot ball broadcasts are also to his liking.

Allan Likes Jazz.

It may be that Allan Hoover has something to do with the number of sets in the White House. At any rate, the President's youngest son goes for the dance bands, it is said. When he is at the White House he turns on the nearest set. Then if he moves to another part of the executive mansion, he tries another. In consequence there is sometimes work to do for the White House servant staff.

New sets make their debut in the President's bedroom, or study, it is told, ultimately finding their way downstairs and thence into the basement.

Mrs. Hoover also enjoys radio entertainment and has a set in her bedroom. Two of the other bedrooms have sets, there is a set on the first floor which may be heard from the dining room and there are several sets hidden below the stairs.

No Wire Entanglements.

Though the White House is amply equipped to bring in everything from London bedtime tales to setting up exercises from Los Angeles there is no wire entanglement a top the executive mansion. Some of the aerials are of the type easily hidden indoors. Three aerials however have been strung from the roof to the tops of big trees; these are of such fine wire that they are scarcely discernible unless one knows just where to look for them.

Competition is keen among radio manufacturers to land a set in the White House. Of course acceptance entails a guaranty that it will not be advertised in any shape or form. But there is a certain satisfaction for any manufacturer to "sell" the President. And there are guests at the White House who may recognize that superior tone, if not the trade mark.

The President listens to the radio, too, at his Rapidan camp. And on his fishing excursions he sometimes carries along a portable if there is something he wishes to hear during the day. On his tour to South America, the President tuned in from time to time on battleship sets.

All of which suggests that when better radio sets are built, President Hoover probably will have one.

Radio Serves in Storm.

During a severe storm and tidal wave recently in the Bristol Bay district of Alaska, the signal corps maintained the only contact with the stricken area, and the outside world from its station at Kanakanak, Dillingham, Alaska, which operated in a subzero temperature, handling relief message traffic.

Richard Grometer Heads E. Aurora High Council

Richard Grometer was recently elected president of the student council of East Aurora High school. Jack Ruddy was chosen vice president, and Miss Elda Garbe secretary. Plans are being made for the annual "roughneck day" party sponsored by the council and to be held at the school Friday. The committee in charge of this event is composed of Miss Garbe, Mr. Ruddy, Miss Louise Patzold, Sherrill Parsons, and Douglas Waldo.

Pick New Director of J. P. I. Music School

Adolph Pick, violinist and conductor, formerly of the Berne Conservatory of Music, Switzerland, recently became director of the music school of the Jewish People's institute, 1500 Douglas boulevard. Mr. Pick will take charge of the institute orchestra and will organize small groups for the study and presentation of chamber music.

ETTA GARSON'S CHILD'S BOOK ON BIRDS PUBLISHED

Mrs. Etta Corbett Garson, 207 South Ridgeland avenue, Oak Park, has written a book, "Featherland," which is just off the press. It is a story for children dealing with the protection of birds. Mrs. Garson was born in Oak Park and has been a resident of the village most of her life. As a child she lived on a farm in Missouri, where she became very much interested in birds and animals. For several years she was supervisor of art in the Oak Park public schools, but she gave up this work to write. Mrs. Garson is a graduate of the Art institute and has studied abroad. She is a member of the Allied Arts association, the Friends of American Landscape, the All Illinois Society of Fine Arts, the Austin, River Forest, and Oak Park Art league, the Writers' guild, and Illinois Woman's Press association.

CLEVER PLAY SAVES GAME IN RADIO BRIDGE

Overtakes Partner's Trick to Lead Singleton.

TUESDAY'S HANDS

The eighteenth bridge by radio game to be broadcast by W-G-N, The Chicago Tribune station on the Drake hotel, Tuesday at 3:30 p. m. will feature four widely known bridge players. In the south Lieut. Alfred M. Gruenther, U. S. A., will be paired with Mrs. Harry B. Jones of Youngstown, O., while opposing them will be Ely Culbertson of New York City in the east, with Mrs. Isabel Jenkins of Ottawa, Canada, as his partner. They will hold the following cards:

Next Sunday a summary of this hand will appear exclusively in this paper. It is suggested that the readers clip these summaries and thus keep a permanent record of the hands as broadcast. These cannot be secured other than through The Chicago Tribune.

Among the noted participants in the seventeenth of the series of radio bridge games was Thomas H. Avery, of Le Roy, New York, who has been the most consistent of winners in the various prize bridge contests that have been held in the last half dozen years. This game went on the air last Tuesday from W-G-N, The Chicago Tribune station, with Mrs. Douglas J. Torrey of Pasadena, Cal., Mrs. Frank Evans of Philadelphia, Pa., and R. E. Needham of Greenville, Pa., completing the players. They held the following cards:

Mr. Needham opened the auction with one spade, a bid which would have been sound had his hand contained only one side trick instead of the two it did have, in addition to the five spades headed by king-queen. Mrs. Evans, west, made a following bid of two hearts. Her six card heart suit lacked a quick trick at its head, but it was topped by a king-ten, and it had a king-queen-ten on the side. Mrs. Torrey, north, bid two spades. Mr. Avery, east, was forced to pass. He had two aces which would have justified him in raising his partner's bid, had he had normal support in the heart suit; but with only a singleton heart he dared not do so. His five card club suit was too weak to mention; nor was a no trump justified with only one stopper in the adverse suit and only one other trick in the hand. Mr. Needham, south, of course, passed his partner's raise, and Mrs. Evans, west, was unable to go further without assistance from her partner. So Mr. Needham, south, became declarer with his contract two spades.

Opens King of Diamonds.

Mrs. Evans, west, led the king of diamonds, unquestionably her best opening. She did not wish to lead from a king suit which she had bid and her partner had failed to support; a worthless doubleton is always an unattractive suit to lead unless it has been bid by the partner; and her singleton trump was not to be considered as a lead. From Mrs. Torrey's hand, which became dummy, declarer played the 5 of diamonds, but Mr. Avery, east, before playing, paused to consider the situation. He held two aces, one of them in the trump suit, and his partner had bid two hearts. Of course the ace, queen, jack of hearts in dummy dispelled any hope that west would win a trick in her suit, and barred any thought that east might have had of leading it for the purpose of establishing it. But Mr. Avery saw a way to save game if south, the declarer, had two diamonds and would have to follow suit twice. With the ace of diamonds in east's hand, west's lead of the king showed that west had the queen; that fact insured two diamond tricks and an entry in the west hand. The trump ace insured another trick, and a fourth [game saving] trick could be secured if east could ruff a heart. Accordingly east overtook west's diamond king with the ace so as to secure the lead. Declarer played the 8 of diamonds, false carding to create the impression that he had only the one diamond.

Mr. Avery, east, led the 9 of hearts to trick two; declarer, south, played the 3; west the deuce, and dummy, north, won with the jack. Dummy then led the jack of spades; east played the deuce; declarer the king; west the 4. East did not play the ace on this trick because there was no hurry about carrying out his scheme to ruff, and there was a remote chance that west had a singleton queen, which might win if the ace were held up.

East's Plan Saves Game.

Declarer continued trumps with the 3 of spades; west played the 4 of hearts; dummy the 7 of spades, and east won with the ace. Then east led the deuce of diamonds, declarer played the 4; west the queen, and dummy the 6.

Mrs. Evans, west, then led the 6 of hearts, the suit her partner had earnestly requested when he overtook her first trick and led hearts up to the ace, queen, jack in dummy. Declarer played dummy's queen, since the king was clearly marked in west's hand; east ruffed with the 6 of spades; declarer played the 5 of hearts.

To trick seven east led the 5 of clubs, which declarer won with the king. West played the 4; dummy the 8. Declarer then spread his hand face up on the table and claimed the rest of the tricks, which obviously were his. He scored 27 for three tricks, one more than his contract, but one less than game; so above the line he scored only 40 for four honors divided.

In discussing the bidding of the hand, Mr. Work stated that in his opinion Mrs. Evans was clearly right in naming her long weak hearts, with but one trick on the side; and Mr. Avery also was right in not naming his clubs, although he had two side aces. At first thought it might seem as if there were some inconsistency in this criticism, but Mrs. Evans had a six card suit headed by king, ten, whereas Mr. Avery's was only a five card suit, ten high. Had he bid clubs and had spades become the trump, Mrs. Evans doubtless would have opened clubs, which seemed to Mr. Avery the most disadvantageous lead she could make. When considering a suit bid, it always is well to do as Mr. Avery did in this case and weigh its possibilities for weal or woe as a lead indicator.

In this particular hand, a club lead by Mrs. Evans would not have proved expensive in the way Mr. Avery feared it might; that is, it would not have sacrificed the king or queen of clubs in Mr. Avery's hand, since she held neither one. But it would have cost game because the first trick would have been won by declarer, who would then have established his trumps, so that all of Mr. Avery's would have been drawn before he had an opportunity to make the game saving ruff.

Expertly Carried Out.

Mr. Avery's plan to make the ruff was expertly conceived and carried out. He knew that his overtaking of the first trick, and his lead of the heart up to the ace, queen, jack, apparently the most foolish lead a player could make, would clearly indicate to his partner that he was leading a singleton and was anxious to ruff that suit. As he had the ace of trumps, there was no danger of his scheme failing by reason of the trumps being drawn before he had a chance to ruff; the one remote chance of its failure was that declarer would have only a singleton diamond.

LEE DE FOREST TO TALK OVER W-G-N ON TELEVISION

Reconstruct First Radio Broadcast Friday.

DR. LEE DE FOREST

Dr. Lee De Forest, famous radio pioneer and inventor, is to participate in a reconstruction of the first radio broadcast, at 8:30 p. m. Friday, from W-G-N, The Chicago Tribune station on the Drake hotel. De Forest's broadcast from the Metropolitan Opera house in New York a decade ago is claimed as the earliest.

Quin Ryan will introduce De Forest, who will talk on the mechanical aspects of radio and the talking pictures, and the probabilities of practical television.

A world's premier program—a forty-five minute presentation of the compositions of Mme. Mathilde von Oesteren Moddy, a pianist of Plaun, Saxony—is scheduled for 4:45 this afternoon. Her orchestral selections will be played by the W-G-N Symphony orchestra, under the direction of Gaston du Moulin. The compositions for voice will be sung by two of W-G-N's staff artists, Helen Thomas Bucher, soprano, and Mark Love, basso.

Sping on Tonight.

Sping, reader, impersonator, and man about the theater, selects a few of his choicest readings for 7:45 tonight. With the assistance of special musical arrangements he will give A. A. Milne's, "The King's Breakfast," a children's operetta.

A series of weekly programs dealing with activities of universities in the vicinity of Chicagoland begins at 9 tomorrow night. The speaker tomorrow will be President David Kinley of the University of Illinois. College music will be played and sung.

Indian Chief to Sing.

In celebration of St. Patrick's day the Leroy Wetzel singers have been engaged for appearance at 9:30 tomorrow night. Wetzel is one of Chicago's outstanding musical figures, formerly director of the Paulist choristers. He is now director of the choral activities of the cathedral in Springfield.

Radio for Two Universities.

For experimental radio operations in connection with courses in radio engineering, the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Dartmouth, Mass., and the Ohio State university, Columbus, have been granted permits to erect experimental transmitting stations by the radio commission.

World Premier program features four stars

LOVE
DU MOULIN

AN all-star bill that should leave the critics gasping is the world premier program of the works of Mme. Mathilde von Oesteren Moody on the Musical Melange today. Gaston du Moulin directs the W-G-N Symphony Orchestra playing orchestral compositions. The works for voice are to be sung by Miss Helen Tho Bucher, soprano, and Mark Love, basso. Mme. Moody is a countess by birth and extremely competent musician by training; she received the gold medal at Quee hall, London, at the age of fourteen. Since concluding concert tours in three c tinents, she has turned to the arts of composition. Mark Love is staff vocalist station W-G-N, known both here and abroad. Helen Thomas Bucher is one Chicagoland's most accomplished sopranos. The Musical Melange, 4:45.

New Song by Young on Goldkette hour

Jean Goldkette's W-G-N Orchestra, the royalty of the dance band world, promises pretty musical meanderings on their 11 o'clock program tonight. Vic Young's new song (which, by the way, is a lulu), "Was I to Blame for Falling in Love With You?" makes its debut. Individual members of the band unfold some snappy solos. It's a big show with the fastest moving, freest, and sweetest music of the sort on the air. Other Goldkette revelry during the afternoon, first at 1:30 and again at 4:00.

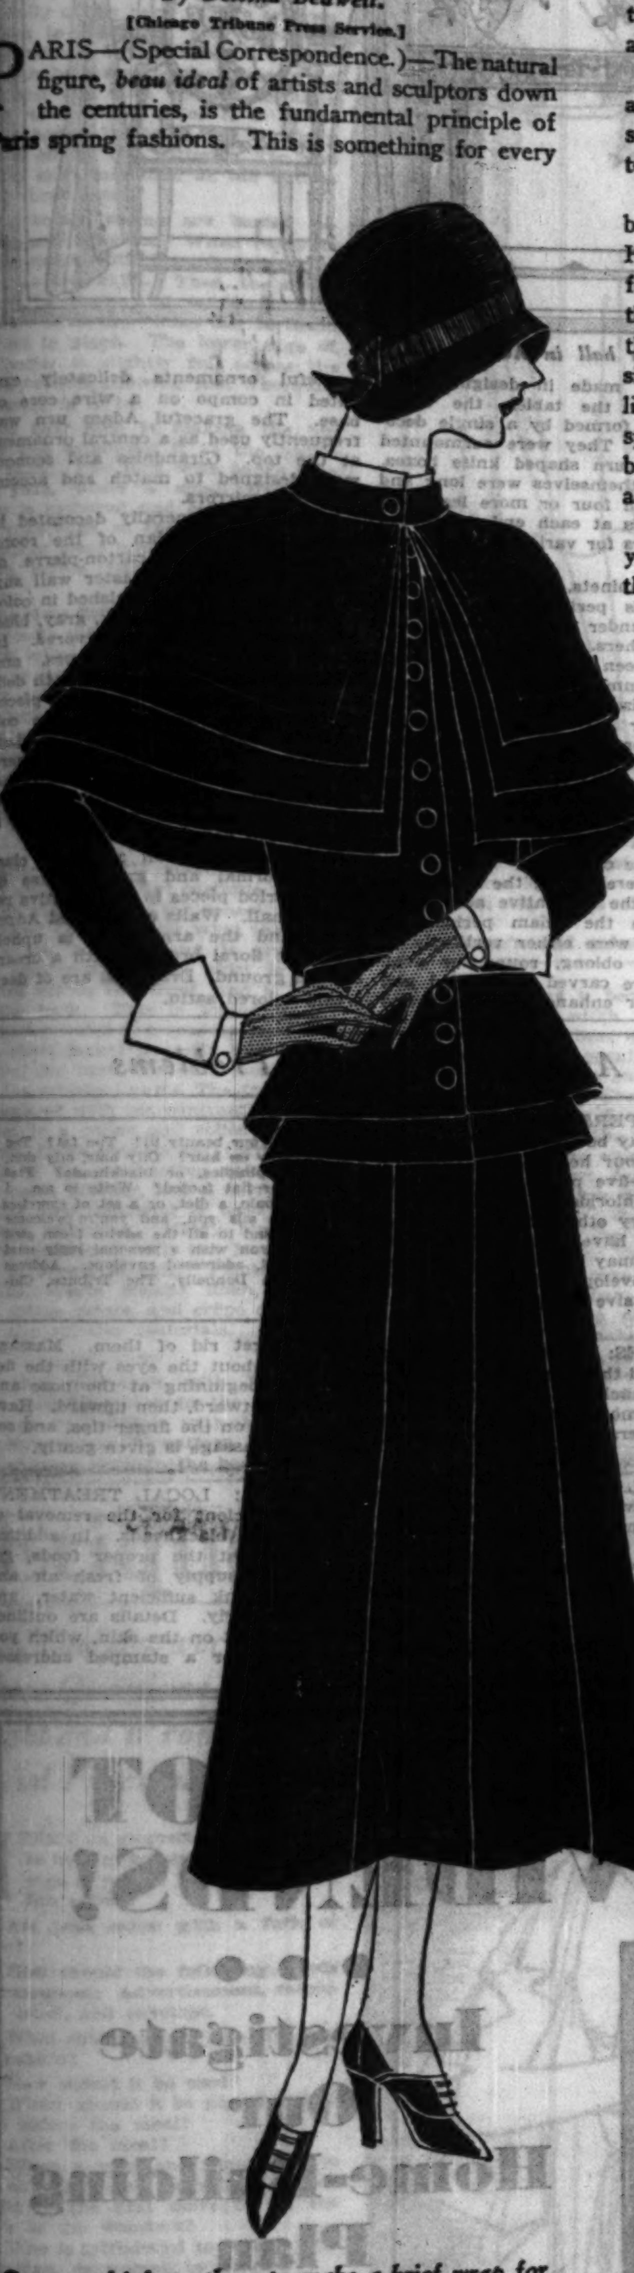
SPRING FASHIONS STRESS THE NATURAL FIGURE

Modes Are Back to an Honest-to-Goodness Foundation Once More, and Each Smart Woman Dresses to Suit Her Own Type

By Bettina Bedwell.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS—(Special Correspondence.)—The natural figure, beau ideal of artists and sculptors down the centuries, is the fundamental principle of Paris spring fashions. This is something for every dressing damsel and every dressmaking potentate to put down in the hard thinking regions of the brain and digest thoroughly.



Capes multiply to three to make a brief wrap for this navy blue wool coat dress seen on the Riviera. Collar and cuffs are of white pique.

The terrible, wordy battles that have been fought all winter against returning the pretty sex to clothes slavery will just naturally cease their tumult when this fact is understood. What Paris intends to do is a continuation of what she began to do last fall when the big fight started, and all the human megaphones got busy, rending the welkin with hideous noises. She has removed the box and lead pencil silhouette and substituted for it a natural one, with the waistline where it ought to be, with outlines copied out of Nature's style book, with hemlines operating on a sliding scale to let us all have the greatest liberty to be beautiful and comfortable, and different at different times of the ride around the clock. Stiff corsets and brush broom hemlines for street and office are not, nor have they ever been, part of the Paris fashion program, as any one who ever saw the Paris style shows will testify.

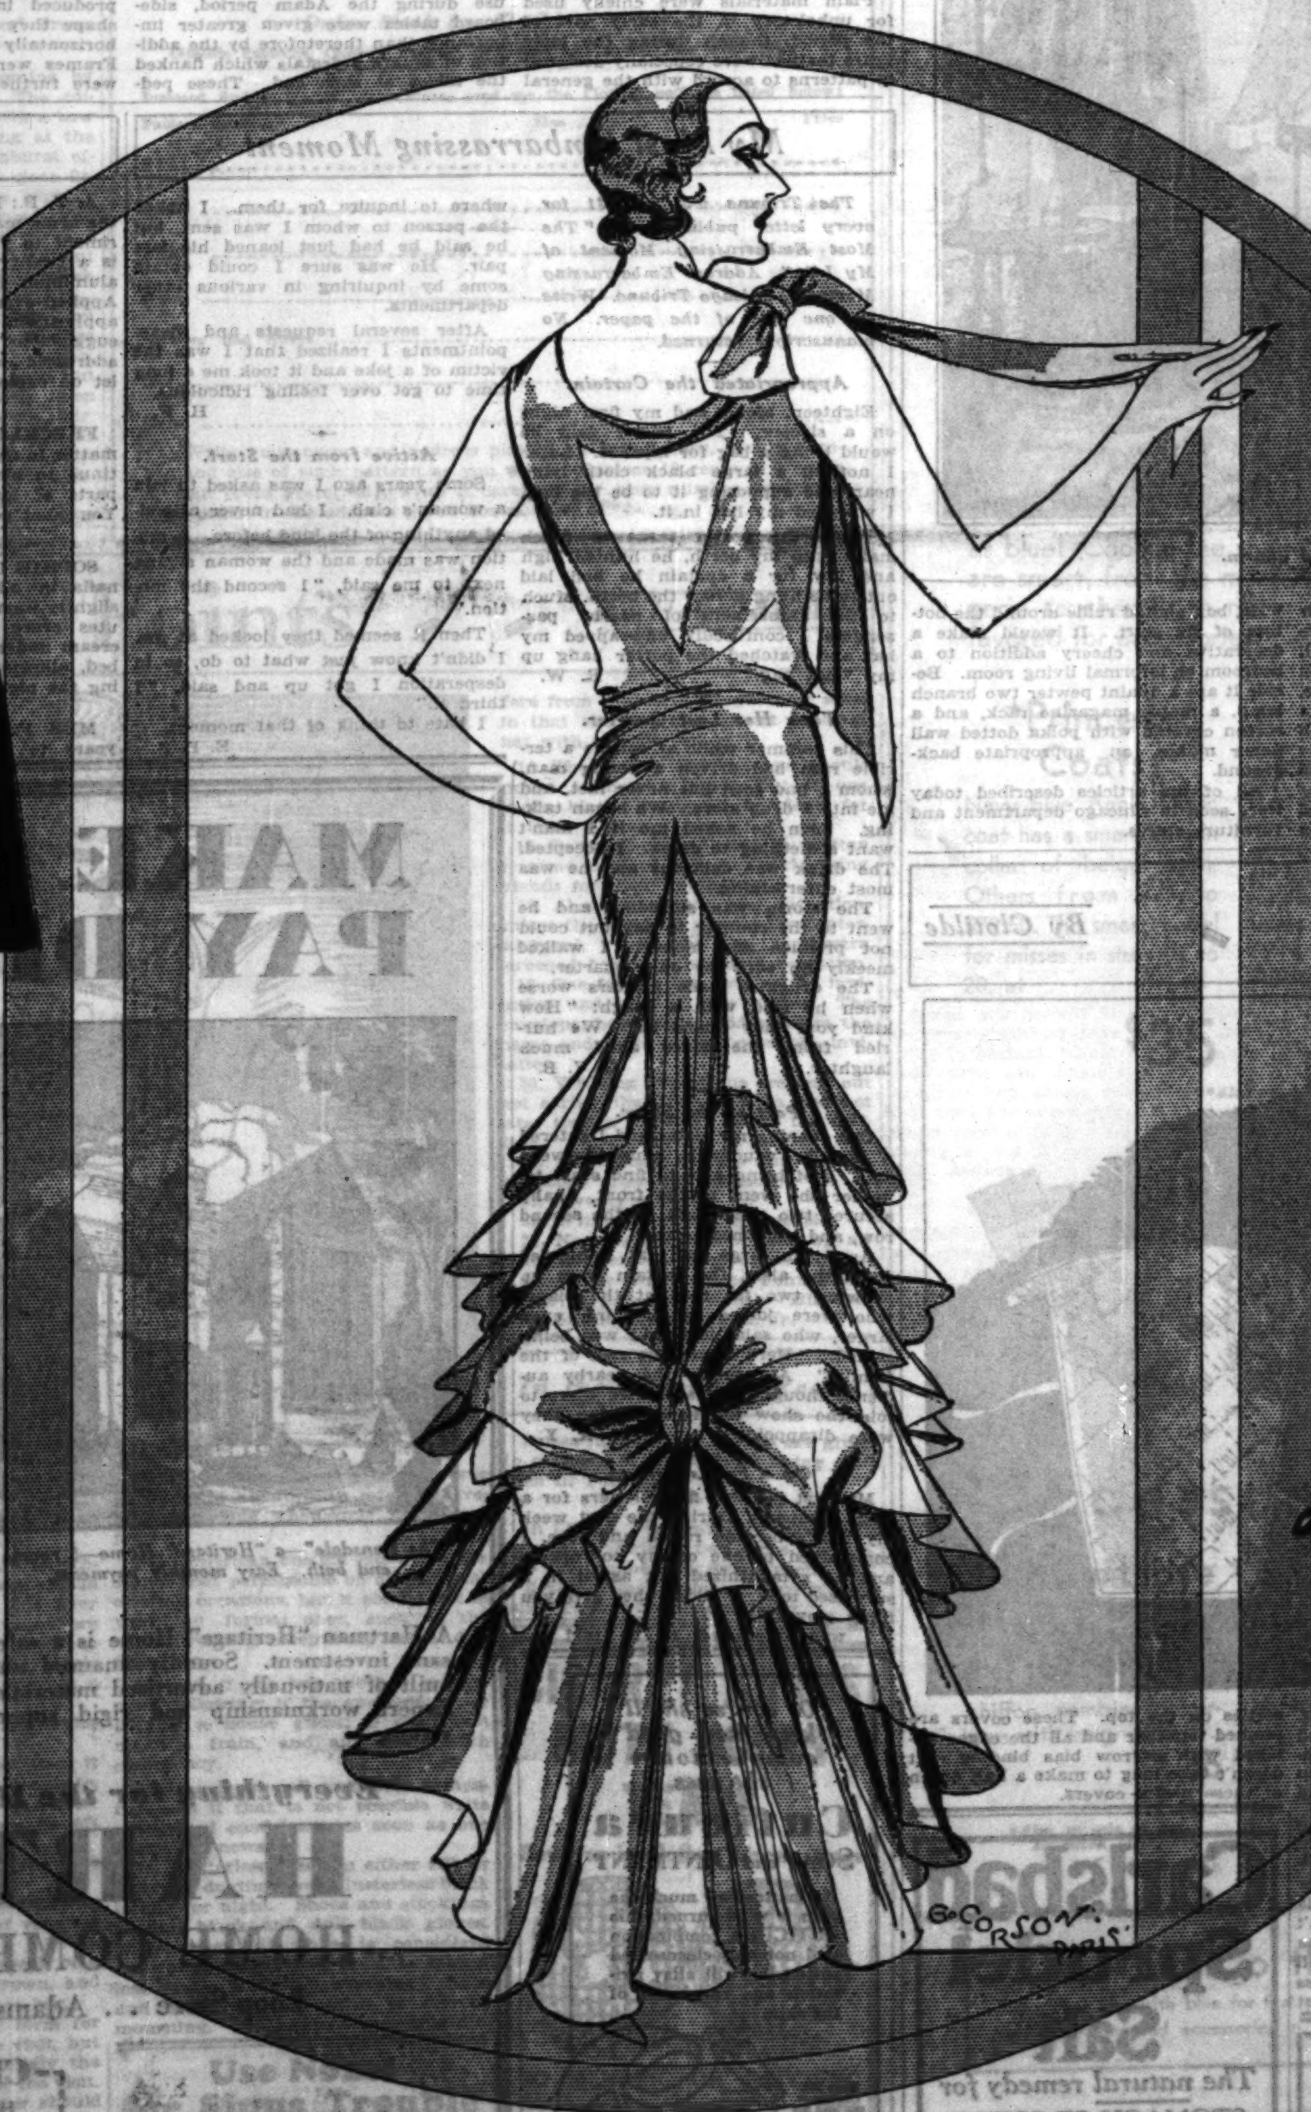
Fashions this spring are back to an honest-to-goodness foundation and this will, of course, mean that women who want to be smart will have to curb their appetites in the interests of waistlines or sleep and eat for the benefit of curves, because smart clothes are going to demonstrate the age-old fact that Nature's masterpiece, the human body can't be improved upon. Styles will do their best to play up to it, and to flatter the faulty, but they aren't proposing to hide or cramp the original mould.

Clever cutting and subtle draping will help many a woman to aid Nature without resorting to any sort of torture. Pliable materials will make it easy to follow beautiful lines.

Proportion will be a thing of greatest importance, because your clothes should correct faulty divisions. Here are the proportions that Jacques Worth gives for the smart spring silhouette, and you can follow them no matter what your height or weight. From the top of your shoulders to the floor is the whole silhouette. Take the measure with an accurate tape line and then divide thus: Give one-fourth of this space to your waist, with the waistline at the lower border of this fourth, and you'll find it falls in exactly the right place.

Give one-half to your skirt, for daytime, and you will also discover that your hemline is just in the right boundry for beauty in relation to the rest of the silhouette. Give the remaining fourth to your stocking, slipper and heels expanse. Your evening skirt may be three-fourths of this silhouette, or it may reach just to the ankles or insteps.

There are multitudes of details that will increase the chic of the silhouette, and enlarge its charm. The spring wrap will be something entirely different from the bulky, fur laden coats we have just laid down. When warmer weather comes there will be shorter jackets than have been seen for many a season—jackets that will occupy no more than the one-fourth alotted to the waist on the smart silhouette.



G. CORSON. PARIS.

This pink taffeta dancing dress has the smart harnessed decollete and a flaring skirt of circular ruffles with an adjustable bow and sash at the back.

For early spring heaps of dressmaker suits with jackets to the hips or somewhat longer will be worn, and these will often have a flowerlike flare from natural waistline to the bottom. And, as said before, there will be heaps and heaps of short capes, capelets and cape-coats, with this feature treated in new ways.

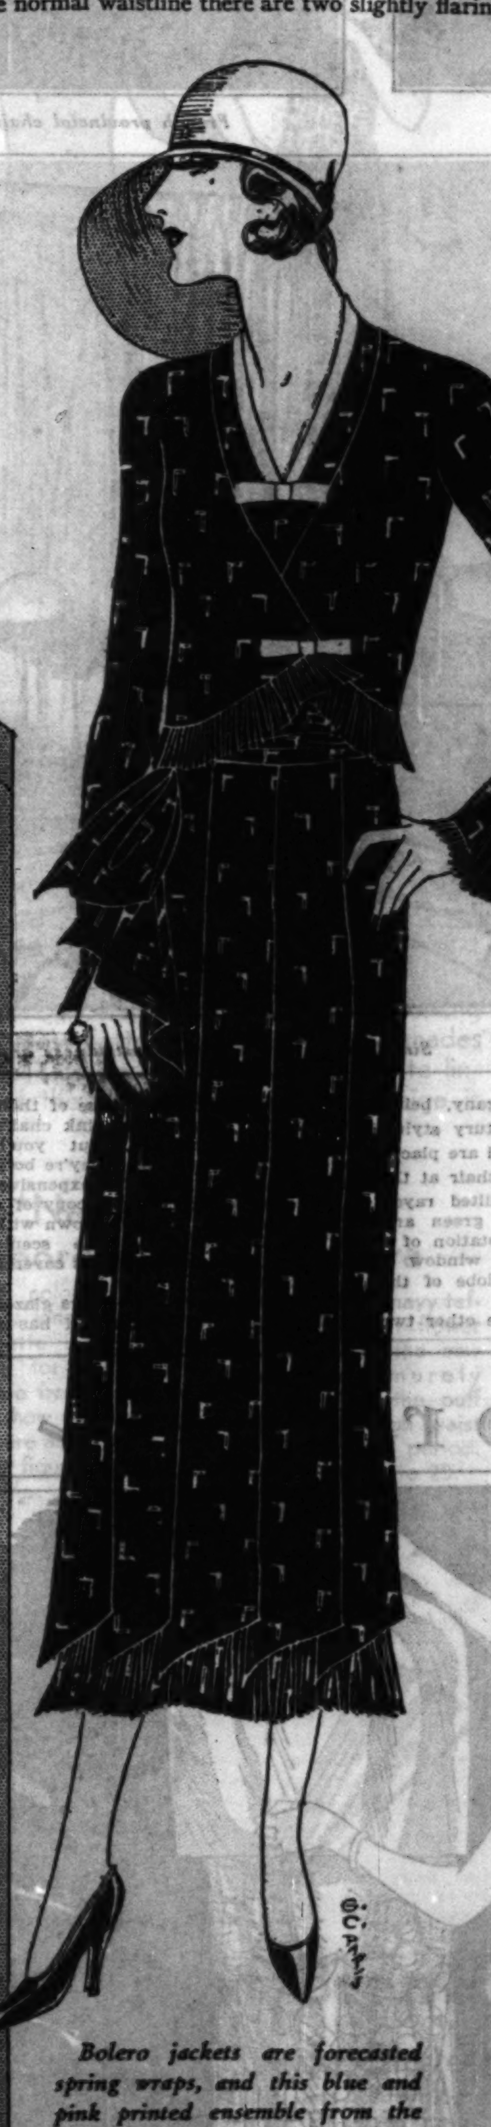
Full length coats will be separate wraps rather than parts of any one fixed ensemble. All this variety, and particularly the preponderance of little wraps will make it much easier for every woman to have complete costumes at less cost. This ensemble assembling will be further facilitated by the quantity of two color ensembles that Paris will endow with the grand chic. Hats will match one of the two colors of the ensemble in most cases, and gloves and stockings will continue their color mating, as before. Bags will match shoes, ensemble or hat depending on where the match is happiest in relation to the rest of the costume.

The black and green dotted wool crepe ensemble from Philippe et Gaston, which is sketched, has black hat, envelope bag and shoes matching the black ground of the material. The half-dollar dots are nile green, and so is the georgette blouse, which is encrusted with black embroidery and hemstitching done in black thread. This is one of the smartest spring dressmaker suits, and the jacket flares from the normal waistline with a circular peplum. There are full length revers at the front closing that tie in a knot with long sash ends at the back. When this jacket is closed it fits the figure under the arms. The circular lower sleeves of the jacket allow glimpses of the bishop sleeves of the green blouse beneath.

The skirt of this suit has a narrow yoke at the top, over which the belt of the blouse goes, and around the sides and back of the lower skirt is a circular ruffle, giving the low flare that is still most fashionable since it emphasizes a curved hipline.

Navy blue and the coat dress arrived in Paris fashion at the same time and they have been coupled to make some of the smartest street ensembles for spring, an excellent example of this combination being sketched from a model seen on the Riviera. Navy blue wool makes the dress and the triple cape that serves as a wrap, buttoning over the white pique standing collar of the dress by a narrow buttoned band. The dress has a fitted blouse with long sleeves, and below the navy blue leather belt at the normal waistline there are two slightly flaring peplums; bodice and peplums button down the center front with blue buttons. Detachable cuffs of white pique lend a decorative air to the long tight sleeves.

The skirt is made up of slightly flaring gores and ends fifteen inches from the floor. Navy blue kid oxfords and a navy blue cloche of neora straw with a white grosgrain ribbon band complete the ensemble.



Bolero jackets are forecasted spring wraps, and this blue and pink printed ensemble from the Cote d'Azur shows one of the most fashionable versions.

The extreme brevity to which the spring jacket can attain is shown in the second Riviera ensemble illustrated. Here the jacket ends at the normal waistline at sides and back, and is cut away a bit above in front to show the draped sash of the dress. This ensemble is made of navy blue jacquard silk with a small pink printed design. The bolero jacket is attached under a pink, flat bow and has a plaited ruffle at the bottom. Its sleeves also have plaited ruffle lowers and is trimmed with pink bows. A pink band and bow are placed at the V neckline of the dress. The straight skirt has a plaited ruffle at the hem and is overlaid with straight, overlapping panels attached to the foundation at one side only.

Pink taffeta dresses reaching to the heels in back are a feature of southern French fashions. One of the prettiest of these dresses is sketched. The natural curves of the upper figure are made the most of by princess fitting and softening drapery at the waistline. The ruffled lower skirt has a panel and bow at the back which can be adjusted to make a sash at hip or waistline.

This black and green dotted wool crepe suit from Philippe et Gaston has the fitted and flared jacket that Paris finds smart for spring.

SNAPSHOTS from the Spring Shows

Bolero jackets are featured spring wraps in the Marthe et Rene collection, and navy and pale blue are favored colors.

Wool and silk shantung in plain and mixed colors are outstanding materials of all the Paris fashion shows for sports and daytime.

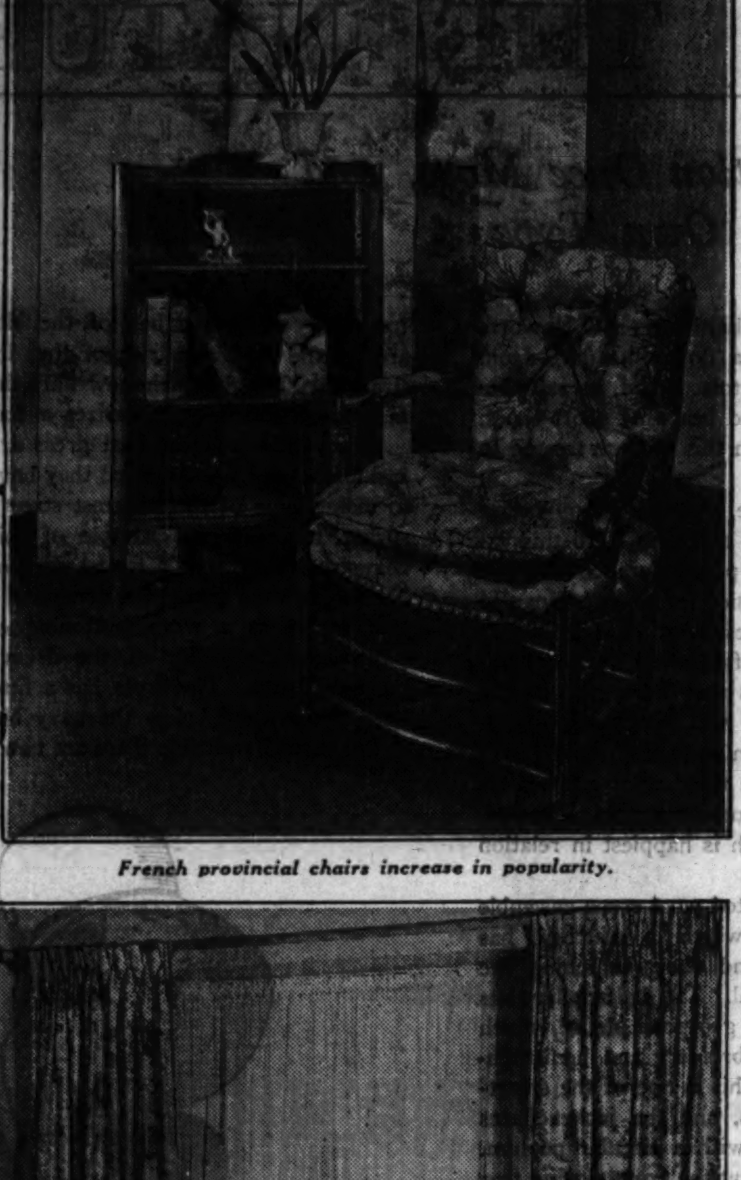
Chantal binds mixed woolen coats to silk dresses of another color by belting the high waistline of the dress with the coat material.

Floral prints in huge designs are used in the first Paris style shows for evening and formal afternoon frocks.

Paris places the daytime skirt length at from fifteen to thirteen inches from the ground in the opening rounds of the great fashion bout for spring. Uneven hemlines come down in front.

Informality Creates Charm

The English type of chair fits in almost anywhere.



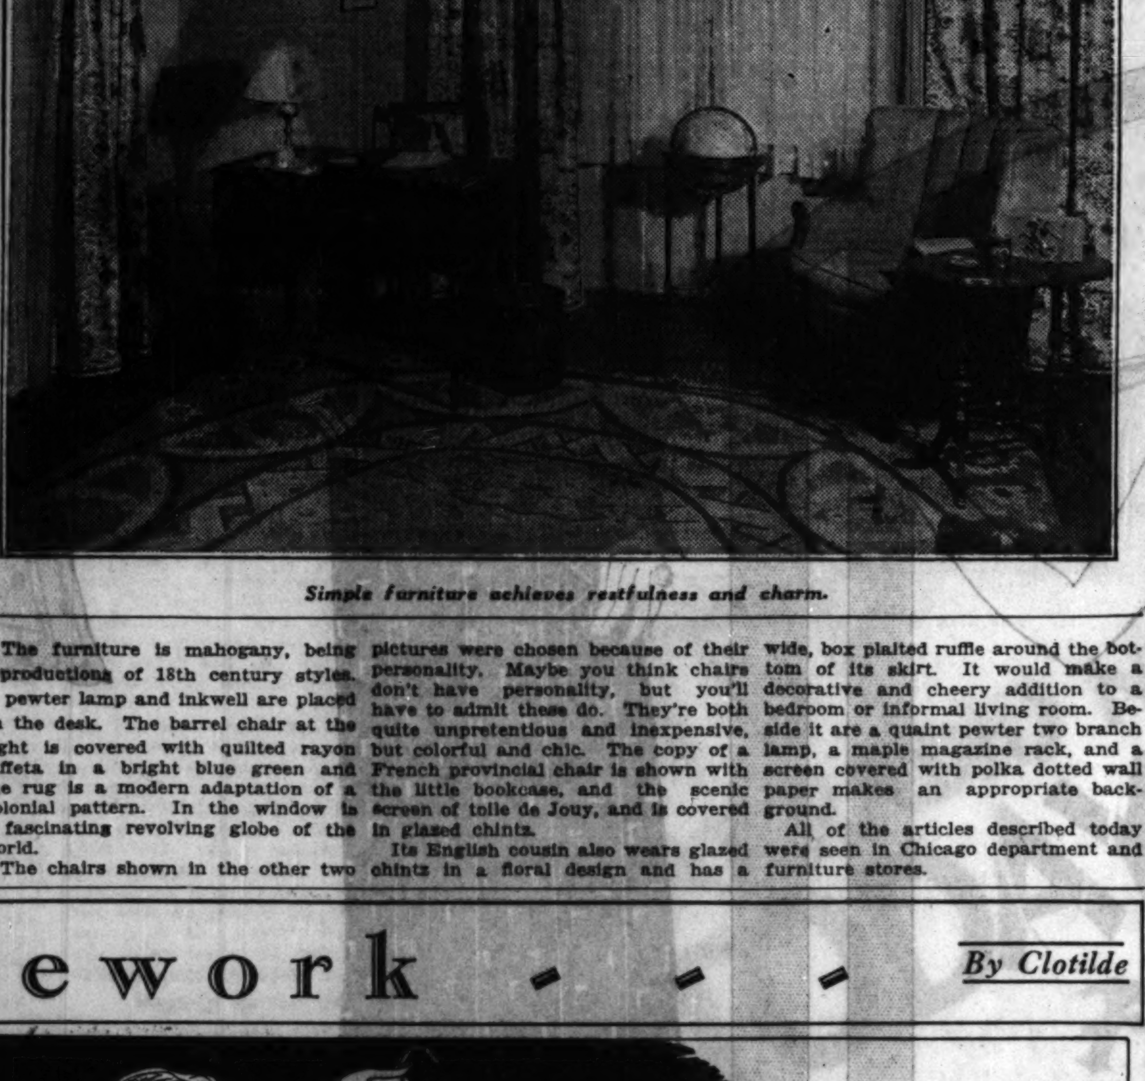
French provincial chairs increase in popularity.

Rooms that Express Their Owners Are to Be Desired Above Cold Perfection in Decoration.

By Edith Weigle

AN air of informality, a lack of pose, is almost sure to create a feeling of charm in the atmosphere of a room. We have all seen houses whose interior decorations was correct from garret to wine cellar, yet they did not stir us. The drawing room was probably perfect as to period style or mingling of periods, yet it lacked something. No expense was spared to make the bedrooms the last word in smart and distinctive furnishings, yet they left you as uninterested as though they were exhibits in a museum of antiquity. Why? Because they lacked personality, flair, chic. They may have been "authentic" and done by so and so, and all that, but what of it? They didn't represent Mr. and Mrs. Jones, who lived there. Their very perfection was their fault.

Fortunately, most of us are so situated that we must fend for ourselves. Good or bad, our homes are us. We planned the color schemes, we bought the furniture—and we probably had to use some that had been in the family for years, too—we decided about the draperies, and we are willing to admit we made mistakes. But at least we had the joy of doing it and the delight of living among our own things.



Simple furniture achieves restfulness and charm.

The living room pictured today has the charm and informality of simple things. There is nothing "arty" about it, nothing coldly impersonal. Because of the large window space the dominant note is achieved by the draperies. These are of glazed chintz in a marine pattern showing ships, sea charts, etc. Notice how simply they are hung, minus any fussy touches, and without a valance or cornice.

The furniture is mahogany, being reproductions of 18th century styles. A pewter lamp and inkwell are placed on the desk. The barrel chair at the right is covered with quilted rayon taffeta in a bright blue green and the rug is a modern adaptation of a colonial pattern. In the window is a fascinating revolving globe of the world.

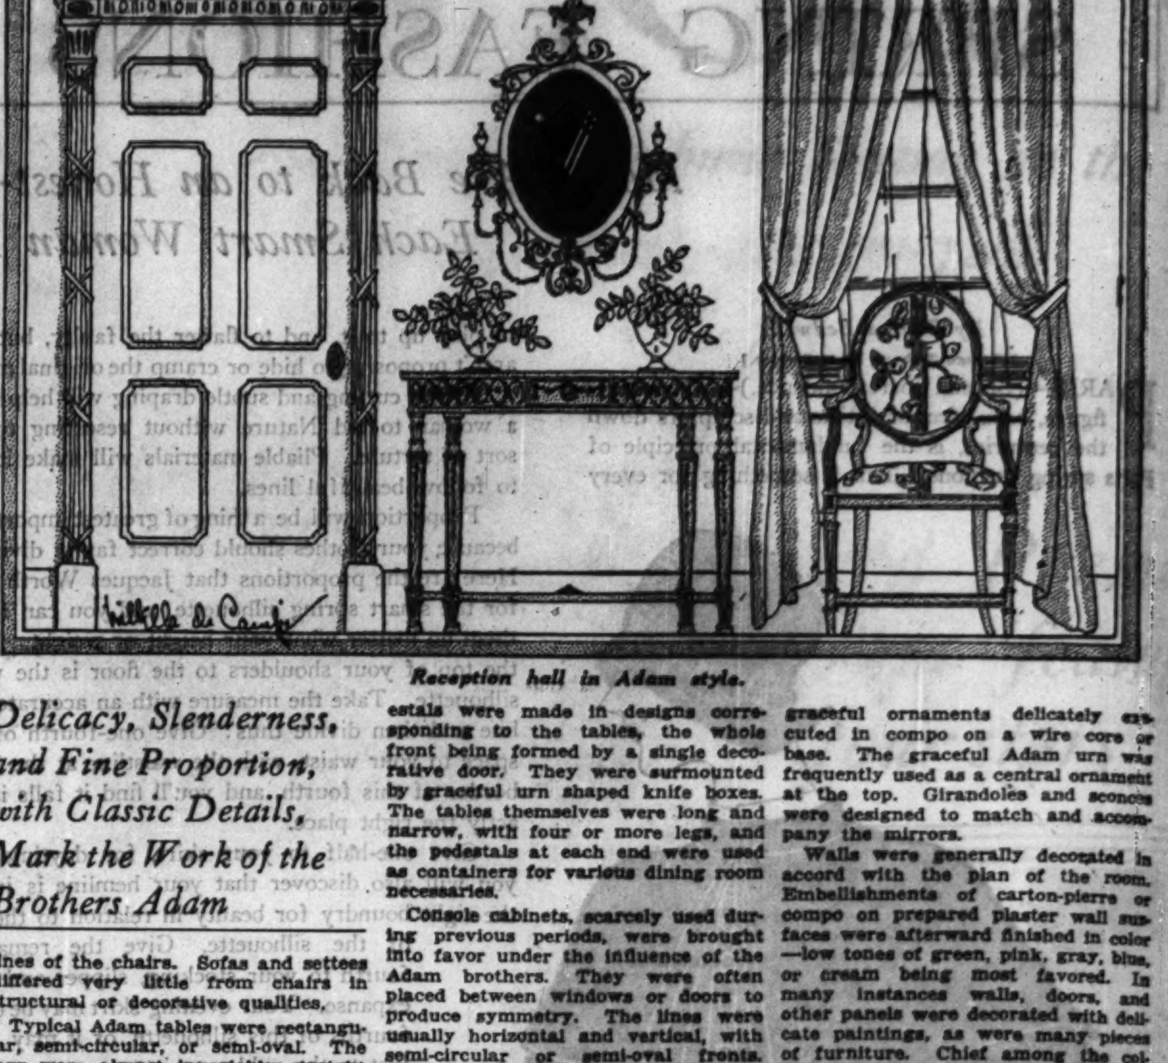
The chairs shown in the other two pictures were chosen because of their personality. Maybe you think chairs don't have personality, but you'll have to admit these do. They're both quite unpretentious and inexpensive, but colorful and chic. The copy of a French provincial chair is shown with the little bookcase, and the scenic screen of toile de Jouy, and is covered in glazed chintz.

Its English cousin also wears glazed chintz in a floral design and has a wide, box plaited ruffle around the bottom of its skirt. It would make a decorative and cheery addition to a bedroom or informal living room. Beside it are a quaint pewter two branch lamp, a maple magazine rack, and a screen covered with polka dotted wall paper makes an appropriate background.

All of the articles described today were seen in Chicago department and furniture stores.

The Adam Period - -

By WillElla de Campi



Reception hall in Adam style.

TOWARD the end of the early Georgian or Chippendale period the Adams brothers, Robert and James, began to take the lead in matters of decoration and furnishing. For some thirty years, from about 1762 to 1792, their style was paramount and is known as the middle Georgian or Adam period. Primarily architects and decorators, the brothers designed furniture, wall and floor textiles, and draperies as well, being insistent upon harmony in style in all details for the rooms which they conceived.

Even though much of the furniture made at the time was not actually designed by the Adam brothers, their influence was sufficiently great to be followed by the contemporary cabinetmakers. To them is due the credit for the classic revival adapted from the style already found in the French school of Louis XVI.

Characteristic features of the Adam style are simplicity, delicacy, slenderness, and fine proportion. The rococo, Dutch, and Chinese elements, which had been so important during the previous period, were entirely discarded. Carving, when used, was in low relief. Both carving and inlay were carried out in classic details—the urn, laurel wreath, acanthus leaf, and sunburst; ribbon bands, husked festoons, and garlands.

During the early part of the period mahogany was almost exclusively used for furniture. Satinwood was later adopted. Marquetery, after having fallen almost into disuse, again occupied a prominent place in decoration, in combination with figured mahogany and satinwood veneers and carving.

Chairs made during the Adam era were small and delicate of line. The backs were low and narrow and were often oval in shape. Legs were insistently straight and slender, never cabrioled. They were square and tapered, with spade or block feet, or were round and fluted, with the feet turned or molded. Stretchers were used occasionally.

Seats varied in shape. In the upholstered arm chairs they were generally nearly square, with a slight taper toward the back. Backs of upholstered arm chairs were square, round, or oval. Side chair backs were either wheel shaped or oval, with the back legs projecting above the seats to form supports.

Plain materials were chiefly used for upholstery in the early part of the period, though during the later years textiles were especially designed in patterns to accord with the general lines of the chairs. Sofas and settees differed very little from chairs in structural or decorative qualities.

Delicacy, Slenderness, and Fine Proportion, with Classic Details, Mark the Work of the Brothers Adam

Typical Adam tables were rectangular, semi-circular, or semi-oval. The legs were almost invariably straight and tapered and were either square or round. Underframing of tables was straight and decorated with swags and drops, circular or oval pateræ, urns, wreaths, or other classic motifs.

Though sideboards were not yet in use during the Adam period, sideboard tables were given greater importance than theretofore by the addition of square pedestals which flanked the tables at each end. These pedestals were made in designs corresponding to the tables, the whole front being formed by a single decorative door. They were surmounted by graceful urn shaped knife boxes. The tables themselves were long and narrow, with four or more legs, and the pedestals at each end were used as containers for various dining room necessaries.

Console cabinets, scarcely used during previous periods, were brought into favor under the influence of the Adam brothers. They were often placed between windows or doors to produce symmetry. The lines were usually horizontal and vertical, with semi-circular or semi-oval fronts. Doors rather than drawers occupied the lower section. Legs were short and tapering and the whole piece as a rule was highly decorated. Handsome mirrors and sconces were usually hung in the wall spaces above these console cabinets.

Mirrors were among the most noteworthy of the decorative accessories produced in the Adam period. In shape they were either vertically or horizontally oblong, round, or oval. Frames were carved and gilded and were further enhanced by light and graceful ornaments delicately executed in compo on a wire core or base. The graceful Adam urn was frequently used as a central ornament at the top. Girandoles and sconces were designed to match and accompany the mirrors.

Walls were generally decorated in accord with the plan of the room. Embellishments of carton-pierre or compo on prepared plaster wall surfaces were afterward finished in color—low tones of green, pink, gray, blue, or cream being most favored. In many instances walls, doors, and other panels were decorated with delicate paintings, as were many pieces of furniture. Chief among the collaborators and assistants of the Adam brothers in developing this style were Piranesi, Cipriani, and Angelica Kauffmann, who, incidentally, was one of the first women to become a professional decorator.

Today's illustration shows a classically formal and graceful use of Adam period pieces in a distinctive reception hall. Walls are painted Adam green and the arm chair is upholstered in floral brocade with a cream colored ground. Draperies are of deep cream colored satin.

Appropriated the Curtain.

Eighteen, alone, and my first night on a sleeper. The porter said he would bring a bag for my hat. Later I noticed a large black cloth lying near, and supposing it to be the bag, I wrapped my hat in it.

When the porter came to finish making up my berth, he hunted high and low for a curtain he had laid out to be hung across the berth. Much to the amusement of nearby passengers I confusedly unwrapped my hat and watched the porter hang up my "hat bag." R. W.

Took Her Last Quarter.

This summer while at college a terrible rain had driven a young man, whom I had seen but never met, and me into a drug store. We began talking. Soon he asked me if I didn't want something to drink. I accepted. The drink was delicious and he was most entertaining.

The storm was subsiding and he went to the counter to pay but could not produce any money. I walked meekly up with my only quarter.

The druggist made matters worse when he said with a laugh: "How kind your lady friend is." We hurried from the store amid much laughter. D. V. B.

Part of the Show.

One evening my sister and I entered a popular vaudeville house between acts. Not being able to find seats together she went to the front, finally secured two aisle seats, in the second row, and beckoned to me.

As I am large and fat I hurried down the aisle, the curtain went up showing two fat men at the piano, who were joined by a third, even larger, who said, just as I was being seated: "Here comes the rest of the family." Apparently the nearby audience thought I was planted there to join the show family later, but they were disappointed. M. A. Y.

On a Fool's Errand.

My first job was filing letters for a large company. During the first week my hands became rough and sore. I complained to one of my co-workers and he sympathized but asked in a surprised tone: "Didn't they give you filing gloves?"

I was interested so he told me where to inquire for them. I asked the person to whom I was sent, but he said he had just loaned his last pair. He was sure I could obtain some by inquiring in various other departments.

After several requests and disappointments I realized that I was the victim of a joke and it took me a long time to get over feeling ridiculous. H. F.

Active from the Start.

Some years ago I was asked to join a woman's club. I had never attended anything of the kind before. A motion was made and the woman sitting next to me said, "I second the motion."

Then it seemed they looked at me. I didn't know just what to do, so in desperation I got up and said, "I third it."

I hate to think of that moment. E. B. S.

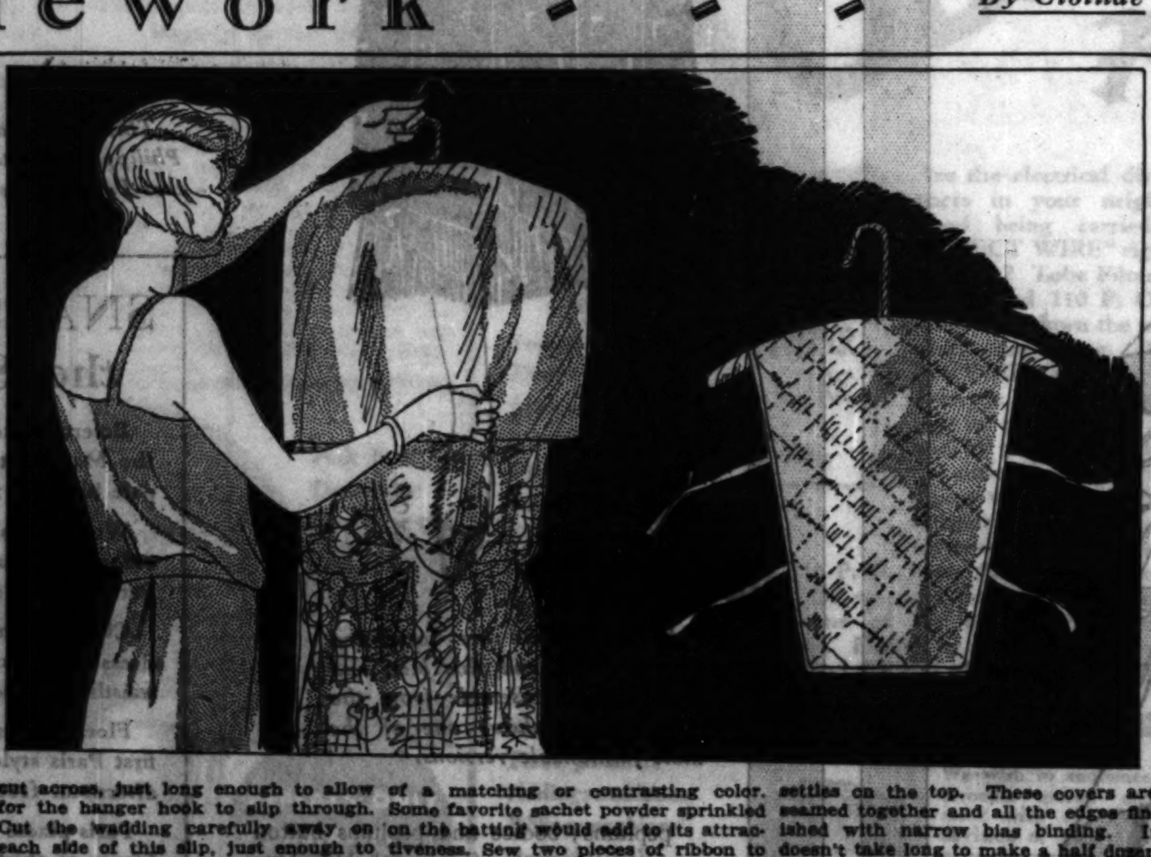
These Attractively Covered Hangers Afford Protection for the Party Gowns

What is your sewing problem? Do you have trouble in following a pattern? Do you find difficulty in making a skirt hang evenly or making a sleeve that doesn't twist? If there is anything you would like to know about these or other problems of needlework, write to Clotilde, The Tribune, Chicago, inclosing a stamped, addressed envelope if a personal reply is desired.



AMONG the lovely accessories for clothes today are covers for clothes hangers that will keep the sheerest of evening gowns from being injured by hanging. In the first place, the hanger is prettily covered by being wound with ribbon or lightly padded and covered with ribbon shirred on, or put on plain. The hook also should be covered. Then this padded cover measures about twelve or thirteen inches where it slips over the hanger and about twelve inches long.

Of course, if this cover were laid out flat on something it would measure double that length. From the width across the top it tapers alike on the front and back to about five inches wide across the bottom.

It should be made of silk crêpe, or satin in any preferred color, with a sheet of cotton wadding put in between the two surfaces of silk. This wadding should be the size of the outside, minus a seam's width on all sides. Baste it to one of the pieces of satin, and then turn the silk over the edge of the wadding, basting carefully. On the exact half of the length a slit is cut across, just long enough to allow for the hanger hook to slip through. Cut the wadding carefully away on each side of this slip, just enough to allow of a seam's width of the silk being turned over the cut edges. These will taper to nearly nothing at each end.

Then lay the other piece of material in place, basting it carefully, and, after turning in the edge everywhere, overhand these turned-in edges together, taking small, even stitches. After this is finished, mark off even spaces for the tacking, using silk floss of a matching or contrasting color. Some favorite sachet powder sprinkled on the batting would add to its attractiveness. Sew two pieces of ribbon to each edge of the cover to tie front and back together.

There is a thin material, bought at the counters where cottons are sold, called Argentine cloth that is used for clothes bag and other covers. This comes in many pretty colors and isn't expensive. Covers about 12 inches deep can be made instead of a full length bag. These will protect a dress well, for, of course, most of the dust settles on the top. These covers are seamed together and all the edges finished with narrow bias binding. It doesn't take long to make a half dozen of these useful covers.

You'll Get Rid of Blackheads Sure

There is one simple, safe and sure way that never fails to get rid of blackheads, that is to dissolve them.

To do this get two ounces of Calonite powder from any drug store—sprinkle a little on a hot, wet cloth—rub over the blackheads briskly—wash the parts and you will be surprised how the blackheads have disappeared. Big blackheads, little blackheads, no matter where they are, simply dissolve and disappear. Blackheads are a mixture of dust and dirt and secretions that form in the pores of the skin. The Calonite powder and the water dissolve the blackheads so they wash right out, leaving the pores free and clean and in their natural condition.

New Patterns

By Clotilde

How to Use the Patterns

A NEW shawl collar is seen on the dress made by pattern No. 3131, and it is especially interesting, ending on the left side in several rows of shirring put in a little above the end. The deep V open neck is attractively filled in by a surplice vestee, and this as well as the collar has a narrowing effect that many women will like.

The skirt and bodice are cut separately and joined to a yoke. The skirt is, of course, circular, flaring gracefully at the hem. There are two sections to the skirt, and these are joined with a French seam. Then a tape can be basted to the upper skirt edge and the skirt allowed to hang for several days. After it is sewed to the bodice it should be carefully evened off at the bottom. For size 36 this skirt measures at the bottom about three yards.

The bodice seams are basted together and tried on. When ready to stitch, finish with French seams the same as the skirt. Then the collar should be made and set on to the bodice. Then the vestee can be made and set in place. The lower edge of the bodice is slightly full across the front, notches showing just where the gathering is to be.

The next step is making the hip yoke and attaching it to the bodice and skirt. Two inch wide bands trim the yoke, while a small trimming piece is gathered and set underneath the yoke edge on the left side. This trimming piece must be basted in position before joining the yoke and skirt.

The close fitting sleeves have smart open cuffs that add chic to the whole. Black crêpe satin, using the reverse side or eggshell crêpe for the collar, cuffs and vestee will be smart and wonderfully useful. Bottle green crêpe Elizabeth, self trimmed except for an ornamental crystal buckle placed at the end of the collar, is dressy and can be worn for luncheon and bridge, or for any afternoon occasion.

Pattern No. 2923 makes a wonderfully attractive jacket costume for the junior girl, suitable for school, sports or travel. It is exactly what the older folks are wearing, and is practical and comfortable. The skirt is box-plaited across the front, and is plain in the back. This is joined to the sleeveless waist of a contrasting color. The short jacket is easily made—two fronts, the back, and the sleeves being the principal parts. The fronts are underfaced with the contrasting color, joined to a collar and rolled to form revers. Patch pockets and turned-back cuffs of the contrasting color finish the jacket prettily, and a narrow belt of the dress material is used at the normal waistline. Middy blue wool jersey combined with tan jersey dotted in brown is chic. Printed wool challis, sports weight linen, tweed-like cotton prints, and crêpe de chine are also suitable materials.

A new silhouette with flattering lines, equally suited to the youthful type or the woman with a mature figure, is shown in pattern No. 3033. The shirring through the bodice is responsible for making it becoming by detracting from the width. The collarless V shaped neck line, with a bow tied through a bound opening at the end of the V, creating a sunburst effect, is a smart detail. The close fitting sleeves are cut to flare slightly towards the wrists, and the low priced circular fullness of the skirt gives a smart flare to the hem line without detracting from the snug fit through the hips.

The shirring must be done on clearly marked lines and the stitches must be short and evenly taken. After the several rows have been put in, pull the gathers up close, then slowly let them out to make the shirring the right length. It shouldn't be difficult to space the fullness evenly. A "stay" is set underneath the shirring to keep it in place.

Any of the silk crêpes or wool challis will make up effectively.

Etiquette's Fine Points

By Helen Bartlett

Can You Answer These Questions on the Right and Wrong of Social Procedure?

HERE'S an etiquette quiz that can be used to brush up your knowledge of what's what concerning fine points:

1. Are peas eaten with a fork or spoon?
2. How should the following words be pronounced: Advertisement, despicable, detail, and envelope.
3. What should be the size of a dinner napkin?
4. How should it be used?
5. Where should it be placed on the table before the meal?
6. After the meal?
7. When a man and woman go to an entertainment together, whose should be the first move to go, the man's or the woman's?
8. Who is introduced to whom, man to woman, or woman to man?
9. Is it correct to speak of a doctor's wife as Mrs. Dr. Brown? Should one so introduce her?
10. What is necessary in a letter to an out of town person asking him to be one's house guest?
11. How soon after a visit must one write a bread and butter letter?
12. [a] When does a man wear a dinner jacket? [b] When has American custom made it excusable to wear it and when not?
13. Is it ever excusable to leave a party before the guest of honor?
14. What is incumbent on one when a member of a friend's family dies?
15. What constitutes correct mourning for a woman?
16. How long should it be worn?
17. What acknowledgement should a family make of messages of sympathy, flowers, kindnesses, etc., received in bereavement?
18. During the performance of music in a drawing room, what is necessary for politeness?
19. When an invitation contains the names of several hostesses, to which does one reply in answering the invitation?
20. When does one send out wedding invitations?
21. When does one send out wedding announcements?
22. How long should one stay when making a formal call?
23. How soon should a formal call be returned?
24. Should one pick up articles accidentally dropped at table?
25. How are "senior" and "junior" used?

Answers to Etiquette Quiz.

1. Peas are eaten with a fork except when they are sometimes served en famille in a separate dish in cream and a spoon is provided for them.
2. One should say adVERtisement, not adverTISEment; DESpicable, not desPICable; deTAIL, not DEtail; ENvelope, not enVELope [enVELope is a verb].
3. It was once considered necessary for the dinner napkin to be larger, but now it is permissible to use one as small as twenty inches square.
4. It should be opened only lengthwise and once crosswise, never spread like a sheet. It should be laid over the knees, never tucked in anywhere on the person. It may be raised to wipe the lips, but never the whole mouth and chin as though it were a towel.
5. It should be placed on the service plate.
6. One should crush it and place it on the table to the right of the plate, but if it accidentally falls to the chair or the floor it should, of course, be left there.
7. The woman should make the first move to go.
8. The man is always presented to the woman unless he is either very old or very distinguished.
9. No, it is not correct to speak of a doctor's wife as Mrs. Dr. Brown, and one should never so introduce her.
10. There is no particular form for a letter inviting some one to visit, but it is necessary to state definitely the time and expected duration of the visit.
11. A bread and butter letter should be written within the week after a visit.
12. [a] A dinner coat originally was supposed to be worn on informal evening occasions when only men were present.

[b]. American custom has made the dinner coat permissible on all informal evening occasions, but it should not be worn on formal ones, such as the opera, wedding receptions, formal dinners, etc.

13. Yes, if one has another engagement following; if the guest of honor is also a house guest; if one must make a train, and any other such emergency.
14. One must call and offer sympathy, and if that is not possible write a letter of condolence as soon as one hears the news.
15. Lusterless black in either silk or wool for daytime wear; lusterless black in silk for night. Shoes and stockings of dull black and dull black gloves. In summer all white is considered mourning, but it, too, must be lusterless [satin is never mourning]. Lace and beads are also taboo in correct mourning. The widow's mourning differs from that of a daughter or sister in that she wears a bonnet or small hat with a crêpe veil.
16. The length of time one should mourn is now optional, but if one wears black it should be done for at least a year.
17. Personal notes should be written by some member of a family thanking friends for their kindnesses.
18. Absolute silence and attention, unless the music is a secondary entertainment, such as an orchestra screened behind palms at a reception.
19. One follows the form of the invitation and uses all the names. The envelope, however, is addressed to the name and place indicated on the invitation.
20. Wedding invitations are sent out not earlier than three weeks and not later than a fortnight before the wedding.
21. Announcements are sent out immediately after the ceremony.
22. Twenty minutes.
23. Within the week, if possible.
24. No, one should not pick up articles accidentally dropped at table.
25. Senior is never used. John Smith senior is just John Smith. His son, John Smith, is John Smith Jr.

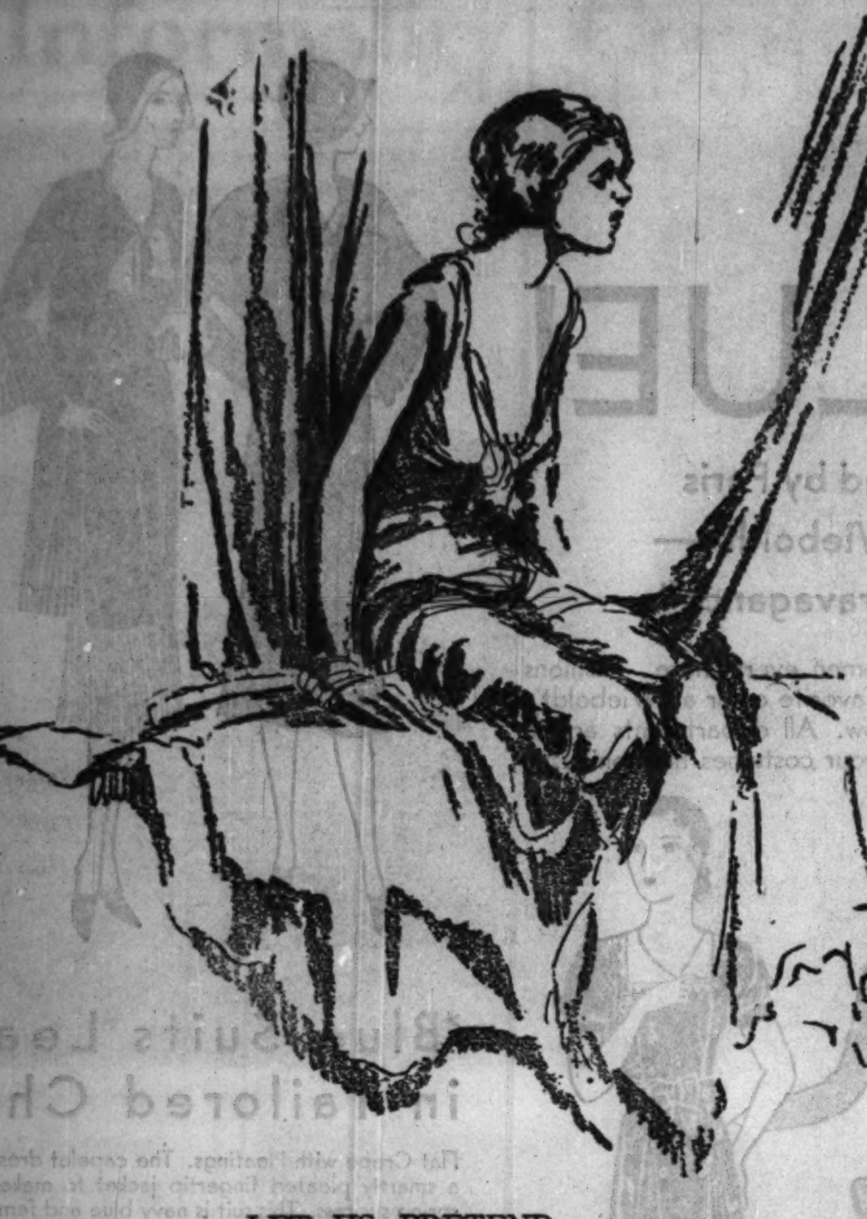
MAIDEN MEDITATIONS

By Sara Moore



LET US PRETEND.

"The new styles are prompted by man's preference for the romantic lady of mystery rather than the frank and modern pal."—Fashion Comment.

Mystery—ah, mystery
Is romantic sorcery. . . .
That is what man loves. Sez he.
So, long skirts of sleazy lace
Hide sweet curves of strength and grace.

Skin as satin white as milk
Cover up with pseudo silk.
Paint a mask to standard taste,
Curl your hair and pinch your waist.

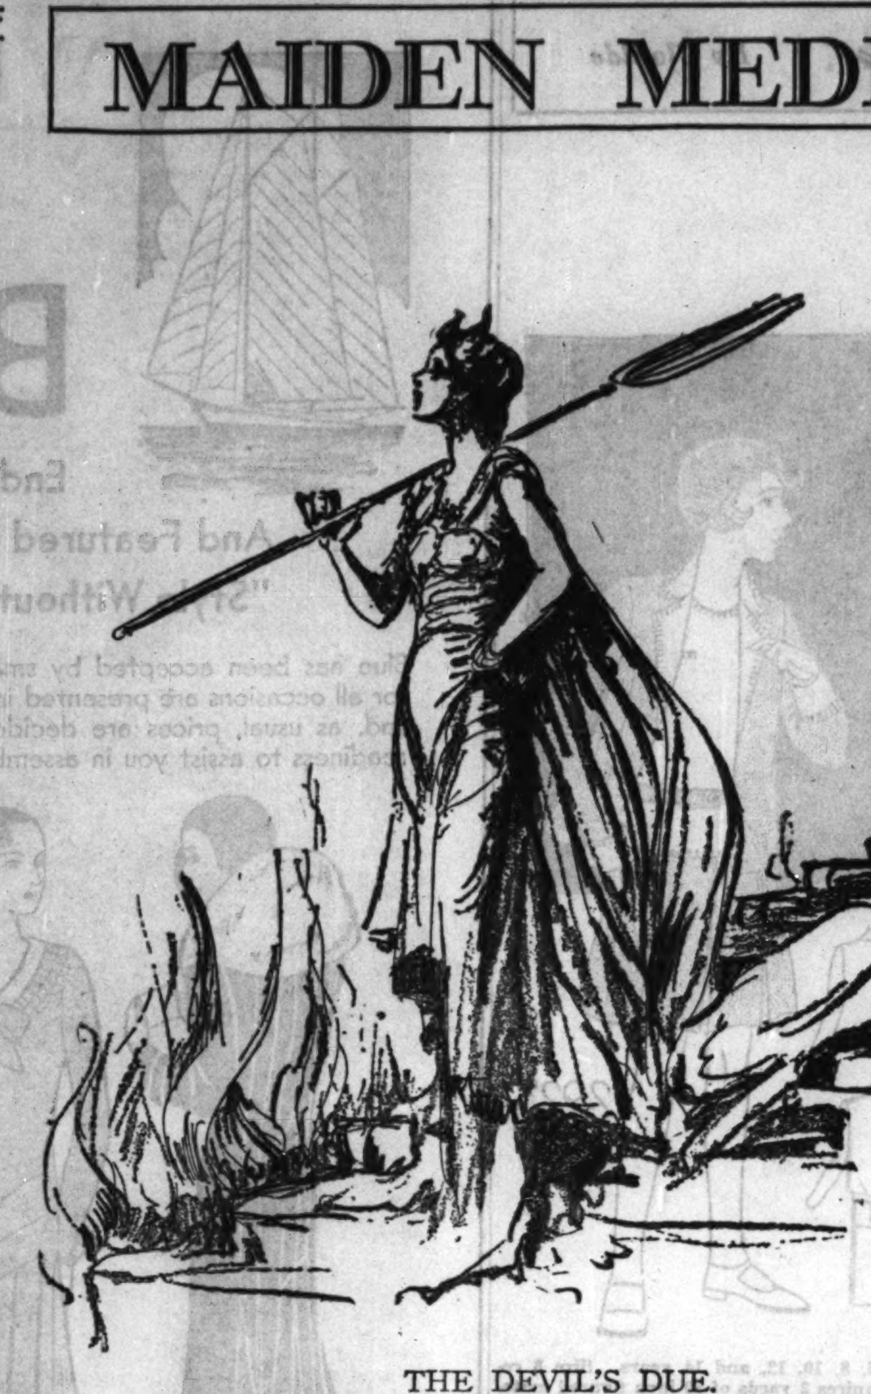
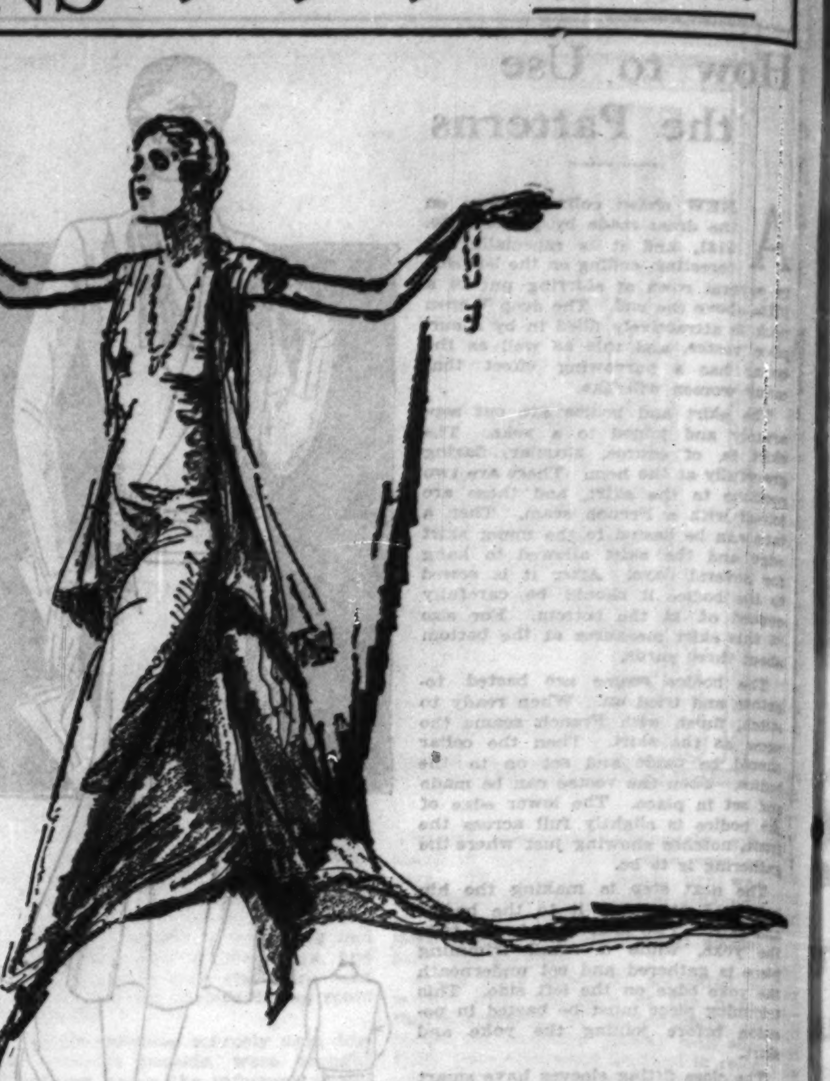
Truth in love no man can stand.
Capture him with sleight-of-hand.



THE DEVIL'S DUE.

She earns far greater credits than our ancient custom yields
Since lovely woman crowds man out of his appointed fields
No doubt Mephisto has been charged with inefficiency
And we'll refer, in time, to HER Satanic Majesty.



LINES TO A WICKED GODMOTHER.

(Miss Hickey makes a note in her shorthand diary dedicated to the girl who sold her a hat.)

Cinderella found a very kind old fairy godmother.
Good! She decked the kid in clothes for which a princeling fell.
We meet wicked godmothers—selling in department stores—
Hats and gowns that wreck one's looks and make one look like hell.

THE TRIBUNE COOK BOOK

By Jane Eddington

From Hors d'Oeuvres to a Gay Emerald End, St. Patrick's Day Offers the Hostess Colorful Menus

All recipes have been scientifically tested by Miss Eddington with current market materials and are indorsed by her.

IF "Smarty, Smarty" can give but one party in the course of a year, there is probably no one day which offers so many party suggestions as St. Patrick's day, or March 17. It is an entertaining fact, or it is a strong proof of something, that St. Patrick is the first saint adopted by the people of the new world.

Perhaps part of the reason is that St. Patrick's day is practically the first day of spring, or a hundred years ago in America it was treated like the first day of spring, and many different sorts of outings took place then. The people who rode horseback for pleasure came out first on that day. The military organizations were "trained" first on that day. All of which suggests that it was a day of gayety. It also suggests that the Irish people have played no small part in adding a color and life to our American civilization.

The Emerald isle is geographically the most picturesque spot on the face of the globe, or so it seems to me, and Irish names have a grip about them that is extraordinary. For mere party use they are exceedingly convenient, and the people who have liked to make punning plays on names have found Dublin and Cork and even Belfast easy to play with. The representing of Cork with a cork for a bottle has been almost too obvious, but there have been "double n's" and all sorts of ways of manipulating Dublin with statements like: "What your appetites have been doing while you wait—Dublin."

An Irish Song.

If I were giving a St. Patrick's day party I should like to have present some vigorous masculine vocalist who could sing the following song with full effectiveness. The words were written by John Ludlow!

"O, but they're part of me,
Deep in the heart of me,
Ne'er can ye bate thim
The whole world o'er.

"Names wid a musical lilt of a troll to thim,
Names wid a roll in thim. .
Brannigan, Flannigan, Milligan, Gilligan,
Duffy, McGuffy, Mullarky, Mahone,
Rafferty, Lafferty, Connolly, Donnelly,
Dooley, O'Hooley, Malone,
Maddigan, Caddigan, Hallahan, Callahan,
Fagan, O'Flynn, O'Brien, McGone."

In addition to that I would have the party sing Father Prout's "The Bells of Shandon":

"The bells of Shandon
That sound so grand on
The pleasant waters of the River Lee."

Or some one could recite it and perhaps should, for its loveliness is of a rare type

The Shamrock Symbol.

The wearing of the green is so eminently a playful thing that almost anybody can revere the shamrock, and as for party use it is invaluable. He can have the real shamrock and shamrock rolls and cakes, and the green in almost every item of a menu from soup to pistachio nuts, or perhaps we should say from hors d'œuvres to some joyous emerald finish.

As a national emblem we can take the authority of the poet Moore, who says that St. Patrick, when preaching about the Trinity to the heathen in Ireland, used to pick up a sprig of shamrock to illustrate his meaning, and for that reason probably it was adopted by the Irish as their national symbol.

St. Patrick's Day Menus.

At breakfast time on St. Patrick's day, we surely should have toasted Irish crumpets if we would carry out the spirit of the whole. At luncheon time we may have Irish bacon and baked potatoes and perhaps the Irish mixture of cabbage and potatoes called colcannon, with jam rolls and Irish tea. At dinner we may easily get a shamrock relish by using thin slices of green stuffed pepper. If we do not put cress into the salad, we may use a cress soup and have Irish stew with dumplings for the main course. As to salads, we have a great choice because of the predominance of green in them. And then we may have a true Irish cake with coffee for the end of the meal.

Another little dinner menu that can be made attractive is one beginning with a fruit relish with a little cress and then this:

Green Split Pea Soup with Powdered Mint.
Irish Stew Colcannon.
Cress Salad with Barm Brack and Butter.
Castleconnell Cake and Ice Cream.

Green Split Pea Soup.

One cup dried split green peas, four cups cold water, one medium sized onion, one carrot, other seasonings to taste. Shake the peas in a colander to remove dust and small bits of dirt, unless you have purchased exceptionally clean peas, which you should try to do, for the work of picking them over is tedious. Wash the peas and add to them the cold water and the onion and carrot sliced. Bring to boil slowly, skim if necessary, cover, and gently cook over a simmering burner for two hours, or until they are tender. Some peas are drier and older than others.

When the peas are cooked tender put them through a sieve in order to make the puree as smooth as velvet. If necessary, let stand until the more solid part settles from the clear liquid, which some sorts of cooking do not leave and others do. Pour off the liquid part, which should jelly, and keep this for a vegetable stock. Put the puree in a frying pan, add an ounce or two of butter, and stir it constantly over a hot fire until most of the moisture in it has evaporated.

At this point we could use it as a vegetable, but to make a soup thin it with hot milk to the desired thinness. A little freshly ground pepper, as well as salt, improves this soup, and it is both an English and an Irish custom to sprinkle powdered mint in a pea soup. If we wish to make it a darker green we can cook a little spinach and parsley together, put them through a sieve, and then add them to the puree before it is reduced.

Irish Stew.

A recipe for Irish stew taken from a Dublin cook book reads: "One pound lean mutton, two pounds potatoes, two onions, one-half pint water, salt and pepper. Cut the mutton into neat pieces, removing a little of the fat if necessary. Peel the potatoes, and if large cut them in halves or quarters. Slice the onions thinner. Arrange all these layers in a stew pan, beginning and ending with potatoes and sprinkling salt and pepper between the layers, pour the water over and stew gently with the pan tightly covered until the potatoes are soft—about one and one-half hours.

"Serve with the potatoes around the dish and the meat in the center with the gravy poured over it. Neck or lap of mutton or scraps such as trimmings of chops will serve for this dish. If a superior stew is wanted, use loin chops or those from the best end of the neck." This recipe was taken from a book prepared by the Irish department of agriculture. The idea that it takes sliced potatoes an hour and a half to cook shows that the use of gas was not common in Ireland. Probably the very fame of Irish stew came because it was so slowly cooked over the peat fire. Slow cooking does wonders for stews.

A young woman from Londonderry, who was staying at the same hotel in Dublin that I was, said of the Irish stew that it was a favorite winter dish, and the simpler it was made the better. She wrote out the following recipe: "Two and one-half pounds of chops, about eight medium sized potatoes, four small onions, two breakfast cups of water, pepper and salt to taste. Take the chops from a loin of mutton, trim off the fat and gristle, cut small and place them in a stew pan with alternate layers of sliced potatoes, chops and onions and seasonings. Pour in the cold water, cover the stew pan closely and let it stew gently until the potatoes are soft and the greater part of the liquid is absorbed. This will take about an hour and a half. Don't lift the lid as that will let out the flavor. I use steak instead of meat as I like it better." The "I" in this case represented Miss Craig Darragh.

Barm Brack.

The old English and Irish name for yeast was barm and the brack in this case undoubtedly means bread. The Irish cookery book which supplied me with a recipe for this bread has the statement: "All dishes given may be cooked on the turf or the open fire or on the ordinary closed stove or range," and then it says: "It may not be generally known to those who have only an open hearth or fireplace and no oven that yeast bread may be steamed with good results. When steaming bread, make the dough a little softer and put into a greased kettle with a tight fitting lid. The dough should be well risen before it is put in the kettle and should only fill two-thirds of the tin to leave room for rising. Have boiling water in a large saucepan sufficient to come one-third up the tin, place the lid on the saucepan; steam the bread for two hours. It will be light and wholesome and have a soft, delicate crust. Stand it on a folded woolen cloth, which will absorb the steam or place it against a plate."

We would veto the woolen cloth today most decidedly and recommend the cake cooler. As to the steaming of a bread, we imagine one containing raisins or fruit would be better than one without, and the recipe given in this book for barm brack has the raisins: One-half cake yeast, one-half teaspoon sugar to test yeast, two cups of flour, one-half cup tepid milk, one ounce butter, two level tablespoons sugar, one-half cup Sultana raisins, one ounce of peel, and salt. Test the yeast as for any bread. The Irish method of testing yeast is to crumble and mix it thoroughly with the sugar and liquid. In this and ordinary cases the liquid would be two tablespoons of lukewarm water. Cover the cup in which this is mixed, and set it in a warm place for 10 minutes until it shows a white froth on top. We rarely take such pains as this, but it is not unreasonable for a beginner to be sure her yeast will work.

Add the yeast at this stage to the lukewarm milk or milk which has been brought to a boil and cooled, the butter being added while it is hot enough for the milk to melt it, but the yeast not added until it is positively at a lukewarm stage, otherwise it will be cooked and ruined. An Irish and old type method was always to warm the flour moderately for bread, which kept the dough from being so cold that the yeast would not work.

The way of mixing flour and a liquid was to make a well in the flour and put the liquid part in the middle and mix towards the outside, or we might say mix toward the center, if we consider that we are getting the flour into the liquid. Instead of kneading with the hand, one may use a smooth wooden spoon and work this dough for five minutes and then work in the raisins which have been floured, the peel, then put it into a greased tin and let rise until double. Bake like ordinary bread.

Castleconnell Cake

The following recipe is adapted from the Irish and has frequently been printed here: One-half cup butter, one cup sugar, three eggs, one scant half cup of milk, about two cups flour, one teaspoon baking powder, one teaspoon mixed spices, one cup currants, one-half cup Sultana raisins, two ounces candied peel. Cream the butter, work the sugar into it until it seems almost dissolved, and use judgment with the flour because a dry, stiff cake must be avoided. It is easy to get candied peel and some new sorts are now offered in the market, but it can be omitted.

It is best to bake this in a rather deep tin, lined with paper, especially if we wish to imitate the English or Irish fashion of having wide slices. Probably the best way to get the eggs into the cake is to beat the yolks, thin them with the milk, and then fold the stiff whites into the cake the last thing. The cake is best if baked rather slowly for about an hour or a little more.

Mercolized Wax Keeps Skin Young

DO you know that just beneath that soiled, discolored, faded or aged complexion is one fair to look upon? Nature causes the normal skin to peel off in tiny, unseen, flour-like particles, a little each day, renewing the complexion of youth naturally, but there comes a time when this skin shedding slows up. Worry, overwork, sickness, inactivity are reasons that cause the face to be blotchy, discolored, pimply and old looking. The thing to do, if you wish to look your prettiest at all times, is to assist nature in the process of absorption by using pure Mercolized Wax. Get an ounce at any drug store or beauty counter and use as directed. It gently but surely peels away the outer scarf skin, removing freckles, pimples, blackheads or a muddy complexion. The underneath skin, now in evidence, is clear, pink, fresh and velvety, and the entire face looks years younger. Mercolized Wax brings out the hidden beauty.
To quickly remove wrinkles and other age lines we recommend a face lotion of unusual merit. One ounce powdered saxolite and one-half pint witch hazel.

Prepare them NOW for vigorous hair at THIRTY

REMEMBER the old adage about "an ounce of prevention," and teach your boy or girl proper care of the hair, NOW. The easiest way to care for a child's hair properly, is with Danderine. Put a little on the brush each time the hair is arranged. Then as you draw it through the strands, it supplies the natural oils removed from hair and scalp by washing with soap and water.

"Train" a child's hair with Danderine. See how this keeps it orderly, lustrous, clean. The natural curl is accentuated. Waves "set" with it, last longer; look more natural. And Danderine isn't sticky or oily; doesn't show.

When the use of Danderine becomes a daily habit in your home, longer, thicker, more abundant hair is sure to follow—for every member.

Danderine helps stop falling hair; dissolves every particle of dandruff crust; keeps the hair and scalp clean and healthy; changes dull, brittle, lifeless hair into hair that is sparkling, vigorous, easy to manage. Five million bottles used a year proves Danderine's effectiveness.

Just Be Feminine

The Femme Charmante of 1930 Lures the Male with Perfumed Freshness, Frills and Furbelows

By Antoinette Donnelly.

NEW YORK. — [Special Correspondence.] — "Be feminine, sweet maid, for tomorrow we may be wearing trousers," said one pert young miss to another pert young miss as each plied away with color on lip and cheek.

The trousers' threat you need not pay much attention to for the moment, but you never can tell which way the skirts will flap next year or the year after. There are those who still rise up in dress design meetings and extoll the advantages of full rigged male leg covering for ladies. Not that I could ever see any advantages in a trousered leg while skirts can billow and do for a neat ankle what only a billowy skirt can do.

But that "Be feminine, sweet maid," out of the mouths of babes is timely advice. It is always timely advice —but not for a long time has it been so beautifully coöperated with as now in frills and furbelows, scents and other little wiles and lures that never did a lady any harm no matter how emancipated her mind may run.

Noble Female Trinity.

This surely is the year for girls who want to be girls and nothing but girls —fascinating, lovely one. No objections whatever to your being hard headed little business girls in your working hours, but if you want to get a chance at the good old business of matrimony, now's your year for they do say that man is never so susceptible as in the presence of a girl whose dress resembles his own as little as possible, and who represents to him that noble female trinity—delicacy of mind, speech and person.

The indelicate conversation and coarse language that were sometimes a part of the girl of past seasons fit not at all into the picture as Miss 1930, prize beauty winner, represents herself. She is a girl cut from a new and most charming pattern all the way from coiffure to shoe buckles with provisions made for lures of mind and tongue in the new order of femme charmante.

Not wishing to lean our stalwart hygiene frame too far over into the love kingdom of this paper, still what's all this beautifying for any way if not to lure some poor male victim struggling to maintain his bachelor supremacy, or to hold one already legally captured?

They may go on arguing all they want about whether women dress to please men, or themselves, or the Parisian designers. Among us gals there is no secret about why the cheeks are pinked, why the blue eye shadow is laid and whom the teasing perfume is meant to tease, is there? The proof? Let a man's shadow cross the threshold of a woman gathering and watch the grab for vanity cases and note the hurried hands to coiffures.

Heals Broken Illusion.

Anyway, this feminine stuff is just exactly what the doctor ordered for healing broken illusions, patching up injuries to male pride, and a lot of other damage done to the sex that only asks women to be women so that men can be the men.

There is no need to repeat the kindergarten training about personal cleanliness when mapping out a route for the great FEMININE attack. It goes without saying that daily, even twice daily, baths will be tended with exquisite care. But those items of bath salts and dusting powders after the bath belong in the 1930 itinerary. Not only fresh but sweetly fresh you must be. It does not seem fair at this moment to speak of body odors—but more care is needed there in evolving this lovely 1930 person. An odor of perspiration—and all is lost. There is no excuse for it with bath facilities what they are in every home in the land, dusting powders, powders especially prepared for the particular emergency, and astringent lotions of undisputed value.

To go on with the 1930 femme supreme, perfumes make a delightful contribution to the cause feminine. If you have not yet discovered a satisfactory one, look about for it. If you are young, get a young perfume and, if possible, let it run the gamut of your entire cosmetic preparations. Do not be a medley of odors, one from your cold cream jar, one from your powder box, one from your perfume bottle, and so on. If you cannot afford the luxury of a one tone scent for everything, at least do not have conflicting odors.

Clinging Perfumes.

Don't overlook the sachet in your glove box, your handkerchief box, your hat box, in your dress hanger. The delicate sachet way of creating appeal is a happy one. The odor is faint, as a rule, but clinging, and therefore intriguing. Either spray your perfume on lightly or do as certain clever ones do. After the bath rub a little on the skin and let it permeate the dress and underthings lightly.

Let your hair be just as femininely done as you can make it. You may even break out in a rash of curls over the entire head, just to see if the back-to-real-girl movement is thereby promoted. In urging this, I feel there is small danger of frowsy coiffures, since girls know the beauty value of a well groomed look to the head. One does not have to break out in curls, of course—but let the coiff be feminine whatever method of hairdressing you choose.

Then the accessories—hankies, bags and bag content (important this latter, since they are often so untidy), stockings, and undies. Keep your gloves immaculately clean and crisp. Incidentally, I learned a trick for occasions when gloves must be immaculate. Its practitioner slips on a pair of silk gloves over her kid or chamois until she is out of traffic or conveyance from which soil may be gathered.

Femininity of Manner.

What I am trying to stress is that the 1930 mode of feminine dress alone will not make the truly feminine charmer. It is the little things, added to the dress, that will serve to extoll her feminine beauty! A gay and fascinating chiffon hanky drawn out of a smart bag whose inner linings are fresh as the day the bag was bought and whose inner contents are neatly arranged; fresh, crisp gloves, the suggestion of tubbed freshness that only the frequently used tub can supply, a flower odor that trails delicately; stockings sheer and delicate in color, and shoes in immaculate order. Add to these a sweetly modulated voice, a tongue incapable of sharp or biting retorts, a manner of speech as consistently feminine as the rest—and the poor male hasn't a chance of escape! Nor should he have, since it is to please him that all this struggle for feminine supremacy has been going on!

THE LIGHT TOUCH

Don't Punish the Child to Relieve the Tension He Has Unwittingly Created

A "Play Booklet" by Mrs. Bevans for mothers of pre-school children will be sent free on receipt of a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

By Gladys Huntington Bevans.

HAVE you ever scolded your child because some one expected you to? Have you ever punished your child because of tension he unwittingly created in a social situation? Most of us have, at least once.

A letter from an intelligent and sensitive woman presents a situation that comes so often to the mothers of young children that I am going to give it in full. Though just this very thing may not have been duplicated in your experience, you probably have met something parallel. Here is the letter:

"Dear Mrs. Bevans: My son, a vigorous boy of 5½, possesses a sense of deep understanding for his years. He has been taught the meaning and value of truth, honesty, and dependability and I have always had reason for great confidence in his word.

"For some time he had been wanting a knife (some of his schoolmates had knives). I told him that we couldn't afford to buy a knife and also explained the danger of having one.

"After much discussion, through which I was made to believe that he would handle the knife carefully, we compromised that if he earned the money he would be permitted to make the purchase. He was paid a penny at a time and when he was finally able to make the purchase (25c) he was the happiest child I have ever seen. The knife scarcely left his hand day or night and he showed it to every one.

"Being without a maid at present I was obliged to take my son to a club yesterday. I am president of this club otherwise I would not have gone. I instructed him not to enter the clubroom and had every reason to believe in his promise.

"In the course of the afternoon he came in the room, knife in hand, blade open. I saw him coming and decided to completely ignore him. Had all the ladies done the same he soon would have left the room, but instead, he was met with, 'Shut that knife,' 'Take that knife away from him.'

"I asked him to shut the knife which he refused to do. I then asked him to give it to me which he also refused and I was compelled to take it by force. Then came my surprise when in a fit of temper he struck my face.

"Had we been alone I could have reasoned with him, but as it was, I took him to another part of the house and gave him a painful spanking—as I knew I was expected to do by the ladies—with the result that instead of being sorry for his act, he was all the more infuriated and I was met with such remarks as, 'I do not like my mother,' 'She is a naughty mother, etc.

"You can well imagine what a mortifying afternoon it was for me.

"Now, of course, we have straightened out our difficulty and my little boy is most remorseful and, even now as I am writing, he is at my side with his arms about me.

"I was disappointed in him, though I feel that his object in entering the room was not to disobey, but because he was so eager for every one to see his prized knife."

Many of us have had at least one occasion when we have done just what this young mother describes. Certain ordinarily of our way of managing our children and getting splendid results, we don't run true to form when a social emergency arises. Watched by the hostile eyes of adults who are not accustomed to children, we feel the tension and unintelligent criticism in the air. Instead of keeping the child's good in mind, we wonder "What will they think?" So, a little bewildered, nervous, and anxious to have our children and ourselves appear in a favorable light we do the hasty and unwise thing. Of course you know that I'm not describing the perfect mother—I'm describing the kind, intelligent but human mother—just one of us.

To most of us, our mistaken action is a most valuable lesson, because it clears the air and prepares us for those similar occasions that are sure to occur again. When that next emergency arises we don't think of it as an emergency nor as a social situation. We won't think about the disapproving glances. We'll act according to our lights, and not make our children suffer because we lose our heads or consider the feelings or opinions of those who don't know child nature.

From the pedestal of the perfect mother it would be hard to help other mothers in this sort of thing. The perfect mother never does wrong. Fortunately—or unfortunately — there are no pedestals lying loose around this department. We mothers like to make a good impression as mothers, we like our children to make a good impression, and so we take these dramatic moments much too seriously. Only a person who has had such an experience understands.

The mother in this letter was clever and kind about her little boy and the knife—the buying of it and his use of it. Any one who remembers her own boy with his first beloved knife knows how the small chap felt—his tremendous pride in being allowed to have it. If, as his mother said, everybody in the meeting had taken the incident lightly, there would have been no trouble. But, tension once in the air, the mother and the child reacted to it in an excited and unnatural way.

Many a loving child has slapped his mother in excitement and emotion. The slap itself had no significance. Neither he nor his mother should think of it again. The whole occurrence is best forgotten. He was just a little boy who in his pride in his knife and his boredom at being alone forgot a childish promise.

If every one had taken it lightly all would have been well. What these situations need is tact and a light touch—not easy to use, but necessary.

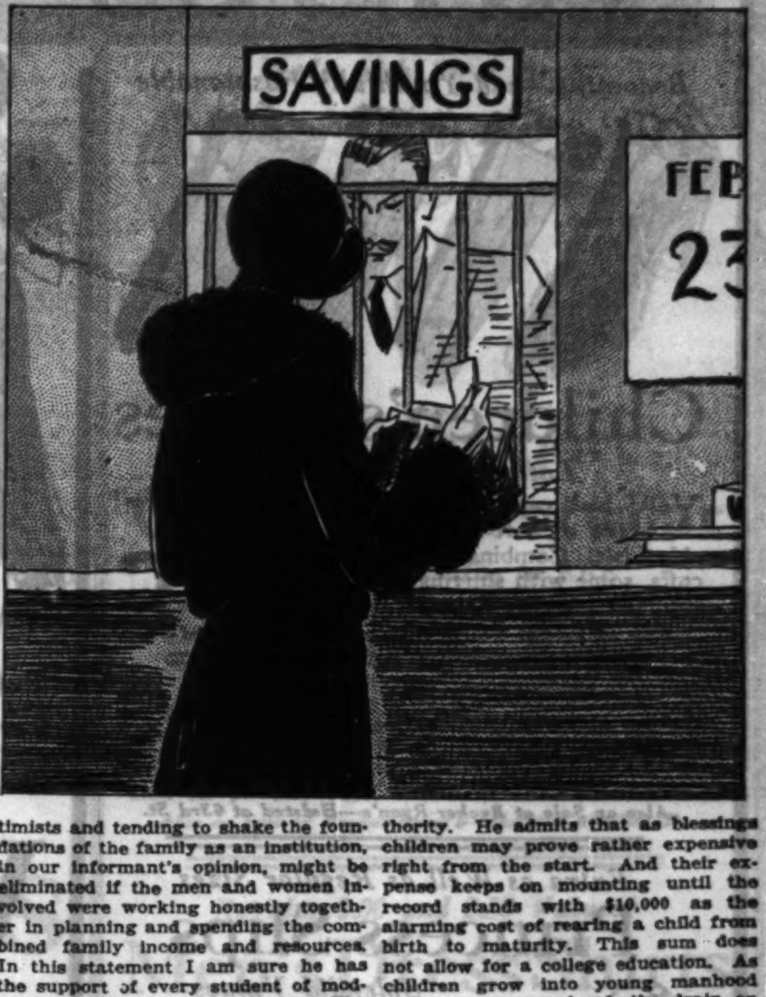
Why Postpone Marriage?

Y. M. C. A. Secretary Tells Young Couple to Combine Salaries, Budget, Live Happily and More Comfortably

By Doris Blake.



IS there a solution for the thousands of young people who put off a much desired wedding day from month to month, from year to year, waiting for more money before they take the plunge?

Mr. E. A. Hungerford, secretary of information for the New York City Y. M. C. A., a man close to the problem in his contact with the hundreds and hundreds of young men of his association, thinks there is.

The solution lies not in waiting. Neither in believing that two people can live as cheaply as one. But, in Mr. Hungerford's opinion, if two young people, in love and eager to marry, would sit down sensibly and figure out their combined assets and estimate what they might accomplish from the standpoint of getting along economically as married people in comparison with their unsatisfactory singleness, they might be converted to the idea of no longer postponing the wedding day.

Mr. Hungerford agrees with the others who exploded the theory that two people can live upon as small an income as one. This is not the way of approaching the economic problem involved in marriage today among young people.

The study of a budget from the combined resources of the two involved holds the bright card of hope in Mr. Hungerford's judgment.

Changing Economic Situation.

"The fact that the budget will often enable two working people to get along to better advantage when pooling their resources in a common family fund than to go on their more hectic individual ways, has not been amply appreciated," says the Y. M. C. A. secretary.

Our economic situation, he further points out, introduces two conflicting elements. It has increased the tendency to delay the date of marriage for purely money reasons on the one hand. On the other it has brought hundreds of thousands of attractive women into the business world, therefore into direct and easy social contact with young men who would like to marry them. So that "the possibilities of two loves with two incomes being in a position to unite their resources have been greatly increased."

That romantic love is up against the problem of dollars and sense, our informant is keenly aware. He flouts the triangle situation as chief offender against the security of marriage. The situation in which some flapper hynotizes the husband or some lounge lizard has stimulated the wife to various forms of foolishness makes movie scenarios, but hardly serious modern marriage history.

The real fact, in Mr. Hungerford's study and experience, is that most unhappiness in family life is due to misunderstandings in regard to money matters.

Cause of Divorce.

Half the divorces that are now causing such chagrin to the marriage optimists and tending to shake the foundations of the family as an institution, in our informant's opinion, might be eliminated if the men and women involved were working honestly together in planning and spending the combined family income and resources. In this statement I am sure he has the support of every student of modern marriage and its problems. The incompatability charges that pile, tier upon tier, in divorce record archives, though they are known by other names, have their root in this money situation in nine cases out of ten.

The situation, however, is not so simple as may be implied in the picture of two young people suddenly making up their minds after a budget conference that the double income is sufficient. The economical handling of money dates back a number of years earlier to the childhood of the young couple involved. Confronted with a budget that looks encouraging enough to dare matrimony does not prove its working value.

Tracing the money disharmony so current in marriage, the trouble may not rest with the marriage income but with the impractical conception of money value and its uses that marks every step of many individuals from childhood to maturity.

To adjust misunderstandings about money matters in family life, or to prevent their inception altogether, the old admonition of getting the child young and implanting a decent sense of thrift and values is the only foolproof measure that can be prescribed.

"Money troubles would not get started," Mr. Hungerford maintains "if children in our homes today were being taught a few simple and sound economical truths which would give them a practical conception of money and its uses."

Expensive Blessings.

The advent of children upon the budgeted and double income marriage decision is not overlooked by our authority. He admits that as blessings children may prove rather expensive right from the start. And their expense keeps on mounting until the record stands with $10,000 as the alarming cost of rearing a child from birth to maturity. This sum does not allow for a college education. As children grow into young manhood and young womanhood, the drain on the parental exchequer increases at a startling ratio. The expense of educating such children, in this day of ours, is probably going up faster than any other item in the general cost of living.

How are parents to face this phase of their marriage problem?

The only way that parents of moderate means can manage it at all is to estimate the probable cost years in advance, and by careful planning and saving such as a budget helps to accomplish, slowly and gradually build up funds that will insure the desired results.

Answers to Love Problems

Actions vs. Words.

"Dear Miss Blake: The boy I love says he loves me, but disappoints me often. Please advise. SALLY."

Have him understand he must keep his dates or you're through.

He Is Not a Friend.

"Dear Miss Blake: I love a fellow who, when my back is turned, talks about me. Please advise.

"VIRGINIA."

A person who will talk about you behind your back is not a friend and should not be treated as one.

Have you a perplexing love affair on which you need the counsel of a friend? Write to Doris Blake, care The Tribune, Chicago. If you wish a personal reply please send a stamped, addressed envelope.

Don't Give Up.

"Dear Miss Blake: I love a girl who likes me, but loves some one else. What should I do? BILLIE."

Don't give up. It's up to you to prove you're the finer fellow.

Proud Mother!

Patsy Andrews, 4, of 7835 East End Ave., Chicago, is the picture of health. No wonder her mother says: "I'm proud as can be of my little girl. She's always bright, active, robust.

"I give California Fig Syrup a lot of credit for her wonderful condition. I have used it with her for every little upset or cold. It always has her back to normal in a few hours."

When a child shows by bad breath, coated tongue, biliousness or feverishness, that the little bowels are clogged, you know the system needs a prompt cleansing.

California Fig Syrup does the work quickly and gently. In addition, it helps tone and strengthen weak bowels and stomach. So it gives lasting help.

The word California marks the genuine; the pure vegetable product loved by children and pronounced safe and effective by doctors.

A Friend in Need

By Sally Joy Brown

I want to be the medium through which the friends in need and the friends in deed may be brought together. It may be you have some discarded article which has not outgrown its usefulness that will make some less fortunate one happy and you would gladly give it. Write to me and I shall be happy to be of service to you. Please write on one side of the paper.

When information is wanted by mail a stamped, addressed envelope should accompany the request. Please do not send article to The Tribune, but write for the address of the applicant and send direct.

Usually at this time of year, when winter's last, dying gasps are heard and there's a faint suggestion of spring in the air, thrifty housewives are making more or less elaborate plans for house cleaning.

Closets and storerooms which have harbored all the odds and ends you'd hoped to be able to put to use again will be cleared out and there will be new curtains and draperies to take the place of those which have begun to show signs of wear or are beginning to fade. Rugs with worn spots in them will be labeled for the discard and many pieces of furniture which have become an eyesore because of their longevity will be looking for new homes.

Probably it has occurred to you that though these articles are no longer of any use to you there are countless homes where they would be a great addition to the meager beauty presented there or to the comfort these needy families are always struggling to achieve. And this is true.

I know so many mothers whose fruitless efforts to dress up the living room or make their tiny home a cheerful, pleasant haven for the young son or daughter who is breadwinner of the family have filled them with despair. But there is no money to spend on the little things that go to make a home attractive and there's no way to hide a broken chair or a large hole in the parlor rug. Wouldn't these people welcome and cherish the pieces you've grown tired of!

There is a young student working her way through school who needs your assistance. She is living in one room, in which there is no table, and you can realize what difficulty she has in accomplishing anything in the way of work or study. A desk is what she really needs and she'd be simply overjoyed to receive one.

Then, I know an elderly woman who earns her living by taking in washing. She spends most of her day bending over a tub and an aching back, tired shoulders, and a scanty living are her reward. Just think what a washing machine would mean to her!

I can mention only a few specific cases, but I know scores of them. My files are bursting with letters that tell the most pathetic tales. But there is joy in knowing that much of this discomfort can be eradicated with your generous assistance and I feel certain that I can count on your help.

An Artificial Limb for Some One.

"I have an artificial leg to give. My mother used it. The foot size is 8 and it is for a leg which has been amputated just above the ankle.

"MRS. A. A."

If you have need for an artificial limb of this size and type, I shall be glad to have you write me for this one. Please do not telephone.

Wants Textbook.

"I am a young married man and have been attending night school, but will have to continue my study at home now. I have been out of work and cannot afford to buy the book I shall need, 'Sheet Metal Drawing and Estimating.' Perhaps one of your kind readers would have it to give.

"J. P."

Does your supply of technical or about to be disposed of books include this volume? If so, this ambitious student could make splendid use of it in completing the course he has started.

Fitting Up Invalid's Room.

"I am furnishing a bedroom for a sick friend and would like to know if some one has any useless 'odds and ends' to give away. I know these would help to make the room more pleasant to live in. MRS. A. M."

On the eve of housecleaning I am sure there are many trinkets and decorative bits on the discard list you will be happy to find a place for. An old lamp, a cushion, a bright bowl—any of these would help so much to create a cheerful, pleasant atmosphere in the room of this invalid.

Gram Scale Requested.

"I am asking for a gram scale for a poor woman who has diabetes and must weigh all her food. Do you think a reader will have an old one to give? M. O."

Strict diet is an important factor in the care of the diabetic patient and a scale becomes an absolute necessity. Have you one of this type which you can donate to the afflicted woman?

Riding Togs Needed.

"I have been ill for a long time and my doctor is sending me to his sister's home in Colorado to get well and strong. He says I may ride while I am there, but I have no riding clothes. Can you help me get some? I wear size 16 in a habit and 6 or 6½ boots. D. E."

Is your spring wardrobe going to include new riding togs? Here's an applicant for the old ones—a young girl about to start a race with health in the bracing, stimulating climate of Colorado.

Offers Free Violin Lessons.

"I am a young girl of 20 and an advanced violin student of one of the oldest conservatories in Chicago. I would like to give violin lessons to beginners of about 12 years or thereabouts, free of charge. I am sure there are many children in Chicago who would like to play this instrument, but because of financial difficulties are unable to take lessons. G. M."

Sometimes the urge to play the violin is an indication of great talent in a child, a talent that should be fostered. Perhaps your young son or daughter is one of these children and you cannot afford to give him the lessons his musical appetite craves. If so, here is a marvelous opportunity to have him instructed in the rudiments of the violin. Write me, if you are interested in this offer; please do not telephone.

Help for Deserving Woman.

"An old woman, 80 years of age, without friends or relations, is badly in need of clothing. She came here about 10 years ago and with the savings of a life time bought a few lots, some chickens, and built a shack. She made a living for a few years but she became unable to take care of the place and finally lost the land. She is living in the shack and earns a little from the chickens, but last year most of them were killed. Won't you please try to get her some clothing? She is tall and is hunchbacked so will need large things. Her shoes are size 7.

"M. J."

The brave efforts this woman has made to earn a living seem to have met with disaster and the savings which were to have been the comfort of her old age have gradually slipped through the fingers not strong enough to hold them. She is helpless now and comes to us with her simple needs. What can you and what will you do to alleviate this misery?

Activities of Women

An average of one marriage is performed every four minutes in New York City on a 12-hour-day basis.

A woman—the first in the state's history—guards the door to the office of the governor of Minnesota. She is Mrs. Myra Griswold, executive clerk.

Mrs. Kiwa Shimazaki, aged 56, of Tokio, Japan, is the only woman building contractor in that country. She employs about 200 men and has worked on some of the largest buildings in Japan.

Bright Sayings

The Tribune will pay $5 for every childish saying printed. The story told must never have been printed in any magazine or paper. It is not possible to acknowledge or return unavailable contributions. Write on one side of the paper. Address bright sayings to Aunty Bee, The Tribune.

It was early spring and the robins had put in their appearance. Four year old Betty and her mother woke one bright sunny morning and listened to the birds chirping and singing outside. Mr. Robin Redbreast could be heard sweetly cheer-up-ing in the distance, but close at hand a flock of sparrows were coarsely scolding one another.

Betty listened intently for a while and then said, "Some birds have a hard time singing, don't they, mamma?" MRS. W. F.

We had moved into a new neighborhood, and each evening the two children loved to run to the corner and watch for the car which would bring their daddy home.

A neighboring gentleman had noticed them and, wanting to be friendly, remarked as he passed: "Well, here you are again waiting for the street car. Now, tell me whose little children you are."

"O," answered Mary, who was the younger of the two, but much more talkative, "this is just me and my little brother, Willie." M. T.

Riding

By Eleanor Jewett.

I'm riding my hobby-horse, riding,
At canter and gallop and trot;
I'm off and away at the break of day
With a round of powder and shot.

I'm Sheridan twenty miles too late,
I'm Grant in a coat of blue;
I'm all the men who conquered then
In the stories you say are true.

I'm riding and riding and riding
Into England and France and Spain;
My bold hobby-horse takes a golden course
And adventure runs at his rein!

How to Darken Gray Hair

By BERYL WEST

I repeat what I have often said—there's no excuse today for a woman submitting to gray hair and looking older than she feels. Gray, faded or streaked hair may be so perfectly restored to color that it need be only your own boudoir secret. Nothing more or less than a mixture of sage tea and sulphur is the magic.

One may either prepare the mixture at home, or as most people prefer to do, buy it already prepared and ready to use. Wyeth's Sage & Sulphur is the name of the ready-to-use preparation and since all druggists sell it at 75c a bottle, there is really no need of going to the trouble of making it yourself.

You simply moisten a comb or soft brush with it, and draw it through the hair, one strand at the time. One application banishes the gray and one or two more completely restores your gray, faded or streaked hair to its original color. There is no artificial, dyed look. The whole effect is one of perfect naturalness. My readers would be surprised if they knew of the thousands of men and women who use this preparation.

MY BOB'S AT THE AGE WHEN HE CRAWLS ALL OVER THE FLOOR. THIS HAMPER IS JUST FULL OF HIS GRIMY CLOTHES. WASHDAY IS NO JOKE TO ME
IT'S SCRUB, SCRUB, SCRUB ON MONDAY UNTIL I'M ALL WORN OUT!
WHY DON'T YOU CHANGE TO RINSO? YOU WON'T EVER NEED TO SCRUB AGAIN
NEXT WASHDAY
I NOTICE YOU'RE THROUGH WITH YOUR WASH EARLY. DID YOU USE RINSO?
YES, IT'S WONDERFUL SOAP! IT SOAKS CLOTHES WHITER. I USE IT FOR DISHES NOW, TOO AND

The makers of 38 washers say "Rinso for safety!"

They know, of course. They know that Rinso washes clothes whiter—safely. That's why the makers of 38 famous washers endorse Rinso!

Cup for cup, Rinso gives twice as much suds as light, puffed-up soaps. Great for tub washing. Saves scrubbing and boiling. How that saves the clothes!

Millions use Rinso — thousands write us letters like this

"Rinso soaks clothes spotless. Clothes come so snowy, I don't even have to boil. I use Rinso's thick, creamy suds for all cleaning. It's great for dishes!"

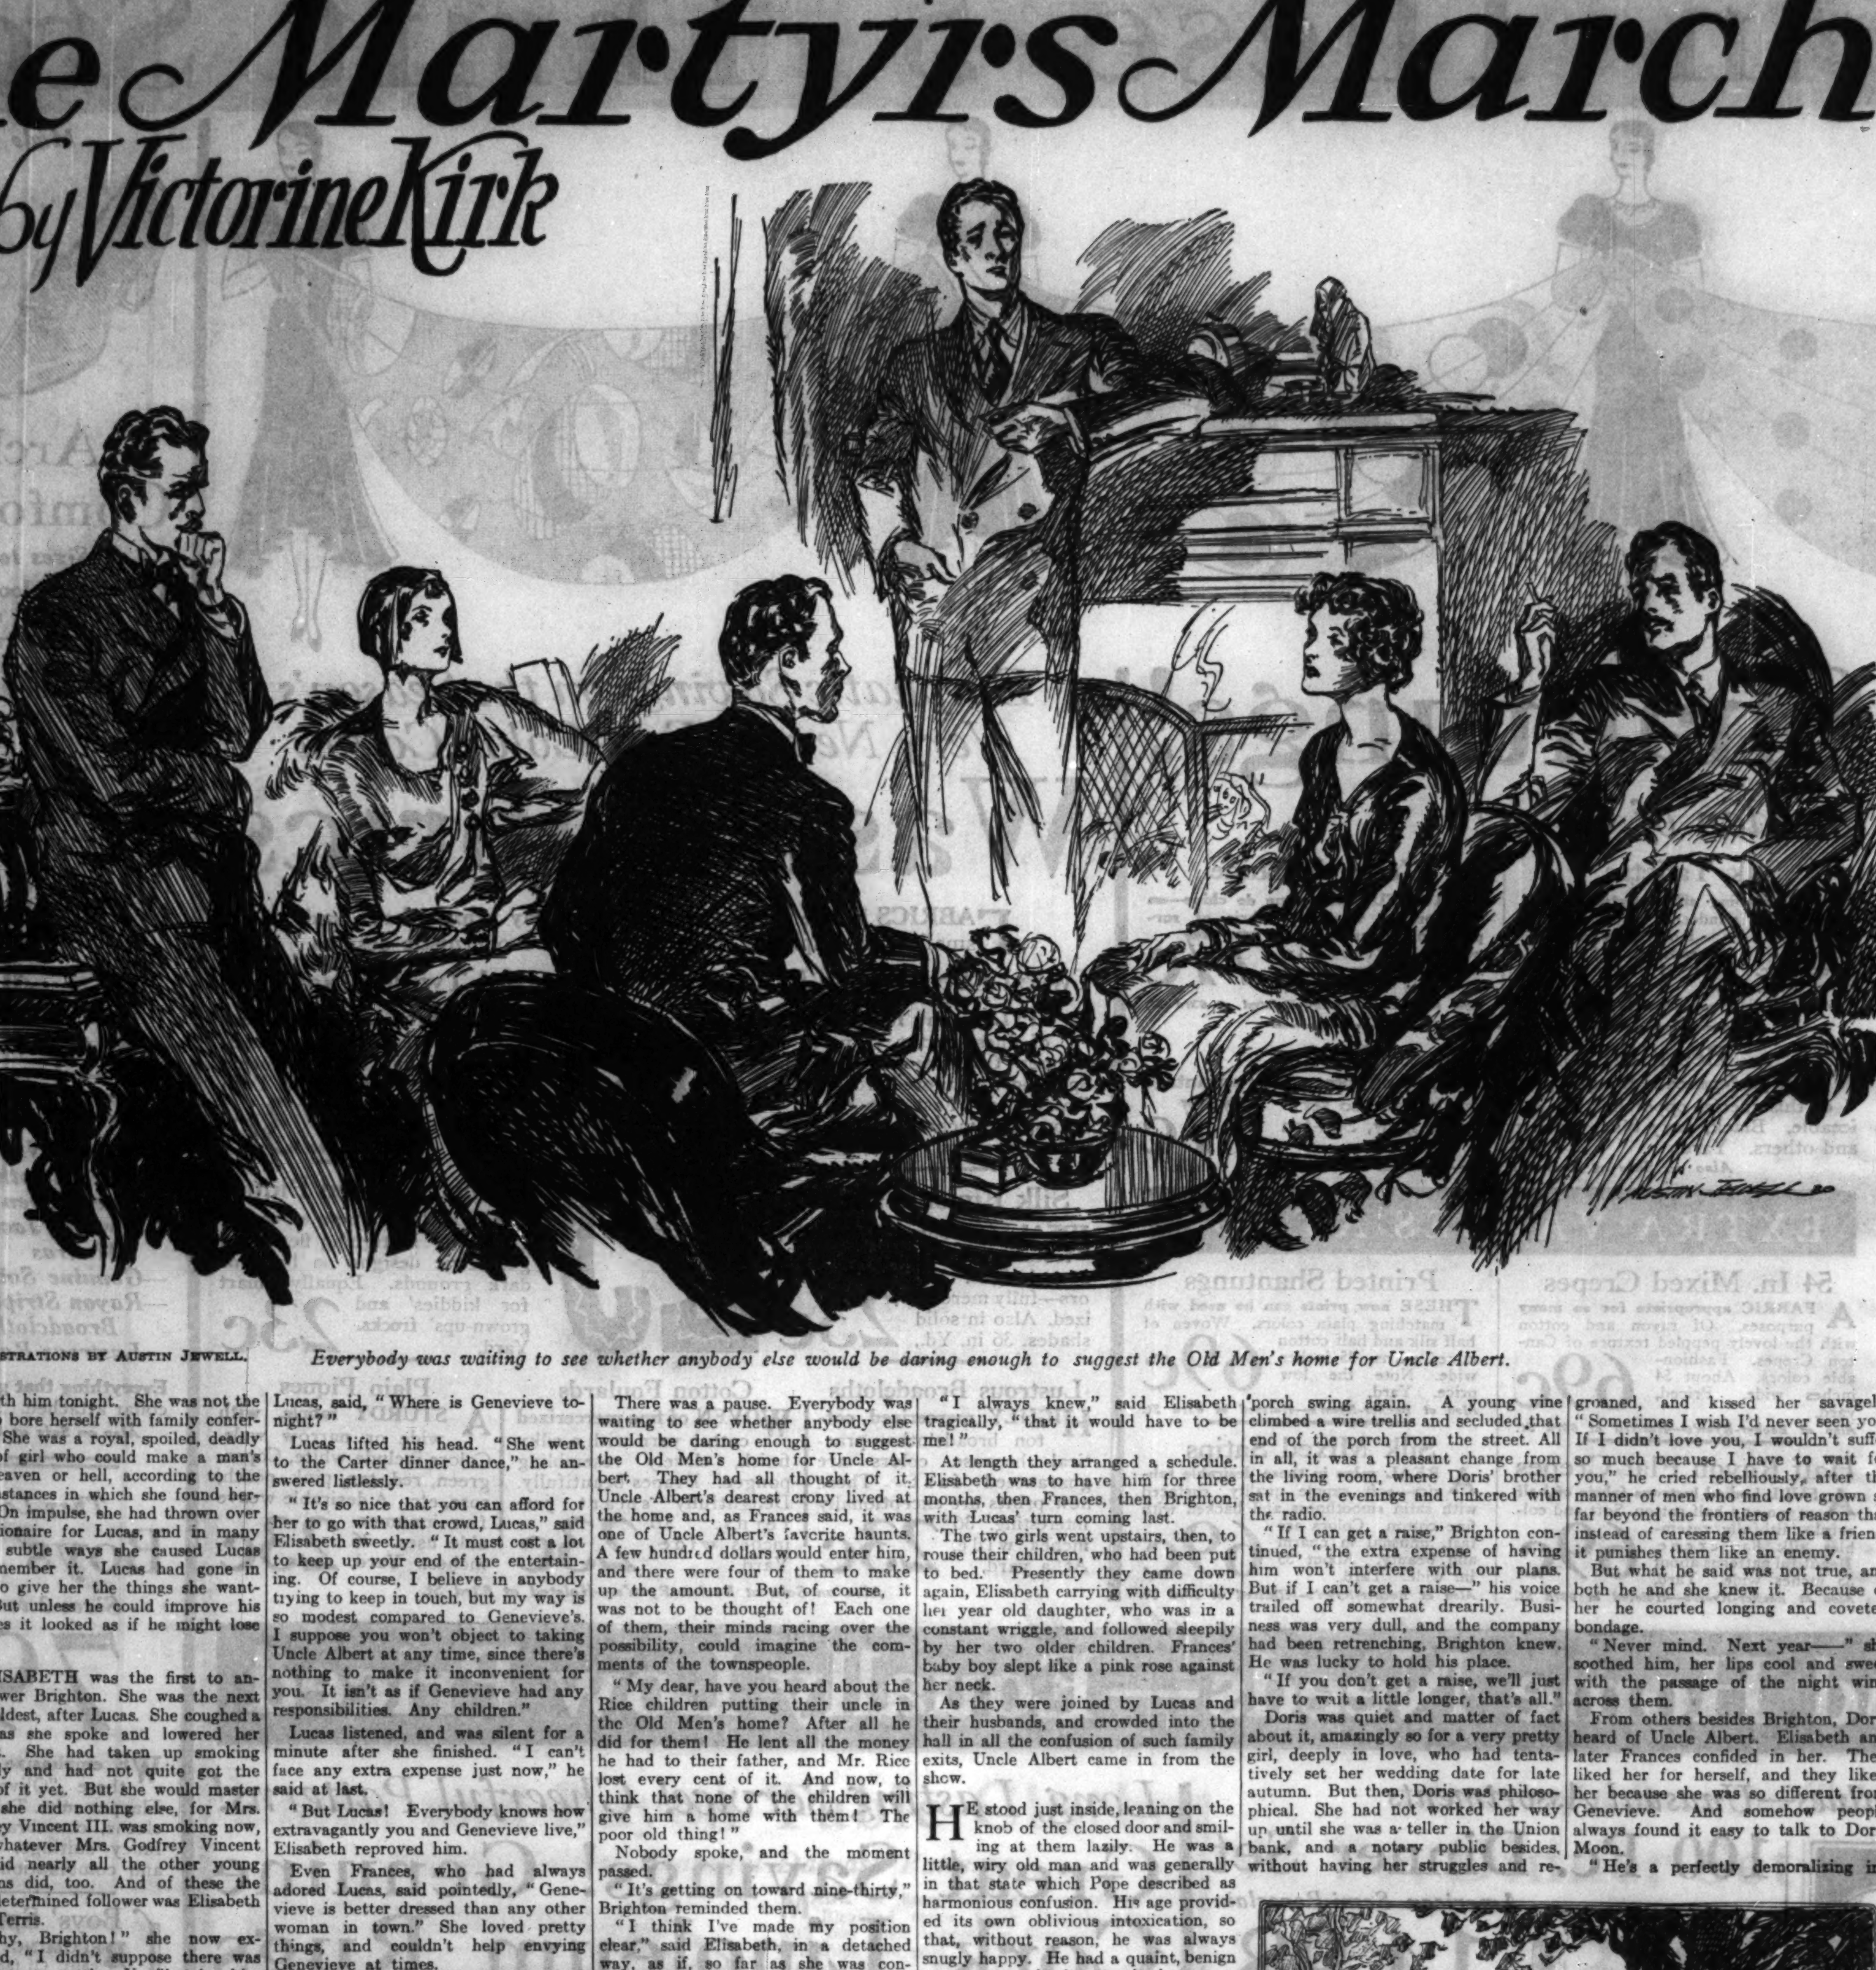
Uncle Albert, Who Went the Rounds from One Relative's House to Another, Proved to Be a Blessing in Disguise to All of Them.



ILLUSTRATIONS BY AUSTIN JEWELL.

Everybody was waiting to see whether anybody else would be daring enough to suggest the Old Men's home for Uncle Albert.

AFTER a time the rumor spread around town that the Rice children had drawn lots to see which one of them must first accept responsibility for their Uncle Albert, a sociable old fellow of sixty-eight years who always stayed on in the living room, talking about the Spanish-American war, no matter what elegant company was calling; who nurtured a scrubby little beard and, in spite of it, kissed his nieces' babies on the sly; who wore the most impossible old clothes, and left his false teeth in the most unexpected places.

The rumor was untrue. But it was a fact that during the family conclave, which the Rice children held in order to decide what was to be done with Uncle Albert, they indulged freely in a practice which is commonly known as passing the buck.

All four of the Rice men and women were present. The husbands of the two girls were also there, quiveringly alert for anything that was said, and looking a trifle depressed. They felt that the situation was rather unfair. They had not counted on Uncle Albert when they married.

They all sat in a restless group in the living room of the old Rice home, which had been kept open since Mr. Rice's death by Brighton, the youngest son, the only one of the children who was yet unmarried. He and Uncle Albert had kept bachelor's quarters there for a week after the funeral, and when Elisabeth and Frances, the daughters, looked into the kitchen they gave little cries and backed out again.

The house had been sold to pay the debts which were Mr. Rice's sole legacy to his children. Brighton was moving into a boarding house in four more days. And Uncle Albert was moving, like a boat without a rudder, to any one of several destinations. He would be charted, in fact, into any harbor where the masters could not find strong enough alibis to postpone his making port with them.

So, having temporarily disposed of the subject under discussion by sending him downtown to the showing of a western picture, the Rice children gathered in close conference, with the threat of discord already discernible, like the scent of an oncoming thunderstorm, in the air.

"Let's jump in and settle it at once," suggested Brighton, when the front door had closed behind Uncle Albert. "He'll be back at nine-thirty, and however we may feel, I don't think any of us would be crass enough to let him know he isn't wanted."

Brighton was standing. He leaned against the mantel, his tall, thin body relaxed, his fair, tousled head tipped back, his expression casual. Nevertheless, mentally he was in fighting position. He knew that he was in for it. He knew that his present circumstances were not to his advantage. Inasmuch as Uncle Albert was now in his keeping, the others would insist that there was no good reason why things should not continue so. The fact that possession is nine points of the law would operate against him in this case, if he allowed it. Also, as the others would point out, he had no family to support. Only himself dependent on his salary.

But his salary was not large. It little more than covered his own needs; and that little more went into a fund dedicated to a shrine and an idol. A picture of the idol was always on Brighton's dresser. She had an oval face, beautifully contoured, with a soft, rich mouth blooming in the lower half, while a pair of wide set dark eyes of great intelligence and steadiness enhanced the upper part.

Her name was Doris Moon. She wore the engagement ring which Brighton had given her, and he and she were to be married as soon as Brighton could get enough money ahead. The thought of having to provide a home just now for Uncle Albert was appalling to Brighton. He had been getting on fairly well with his additions to his Doris fund, and he could hardly bear the thought of having the contributions interrupted. It would simply mean that, for a certain length of time, he would have to exchange a future with Doris for a present with Uncle Albert. And no man in his senses would have hesitated in making a choice between the two.

Let some of the others, who were already married and had homes, take him. That was only reasonable, Brighton thought. He started to suggest that they take turns, three months each of Uncle Albert, in rotation according to their ages. But, of course, that would give him to Lucas first, and somehow, looking at Lucas, Brighton hadn't quite the heart to suggest it.

Lucas, the quiet one, was sitting slightly away from the rest of them, over in the settle near the bookcases. He sat with his head bent, and his clasped hands dropped between his knees. He looked harried and worn. He rarely spoke, and seemed to hear little of what the others were saying, except when he roused himself every now and then and listened with strained attention for a few minutes, only to have his thoughts wander away into some personal preoccupation.

At thirty-five, Lucas had a dusting of gray in his black hair at the temples. He had a beautiful wife fourteen years his junior. And he had an asking look in his eyes. His wife, Genevieve, was not with him tonight. She was not the sort to bore herself with family conferences. She was a royal, spoiled, deadly kind of girl who could make a man's life heaven or hell, according to the circumstances in which she found herself. On impulse, she had thrown over a millionaire for Lucas, and in many small, subtle ways she caused Lucas to remember it. Lucas had gone in debt to give her the things she wanted. But unless he could improve his finances it looked as if he might lose her.

ELISABETH was the first to answer Brighton. She was the next oldest, after Lucas. She coughed a little as she spoke and lowered her cigaret. She had taken up smoking recently and had not quite got the hang of it yet. But she would master it, if she did nothing else, for Mrs. Godfrey Vincent III. was smoking now, and whatever Mrs. Godfrey Vincent III. did nearly all the other young matrons did, too. And of these the most determined follower was Elisabeth Rice Terris.

"Why, Brighton!" she now exclaimed, "I didn't suppose there was anything to settle. You'll take him with you, won't you? And after you have had him for a while, he can come to one of us."

Ralph Terris, and Frances, and Frances' husband, Howard, all looked encouragingly and compellingly at Brighton. But Brighton was ready for them.

"I've already had him for a while," he declared. "For the last week I've provided for him, and outlined his daily amusements, and rubbed his rheumatic leg every night when I came in from seeing Doris. His leg has been affected since the rainy weather came on, and as you realize, we have most of the rainy season still ahead of us. So it is my suggestion that Lucas or Ralph or Howard shall outfit themselves with liniment and step into the breach. My arm is so sore daytimes that I can hardly write, and an accountant needs the use of his hands.

"But my chief reason for giving Uncle Albert up to one of you is that there is only one room vacant at Mrs. Hutchinson's boarding house. It's the only fit boarding house in town, and I intend to take that room. But Uncle Albert is the last man on earth I would share it with, for he snores and wheezes all night long. If I had a house, like the rest of you, and could locate him across the hall, I wouldn't mind. But under present conditions, somebody else will have to be elected. Later on, when my turn comes, I'll have had a chance to reserve Mrs. Hutchinson's first vacancy for him, and then I'll have no objections to make."

"Well, I'm sure nobody could expect Ralph and me to take him just now, after this winter, with the expense of Beth's tonsils, and the real estate business absolutely dead," Elisabeth began intensely.

Frances, deep in the old leather Morris chair, interrupted her sharply. "You know you have more money than any of us except Lucas," she said.

She looked tired tonight, and Brighton wondered if she had been working very hard. She was artistic, and yearned for achievement. She wrote and wrote on novels and stories and verses that never sold. She drove herself quite as hard as Elisabeth, who was goaded by social ambition.

Perhaps she looked tired because of her baby. Nursing that baby was keeping her thin.

Elisabeth, her attention called to Lucas, said, "Where is Genevieve tonight?"

Lucas lifted his head. "She went to the Carter dinner dance," he answered listlessly.

"It's so nice that you can afford for her to go with that crowd, Lucas," said Elisabeth sweetly. "It must cost a lot to keep up your end of the entertaining. Of course, I believe in anybody trying to keep in touch, but my way is so modest compared to Genevieve's. I suppose you won't object to taking Uncle Albert at any time, since there's nothing to make it inconvenient for you. It isn't as if Genevieve had any responsibilities. Any children."

Lucas listened, and was silent for a minute after she finished. "I can't face any extra expense just now," he said at last.

"But Lucas! Everybody knows how extravagantly you and Genevieve live," Elisabeth reproved him.

Even Frances, who had always adored Lucas, said pointedly, "Genevieve is better dressed than any other woman in town." She loved pretty things, and couldn't help envying Genevieve at times.

Lucas only said, "I'm in debt." But a sudden moisture appeared on his forehead.

"O, everybody owes money," cried Elisabeth. "I shudder to think what Ralph and I—but of course, nobody could expect us to take him just now. I simply haven't time to look after him. The spring club programs are so full, and I'm on two committees—chairman of one of them. Then, I'm making little Beth some clothes, and coaching Junior in his arithmetic. And Lula Hunt wrote me that she might come next week to visit me, and I have only one spare room," she finished triumphantly.

"Uncle Albert could sleep on your day bed in the sunroom," suggested Frances.

Elisabeth gave her scornful glance. "That's out of the question, of course. The room would never be in order. What is the matter with your taking him?"

FRANCES gave a little wail. "I simply can't. I'm not strong enough. The baby takes so much time. And I'd just have to give up my writing!"

"But you never sell any of it," said Elisabeth practically. "And think, if you had three children instead of one!"

"Why couldn't we all chip in and get him room and board somewhere?" suggested Howard hopefully. He was given to saying the wrong thing. He had said the wrong thing now. Everybody except Ralph looked at him quickly, with a shade of embarrassment.

Brighton tried to explain. "You see, Howard, it's a matter of pride," he said. "He must live with one of us—with somebody who belongs to him. It isn't just that he must have a place to stay. We owe him more than that. If father hadn't borrowed Uncle Albert's money, and lost it, he could have a home of his own. It's up to us to make it up to him. We can't put him in some boarding house, alone."

"I didn't mean—I only thought——" Howard mumbled, while Frances broke in defensively, "Of course, Howard was only trying to think what would be best. And, of course, one of us will have to take him. Yet, it isn't as if he would be with us so very much. He's out at the Old Men's home with old Mr. Hicks half the time!"

There was a pause. Everybody was waiting to see whether anybody else would be daring enough to suggest the Old Men's home for Uncle Albert. They had all thought of it. Uncle Albert's dearest crony lived at the home and, as Frances said, it was one of Uncle Albert's favorite haunts. A few hundred dollars would enter him, and there were four of them to make up the amount. But, of course, it was not to be thought of! Each one of them, their minds racing over the possibility, could imagine the comments of the townspeople.

"My dear, have you heard about the Rice children putting their uncle in the Old Men's home? After all he did for them! He lent all the money he had to their father, and Mr. Rice lost every cent of it. And now, to think that none of the children will give him a home with them! The poor old thing!"

Nobody spoke, and the moment passed.

"It's getting on toward nine-thirty," Brighton reminded them.

"I think I've made my position clear," said Elisabeth, in a detached way, as if, so far as she was concerned, the talk was over. "Later on I'll be glad to take my turn. In the summer perhaps, when the clubs aren't meeting, and I haven't a guest."

"You're always having guests," several people said together.

"No, after Lula's visit, I suppose I shall have to get my spare room ready for Uncle Albert," Elisabeth said resignedly. "I'll tell you—he shall come to me the next time after this. But since there's nothing to keep Frances from taking him now——"

"But there is! I didn't finish telling you," Frances cried.

Howard urged, "Tell them what the doctor said."

"He said that I must have rest and quiet for two months at least," Frances told them. "I was at his office only this afternoon. He said I was so run down, nursing the baby. He said I must build up. I told him—my back—he said my nerves were in a really serious condition. I can't take Uncle Albert now, Elisabeth. You'll just have to do it. You don't realize how having the baby affected my health, you're so strong yourself."

"I need to be," said Elisabeth bitterly. "Well, Lucas, it is between us, I suppose. And since Genevieve has no responsibilities, and you have plenty of room for him, I don't think there is any question which of us should take him just now."

She looked at Lucas without mercy. It was all very well to be sympathetic with Lucas and try to help him, unless her own plans were at stake. And after all, everything she had said about Genevieve was true. Genevieve had nothing to do but amuse herself. And even if Lucas' marriage came to an end, Elisabeth honestly thought Lucas would be better off without Genevieve, however much he might be hurt at first.

However, even Elisabeth couldn't look at Lucas very long. His unhappiness stood so nakedly in his eyes.

"Elisabeth, I haven't any excuse, but couldn't you—this time——" he stammered, and ended abruptly. "I can't take him. I can't."

"I'm sure I don't see why," Elisabeth cried, not very severely. She was weakening as she looked at him. It made her angry with herself, but she couldn't help it. Watching Lucas was like watching a wounded thing.

"I can't," he repeated, his voice low. And he added indistinctly, "I'm afraid."

"I always knew," said Elisabeth tragically, "that it would have to be me!"

At length they arranged a schedule. Elisabeth was to have him for three months, then Frances, then Brighton, with Lucas' turn coming last.

The two girls went upstairs, then, to rouse their children, who had been put to bed. Presently they came down again, Elisabeth carrying with difficulty her year old daughter, who was in a constant wriggle, and followed sleepily by her two older children. Frances' baby boy slept like a pink rose against her neck.

As they were joined by Lucas and their husbands, and crowded into the hall in all the confusion of such family exits, Uncle Albert came in from the show.

HE stood just inside, leaning on the knob of the closed door and smiling at them lazily. He was a little, wiry old man and was generally in that state which Pope described as harmonious confusion. His age provided its own oblivious intoxication, so that, without reason, he was always snugly happy. He had a quaint, benign manner toward other people that sometimes puzzled them, for they got the impression that he thought he was giving them something. He did the wrong things with a bright confidence in their rightness. His memory was probably the most faulty memory in current circulation. There was nobody else just like him, but his individuality did not always endear him to his relatives.

"Howdy, children," he began amiably. "There was a man in the picture swum a horse down a rapids."

His little blue eyes meditated over the thrilling memory in pleasant reverie. He would have gone on to recount other daring deeds, except for Elisabeth, who felt nervously depleted and wanted to get home.

"We've been talking about Brighton's giving up the house, Uncle Albert," she told him. "You're going to come to stay with Ralph and me. I'll come over tomorrow afternoon and help you get your things together."

A shadow of distress passed for a moment like a film across his contented eyes. "I was goin' out tomorrow to see Tommy Hicks of the Old Men's home," he said sorrowfully.

It was in this manner that he always spoke of his friend. Other people said, "Lord Winton of London," or "My friend Mr. Dutton Field of New York and Paris," and Uncle Albert said, "Tommy Hicks of the Old Men's home," in just the same way, and with the same expectation of respect.

"I'm afraid you'll have to stay here," said Elisabeth firmly, "so that we can pack your things. I'll come over soon after luncheon, and you be waiting for me."

He agreed submissively, wistfully.

She came. But when she arrived he was nowhere to be found. When it occurred to her to get in touch with Mr. Hicks of the Old Men's home, Uncle Albert pleaded that he had forgotten. No doubt he had, for the things he forgot most readily were the ones he disliked to remember.

So it was the next day when the Rice children moved Uncle Albert and his effects to Elisabeth's blue guest room, where, for the time being, Lula Hunt had been frantically bidden not to come.

"That gives me six months to try to get a raise before he comes to me," Brighton told Doris Moon that night. The spring time was far enough along now for them to begin to sit out in the porch swing again. A young vine climbed a wire trellis and secluded that end of the porch from the street. All in all, it was a pleasant change from the living room, where Doris' brother sat in the evenings and tinkered with the radio.

"If I can get a raise," Brighton continued, "the extra expense of having him won't interfere with our plans. But if I can't get a raise—" his voice trailed off somewhat drearily. Business was very dull, and the company had been retrenching, Brighton knew. He was lucky to hold his place.

"If you don't get a raise, we'll just have to wait a little longer, that's all."

Doris was quiet and matter of fact about it, amazingly so for a very pretty girl, deeply in love, who had tentatively set her wedding date for late autumn. But then, Doris was philosophical. She had not worked her way up until she was a teller in the Union bank, and a notary public besides, without having her struggles and reverses. She knew more about the form of strength which is called patience than almost any other girl who ever had wide set dark eyes, smooth ash gold hair, and curved coral mouth with a dimple at the corner.

"All!" said Brighton despairingly.

Her head stirred on his shoulder, so that her silky, fragrant hair rested against his cheek.

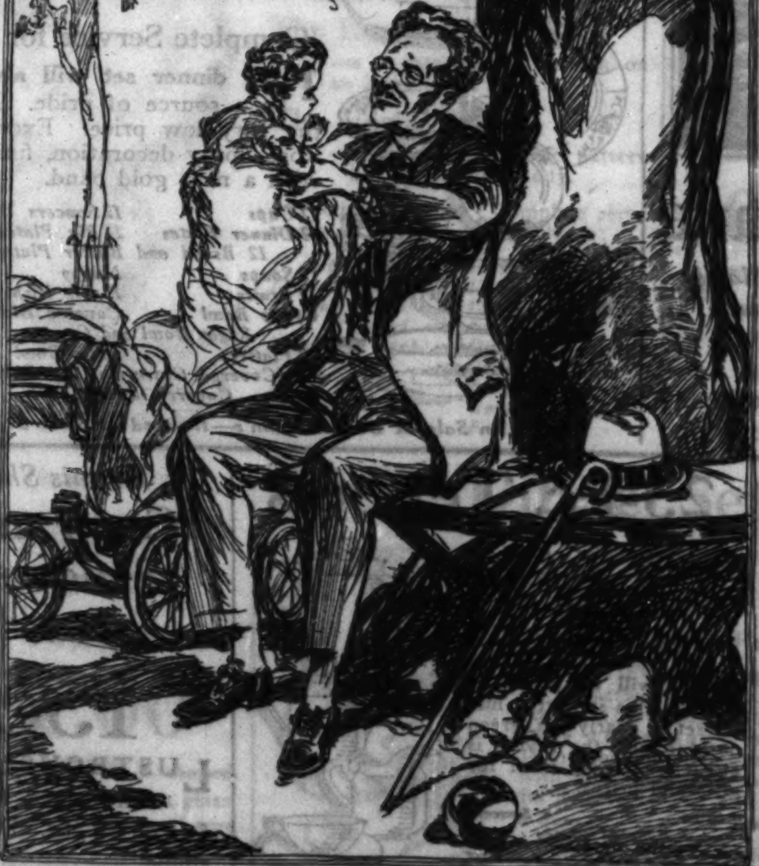
"O, I know!" she said quickly. "But after all, it can't be helped. He can't help it, and maybe he minds more than any of us. You'll have to be very good to him. He's such a funny little old man."

"Even after we're married, he'll have to be with us three months out of the year, you know," Brighton mused. "If we ever get married, that is!" He groaned, and kissed her savagely. "Sometimes I wish I'd never seen you. If I didn't love you, I wouldn't suffer so much because I have to wait for you," he cried rebelliously, after the manner of men who find love grown so far beyond the frontiers of reason that instead of caressing them like a friend, it punishes them like an enemy.

But what he said was not true, and both he and she knew it. Because of her he courted longing and coveted bondage.

"Never mind. Next year——" she soothed him, her lips cool and sweet with the passage of the night wind across them.

From others besides Brighton, Doris heard of Uncle Albert. Elisabeth and later Frances confided in her. They liked her for herself, and they liked her because she was so different from Genevieve. And somehow people always found it easy to talk to Doris Moon.



Dandling Howard Jr. on his meager chest, Uncle Albert would sing.

"He's a perfectly demoralizing influence," wailed Elisabeth. "I never know what he'll do next. Fancy, I found out yesterday that he was helping Junior feed and care for a toad Junior had smuggled into his room. My cook has to do the cleaning, and the creature hopped out at her from under the bed. She was quite hysterical.

"Then the other afternoon I was having my bridge club, and he came into the sunroom, not knowing we were there, and when I began to introduce him he mumbled so queerly for a moment, then he reached down in a pocket and brought out his false teeth and put them in. After that he was all smiles, perfectly confident of himself.

"I'm always finding those teeth about, Doris! He leaves them practically anywhere, when he gets tired of wearing them, and we run across them on shelves, or tables, or on the mantel, grinning at us. It's rather chilling. I don't know what Frances will do when he gets to her. She is so squeamish about anything that strikes her as unesthetic. She doesn't realize now, she doesn't sympathize with me. I'm just waiting!

"And Ralph feels his being with us in his business. Ralph is handling the sales of that suburban piece, Glen Acres, you know. It hasn't been going well, and I suppose Uncle Albert thinks he is helping, but you never saw anything to equal the nondescript people he herds into Ralph's office, for Ralph to take them out and show them the lots! We thought we knew everybody in town, but most of these we never even heard of. I can't imagine where he gets them. They seem to be relatives of men who were in school with him when he was a boy; and people he meets at the drug store, and the picture show. Of course they don't buy. You can tell at once they havent' any money. But Ralph has been decent to them.

"I told Ralph today, though, that he mustn't waste any more time on anybody unless they are qualified prospects. We simply have got to have money. I want another guest room added on over the back porch. As it is, I can't have anybody with me, and even after Uncle Albert leaves it will be the same thing over again next year. Mrs. Godfrey Vincent asked me if I could let that lovely woman who came to lecture to our club on the English novelists stay with me, and I had to turn her down. I told Ralph something must be done. But I daresay things will go on just the same!"

HOWEVER, she was wrong. Things did not go on just the same. For presently Ralph's business began to improve. Some of the men whom Uncle Albert had introduced to Ralph come back to buy lots. Then more of them came and brought friends of theirs, until at last Ralph realized that Glen Acres was selling remarkably well.

He and Elisabeth built their new spare bedroom. And Ralph would have been glad to encourage Uncle Albert as his business aid, but he saw less of the old man now since Uncle Albert had gone to stay with Frances.

At Frances' house Uncle Albert made himself intermittently useful on the days which he did not spend with Mr. Tommy Hicks, by wheeling the baby through the park. For this Frances might have forgiven him much, if only he had preserved a reasonable quiet when he was at home. But Uncle Albert was a talkative old soul, and the fact that Frances might have snatched a few minutes to sit down at her rebuilt typewriter and devote herself to the fervid creation of her gilded and unsalable heroines did not act as a check upon Uncle Albert's garrulous tongue. He talked whenever the mood struck him, amiably and innocently, regardless of her looks of cold reproach and the occasional pecks which she gave the keys.

In the course of time she learned more about the Spanish-American war than she had ever expected or aspired to know of any historical event. Also she became an authority on conditions in the Old Men's home. For a time she fought this unwelcome flood of information. But after a month or so it occurred to her that she was passing over a priceless opportunity. Quite suddenly she saw Uncle Albert as a type. From that time on she bewildered him by encouraging him to stay at home, and inducing him to be even more conversational than he was by nature. She painstakingly pumped him as dry as possible of his opinions and impressions, and took an unprecedented interest in everything that had ever happened to him.

After she had finished with him for the time being, she would hint that the baby hadn't been out that day, and after Uncle Albert had got out the baby carriage and wheeled Howard Jr. away she would write down all of his talk that she could remember.

Now and then she had qualms about sending the baby off with him, for she guessed that he sometimes took Howard Jr. out of the carriage and walked with him on his shoulder; and that little beard of Uncle Albert's was certainly not the proper plaything for an infant. But she had so little time to herself!

Her guess was quite correct. Except when he was with Tommy Hicks, Uncle Albert was never happier than when he and Howard Jr. were enthroned under one of the brooding oaks in the park. Dandling Howard Jr. on his meager chest, Uncle Albert would sing:

"Little old man came riding by.
"Sez I, 'old man, your horse will die.'
"'If he dies I'll tan his skin,
"'And if he lives I'll ride him again.'"

This, and similar classics, Uncle Albert submitted for the approval of his grandnephew, who in return would pull that beard and utter chortling cries.

Sometimes Brighton found them there, when he cut through the park after the office was closed, on his way to see Lucas. Brighton would stop, talk for a moment, then hurry on. He was keeping closely in touch with Lucas these days. He was worried about Lucas.

The garage which Lucas owned had a light going late every night in the welding room, where Lucas himself was making a small, intricate model.

"I don't understand what it is all about, but Lucas does," Brighton told Doris. "It's some appliance to use in drilling oil wells, and it's supposed to cut down costs. A chap Lucas knew at college invented it, and he's giving

The BACKSTAGE MYSTERY

by OCTAVUS ROY COHEN

The Story in Brief:

TERRY MOONEY, young reporter, "makes the front page" of the Evening Record with the story that Wylie Thornton, matinée idol, is to leave the local stock company and to take a train that night for New York and a Broadway engagement. Terry is engaged to Anice Garet, ingenue of the company. Unknown to the adoring public, Thornton is a drunkard and a wastrel. In one of his most recent escapades, when disgracefully intoxicated, he has knocked down John Norris, real estate operator, on being ordered from the Norris home. He has, however, superficial attractions which have dazzled Doris Manning, an amateur member of the stock company, who is the daughter of Maj. Manning, influential banker. He has persuaded Doris to elope with him, promising to marry her after divorcing his wife. Mrs. Thornton threatens to kill him to prevent the elopement. Norris and Maj. Manning go to the theater separately, the former to exact an apology, the latter with the hope of frightening Thornton off. Visiting the actor's dressing room with her fiancé, Carey Weldon, Doris finds Thornton shot to death and her father standing by. Manning enlists the aid of Jim Hanvey, detective. Chief Marty Gallagher is in charge of the investigation. The Record assigns Ken Johnston and Terry Mooney to cover the case. Hanvey and Gallagher carry their inquiry to the Norris home. Mrs. Thornton is assaulted. She blames Lovely Holmes, gambler, saying he attacked her because she refused to indorse a $100,000 check made out to Thornton by Carey Weldon. Holmes at first declines to talk.

INSTALLMENT X.

Complications Set In.

LOVELY HOLMES rose courteously as they entered his cell. It was a plain room, furnished with an enameled cot, a cheap but neat dresser, and a straight chair. Hanvey sank heavily on to the bed, Gallagher took the chair, and Holmes, with all the grace of a host, placed himself next to Hanvey. He produced a silver cigaret case and extended it to his guests. Marty snorted his refusal, but Jim grinned.

"Never smoke 'em, Lovely. I'd hate to get bad habits at my age."

He produced a terrible black projectile which he lighted. As the first puff of smoke circulated through the room Lovely Holmes looked startled.

"My God! Jim—" don't you call that kind of cigar a bad habit?"

"Maybe, Lovely—maybe. But I'm used to 'em."

There was silence for a few moments as the men eyed one another. Gallagher, true to his promise, had edged his chair into a corner and become a mere spectator. Hanvey's methods were not his, but he was generous enough to admit that thus far Jim had not failed to elicit any information he desired. And certainly bluff and bluster had availed nothing with Holmes.

Then Jim spoke, his drawly voice freighted with candor and friendliness.

"I want to talk to you, Lovely," he said, "and I'm giving you my word that I'm shooting square."

Holmes inclined his head. "You don't have to go any farther, Jim."

"That's fine. First I want to ask you a question: Do you realize that you're in a pretty tough spot?"

Lovely gave a short, bitter laugh.

"I'll say I do."

"I hate to break the news to you, son, but you're in for a stretch."

"For what?"

"Well, it's a cinch that you assaulted Mary Thornton. We're going to try you for that. I think the official charge in this state is assault with intent to murder. At the trial your past record will be brought out, and I reckon you can judge for yourself that if you're convicted you'll get the limit. And you'll be convicted, Lovely—just as sure as shooting."

Holmes' eyes were cold.

"Do you believe I assaulted Mrs. Thornton?" he asked.

"Sure," answered Hanvey promptly. "I never doubted it for a minute. But that's neither here nor there. The point is that, barring a miracle, we'll get a conviction. If you think we won't, why, you're at liberty to play your own hunch. I'm here to speak honestly and let you be the judge of what's best for you.

"Consider, just for the sake of argument, that you've already been convicted of attempting to kill Mary Thornton. We then immediately get an indictment against you for the murder of Wylie Thornton——"

"I had nothing to do with that."

"So you say, Lovely—and maybe you're telling the truth. But I'm asking you, son—what chance will you have convincing a jury of that when you've already been convicted in the Mary Thornton case and it's known that you had been consistently taking Wylie Thornton for pretty near all his money?"

The crook was doing some fast thinking, but his manner betrayed no excitement.

"You have no evidence against me in the Wylie Thornton case."

"O yes we have."

"What?"

"In the first place, I think we can produce a witness who saw you loafing in the theater alley about seven o'clock, apparently waiting for Thornton. Don't get me wrong, Lovely—I'm not trying to trick you; there's a chance that this man won't be able to identify you positively. . . ." There was a sound of disgust from Marty Gallagher's chair and Jim grinned over at him. "Yeh, I know, Marty, but I told this lad I'd come clean with him and I'm doing it."

"Which is more than most cops do," snapped Holmes.

"I am," continued Jim. "And the second piece of evidence, Lovely, is that check. You know good and well, son, that you never took no unindorsed hundred thousand dollar check from any man in a dice game. With an indorsement—yes. But not that way."

"Can you prove it?"

"Sure. If the jury ain't crazier than most juries are. But I don't have to prove it."

"Why not?"

"Because, Lovely, to tell you the honest truth — it'll make the case against you stronger if I let that angle of it alone. What I'll bring out at the trial is this: That you did win the check from Thornton in a dice game and that he did not then indorse it. That you went to him Friday and Saturday to make him indorse the thing, because, according to your own story of his losses, he owed you a hundred thousand dollars and his failure to indorse the check was doing you out of that much kale. Then, Lovely, we'll develop the fact that on Saturday evening you read the story in the Record and doped it out that Thornton was jumping his job in order to get away with that hundred thousand.

"Now listen, Lovely—the reputation you've got in this town ain't the sweetest smelling thing in the world. You're supposed to be bad, and I guess you are. You won't stand for no double-cross any more than any self-respecting crook will. So what happens when you find out that Thornton is fixing to harpoon you to the tune of a hundred grand? Why, you go nuts, that's all. You wait at the theater for him and go into the dressing room with him. You try to make him sign that check—and he refuses. You got sore as a pup and hang one on his jaw. Then he gets up and starts to battle. Maybe he pulls the gun and you take it away from him and plug him. Either before or after the shooting you've grabbed a handful of cash out of his wallet. Then you beat it. And Lovely, whether that story is true or not, there ain't any twelve men we could stick in a jury box that wouldn't convict you on it—especially if we had already convicted you of attacking Mrs. Thornton."

Jim leaned back and folded his hands across his tummy. "There's the layout, Lovely. Think it over. Make up your mind where you stand and where we stand. And remember that it don't matter a lot whether you're innocent or guilty; if you make us come through . . . we'll send you to the chair."

"I didn't kill Thornton," said Holmes shortly.

"Then tell the truth. Can't you see, Lovely—if you tell the truth the chances are you'll get away with just a stretch for the Mary Thornton thing. If you hold out on us—you'll fry."

"You mean," asked Holmes, choosing his words with care, "that if I tell the truth you'll guarantee that I won't be sloughed for the Wylie Thornton thing?"

"I only guarantee one thing," said Hanvey, "and that is that you won't be railroaded. If you killed Thornton, you'll get yours. If you didn't—and can make me believe it, you're in no worse trouble than the Mary Thornton affair."

HOLMES' jaw was set, and his eyes were focused on a little spot on the opposite wall. It was plain that he was doing some intensive thinking, and suddenly he turned to the ponderous detective.

"Jim Hanvey," he said, "I'm going to do something I never thought I'd do in my life."

"And that is?"

"I'm going to take a dick's advice, and come clean."

If Hanvey felt any triumph, he did not show it. His voice was as calm and quiet as though discussing the weather.

"That's real sensible, Lovely. Shoot!"

"There isn't any use going into too much detail," said Holmes, "because you've got a good deal of it right anyway. I'll only start by saying this much—Wylie Thornton was one of the yellowest welshers I've ever run across. He cried every time he lost a dollar."

"He must have cried a lot."

Lovely smiled grimly. "He did. Plenty. I took him for about three hundred a week. He was hooked proper. On his last pay night, I think it was Saturday the tenth—the week before he was killed—he went in deeper than usual. He lost a thousand dollars; his salary and four hundred dollars more. He had a little money and he begged me to let him keep that to pay running expenses, and he said he'd pay me the four hundred the following Saturday. That was okay with me.

"On Saturday the seventeenth, I read in the paper that he was leaving for New York. Knowing he was a welsher, I knew he'd never think of paying me. I figured he'd have paid if he had been staying here—but if he was leaving town anyway, it was a cinch I wouldn't get my four hundred. So about dark I drifted down from the McKeever and loafed around the theater alley . . . you see, it was me that your witness saw.

"Good, so far. At about seven o'clock—I don't remember the exact minute—Wylie Thornton appeared and he didn't seem happy to see me. He was in a rotten humor. I asked him if he was leaving that night and he said he was. Then I asked him for my four hundred. He said he hadn't drawn his salary yet and he'd give it to me after the show. Then he went on up the alley and through the stage door."

Holmes paused for a minute.

"I'm trying to get this straight, Jim." He smiled slightly. "I'm beginning to understand how important it is to make you believe me."

"You're doing fine, Lovely. Go ahead."

"A few minutes later, while I was still standing in the alley thinking things over, Mrs. Thornton appeared. She was walking fast, seemed excited, and paid no attention to me. Didn't even see me, I guess. She was backstage perhaps ten minutes. Then she came out. She was walking even faster than when she went in and as she passed me, I saw that she was crying. She turned in the general direction of the Raleigh, but where she went—I don't know.

"I didn't like the looks of the whole thing. I figured that Thornton was fixing to slip it to me, and I got sore. I went backstage myself. I didn't see a soul. I went straight to Thornton's dressing room and told him I knew he had drawn his salary that afternoon and I wanted my four hundred.

"Well, he fell for my bluff. He admitted he had drawn his salary, but he got nasty and said he wasn't ready to pay me. Of course I knew what that meant; he was fixing to do me out of it. I told him I'd have the money then or know the reason why.

"Now get this, Jim; when I said a little while ago that Thornton was a welsher, I didn't mean he was yellow physically. As a matter of fact, he surprised me. Of course he's a big guy . . . and he was in a rotten temper—been quarrelling with his wife, I guess. He jumped up and said he had stood all he was going to stand from a lousy crook like me and that if I didn't get out of there he'd throw me out."

A smile flickered across Holmes' thin lips.

"He started for me, Jim—and I hung one right on his button. Zowie!"

"With your fist?"

"Yeh, my right. You see, when I was younger I was a pretty good third rate pug and I could always sock. I gave him everything I had and he went down good and hard. A referee could have counted Gene Tunney out in the time he laid on the floor.

"I knew he had finished battling for the night, so I dug into his hip pocket and took out his wallet. There was something over six hundred dollars in it. I took just exactly the four hundred that was coming to me. And then——"

"And then, what, Lovely?"

"I saw the check."

"The Carey Weldon check?"

"Yes. I took it in at a glance; Weldon's certified check to Wylie Thornton for one hundred thousand. Thornton was still on the floor—out cold. I took the check."

"Hmm. What did you expect to do with a check made out to another man?"

"I don't know. I didn't know then. But Jim, I'm a hustler—and we have to work fast. It just came to me all of a sudden that that check would be a nice thing to have. It wouldn't be fair for me to say what I was planning to do with it—because I wasn't planning anything. I just had the hunch that if I had time to think it over I could cash in on it some way . . . probably selling it back to Thornton himself for a couple of thousand.

"Anyway, it don't matter a whole lot why I took it. The point is, I did. I left the room before Thornton recovered consciousness. I went to my own room and started to figure what I'd do with a check. Then, almost before I knew what it was all about—I reckon it was about half past eight or a little later—a buddy came busting into the room with an extra saying that Wylie Thornton had been murdered.

"As for the rest of it, Jim—there ain't much to tell. Thornton was dead. Nothing had been said about the check. I figured no one knew about it, and I knew that the only person in the world who could realize on it was the widow. I knew that Weldon's account had been charged with that amount and that the check would be cashable only if listed as an asset of the estate.

"I went to see Mrs. Thornton in the hotel. I put it up to her that she was to list the check, say nothing about where she got it, and divide fifty-fifty with me. It seemed like an awful reasonable thing, but holy smoke! Jim—hell busted loose right there—and how! That hysterical female got the idea I had killed her husband and she started yelling about having me arrested for murder. I'm giving you my word that was the first I thought about being mixed up in the murder thing.

"I tried to quiet that dame—and if you think it's an easy job, try it some time. I've got bruises on me yet where she clawed, and every time I'd take my hands off her mouth she'd begin yelling 'Murder' again. It's a wonder she didn't wake the whole hotel.

"Now get this: I didn't assault her—not the way you think. I didn't want to hurt her. But I realized that I had to keep her quiet—just long enough for me to make a getaway. I did choke her on purpose, but honest to God, it was just to save my own hide. As soon as she was quiet, I got away from the hotel and started north. I had a flat tire, which is the only reason your motorcycle scouts caught me at Springdale."

"The check was left on the floor of the room," said Jim.

"Why not? Lord knows it wasn't any use to me then. I never wanted to see it or hear of it again."

Hanvey hoisted himself to his feet. "You've talked mighty straight, Lovely. I want to tell you that I'm inclined to believe everything you've said. And if it turns out to be true, I'll see if things can't be made sort of light for you. Of course you'll do time for the Mary Thornton thing—but maybe not so much time as if you'd really tried to kill her."

Lovely extended his hand.

"Thanks, Jim Hanvey. You're a white man."

Back in Gallagher's office, the inspector faced Hanvey.

"Were you kidding Holmes or not?" he demanded.

"About what?"

"Believing him?"

"No, I wasn't kidding him, Marty. I think he told the truth."

"What makes you think so?"

"O! Several things. For one reason: he talked that way."

"He's the slickest hustler in the south."

"And his story checked in every detail with all the other stories we got—especially Mary Thornton's. Ever figure that, Marty?"

"Yes," admitted Gallagher grudgingly, "that's true enough."

"But there's one fact more important than that, Marty—one thing that a clever guy like Lovely Holmes would never have told if he hadn't been coming clean."

"And that is . . . ?"

"He knew that Mary Thornton was a suspect. But do you realize, Marty, that by his own story he visited Thornton and found him alive after Mary Thornton had left the theater?"

"You mean . . . ?"

"I mean that Lovely Holmes' story automatically clears Mary Thornton. And another suspect wouldn't do that unless he was either telling the truth or happened to be dumb."

Gallagher nodded.

"You're right, Jim. And even I will admit that Lovely Holmes is a long way from dumb."

Gallagher was silent for several minutes, his forehead wrinkled in thought. Then he looked across the room at his friend and spoke in a tone which conveyed his complete disgust.

"Hanvey," he announced, "we're a couple of hot sleuths."

"Sure we are, Marty. But what made you think of it just then?"

"I was just thinking . . . Do you realize what we've done today?"

"What?"

"We've complicated this case more than ever. Instead of finding the murderer of Wylie Thornton, we discover that Lovely Holmes ain't him. Then, to make matters worse, we succeed in clearing Mary Thornton—one of our best suspects. I don't think either of us was ever very strong for the idea that Maj. Manning bumped him off, and it didn't seem quite reasonable that John Norris did—although, by gosh! it's a lot more understandable now that we don't have to tie up the murder with the wallop on the jaw and the stealing of money."

"Precisely," murmured Hanvey. "Before, we were up a tree because we couldn't understand any of our suspects robbing Thornton . . . and no one of them except Carey Weldon seemed of the proper physical strength to have hung that good one on his jaw. Now, Marty, we know that the assault and robbery had nothing to do with the killing—provided Lovely Holmes told us the truth—and so it could have been the major or John Norris——"

"Or Pete McIntosh. Or Lola Gresmer——"

"Or," interrupted Hanvey; "Carey Weldon. It's a leadpipe cinch, Marty, that our very next step is to have a long and serious talk with that young man."

"Yeh," agreed Gallagher, "and once again I want you to do the talking. I think, Jim, that you handle his type better than I can."

THEY found Weldon in his private office on the second floor of the impressive graystone building which bore his name and housed his real estate and insurance business. He said that he was delighted to see them, but his manner belied his words.

"It's about the Thornton case again, Mr. Weldon," started Hanvey.

The young man nodded.

"I thought as much. What can I do for you?"

"O! Nothing in particular. We just want to ask you a few questions."

"Very well."

Hanvey looked everywhere except at the young man, but Gallagher's eyes never left Weldon's face.

"Do you," inquired Jim, "know a person in this town named Holmes—Lovely Holmes?"

Weldon looked up in surprise.

"No," he answered.

"Did you ever hear of him?"

"No."

"I thought you hadn't. He's a crook. What the underworld calls a hustler."

"Why should I know that sort of man?"

"You shouldn't. But his name has gotten mixed up in this case and I thought I'd ask you."

Weldon's face cleared. "Is he the man who attacked Mrs. Thornton yesterday? I read something of it in the morning papers."

"That's the bird. But, anyway, let's forget him. What I really want to know is this, Mr. Weldon: How intimately did you know Wylie Thornton?"

"Not at all intimately."

"You knew him, though."

"Surely. Doris had taken part in several productions at the Edwin Booth, and I had frequently called for her after the night performance. Naturally, I met Thornton several times."

"I meant aside from that sort of thing. Didn't you know him on the outside?"

"Certainly not."

"You're sure of that?"

Weldon flushed. "I am sure or I wouldn't make the statement."

"Hmm. . . . Did you ever have any business dealings with Thornton?"

"No."

"Again I must ask you: Are you sure?"

Weldon rose, somewhat angrily. "Now listen here, Mr. Hanvey—I can't see——"

"Siddown, son. Siddown and calm yourself." Jim produced the two pieces of the check which had been found on the floor of Mary Thornton's room. "Look those over, son, and tell me if you ever saw them before."

WELDON sat down. He sat down abruptly. His eyed opened wide and his jaw dropped, but his words surprised both Hanvey and Gallagher. He looked straight at the former and spoke in a very unhappy tone.

"I was afraid of that," he admitted softly.

"Of what, Mr. Weldon?"

"Of the check coming to light."

"Mmm. . . . Then it is your check?"

"Yes—I regret to say."

Jim fiddled with the golden toothpick and was silent for several seconds. Then his slow, friendly drawl fell soothingly upon the ears of the perturbed young man.

"Maybe you can understand now why I kept asking you if you were certain you had never had any personal or business dealings with Wylie Thornton. We have been looking over this check, Mr. Weldon—and the more we think of it the more important it seems. Frankly, it didn't make your case any stronger when you tried to steer us off it, and if you'll take my honest advice you'll give us the lowdown."

The young man's face was white. "I understand that—and I'll tell you the truth. The only reason I haven't before was because the whole thing puts me in an inglorious, almost ridiculous light. And I'm going to ask you gentlemen to be merciful in giving this story to the newspapers unless you absolutely have to, because it will place Miss Manning in a horrible position."

"We'll see that Miss Manning doesn't suffer," said Jim. "Don't that go for you, too, Marty?"

"Surest thing you know. Provided we get the whole story out of Weldon here."

"You will," said Carey. "And I'll make it as brief as I can.

"Naturally, you gentlemen know that I was engaged to Miss Manning. You may not know, however, that I really care more for her than I could make any outsider understand. The third point is that I am considered wealthy, as wealth is gauged in this town.

"For some time I had noticed that Doris—Miss Manning—has been infatuated with Wylie Thornton, and I was worried. O! I don't say that there might not have been a tinge of jealousy in my feelings, but I will swear to you that Doris' happiness was at all times the thing which was paramount with me . . . and what worried me was the certainty of misery and scandal if it was allowed to continue. Doris is not yet twenty years of age, gentlemen, and scarcely competent to judge sanely, particularly under the circumstances she found herself.

"I know more of the situation than her father did—and I was terribly worried. I never thought that Miss Manning would do anything wrong or immoral, but I was afraid she would do something impulsive. And I was sick with the certainty that Thornton was nothing more nor less than a cheap, uncouth poseur.

"For some time I considered having it out with Thornton in my rôle of Doris' fiancé, and then another idea came to me.

"I did not believe that Thornton was in love with Doris. I figured that he wanted her money. And when I started looking at the matter through Thornton's mercenary eyes, I found a solution which was based solely on dollars."

High Calling

She was the wife of a young university professor, and she had to help him choose between his love for his work and the comfort of their children. . . . An intriguing story, dramatic in its simplicity, by Maude Radford Warren.

THE MARTYRS MARCH BY . . .

By Victorine Kirk

Lucas an interest in it to make up the model properly for him. Lucas is working and worrying himself half to death over it. He's convinced that there's money in it, and he's trying to make a success of the thing in time to sell it and get some money out of it before his turn comes to have Uncle Albert. Genevieve has told him that she won't live in the house with a tiresome old man, and that if he can't get the money to send her to Europe or Palm Beach during those three months, she's going home to her father and stay."

"The creature!" said Doris, softly and angrily.

"Lucas is crazy to care," Brighton declared. "He ought to love a real girl, one who would stick, even," his voice dropped roughly, "if a man is a failure."

"You're not a failure!" she protested. "It isn't your fault that you didn't get your raise. Business has been rotten."

He kissed her sadly and tenderly. The leaves were gone from the moon vine that had covered the porch during the summer. Soon it would be too cold to sit outdoors.

Indeed, the first cold weather set in on the day when Uncle Albert came to board with Brighton. Unfortunately, on the second day after his arrival, Mrs. Hutchinson's furnace refused to function. In spite of the attentions of reputed furnace experts, the boarders went to bed that night in a clammy house. And though the registers once more exhaled heat the following morning, Brighton found when he went in to get Uncle Albert up for breakfast, that the old man breathed with difficulty, and with a sound of tearing paper in his chest.

Now, pneumonia, when it attacks the aged, is likely to be a quick and mortally decisive affair, or else a very long drawn out battle. Uncle Albert had been a fighter in his younger days. And in regard to this engagement, he said that it got his dander up, that he hadn't ever thought he would take sick on the children, but that he would soon get over it because when he died it wasn't going to be of a rattle in his tubes.

He did his best, but because of his relapse, he spent six weeks in the hospital before he finally left it, discharged by the grace of God, the doctors, and the prayers of Tommy Hicks.

THE Rice children had shared expenses. But even with three other people to help meet the bills, Brighton found, when it was all over, that his Doris fund was almost nonexistent, a mere memorial marking the grave of his dreams.

"I've got to do something," he said to Doris. "I can't stand this. And it isn't fair to you to ask you to wait so long."

She tried to console him. But his face took on a grim look, and he began going down to the company offices three nights a week.

Lucas was no longer working at night. Early in the fall the invention had been contracted for by a manufacturer, and Lucas' first royalty check had been surprisingly large. It was noted that much of Genevieve's hauteur had vanished, and that Lucas was getting his color back and losing his look of strain. A bit before Christmas he came in to see Brighton one day.

"I just wanted to let you know that I'll be ready to take Uncle Albert when it's time for him to come to me," he told Brighton. "We'll take him south with us."

"Where are you going?"

"I'm going to put a manager in charge of the garage, and take Genevieve to Florida," Lucas said. "Dr. Hubbard thought it would be best for her to get away for the rest of the cold weather. The fact is, Brighton, she's going to have a baby. We're very happy about it. At first she didn't want Uncle Albert to go with us. But," his jaw set a trifle, "we had an understanding. You'll see, Brighton, that the baby will make a change in the way Genevieve looks at things."

Something had made a change in Lucas, too. There was a new confidence and authority about him. His eyes had lost their asking look. They commanded, instead. Brighton thought it certain that Lucas would be secure and happy now.

They talked a bit longer, about Frances, who had at last sold one of her stories, a piece about a sergeant in the Spanish American war.

"I don't know how Howard lives," Lucas chuckled. "He's just a poor, dumb mortal like the rest of us, and the literary atmosphere in that house is so thick now that you could cut it with a knife."

At last he left. It was settled between them that Uncle Albert should go to Lucas after New Year's day.

But Uncle Albert had something to say about it. In fact, he had everything to say, and what he said was in the nature of a revelation to the Rice children. Uncle Albert, it seemed, had for some time been saving any bit of money that came his way. He had saved consistently, and for a purpose. And since Lucas and Ralph had given him checks for Christmas, he had reached his goal. He now had enough money to pay for his life's residence certificate in the Old Men's home.

"I didn't say nothin' about it," he told the children apologetically, "because I was afraid you might make objections or interfere some way, and I was dead set on it. Not that you haven't all been good as gold to me, but Tommy Hicks of the Old Men's home and me have been through most of our lives together, and it struck me a long while back that if I had my wish I'd rather live under the same roof with him than with the President. And things suits me at the Old Men's home. The talk is int'restin', and the food is good and plain, and Mrs. McConnel that keeps the place is a born mother to all the fellows. And there's always a game of cards or checkers goin', and the beds is comfortable, and no hurry nor uproar about nothin'.

"So I'm goin', and I'll tell the whole town I bought my own way in out there, because I wanted to be with Tommy Hicks, so that nobody can say none of you didn't want me. Because you're a fine crowd of children, and no man was ever treated better, but I just want to be with Tommy Hicks of the Old Men's home."

IT was a month later that Brighton came to see Doris wth something momentous in the way he looked at her. They had the living room to themselves that night, and Doris was wearing a new blue dress.

"That's pretty enough," said Brighton, "to go in your trousseau. It's lucky you have it, for there won't be time for you to shop very much."

He laughed, and kissed her, and laughed again at her bewilderment, like a child with a marvelous secret.

"We're going to be married right away," he cried.

After a few moments of incoherencies, he explained. He had been desperate when Uncle Albert's sickness had cut into his savings. He had cast about for anything he might do to make up the deficit, and had at last gone to work, half heartedly, at an improved accounting system which he had long thought he might perfect.

"The company tried all the best systems in our department, but none of them worked with absolute satisfaction," he told her. "I thought I saw where the flaws were. As I worked, I got interested, and more improvements came to me. I finished it just a bit before Christmas, and they agreed to try it out. It has been in a month now, and the results show that it saves twenty per cent of the time of the entire force.

"The big boy called me in today, and he and the vice president congratulated me on it, and told me they had been asked to let me present it at the accountants' convention in New York two weeks from now. And wait, there's more—I didn't know it, but Jenkins, the department manager, resigned yesterday, and whom do you guess they offered the position to?"

"You!"

"And how would you like a honeymoon in New York?"

At 1 o'clock they still sat by the fire. There were long silences of content between them now. They had made every possible plan, uttered every conceivable exclamation, and promised each other in good faith more than any two human beings could ever fulfill. And now it was pleasant to look backward over everything that had led up to this peak of happiness.

"It has been a great year for the Rice children," said Brighton.

"Yes," Doris agreed. She laughed a little. "Would you like to know what I think has been the biggest factor in the success of all of you? You'll probably be surprised."

"What?"

"Mr. Albert Rice," she said, "of the Old Men's home."

Ingrown Nail Turns Right Out!

A few drops of "Outgro" in the crevice of the ingrowing nail reduces inflammation and pain and so toughens the tender, sensitive skin underneath the toe nail that it cannot penetrate the flesh, and the nail turns naturally outward almost over night.

"Outgro" is a harmless antiseptic manufactured for chiropodists. However, anyone can buy from the drug store a tiny bottle containing directions.

Dreams

Have you ever had a dream which later came true? If you'll mail us an account of your prophetic dream we'll pay you $1 for every dream published. Address "Dreams," Chicago Tribune.

Both Had Same Dream.

An elderly man, who worked in the same factory that I did, roomed at our home until about a month previous to my dream. Due to the demoralized condition of industries and his small wages, he quickly grasped the opportunity to double his income by following his former occupation, boilermaking, in another city.

Several weeks later I awoke after having had a queer dream. In the morning my wife surprised me by telling me an exact duplicate of my dream; that an elderly man whom we had learned to love but whom neither of us could identify had suffered a serious injury while working in a large industrial plant. That same day we received a telegram stating that our ex-boarder had met with an accident and was in a critical condition. The strange duplication of visions with the verification coming shortly afterwards makes it an odd occurrence. H. J. A.

Foresaw Future Journey.

Sometime ago a friend and I were talking about traveling and how wonderful it would be to take a trip. He, being a hotel clerk, naturally came in contact with many classes of people. I expressed my desire of taking a trip west and seeing the country.

That night I dreamed of taking a trip to the Pacific coast and the wonderful time I was having.

The next day my friend phoned me that an elderly gentleman stopping at the hotel was looking for a young man who could drive a car and would appreciate an auto trip to the coast, with all expenses paid and spending money included. I at once accepted and we had a most wonderful trip.

I often wonder if the opportunity of taking this trip would have come to me if I had not dreamed about it.

Promised Health.

I was flat on my back for months in a hospital with a fractured spinal vertebra. I was told my condition was hopeless. I became quite discouraged.

One night I dreamed that I was riding in a buggy with a driver who drove me right into the sea. Just as I was about to sink a raft appeared. Standing upon it was a smiling, ruddy faced little seaman. He called to me to get on his raft and he would take me safely to shore.

The next day my back was worse The doctor seemed to know of nothing to be done. As a last resort I decided to call in a specialist. Imagine my surprise when the specialist came into my room and I recognized him as the smiling, ruddy faced seaman of my dream.

He told me he would operate and help me to get well. So I got upon his raft and reached shore in safety. I am well now and believe dreams do come true. H. R.

Storm Made Known.

A few nights ago I awoke shivering with fright. I had dreamed of being with my parents at their home near the Georgia coast—where hurricane winds blow frequently—during a most terrific storm. Clearly I saw the jack bean vine ripped from the porch by the furious wind.

The dream so impressed me that I wrote my mother about it. At the same time she was writing me, and her letter told me of just such a storm, which tore away not only the jack bean vine, but parts of the porch roof! D. W. S.

Sorority Pin Replaced.

My sorority pin disappeared last fall. When Christmas time came I rather hoped my family would replace it for me, but the holiday box contained nearly everything except the wished for pin.

Several weeks later, after I had decided to order one myself, I dreamed that I was opening a small box stuffed with jeweler's tissue and cotton. I found two pins of my sorority and took one. There was a slight sense of something being wrong with it.

That morning's mail brought a letter from my sister, who belongs to the same sorority. She said that she had lost her pin, too, and in replacing it had ordered one for me as well. She had hoped it would come in time for Christmas but as it didn't she sent another gift.

The slight drawback that colored my pleasure in the dream must have been a little disappointment in finding that the pin was not jeweled. G. H.

"My Skin Nearly Drove Me Mad"

"I had blemishes and blackheads so badly, and used to fuss with them so much that my face looked red and raw. On the advice of a nurse friend I got a jar of Rowles Mentho Sulphur and used it faithfully for ten days. In 3 days' time there was a big difference in my skin and today it is as soft and clear as my ten year old sister's."

The sulphur in Rowles Mentho Sulphur clears the skin while the Menthol heals the sore, broken tissue. That's the twofold action you want for skin troubles. Try Rowles Mentho Sulphur not only for pimples and blackheads, but for dry, scaly skin, rash, and itching eczema. IT WORKS! All druggists sell it in jars ready to use. Be sure it's Rowles.

My Pet Economy

Tell us about your pet economy or an odd economy of some one you know and we'll pay you $1 if we print your letter. Address Economy, Sunday Tribune.

Gets Free Shaves.

My roommate has a pet economy which is a little out of the ordinary. It is his custom to retrieve the stub ends of shaving cream tubes which other students relegate to the waste basket. He gets from one to three shaves out of each discarded tube, so he is constantly supplied with "suds" at no expense to himself—possibly saving a dollar a year by this little economy. R. L.

Saves Bread Wrappers.

A friend of mine buys 5 cent loaves of bread wrapped in wax paper. She carefully holds and saves each wrapper and uses them for her husband's lunch to line the bread box, and to bake cakes on instead of greasing her cake tins. S. H.

Picks Up Golf Balls.

I am a caddie at a golf course for a certain well to do man who pays me most liberally. This man has a habit of picking up balls while on the course. He has never bought a ball since he played golf, and has collected a ten pound salt bag full of them. R. W.

Stores Away Bargains.

I have a friend who economizes by attending sales of all kinds, often getting real bargains. The trouble is that she often buys things she doesn't need and for which she has no possible use just because they are cheap. Her attic is stored with material that is becoming yellow with age and her house is cluttered with useless articles, but she still continues to practice her pet economy. A. B.

Sells Waste Paper.

The Library club of our high school saves all the waste paper of the entire school. The paper is bailed and then sold to a junk dealer. With the proceeds the club buys books for the school library. T. R. T.

Money for Incidentals.

I have formed a habit of collecting all the tinfoil that I can get. In a few months' time I can sell it for enough to buy small incidentals which I otherwise would not have been able to afford.

I told some of my friends about this. They, too, thought it a splendid idea and found it an easy way to make extra money. L. B.

Women the World Over

The government of Czecho-Slovakia intends to make women eligible for the office of judge.

There are 203 women who are employed as part time lamplighters along the Mississippi and Ohio rivers.

Miss Hazel Middleton is studying law while occupied as a stenographer in a law office in San Francisco, Cal. She plans to assist men in the divorce courts after being admitted to the bar.

One of the bills recently signed by President Hoover was a joint resolution appropriating $5,386,367 to enable the gold star mothers and widows of American soldiers killed in the world war to make a pilgrimage to European cemeteries.

Caroline Gibbons Granger of Philadelphia, Pa., is a painter of Indians. She spent three months among the Blood tribes in Western Alberta, Canada, where she set up her tepee studio and lived with the tribe, painting them and their country.

Miss Jacqueline Swift, southern society belle and daughter of a wealthy manufacturer of Atlanta, Ga., has deserted a life of luxury to take a job as a model in a women's shop in Washington, D. C.

Miss Gedide Deha, who has come from Turkey to act as secretary to the Turkish ambassador at Washington and as interpreter for members of the embassy staff, is the first woman attaché to be sent here from her country.

For the first time in history a woman is serving as secretary to the Vice President of the United States. She is Miss Lola M. Williams of Columbus, Kas., who for five years had been Senator Curtis' private secretary and before that a stenographer in his office. She will draw a salary of $…,300 as secretary to Vice President Curtis.

emand Kruschen Salts

Keeps you in good health all the time—skin clear and body free from fat.

Just think of it, these new, better and different salts were only introduced into America a few months ago—yet a host of intelligent Americans are healthier and happier because of their supreme goodness.

Kruschen Salts are the daily health dose of millions of people the world over—they are the largest selling medicinal salts in Great Britain.

One half teaspoon of Kruschen in a glass of hot water every morning gently but surely stimulates the liver, bowels and kidneys to healthy elimination.

But the six vitalizing and rejuvenating salts in Kruschen do more than cause regular elimination—the man or woman who takes them regularly need have no fear of poisons polluting the system which is the cause of many annoying and depressing ills.

One bottle of Kruschen Salts (lasts 4 weeks) costs but 85c and one bottle will prove of vast benefit to people who have constipation, headaches, indigestion, nervousness, rheumatism, depression, acidity and auto-intoxication.

Not only that but one bottle will bring about body activity—increase in energy, vigor and ambition, sparkling eyes and freedom from pimples and blemishes—millions know all this—you ought to know it.

Sold by druggists America over.

An American's Impressions of Life in England

The King! He Is Symbol of the Empire.

By Philip Kinsley.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
[Copyright: 1930: By The Chicago Tribune.]

LONDON, Eng.—[Special Correspondence.]—Why a king?

In traveling through England, talking with men and women of all classes, observing the experiment of building a socialist state upon the weakened fabric of an industrial empire and at the same time holding fast to what seems to an American an obsolete monarchical system, I have sought the answer to this question.

It is rather a touchy subject on which to approach an Englishman. On a boat train coming into London were two New Zealanders, two Canadians, and a South African. Although they had never been in England before, they all felt, they said, that they were "coming home." The Canadians did not even care to discuss the subject. They were members of the aristocratic class. A king, of course, or where would their titles be?

A Symbol of Empire.

A young New Zealander, something of a student of politics, observed that the king was the symbol of empire and was particularly valuable at this time in holding the empire together. This seemed to meet general assent.

"Is that the reason you keep a king?" I pressed.

"Yes, God bless him," said a Canadian, with some heat.

He had confused the main question with a personal regard for King George, who, from all accounts, is an inoffensive, estimable gentleman who reads his Bible every day. Even though he were offensive, a libertine such as some of his predecessors, his sins would be gilded, his mildest talents exploited as great statesmanship, and he would still be the head of the established church founded by Henry VIII.

The idea of empire is deeply imbedded in the English mind. London, the people are constantly reminded in picture, statuary and print, is more than the capital of a little kingdom; it is the seat of power on which the sun never sets.

George was acclaimed on his accession:

"By the grace of God, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Northern Ireland, and of the British dominions beyond the seas, king, defender of the faith (a title which again goes back to Henry), emperor of India (which began in Victoria's time)."

The Glitter Warms Them.

A psychologist would explain all this in the deep desire of the people to extend their ego. In clothing their king with high titles and housing him in magnificence, they shine in soothing and reflected glory. The millions in their drab homes are sustained by this feeling of participation in greatness, identified with it in some dim way. The spacious life extends to them. The gold and glitter warms them.

With the kingship, of course, goes the whole system of hereditary privilege and distinctions through which men who may be inferior are made to feel superior and superior men must struggle against things beyond themselves. The social democracy seems far off, for even Labor accepts the king and the aristocrats as friends rather than enemies.

In talking with the people I found a few raising the question of the expense of keeping the royal family, but on the whole they are well satisfied with their system, feel they can work out their own problems under it and do not blame the king for their troubles. There was a beginning of doubt in some minds as to the ultimate effect of all this social grading upon the initiative and strength of the people, whether here might be found some stoppage to the deep flow of national power.

Here are a few answers to this question of why a king:

State department official: Because under their masks the English are a most sentimental people, and cling to old things. Because the king is the best common denominator of empire.

* *

It Is Tradition.

London business man: It is tradition. It is deeply sentimental with us, the love of king. We are not essentially a democracy.

Village contractor: I think we might be better off with a president. I do not find much ambition among our young people. I don't mind the king but I hate to support all his relatives.

Working woman: The king's job is a hard one. I am strong for him but I don't like the idea of supporting all his relatives.

Butler: I don't know, really. It seems silly, doesn't it? But I am afraid we are used to it.

Labor politician: It is a satisfactory form of government. The king hold title to all the land and if a communist government came in the land could be turned over with less trouble than in Russia or the United States. Look how the king helped us when he threatened to create 500 new peers if the house of lords did not support a commons bill.

Working girl: Who cares about the bloomin' king now? He can't do anything. We don't even stand up in the threater now for 'God Save the King.'

Barmaid: Don't you have a king in your country?

Housewife: I would not change. Familiarity breeds contempt. If you give the lower classes a chance they go too far.

* *

Sets Social Tone.

Provincial business man: The king is for the dukes and lords. They keep it up by giving a man a title when he becomes very rich or successful.

Teacher: The king sets the social tone and keeps alive the standards of the English gentleman. This ideal of the gentleman is the deepest religion.

Fair Marilyn Does Wonders for This Talkie

Photographic Effects Are Beautiful.

"SALLY."
[ALTALKER]

Blair Farquar	Alexander Gray
Connie (the Grand Duke)	Joe E. Brown

By Mae Tinee.

GOOD MORNING!

Marilyn Miller's dancing, Marilyn Miller's beauty and Marilyn Miller's singing would put over any production. They do wonders for this technicolored screen adaptation of the musical show in which the fair lady played so long and so successfully.

Because of Miss Miller's activities and some beautiful photographic effects, "Sally" stacks up as creditable entertainment. The drawbacks are a draggy start, lack of laughs, and a leading man who can sing but does not otherwise qualify. Joe Brown, Ford Sterling and T. Roy Barnes fail to impress because they haven't the proper material to work with. Maude Turner Gordon and Nora Lane are excellent.

Plays a Gamin de Luxe.

The picture needs Leon Errol, but, cheer up, Miss Miller is there! Very much there! She is generous with her smiles, her songs, and her dances, and though her continuous giggling in the first scenes annoys you somewhat most of the time you find her charming. The dance in which I liked her best is the one she has with Mr. Brown. It is a gay, unstudied number and Miss Miller as a gamin de luxe is irresistible.

Sally, you know, is a waitress with tapping feet and a high ambition to become a great dancer. She enters the land of her heart's desire through the usual musical comedy avenues. We leave her gorgeously gowned and secure in the love of a rich young man whom she weds in the grand finale.

"Sally" has some mighty well drilled and staged ensemble numbers in which you will see the Rasch Ballet perform.

First National is lucky in having Miss Miller under four years' contract. She can and will do a lot for the organization if she is given the proper setups.

P. S.: Colleen Moore made "Sally" for the silents. Remember?

Bits aBOUTem.

THREE PICTURES to be made out of doors on locations that will necessitate long journeys from the studios at Burbank are under preparation by First National. They are "Under Western Skies," "The Girl of the Golden West" and "Heart of the North."

DID THEE KNOW that:

Corinne Griffith invests in stocks and bonds and plays the market systematically. Dorothy Mackaill trades in stocks and buys Hollywood real estate. Douglas Fairbanks Jr. writes poetry and magazine articles and draws caricatures of movie people for de luxe periodicals. He has just sold six caricatures and stories to Vanity Fair. Richard Barthelmess buys and sells or trades business properties and other items of real estate. Alexander Gray gives singing lessons to the other people on the lot, but doesn't charge for it. Hallam Cooley owns a tract of land at Laguna Beach and employs ten real estate salesmen. Ford Sterling has a photographic laboratory in Pasadena which he runs for fun as well as profit. Noah Beery has a vacation resort of his own—the Paradise Trout club?

MARY NOLAN is a game lady! She played for two weeks in a production, though encased in a plaster cast which

Mr. Talkie Gets Adequate House to Perform In

Swiss Canyon Echoes Won't Be There.

By Tom Pettey.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

NEW YORK, March 15.—[Special.]—Those talkie houses that echo like a Swiss cañon are going to be available for shooting galleries and patent medicine convention halls in this neck of the woods, if the brick and mortar and good intentions of several theatrical men hold out.

Any one who ever sat in one of those four walls and a roof theaters and listened to the adjectives play hide and go seek with the verbs up among the chandeliers and down along the fire exits, will welcome the announcement that Young Mr. Talkie is about to acquire a whole string of homes of his own.

Paramount and Roxy had just completed piling up their stone castles dedicated to the silent screen when Mr. Talkie came ankling up Broadway. They were fortunate. Because both theaters had plans for huge stage presentations the houses were constructed with a view to obtaining the best possible acoustical results. Mr. Talkie moved right in and was well taken care of from the beginning.

Some of the other older theaters, however, haven't "done right by the young fellow." He is entitled to speak his piece and be heard and he cannot do it in a barn.

Plans Chain of Theaters.

Warner Brothers have fixed Mr. Talkie up in a brand new playhouse on upper Broadway and now along comes B. S. Moss, who used to go in for vaudeville in a big way, with plans for a chain of theaters built for nobody else but that same lusty young fellow.

"These new theaters," Mr. Moss says, "will be acoustically perfect and scientifically designed for the talking pictures and they will immeasurably enhance the enjoyment of the theater patrons."

Between forty and fifty such houses are projected for New York and other cities over the country. The full stage, the big screen, television conveniences—all of these anticipated developments, will be taken care of in the new houses. Radical innovations in both physical structure and materials will be utilized, according to Mr. Moss.

Outlay of Two Million Planned.

The first theater of the projected chain will be built here on 8th avenue and will seat 2,500 persons and cost about $2,000,000.

The auditorium will resemble a large

National Music Leaders to Swarm Upon Chicago

By Edward Moore.

BEGINNING next Saturday and lasting until the Friday following, the music supervisors of the country will hold their second biennial conference mostly at the Stevens hotel but with extensions into the Eighth Street theater, Orchestra hall, and the Auditorium.

It will not be until Monday, a week from tomorrow, that the conference will really get into its stride. The two days before will be taken up with preliminary meetings, registration, preliminary concerts, and the like. But from then on there will be enough activity to fill up thirteen or fourteen hours a day.

The program calls for meetings on the subjects of amateur music, instrumental class teaching, teachers' college section, junior high school, college music, elementary school section, high school section, and many ramifications from each. Speakers will be so many that their mere names would fill up a good part of a column of newspaper type.

Authorities Will Speak.

One notices scheduled remarks from Joseph N. Weber, president of the American Federation of Musicians; Peter C. Lutkin, dean of the music school of Northwestern university; Walter Damrosch, Peter W. Dykema of Columbia university; John W. Beattie of Northwestern university; Percy A. Scholes of Montreux, Switzerland; Dr. John Erskine, president of the Juilliard Foundation; Dr. J. Lewis Browne of Chicago, and these are only a few of the higher lights. Subjects will run all the way from music for the fun of it to the need of a musical background and how to acquire it, and stimulating music appreciation through the radio.

And that it may not be all dry conversation, the proceedings will be enlivened with plenty of music. Concerts will be furnished from the University of Chicago, Northwestern university, and the Chicago public schools; Mr. Stock and the Chicago Symphony orchestra will play a special concert; there will be several appearances by the National High school chorus and the National High school orchestra. In one of the orchestra concerts Dr. Erskine will be the soloist, in another Guy Maier, Joseph E. Maddy and Henry Hadley will be its conductors.

One Phase Omitted.

One rather important point seems not to be touched upon in the sessions. That is, what these youngsters are going to do with their music after they get away from the schools. There is no question but that in the last few years enormous strides have been made in musical development in the schools. Dr. Browne has wrought wonders since he took charge of the department in the schools of Chicago. Memories of the former appearances of the National High school orchestra and the National High school chorus as they appeared here two years ago are that they were something heavenly, with an enchantment of youth about them that transcended their not quite mature technical development. It seemed then, as it has seemed before and since, that there was little that could not be done with groups of young people, depending entirely on the ability of the teachers—and conversly, that when results did not turn out well, it was generally the teachers' fault.

But how about an outlet for these talented and trained youngsters? What are they going to do with it once they have gone out from the influence of their teachers? Somehow it does not exactly seem as though the daily, or rather nightly announcement on the program of the conference, "Singing in the lobby," at 10:30 p. m., furnished the complete answer.

Showing how with the best of intentions mistakes will creep in, the concert calendar of last Sunday had two errors in it. Leon Marx, announced for a violin recital at the Hotel Shoreland, and Eva Gordon Horadesky, announced for a song recital at the Beachview club, both got into the calendar a week too early. They will appear this afternoon, Mr. Marx at 3:30, Miss Horadesky at 4. Beg both their pardons.

Riddle for Forty Years.

Tully Changes His Mind About Jack Gilbert

Writes New Article and Hands Him a Rose.

By Rosalind Shaffer.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

HOLLYWOOD, Cal., March 15.—[Special.]—The most exciting feud that Hollywood has had is in the midst of an interesting aftermath. In a magazine article which evoked much comment here today Jim Tully takes back harsh things he previously wrote about Jack Gilbert and which caused a fist fight and public scene in a local café last month.

Tully declares a wish to be considered a friend of Gilbert's and says that he considers himself lucky to have been the stronger of the pair physically when Gilbert resented one of his writings by taking a punch at Jim's nose. According to Tully, the encounter in which he, an ex-pugilist, knocked Gilbert down inspired him with hearty respect for Gilbert.

Started in 1928.

The feud originated in an article in the May, 1928, Vanity Fair in which Tully wrote of Gilbert's personality in a way that inflamed Gilbert. A young woman engaged at the publicity department of M-G-M was so angry at Tully for the article that she called him names as biting as a lady dare call names. In appreciation Gilbert sent her a trunk full of roses.

The romantic Gilbert had nursed his wrath and when Tully encountered him in the café and the two came to blows Gilbert was felled by the stocky Irishman. Tully says now that it took courage for Gilbert to hand him the first wallop and that he honors him for it. He says in the article of apology, which was published in the Hollywood Magazine: "That Jack is not as physically strong as myself is one of the accidents of life. Being logical, I am glad he isn't. I once knew a man who turned the other cheek; the result was disastrous. It may be argued, and justly, that in writing the article I was attacking him in a manner which gave him no defense. That fact has dawned upon me.

"I admit the truth. I wish to say no word that will hurt Jack further or put him in a false light."

A love feast was arranged by Herman Mankiewicz to reconcile the pair after the brawl, but it did not end so well. Jack felt that Mankiewicz should have consulted him before bringing him face to face with Tully again. The effect on Gilbert of the Tully article will doubtless be some dramatic gesture soon, either for Mr.

Society Takes Up Mr. Mei and Chinese Drama

Mr. Tsutsui of Japan Is for Common People.

By Burns Mantle.

NEW YORK.—[Special Correspondence.]—Last week Mr. Tokujiro Tsutsui of Kyoto and his company of Japanese players began an engagement on Broadway not more than a few blocks away from Mr. Mei Lan-Fang and his Chinese players. Thus are we being educated most thoroughly not only in authentic oriental drama but in the basic differences existing between the two schools.

Also we are being forced, in a way, to take sides. Which represents the better art, if any? And which offers the better entertainment?

Society, as such, has apparently decided to favor Mr. Mei of China. At least, Mr. Mei, having the advantage of the strongest social backing, is drawing our more prominent people in crowds. But he also had the advantage of a fortnight's head start, and it is possible Mr. Tsutsui will later catch up with him.

(Mr. Mei's name, incidentally, is pronounced as if spelled "May." Mr. Tsutsui's sounds a little like "Su-Suey.")

Reviewers Favor Mr. Mei.

Our more outspoken rhapsodists of the press also favor the Chinese star with their stronger superlatives of praise. His performances are so delicate, so charming, so completely in the old, old Chinese tradition; his costumes are so brilliant, and his grace, as a mincing lady of the distant dynasties, is so compelling that he has made many friends.

Naturally there is frequently a sharp division of opinion. The common people, I would say, are not so strong for Chinese stage art as their social superiors.

One night last week I dropped into conversation with an attaché of the 49th Street theater, in which Mr. Mei was then playing (he has since moved to the National, where there are more seats).

"It beats me," this chap admitted. "We've been sold out for practically every performance. Swell people, too. And after each act they come out in the lobby and rave, 'I think him charming, really!' 'O, I think he's sweet!' 'I think he's adorable!' 'Isn't he lovely?'"

"And you?" I queried.

"I think they're nuts," said he. And he may be right.

Japanese Plays Modern.

Mr. Tsutsui from Kyoto (which is the way he is billed) and his Japanese actors are much more easily understood than the Chinese. Their drama, too, has either been carefully restaged by the resident Michio Ito, who directed it, to meet what he has come to believe represents our theater taste, or the Japanese are, by choice, seeking as determinedly to cast aside the traditions of their older theater as the Chinese are determined to preserve theirs.

Mr. Tsutsui's company is large and includes a half dozen women. Personally he keeps rather in the background. In the three plays making up the first bill he was prominently cast in but one. He is one, I assume, who has made his mark in his native theater and is now content to rest to some extent upon his laurels.

The Japanese plays are quite modern in form. The first, "Koi-No-Yozakura," or "Romance in Cherry Blossom Lane," is the simple romance of a poor sculptor who worshiped a beautiful geisha girl. Not being able to negotiate the price of possession, the sculptor made himself a life sized statue of his divinity. One day when he had drunk rather freely of a native wine he placed a mirror, which is the soul of a woman, in her bodice, and playfully touched the figure's lips with wine. Then his geisha came to life and they finished the evening dancing. Which, you may see, is the Pygmalion and Galatea motif in the orient.

Exciting Sword Play.

The principal play of the evening was as definitely melodramatic as the sculptor play was romantic. This, if you remember your Japanese, was the familiar "Kage-No-Chikara," or, if you will have it, "The Shadowman."

Herein Chuji, an active and good looking boy, loves Tsuyu, a pretty teahouse girl, and his father, a good democrat at heart, approves of the match. But along comes the lord of the

How Erlanger Made History in Theatricals

Reviewing Long Career of "Syndicate" Chief.

By Charles Collins.

THE death of A. L. Erlanger threw an epoch of the history of the American theater into perspective. To the post-war generation his name did not mean much except to identify a certain rich man who owned theaters here and there; but to those who have followed the stage, either as onlookers or participants, since the turn of the century, he was an impressive personality.

He was the man—he and his less dominant partner, Klaw—who led the wandering tribes of troupers out of the fly-by-night wilderness and brought them into the promised land, where a hit on Broadway meant a subsequent forty weeks of easy touring without a chance of getting stranded. He organized and consolidated chains of playhouses that covered the country.

He transformed a crazy, hit-or-miss, huckstering traffic into Big Business, with some loss to its picturesque traditions but much to the improvement of its art and its sociologic value. He was the sachem of the Syndicate, and he ruled that grouping of theatrical capital (which was all-powerful until the Shuberts arose and the motion pictures began to eat into its lines of communication) like a Mussolini.

Erlanger started in the early Rooseveltian era, when Big Business was popularly regarded as a menace; when the word, "corporation" was seldom used without its inevitable adjective, "heartless." The weeds of individualism cried out in alarm, in every field of economic life, when the reaping machine of organization approached. So, for a time, his name carried an aura of sinister suggestions.

The Erlanger Legend

A myth grew up about him; he came to be thought of as a kind of Golem of theatrical affairs. But, because of his constructive influence, there was no more passing around the hat in barrooms and cafés to get bankrupt mummers out of town; and the cartoon in the comic weeklies of a motheaten Hamlet asking for a hand-out died a natural death. Erlanger stabilized theatrical commerce, and the players profited by it.

Occasionally some standpatter of the old régime, with the courage of a crusader or the fanaticism of an egoist, tried to buck the Syndicate. Mrs. Fiske and Sarah Bernhardt were cases in point. They would not deal with Erlanger; therefore they had to free-lance among the old barns that the Syndicate had not annexed; once or twice they acted in tents.

The sentimentalists gnashed their teeth at the idea, and the trust-busters pranced forth on their oratorical steeds, eager to ride a tilt against this dragon of the drama. But, like every war, it was all great fun after it was over, and eventually the lambs lay down with the lion. There was peace in the land, and work for the actors.

Erlanger himself was a sentimentalist, after his fashion. If he had been the money-getting monster of his legend, he would have jumped ship twenty years ago and joined the motion picture gold rush. But he stood pat. Broadway and Forty-second Street was his place in the sun; and the old-line theater was his realm. He had come up from its lowest rank until he was, for a term of years, its overlord; and he loved it too much to "go Hollywood."

Backing Ziegfeld and Cohan

He was a theater operator and an executive of the booking offices and the route sheets, rather than a producer of plays. His contributions to the stage were not numerous, and were chiefly in the line of big, blatant musical shows. (There was, of course, his greatest money-maker, "Ben-Hur," itself a kind of dramatic circus.) But he backed other men who had the producer's gift—Ziegfeld, for instance, and, of recent years, George C. Tyler. And he guided George M. Cohan with almost paternal solicitude.

He made a cult of keeping his word. His business associates have often declared that a promise from Erlanger was better than a contract with the average Broadway manager. He had a Napoleon complex, like many another American executive of domineering temperament and chunky stature; but he let it run into the scholarship of the collector. His library of Napoleonana was impressive.

His feuds were numerous, and generally lasting; but even his enemies spoke of him with respect. The anthology of theatrical wit is almost barren of satirical Erlanger jokes. Any summing up of his long career, in its public phase, may find him a man of prowess and dignity.

Builder of Theaters

He remained active until his last illness, and believed that the development of the "talkies" meant not death but new life to the stage of reality. He was confident that the use of dialogue in the films would rebuild the stage audience. He was planning an integration of entertainment activities which would link the vitalized drama with the audible screen—a "vertical trust," as it were, with stage plays as the original source of material that would eventually come before the camera and microphone.

The announcement, that followed his death, of plans for building a new theater in Chicago was a part of this program. He built the Iroquois, afterward the Colonial, here; it has been transformed into the Oriental cinema house. In association with his Chicago ally of a lifetime, Harry J. Powers, he operated the Blackstone and the Illinois; and for a number of years he held the lease on the Auditorium. The theater named after him, the Erlanger, was built by the Orpheum vaudeville lowest pitch possible on the instrument. The pitch of a stringed instrument is governed by the length, weight, and tension of the string. In the case of G the vibrations are of equal length of the string. A light touch in the middle will divide the string into two vibration lengths, a harmonic effect. Now, I get the tone E below that G, the first E below middle C.

"I have been trying for forty years to find some one who can tell me just what character of vibrations make that pitch a third below the natural open tone. What can you tell me?

"This can be done on any mellow toned instrument, on which the strings are quite slack but still at standard pitch, and is done by a slow heavy bow at a point about one inch from the bridge. My instrument is so sure of it that I have made a bit of exercise in which that E is the opening and seventh notes. I shall look for your reply.

"Years ago I wrote the Scientific American about the same as this, and they published the letter under the heading, 'A Curiosity in Violin Playing,' and made no comment. One of my young friends tried this on his cello and secured the same result after having read my letter in the American. J. G. HOLMES."

Solution of Question.

This is a somewhat startling letter to find in the mail, especially when the recipient does not happen to be a violinist. It took a bit of investigation. No text book within reach touched on the point, but conversation with some professional violinists, among them Jacques Gordon and Albert Spalding, furnished a hint.

Both of them were definite in the statement that the condition described by Mr. Holmes does not occur in all violins, but that it is found in some. Where it does, it can usually be identified with something in the construction of the instrument, a faulty position of bridge, soundpost, or something of the sort. When the open G string is sounded, it vibrates not only in its full length but in fractions, producing both fundamental tone and overtones, and some overtone or combination of overtones is strong enough to set up a sympathetic vibration in whatever loosely fitting part of the violin it is which produces the low E.

This may not be a complete answer to Mr. Holmes' inquiry, but it is the best information I have been able to secure up to the present time.

* *

"Real Strad Instruments."

Here is an item written in the accents of pained sincerity from a recent issue of the Musical Courier:

"It is a common occurrence for prominent violinists and cellists to have people visit them in towns in which they appear, and show them 'real Strad instruments' which were discovered reposing in attics or in old trunks in cellars. That the instruments are by Stradivarius is in every case proven by a label to that effect pasted inside. Singularly enough, the fiddles or cellos are always Strads, never merely Amatis, Guarneri, or Guadagninis. Which shows that it is just as easy to put a Strad label into a two dollar instrument as a label of a less great maker. A celebrated American violinist writes us that he is constantly pestered this way, and that it is very painful for him to have to disillusionize the poor deluded owners."

It can be echoed with equal sincerity by this department. Outside of notices of musical events, the most frequent subject of letters to the music desk is that of the violin with a Stradivarius label, usually with a request for an opinion on its value. If I had saved all that have come in, I would have a large file containing nothing else.

Decision Rests with Experts.

To all of them there can be but one answer. Neither I nor any one else can estimate the value of a violin or its genuineness from a letter. Only a violin expert can tell, and that after a personal examination. I have frequently asked the owners to let me know if their supposed Strad should turn out to be genuine, but I have never had an answer yet.

Principals in Light Opera.

Among the principals—they send word that it is a partial list—so far engaged for the light opera season of the Civic Opera company are these, alphabetically arranged: Sopranos—Hilda Burke, Helen Freund, Lois Johnston, Margery Maxwell. Contraltos—Lorna Doone Jackson, Irene Pavloska. Tenors—Giuseppe Cavadore, Charles Kullman, Chauncey Parsons. Baritones and basses—Mark Daniels, Barre Hill, William Scholtz.

Miss Burke, Miss Freund, Miss Maxwell, Miss Jackson, Miss Pavloska, Mr. Cavadore, and Mr. Hill will be recognized as present or former members of the Civic Opera company in its grand opera manifestations. Mr. Kullman and Mr. Daniels are likewise recognizable from the ranks of the American Civic Opera company. Miss Johnston's Chicago appearances have been chiefly in oratorio.

With the exception of Devilshoof, not yet announced, the cast of the first attraction, "The Bohemian Girl" has been set thus:

Arline	Margery Maxwell
Thaddeus	Charles Kullman
Florestan	Giuseppe Cavadore
The Gypsy Queen	Lorna Doone Jackson
Count Arnheim	Mark Daniels
A Nurse	Helen Freund

The second work will be "The Chimes of Normandy," which is to be sung by Hilda Burke, Lois Johnston, Irene Pavloska, Barre Hill, Chauncey Parsons, Mark Daniels, and William Scholtz.

Rehearsals will begin Monday, March 24. The chorus of forty is to be chosen entirely from Chicago talent. There have already been several auditions, with the final selection to be made when rehearsals have started.

WITH SYMPHONY

GRACE NELSON.
[Theatrical Studio Photo.]

Chosen from a group of about twenty young Chicago pianists, Miss Nelson will be the soloist with the Chicago Symphony orchestra on Friday afternoon and Saturday evening of this week. She will make two appearances in each program, playing the MacDowell concerto in D minor and the Pick-Mangiagalli work for piano and orchestra called "Sortilegi," which in English means "Witchcraft."

The repertoire is to include the two works just mentioned, likewise "The Daughter of Mme. Angot," "The Yeomen of the Guard," and "The Gondoliers."

Grand Opera Nears Dispersal.

In the meantime the grand opera company is almost ready for its spring dispersal. Giorgio Polacco was to have sailed yesterday, going early to see some performances during the main seasons of the San Carlo in Naples, the Royal in Roma, La Scala in Milan, and the Reggio in Turin. He will be joined soon after the end of the tour by Herbert M. Johnson and the two will conduct auditions in Italy, France, Germany, and England.

The Civic Opera company is singing "Thais" in Houston, Tex., today. Next week, the seventh of the tour, it will visit Tulsa, Wichita, Lincoln, and Minneapolis. The eighth week will open with the fourth performance at Minneapolis, thence to Des Moines, Omaha, and Kansas City, returning to Chicago Sunday morning, March 30.

Music Notes.

Under the sponsorship of the Lutheran Woman's league of Chicago, and for the benefit of the Children's Receiving home of Maywood, the a cappella choir of Midland college, Fremont, Nebraska, will make its first appearance in Chicago at Orchestra hall next Thursday evening. Its director, Oscar Lyders, would seem to be carrying on the sort of work of which F. Melius Christiansen, director of the St. Olaf choir, has given such brilliant examples in recent years. As part of his training he had four years in the St. Olaf choir, and Prof. Christiansen is quoted to the effect that he considers him one of the best directors in the country.

The Children's Receiving home is the institution for dependent children committed to its care by the Juvenile court. It is maintained by the Lutheran Woman's league.

Grace Nelson, the selection of Mr. Stock's advisory committee out of a group of some twenty young Chicago pianists, will be the soloist with the Chicago Symphony orchestra in the Friday-Saturday concerts this week. Candidates were asked, among other qualifications, to be up on three concertos, one standard, one American, and the third modern. Miss Nelson will play the second and third of this list, MacDowell's second in D minor, and Pick-Mangiagalli's "Sortilegi," a piece heard here seven years ago, when Wilhelm Bachaus played it. Mr. Stock will direct Bloch's "Concerto Grosso," Reger's "Romantic Suite," and selections from "The Damnation of Faust" by Berlioz.

New Life at the Goodman

The announcement of a campaign to secure 10,000 season ticket subscribers for the Goodman theater means that the trustees of the Art Institute have put their organization squarely behind the activities of that repertory company. Heretofore their policy has been characterized by an attitude of "watchful waiting."

It may be that the trustees have waited a little too long before coming to the realization that they have a growing child of great promise on their hands. The Theater Guild of New York has combed the field of subscription playgoers here; so has the Dramatic League of Chicago. The Art Institute enters late in the arena of competition. But there is no reason to doubt that the 10,000 subscribers can be secured. One ticket for each of the plays of a full season will cost $12 or $14; and that is a bargain. In fact, the quality of work done at the Goodman this season makes it almost a girl.

"The Rivals," now in performance, is as good a revival of this classic as could be asked for. It does not need to blush because Mrs. Fiske is now gracing this famous example of Georgian comedy in the east with "all-star" support. The production which it supplanted, "Holiday," compared favorably with last year's staging of the piece on Broadway. "The Makropoulos Secret" was a highly finished treatment of modern fantasy. In other words, the Goodman can no longer be damned by faint praise, sneered at as "semi-professional," or shunned as "highbrow." It has arrived, and the time has come for 10,000 citizens, who waste money every year by making their ticket reservations through speculators, to get into the band wagon.

Up to the present there has been no organized effort to secure subscribers for the Goodman, and yet it has 1,500 to begin the campaign. The other 8,500 mean nothing more than enthusiastic, well-directed work. It can be done; ask Mr. Insull. And if there is any idea that the plays staged at the Goodman contain no popular appeal or value as entertainment, ask Miss Texas Guinan. She is one of the most eager first-nighters at the Grant park playhouse.

IN "THE CITY HAUL"

DOROTHY LIBAIRE.

MUNICIPAL politics in a city "somewhere in Illinois" is the subject of the humor and satire in "The City Haul," the play now at the Cort theater. The piece is populated with aldermen, wire-pullers, pay-rollers, and all the other types that hang around a mayor's office trying to run the town; but it also contains a pretty heroine to build up the love interest. Here she is, looking wistful and romantic: by name, Dorothy Libaire.

Lights Out.

No less than eight entertainments were withdrawn from the New York stage last night. "Heads Up" finished and will not tour. Ditto "Children of Darkness." And the Lunts' "Meteor," which probably would have run a little longer had Mr. Lunt been in good health. "Mendel, Inc." finally yielded, and the Coburns gave up "The Plutocrat." "At the Bottom" and "Volpone" complete the list. This week there will be more. "Sweet Adeline," which started out as a great hit, will close next Saturday, nor will it take to the road until next season. "Bitter Sweet" will depart after a good run, and Mei Lan-Feng will start back for China.

Premieres for 'Scandals' and Otis Skinner

GEORGE WHITE'S "Scandals," tenth edition in a famous series, begins an engagement at the Grand Opera house tonight. The entertainment comes more or less directly from New York, where it has been extremely popular.

The long list of performers in the revue includes Willie and Eugene Howard, veterans of many a Broadway frolic; Frances Williams, the attractive blonde singer of jazzy ditties: Mitchell and Durant, Evelyn Wilson, Marietta, the Abbot Specialty Dancers, Carolyn Nolte, Florence Robinson, Fred Lyon, and Harry Morrissey. Fifty "Scandals" beauties are also in the lineup. A new dance, invented by George White, under the title "Bottoms Up," is said to be one of the high lights of the program.

Otis Skinner, admirable romantic actor now in the mellow ripeness of his long career, will come to the Erlanger theater Monday night in "Papa Juan," a comedy of Spanish life and character by the Quintero Brothers. This is the same play that Mr. Skinner acted here with success about a year ago under the title "A Hundred Years Old." It gives the star the rôle of a centenarian about to celebrate his birthday. It is a gracious and gentle picture of life in the country districts of Andalusia. Mr. Skinner's company includes Donald Dillaway, Gerald Hamer, Robert Harrison, Louis La Bey, Thomas Donnelly, Mary Arbenz, Katherine Grey, Octavia Kenmore, Georgia Harvey, Florence McGee, and Veronica Rey.

The new vaudeville program at the Palace theater, which began performances last night, has for headliner Hal Skelly, who has made his mark in musical comedy, drama, and talking pictures. His last appearance here was in the play called "Burlesque." Other entertainers are Jules Bledsoe, recently a feature of "Show Boat"; Joe Wilton and Rex Weber in "Mr. America"; Buster Shaver and his Tiny Town Revue; Maude Hilton and Almy, and the Detoregos in Indian dances.

The new continuous vaudeville program at the State-Lake theater contains "The Three Doctors," known as radio singers; Curley Burns & Co. in "Chicago"; Fritz and Jean Hubert, dancing comedians; Tillie and La Rue, with the Maryon Vadie dancers, and Mack and Fay.

New in Manhattan

FIVE plays are on the first-night schedule for New York this week. They include "The Matriarch," which was staged here by the Dramatic League of Chicago, and the latest production of the Theater guild—an example of Russian drama by Turgenev, best known for his novels. Here is the schedule:

"A Month in the Country"—Tomorrow night at the Guild theater. A Turgenev play new to New York and the latest output of the industrious ateliers of the Theater guild. Alla Nazimova will make her first appearance with the guild in one of the leading rôles, and the cast will also include Dudley Digges, Henry Travers, Eliot Cabot, and Alexander Kirkland.

"The Royal Virgin"—Tomorrow night at the Booth theater. Harry Wagstaff Gribble's version, first known as "Elizabeth and Essex," of three old English plays. Thais Lawton will play the queen and Hugh Buckler, Essex; among the others will be Verree Teasdale, Vivienne Osborne, and Murray Kinnell.

"The Matriarch"—Tuesday night at the Longacre theater. A dramatization by G. B. Stern and Frank Vernon of Miss Stern's novel known here under the title of the play and abroad as "Tents of Israel." The play has, of course, been successfully performed in London, where Mrs. Patrick Campbell had the title rôle. Over here it is acted by Constance Collier.

"Mayfair"—Tomorrow night at the Belmont theater. A play by Laurence Eyre, recently represented by "Gala Night." In it will be Chrystal Heine, Arthur Hohl, Frederick Worlock, and Werek Glynne.

"I Want My Wife"—Thursday night at the Liberty theater. This one is described as a farce, and it is the work of B. M. Kaye, who wrote "She Couldn't Say No" several seasons ago. Among the performers will be Spring Byington, Herbert Yost, Patricia Barclay, Gladys Lloyd, Edward Fielding, and Gerald Oliver Smith.

Leiber on B'way.

Fritz Leiber, at the moment, has the week beyond this to himself in New York—he will establish his Chicago Civic Shakespearean repertoire at the Shubert. Shaping up on the road, and thus more or less possible for Manhattan the same week, are Mr. Hodge's "The Old Rascal," a gangster play called "Room 349," a comedy named "Small Potatoes," and that one-character play, "Courtesan."

Helen Hayes will probably try out her next play in Atlantic City during the week of July 4. This is the piece called "One Beautiful Evening" which has attracted advanced attention by reason of the fact that there are no men in the cast.

AMUSING THE HOTEL GUEST

By Robert Benchley

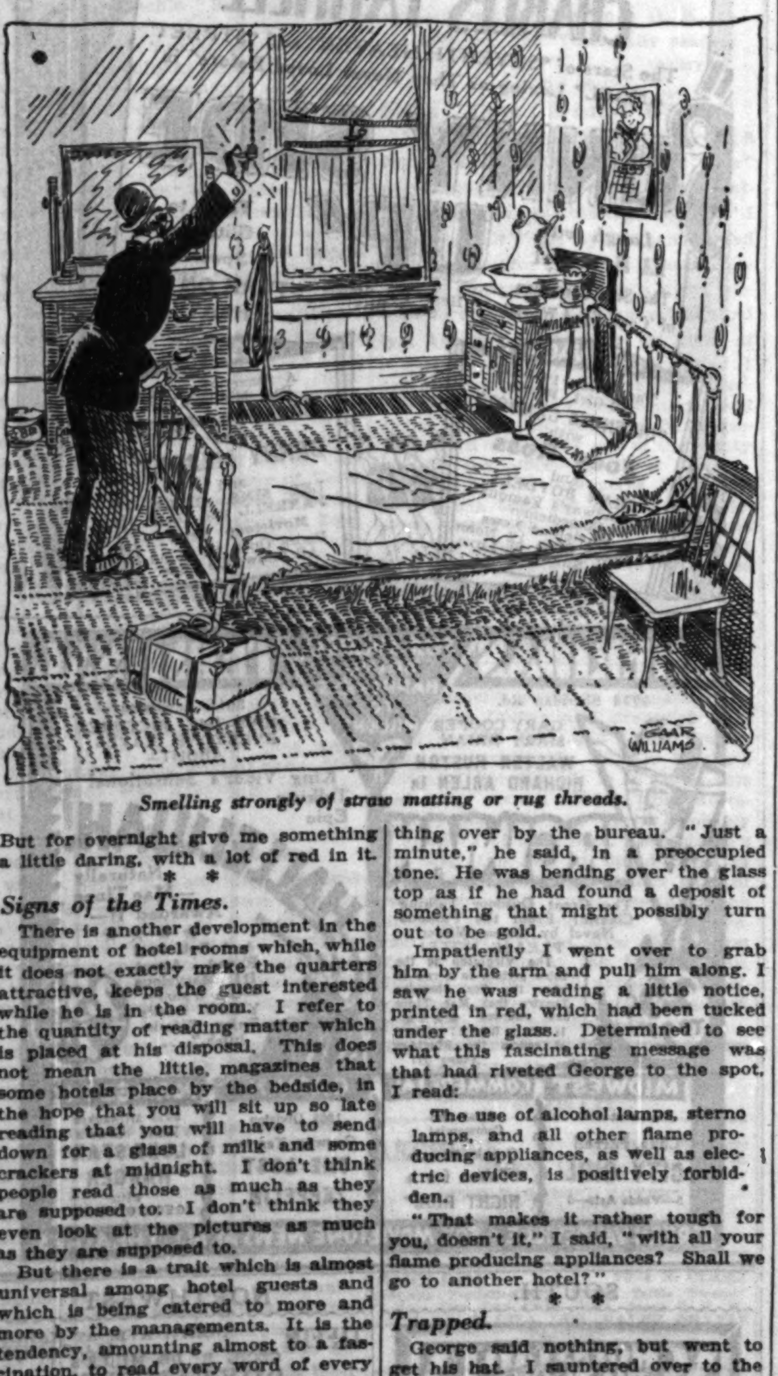
Illustrations by Gaar Williams.

Our Big Inns Go In for the Homey Stuff

ONE of the chief factors in the impending crash of the American Home as an institution is the present craze for making so many other places "homelike." We have homelike hotels, homelike barber shops, homelike auditoriums, and, so they tell me, homelike jails. A man can't go into a shop to get his skates sharpened without being made to feel that, if he has any appreciation for atmosphere at all, he ought really to send for his trunks and settle down and live right there in the skate sharpening place. It is getting so that a home loving man doesn't know which way to turn.

The hotels were the leaders in this campaign to make the home seem unhomelike by comparison. There was a time when a hotel was simply a place in which you slept; that is, if you were a good sleeper. You went in and registered and the man who pushed the book out at you turned his collar around and became the boy who took your bag up (possibly in one of those new fangled lifts which you were sure would never replace the horse—at least not in your affections).

The room, as you entered it, seemed to be a species of closet, smelling strongly of straw matting or rug threads, and, after a good look at the cherry bureau and its duplicating mirror and a tug at the rope which was coiled by the window in case you wanted to lassoo any one, you turned out the hanging bulb over the bed (making a barely perceptible difference in the lighting of the room), and went out into the street to find a place to sit until bedtime. You would no more have thought of sitting in your room than you would have thought of getting into one of the bureau drawers and lolling around with a good book.



Smelling strongly of straw matting or rug threads.

The Problem of Pictures.

The first sign that the hotels were going in for the homey stuff in a big way was when they began hanging pictures on the walls. Either they didn't get the right pictures or they weren't hung properly. At any rate, the first hotel wall pictures were not successful in giving a homelike atmosphere. There were usually pastels showing two ladies with a fan, or two fans and one lady, with a man in knee breeches hovering about in the background. The girl with the broken jug was also a great favorite in the early days of hotel decoration. She still is doing very well, as a matter of fact, and you will find her in even the most up to date hostelries, giving what is hoped will be a final touch of bonhomie to the room. Well, she doesn't, and the sooner hotel managements are brought to realize it, the better it will be for them.

In fact, the whole problem of what pictures to hang on the walls of a hotel room is still in a state of flux. Until they get away from those little French garden scenes, with fans and sun dials as the chief props, they are never going to make me feel at home. And they do not help matters any by introducing etchings showing three boats lying alongside a dock or seventeen geese flying south. It seems to me that the picture hangers in hotels are striving too hard for good taste. What we want is not good taste in our hotel pictures, but something to look at. If you are going to live in the room with a picture all the rest of your life, good taste is all right. But for overnight give me something a little daring, with a lot of red in it.

Signs of the Times.

There is another development in the equipment of hotel rooms which, while it does not exactly make the quarters attractive, keeps the guest interested while he is in the room. I refer to the quantity of reading matter which is placed at his disposal. This does not mean the little magazines that some hotels place by the bedside, in the hope that you will sit up so late reading that you will have to send down for a glass of milk and some crackers at midnight. I don't think people read those as much as they are supposed to. I don't think they even look at the pictures as much as they are supposed to.

But there is a trait which is almost universal among hotel guests and which is being catered to more and more by the managements. It is the tendency, amounting almost to a fascination, to read every word of every sign which is displayed around the room. You know very well that the chances are that not one sign out of ten will have any bearing on you or your life in that room. And yet, almost as soon as the bellboy has left, you amble around the room, reading little notices which have been slipped under the glass bureau top, tacked to the door, or tucked in the mirror. Not only do you read them once but usually go over them a second time, hoping that maybe there is something of interest which eluded you in the first reading.

Fascinating Fiction.

I had occasion last week to share a hotel room with a man who was at Atlantic City with me on business. We were shown up by the boy, who went through all the regulation maneuvers of opening the window (which has to be shut immediately after he has gone), putting the bags on the stool (from which they have to be removed for unpacking), pushing open the door to the bathroom to show you where it is and to prevent your going into the next room by mistake, and making such financial adjustments as may be necessary. This completed, I reminded George that we were already late for our first appointment, and started for the door to go downstairs.

George, however, was busy at something over by the bureau. "Just a minute," he said, in a preoccupied tone. He was bending over the glass top as if he had found a deposit of something that might possibly turn out to be gold.

Impatiently I went over to grab him by the arm and pull him along. I saw he was reading a little notice, printed in red, which had been tucked under the glass. Determined to see what this fascinating message was that had riveted George to the spot, I read:

> The use of alcohol lamps, sterno lamps, and all other flame producing appliances, as well as electric devices, is positively forbidden.

"That makes it rather tough for you, doesn't it?" I said, "with all your flame producing appliances? Shall we go to another hotel?"

Trapped.

George said nothing, but went to get his hat. I sauntered over to the door to wait for him, but my eye was caught by a neatly printed sign which, although I knew that it would contain nothing which could possibly affect me personally, I was utterly unable to keep from reading:

> In accepting garments for valet service it is thoroughly understood that they do not contain money, jewelry, or any other articles of value, and, consequently—

"Come on, come on!" said George. "We're late now!"

"Just a minute!" It was I this time who had the preoccupied air. It was I whose eyes were glued to the tiny card and who could not leave until I had finished its stirring message—> —consequently the hotel's management or any of its staff will not be held responsible for the return of anything but the garments originally delivered.

"O. K.!" I announced briskly. "Come on!"

But George had found another sign on the wall by the door. This time we both read it together in silence.

> Do not turn thumb latch when leaving room. Door is self-locking. Use thumb latch only when in room.

"What thumb latch is that?" George said, looking over the assortment of latches and catches on the door.

"This is it here," I said, equally engrossed.

"Don't turn it!" cried George, in terror. "It says not to turn it."

"Who's turning it?" I snapped back. "I was just seeing how it worked. Who would want to turn it, anyway?"

"You can't tell," replied George. "Somebody might have this room who had a terrible yen for turning thumb latches. A hotel has to deal with a lot of strange eggs."

"What would happen if you did turn it?" I asked.

* *

Improving with Age.

George shuddered. "It might transform the whole hotel into a pumpkin under our very feet," he said, in a low voice.

"Don't be so jumpy," I said, impatiently. "That sort of thing belongs to the Middle Ages—and, besides, it used to happen only at the stroke of midnight."

"What time is it now?" asked George. He was in a cold sweat.

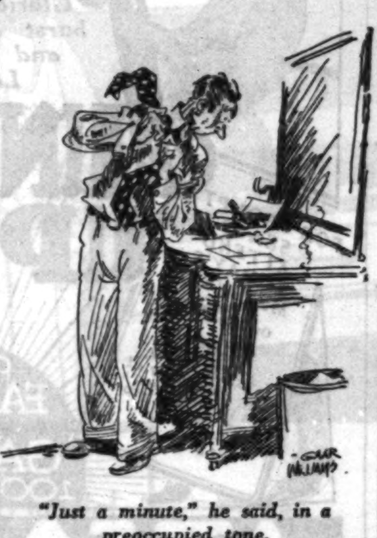
"A quarter to five," I said, looking at my watch. "Say, we've made a bum out of that four o'clock date! There's not much sense in going now."

George agreed, so we took off our hats and spent the rest of the afternoon roaming about the room, reading signs to our hearts' content. We were rewarded by several even duller notices than the ones we had already studied and by a good fifteen minutes over the twenty-one provisions of Act 146 of the state legislature making it compulsory for the management of all inns, hotels, boarding houses, inns, and hotels to maintain a safe in the office for the reception of valuables belonging to the guests.

"That's an old one," said George. "I've read that before."

"It's good, though," I said. "It always makes great reading. After all, old notices are best."

So we had dinner sent up to the room in order to complete our reading of the hotel laundry list (George flying into a rage at the charge of 75 cents for "dressing sacques") and, by bedtime, had cleaned up the entire supply of printed matter and were well into the Atlantic City telephone book.



"Just a minute," he said, in a preoccupied tone.

A Suggestion.

If the hotels want to go still further in their campaign to make their rooms interesting for their guests, I would suggest the introduction of a sort of treasure hunt for each room. On each door could be tacked a little legend saying something like: "I can be found by going [1] to the top of the possession of an old English queen [2] under an article, beginning with 'W,' highly prized by astronomers [3] between two Indian wigwam attachments [4] underneath an American revolutionary firearm."

The guest could then spend his evenings trying to figure out these hiding places and perhaps emerge richer by a cigaret lighter or one of those face cloths done up in tissue paper envelopes which the hotels are so crazy to have you take away. It wouldn't be so much the value of the prize as the fun of finding it, and it would serve the purpose which seems to be the aim of all modern hostelries—namely: to keep the guests out of the open air and to prevent them from going home.

province and not only kills Chuji's father for presuming to speak to him face to face about certain needs of the people, but carries Tsuyu away with him to be his plaything.

Chuji would rush after his lordship and cut off his head, but Enzo (the shadowman), a famous and probably legendary samurai, forces him to wait until he is stronger and more skilled with the sword. He will himself teach the boy and then let him avenge his father.

So Shuji learns everything there is to know about sword fighting, ju-jitsu, and a soul strengthening patience. In the last act, he flies to the rescue of his sweetheart, still captive and still pure, and fights not alone his lordship, but a stageful of his hired swordsmen.

James K. Hackett on the stairs of Zenda castle, or Douglas Fairbanks with his back against a ten foot wall and a dozen mercenaries closing in, never fought more fiercely than does Mr. Kiyoshi Mimasu, Mr. Thutsui's juvenile lead.

It is a stylized type of duel, somewhat like the Chinese shadow fighting, but it is also more exciting. These swordsmen, falling into striking poses, will rush at each other, swinging their swords, and then bound into the air and make to kick each other in the face or push each other over by thrusting a foot against an opposing shoulder. The man thus served turns a back somersault, lands on his feet, and returns to the attack.

This goes on for several minutes. Frequently there is a show of blood against the paper windows and finally the battle is won (in this instance by Chuji with the help of the shadowman) by the right party with a slashing series of blows that shatter nothing but the atmosphere, but lay the enemy prostrate.

The scenic settings for the Japanese drama are also quite modern and attractive in their picture quality. The actresses, led by a pretty girl, Momoyo Chigusa, are gifted in the dance and the costuming is as elaborate, though not as showy, as that of the Chinese.

White Rivals Ziegfeld.

George White, who has nursed an ambition to draw level with Florenz Ziegfeld as a producer of music plays ever since Ann Pennington was so high, comes closer with a new piece called "Flying High" than he has come before.

His principals have more of that certain subtle something than usual and his scenery is by Josef Urban. His chorus, too, is particularly good looking and ever so agile in the dance numbers.

George's idea of comedy is easily influenced and thus flies right back to barroom standards on occasion.

Thus, with Bert Lahr as his chief comic, Bert being one of the ruddier and rowdier graduates of burlesque, the fun in "Flying High" is frequently coarse. One scene is in a doctor's office and has quite defied the press boys to describe it. But audiences have laughed themselves into hysteria during its playing. So George is satisfied.

Oscar Shaw and Grace Brinkley are the song singing hero and heroine. Oscar is an aviator who lands with a parachute on a penthouse roof and finds Miss Brinkley gazing at the moon. Immediately they discover that they both know "Wasn't it Wonderful While It Lasted," which refers to the sensation known as love at first sight.

UNUSUAL GRANDMA

MRS. JACQUES MARTIN.

"YOUR UNCLE DUDLEY" has moved from the Cort theater to the Playhouse, where Mrs. Jacques Martin may be observed as the oddest and funniest grandma of the American stage. She is a veteran actress who is now making the greatest hit of her long career. Some of the other plays that have had Mrs. Martin in their casts are "Daddy Longlegs," "Shirley Kay," "Tarnish," and "Gentlemen Prefer Blondes."

Gotham Starts Lent with the Proper Music

By Joan King.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

NEW YORK, March 15.—[Special.]—Bach's "St. John's Passion" served to inaugurate Gotham's Lenten season appropriately, musically at least, Sunday afternoon. The performance was given by the Society of the Friends of Music in accordance with an annual custom since the first rendition of the great work by that organization in 1924. Then the "St. John" was hardly known here, but now, after six readings at Town hall and one at St. George's church, its eighth offering at Mecca auditorium on Sunday was but the return of an old friend.

Arthur Bodanzky, as always, led the Friends' chorus and the orchestra of the Metropolitan Grand Opera company, and the vocal soloists were again, as in the last three seasons, George Meader, singing the evangelist's lines; Friedrich Schorr, baritone, singing the words of Jesus; Carl Schlegel, bass-baritone, those of Peter and Pilate; Ethyl Hayden, soprano, and Marion Telva, contralto. Lynwood Farnam played the organ and Paul Eisler the harpsichord.

The popular appeal which the "St. John Passion" has attained was affirmed again by the throng which filled Mecca on this occasion. The hall is one of the largest in the city. As usual, Mr. Bodanzky made some necessary cut, deleting numerous chorals and bits of airs, in order to enable the audience to get home some time within the Sunday night supper hour. The performance was admirable throughout.

Boston Symphony Orchestra.

When Serge Koussevitzky brought his Bostonians to this town recently on its fourth visit of the year, as usual he did not neglect to sprinkle his program generously with novelties. This time the choice included one "Concerto Grosso," by the Rumanian composer Filip Lazar, written for orchestra in the olden style, and Sibelius' Sixth symphony. Both of these compositions were entirely new to New York.

A remarkable score was disclosed at this initial performance of the Sibelius Sixth. In this work the composer's unusual harmonic scheme is fully revealed. The piece is unique for its clarity and lack of parallel in other music. Although it was published seven years ago and introduced to Philadelphia in 1926 by Mr. Stokowski, it had somehow escaped this metropolis. Its reception was cordial.

As for the Lazar suite, it was admirably constructed after an old fashioned formula and is an entertaining piece with a certain modern tinge.

Youthful Cantor Charms.

One of the most interesting debuts of recent musical days hereabouts was that of Cantor Israel Alter, native of Hanover, in his first American program, comprised of German, Italian, Hebrew, and Yiddish songs. The youthful cantor, who is still in his 20s, disclosed to the Carnegie hall audience a notable tenor of large volume and unusual range. He was at his best, naturally, in the Hebrew religious numbers, which he reserved for the close of his program. Some of these were of his own composition, and in them his voice took on fluency and expression. He was also at home in the Yiddish numbers, which his audience received with decided approval.

Second Taylor Opera.

Those New Yorkers, especially the habitual opera goers, who flocked to hear the premiere of a certain prominent New Yorker's grand opera, "The King's Henchman," several seasons ago, were much elated over a recent announcement. Deems Taylor has at last confirmed the rumors hereabouts. His second commissioned opera is nearly complete and will be ready for the Metropolitan's season of 1931.

"Peter Ibbetson," based on George Du Maurier's novel as dramatized by Constance Collier and produced here in 1917, with John and Lionel Barrymore as principals, is Mr. Taylor's choice of libretto. It is in three acts and nine scenes. When the Metropolitan sings the new opera, probably in January of next year, Lucrezia Bori will sing the rôle of the duchess of Towers—the leading soprano part of the opera—and Tullio Serafin, who directed the "Henchman," will conduct. This will be Miss Bori's first rôle in English at the Metropolitan. Edward Johnson will appear as Ibbetson and Lawrence Tibbett as the baritone principal of the cast.

Voice of the Fan

If you would like your letters printed in this column please write on ONE side of the paper ONLY. If you want a personal answer send stamped, self-addressed envelope—PLEASE!

Loves Greta.

Dear Mae Tinée: I have always loved your write-ups, but what you said of Greta Garbo's latest was a climax. That was one picture I saw without waiting for your O. K.

I love her, too. Your daily reader,

ALMYRA.

Calls "Anna Christie" Great.

My Dear Miss Tinée: I just read a letter signed "A Mae Tinée Fan" which tells about her great disappointment in "Anna Christie." WELL, I sure was all "het up" when I read that letter—for in the first place "Anna Christie" is truly a great picture. Greta's acting is marvelous, and last but not least, your criticism of it was absolutely fair and accurate. I saw no one in the lobby disappointed, but on the contrary heard much loud praise of the picture, and have recommended it to every one of the eighty girls in my office—so there!

Being a busy executive I do not have much time for movies, so I depend largely on your judgment, and pick out those you recommend most highly, and make it a point to see them. To date I have not been disappointed in your selections—so just keep up the good work! M. L. P.

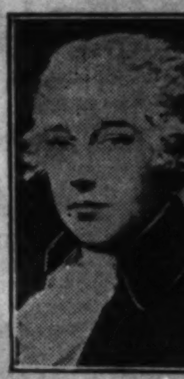
THE ARMCHAIR PLAYGOER . . . . . BY FANNY BUTCHER

"THE RIVALS" seems to have broken out simultaneously in Chicago and New York. On Tuesday evening it was presented here at the Goodman theater and on Thursday in New York under the star of Mrs. Fiske, who toured in it several years ago. It has been revived ever since its production in 1775 brought instantaneous success to its author and unqualified delight to its audience.



RICHARD BRINSLEY SHERIDAN.

Sheridan was only 24 when he wrote it. Critics of the time said that the characters bore strong resemblances to figures in plays by earlier authors, but as Hazlitt said, "It appears to have been the peculiar forte and the great praise of our author's genius that he could imitate with the spirit of an inventor." The play was produced on Jan. 17 and is said not to have been so favorably received on its first night on account of its length and the bad playing of the part of Sir Lucius O'Trigger. But at the second performance (Jan. 28) it at once took that place on the stage which it has never lost.

"Volpone" is another revival in New York—in Stefan Zweig's modernized version of it. "Volpone, or the Fox," was the title it bore when it was produced (in 1605) at the Globe theater. For years it was a popular satire—the depravity of the characters delighted audiences. With the induced sensibilities of a later age, old Ben Jonson's words and pictures were looked upon as too degrading for eye and ear.

Coleridge, for instance, acknowledged its "fertility and vigor of invention, character, language, and sentiment," but declared it impossible "to keep up any pleasurable interest in a tale in which there is no goodness of heart in any of the prominent characters." Mr. Coleridge might find it a comment on a still later age that "Volpone" is again delighting audiences, who find it delightful, if one is not mistaken, for the very reasons that he found it unpleasurable. There is something refreshing about complete rascality!

The Theater Arts monthly has become an international theater magazine. It was founded in 1916 by Sheldon Cheney and was for seven years a quarterly and for the last six a monthly. It is said to have subscribers in so many countries of the civilized world that it has been forced to establish correspondents in all important theatrical centers.

"The Theatre Guild, the First Ten Years" (Brentano's) is a record by Walter Prichard Eaton of the first decade of the most successful group theater activity in the history of the American stage. It contains a group of articles written by members of the organization on various phases of the theater and there are programs of all the Guild plays.

John L. Balderston, the author of "Berkeley Square," violently objects to its being called an English play. He is an American, the hero of the play is an American and the idea for it was suggested to him by "The Sense of the Past," the work of another American, Henry James. He has refused to let the play appear in an anthology of great British plays.

Think of YOUR children ... they need BROILED foods

Insulated Oven assures cool kitchen —cuts oven gas bill in half $89.50

The Universal insulated oven cuts the amount of gas needed to heat the oven in half. It keeps the heat inside the oven where it belongs. Tests show that the average outside temperature of a Universal insulated oven is only 101.25 degrees. Compare this with the average outside temperature of 185 degrees for an uninsulated oven. Think of what this insulated oven will mean to you on hot, sultry summer days!

This new In-a-Drawer Broiler makes broiling a joy

Pulls in and out like a drawer. Entire broiler rolls into view at touch of finger. Saves burned fingers, stooping and all former inconveniences of broiling

The right food—BROILED, roasted or stewed food—is vitally important to your children. Broiled food is easily digested. It builds sturdy little bodies; supplies the vitality to throw off germs—wards off disease.

Broiled food is health-building food—the best preventive—worth a hundred cures.

And now, a new improvement by Universal makes broiling safer, easier and more convenient than frying or old-fashioned broiling methods. The new, patented Universal In-a-Drawer Broiler pulls in and out like a drawer—one hand—one motion. A touch of the finger and the entire broiler rolls into full view. All danger of burned hands or face has been eliminated. There is no bending—no stooping—none of the former inconveniences of broiling.

Even with this marvelous new improvement the Universal Gas Range costs no more than other good ranges having old style broilers.

Never before has a cast iron porcelain enameled Universal In-a-Drawer Broiler Gas Range been offered at such a low price. Volume production has resulted in amazing savings which enable us to give you at lower prices added features that will save you years of stooping and numerous burns.

Also you can have this beautiful range with an Insulated Oven at a small additional cost. This marvelous new feature saves half the oven gas and keeps the kitchen cool in summer.

This famous range represents a new ideal in gas ranges. It combines beauty with maximum service—colorful exterior with labor-saving convenience. Embodied in it are the practical results of our 58 years' experience in building millions of high grade stoves. It is the biggest money's worth to be had in gas ranges.

Liberal Terms

See this new Universal Range and you will have an entirely new conception of broiling. The Universal dealer in your community now has it on display. Compare its labor-saving features—its safety—its beauty with those of any other range. See for yourself why this new Universal Range is such a great value. Then, if you wish, you can purchase it on the most liberal terms. If you do not know the name of your Universal dealer, write us today for full information.

Life in Old England, as Seen by One American

The King! He Is the Symbol of the Empire.

By Philip Kinsley.

Better be anything than a cad. The social influence does not rule now as it once did, but it is still strong in the army and navy and is in the state to some extent. When other things are equal they like to choose a boy who has a savoir faire, a manner and an accent, who is used to moving in spacious rooms and knows how to meet people, not one who is thinking about two pence.

Sentiment, then, is the broad, nonscientific answer, with the realization by those who are seeking to bring about, through slow process, the socialist state, that the king cannot interfere in any vital change which the people wish in government, and the natural desires of the upper class to cling to the kingship as the fountain head of their station in life.

It is a sentiment which is receiving constant upholstering from press and pulpit. The merchants find the king as useful as Santa Claus, and the royal arms are on hundreds of windows, doors, wagons, and lamp posts. The films show the kindly faces of royalty visiting and receiving and opening this and that charitable institution. The poor in their hovels are regaled with pictures of the various palaces at the disposal of the royal family. The prince, off on a hunting trip, is acclaimed as the empire's best salesman and lauded as a hard working young man.

Indubitably Monarchial.

Sir George Arthur, in his recent biography of George V. discusses this subject as follows:

"There comes sometimes under discussion the hypothetical question of the relative loyalty that would be offered to a king or president by the British army. Underlying the point is the whole secret—and a vital one—of the success of the monarchial institution in Britain. If the success does not lie with the monarchy itself—there have been bad kings in England as elsewhere — the fact remains that England is indubitably monarchial to its marrow: it is because of this national instinct that we can smile a little smugly at the breathings of the communists and allow our agitators free speech in Hyde park.

"The whole rank and file of the army is in origin distinctly of that superb if so-called lower class . . . It is the class that needs something tangible on which it can feast its eyes, and is ready to appreciate a little judicious flag waving; the class, if you wish, that flocks to the pavements to see the lord mayor's show, hardly understanding what it is all about, yet surely recognizing that here is something that belongs to the soul of England, the England which is represented to them, not as a system of laws, not by lords and commons, but by the Union Jack, the national anthem, and the "king in his golden crown."

"A grand little army—one with half the victories of the world flaunting from its banners. Over it rules a king, who knows that the army has done its full share in lifting him to supremacy among the rulers of the world. Here, so runs a rude remark, is no shirt fronted president with a nanny goat beard and bald head; no spectacled anti-drink faddist too proud to fight. Thank God, the soldier contentedly grunts as he drains his glass, for a real honest to goodness king, who is above tampering with such things as licensing laws, who looks like a ruler, who has a real crown and sceptre, and who has a son to succeed him and take the salute of the army, which, like the British sovereign, never dies."

One King Beheaded.

And yet, with all this puffing, the king cannot change a regiment of his army from one post to another without the consent of the ministers.

At Madama Tassauds there is a roomful of kings in wax figure and gorgeous costume, Plantaganet, Tudor, Stuarts, and the royal family of today, live proudly there in scarlet and gold and ermine.

"Beautiful," murmurs the awed provincial woman, as she comes close to the railings.

President Hoover and Ambassador Dawes, in plain business attire, are also there, but they receive little attention. They touch no romantic chord of inherited memory of the race, that goes back, in a thousand mysterious associations, to the remote days of the Saxon kings.

The theory of the divine right of kings received its death blow in England during the revolution, when parliament beheaded one king, and, after an unsatisfactory period under a military dictatorship, selected a new king and began anew the old struggle to control his acts. This voluntary return to the kingship shows how deeply the sense of monarchy is bred in the English, how their sense of history, their unity and continuity, their sentiment and emotion, can only be satisfied with the reality of purple and ermine, the crown of gold and pearls, the sceptre and the sword.

There is still something mystic in it, fostered by the state church. In the great cathedrals, and in the village churches, these are the prayers that are still read on Sunday mornings out of the prayer books:

"Almighty and everlasting God, we are taught by Thy holy word that the hearts of kings are in Thy rule and governance, and that Thou dost dispose and turn them as it seemeth best to Thy godly wisdom; we humbly beseech Thee so to dispose and govern the heart of George, Thy servant, our king and governor, that in all his thought, words, and works, he may ever see Thy honor and glory, and study to preserve Thy people committed to his charge, in wealth, peace, and godliness, for Thy dear Son's sake, Jesus Christ, our Lord.

The Prayer Goes On.

"Almighty God, whose kingdom is everlasting and power infinite; have mercy upon the whole church, and so rule the heart of Thy chosen servant George, our king and governor (knowing whose minister he is), may above all things seek Thy honor and glory, and that we and all his subjects (duly considering whose authority he hath) may faithfully serve, honor, and humbly obey him in Thee, and for Thee, according to Thy blessed word and ordinance.

"We beseech Thee also to serve and defend all Christian kings, princes, and governors, and especially Thy servant, George, our king; that under him we may be godly and quietly governed; and grant unto his whole council and to all who are put in authority under him that they may truly and indifferently minister justice, the punishment of wickedness and vice, and the maintenance of Thy true religion and virtue."

Sir George Arthur writes of this phase of kingship:

"The sovereign has, ipso facto, always been conceived of as a persona mixta, as partaking of the sacerdotal character attributed in the Old Testament to the Lord's anointed, and there have been many to hold that the coronation imparts to the crowned monarch an ecclesiastical character of which the distinctly ecclesiastical vestments assumed at the sacre are an outward sign."

* *

Little Political Significance.

Whatever character it takes in the hearts of the people, the English monarchy has ceased with George to have much political significance. Victoria and Edward mixed in politics and international affairs a good deal, but George has made it a national and social institution. Michael McDonagh, for many years a parliamentary reporter, writes as follows of the present king:

"Aloofness from politics is his policy as king. His only thought in political affairs is to carry out—so far as the executive acts of the crown that lie in his hands are concerned —the policy of the party returned to power at the general election, no matter what their political principles may be."

Prosecutions and legal acts are in the name of "The Crown" in England, as they are in the name of "The People" in the United States, and the king is constantly kept busy with the state papers thrust upon him by his ministers. They, however, are responsible for his act. He is above blame, above the law, cannot be taxed or sued, and is never criticized.

The Anglican divines of the Stuart age maintained that no breach of law or contract, no excess of cruelty, rapacity, or licentiousness on the part of a rightful king, could justify his people in withstanding him by force.

Power Is Social.

Parliament today would be prompt to curb any excess of this sort. Although the king may engineer appointments and influence his ministers, his only real prerogative now is the creation of powers. His power is social. George, it is said, has made democracy safe for the monarchy. The Labor party, just before coming into power the first time, voted on the question as to whether the policy of the party was republican or monarchical. The vote was 3,694,000 for the monarchical system to 386,000 for the republic. The republican vote might be even less today.

Publicity about the king and the royal family is confined to the court circular which is issued every day from the palace and is the same in all the papers. There is daily chronicling of who is received, who has lunch or dinner, or the places visited by king, prince or duchess. This is followed by the usual society gossip of titled persons, trailing off into the untitled but prominent. Real criticism of kings is reserved for those who have been a long time dead.

In discussing the cost of the kingship it was pointed out to me by several Englishmen that the American presidential system really costs more, when the great cost of the elections is taken into account.

Gets $2,350,000 a Year.

Under the civil list act of 1910 the king gets $2,350,000 a year, of which $550,000 is for his privy purse or personal use. He also has the revenues of the duchy of Lancaster, about $250,000 a year. Queen Mary receives $50,000 a year. The income of the prince of Wales comes from the duchy of Cornwall and amounts to about $400,000 a year. The younger sons of the king get $50,000 a year, and a daughter $30,000. Nothing is published as to the private fortune of the king, and the wills in which he is bequeated money are not made public.

The king has to draw on his private purse to keep up the dignity of his office and probably would be better off as George Windsor, a wealthy private gentleman.

When the present prince of Wales was born, it is recorded in one of his biographies, the two houses of parliament had prepared a motion to the queen—"that an humble address be presented to Her Majesty to congratulate Her Majesty on the birth of a son and heir to H. R. H. the duke and H. R. H. the duchess of York.

"In the house of lords the resolution was moved amidst awe inspiring silence by Lord Rosebery and seconded by Lord Salisbury. In the lower house Sir William Harcourt moved, almost gaily, the resolution, and Mr. Balfour, more sedate, seconded. There were cheers and cries of 'God save the queen,' when suddenly, amidst the excitement a dour figure arose. It was Kier-Hardie, the famous Socialist member for West Ham, and he dissented from the resolution on principle.

"August Personages."

In a dry, unemotional voice, the one dissentient stated:

"'The assumption was that the newly born child would be called upon, some day, to reign over this great empire. But, up to the present, we have no means of knowing his qualifications or fitness. From his childhood this boy would be surrounded by sycophants and flatterers by the score, and would be taught to believe himself as of a superior creation. A line would be drawn between him and the people he would be called upon to rule over. In due course he would be sent on a world tour, and a morganatic alliance would follow, and the end of it all would be the country would have to foot the bill.'

"'There were loud cries of 'order' and Mr. Hardie was scarcely allowed a hearing, so loyal was the feeling in the country toward the throne."

The royal biographers are sycophantic and rather tedious in dealing tenderly with the "august personages," whose lives they pretend to chronicle. It was Thackeray, long ago, who held up the biographers of George IV. to ridicule in a series of lectures in the United States, which were repeated in England and led Victoria, it is said, to discountenance his burial in Westminster abbey.

It was twenty years after, in 1870, that the last republican movement in England flared up and died. Bradlaugh, an atheist preacher, and Dilke, an M. P., led this movement. Joseph Chamberlain, then a screw manufacturer of Birmingham, wrote: "The republic must come and at the rate at which we are moving it will come in our generation." Herbert, Morley, and Harrison added distinction to the movement. Meetings were held. Bright was proposed as the first president, but declined. Nobody wanted to start a revolution and one by one the leaders dropped away. They fell under the spell of royalty. Edward, then prince, made himself particularly charming at this time. Morley, who wrote that "a merely decorative monarchy tends in divers way to engender habits of abasement, and to nourish lower social ideals, to lessen a high, civil self-respect in the community," lived to kiss the hand of Victoria and accept the seal of office from her, and later was made a lord. Dilke recanted and was given a cabinet seat. Chamberlain a few years later was defending the British constitution as the most democratic in the world. Edward called Bright to the palace and asked to count him as one of his personal friends. Herbert and Bradlaugh took up other issues.

Kiss King's Hand.

The Labor ministers now kiss the king's hand when accepting office, and appear at court functions in blue coats laced with gold, with lots of buttons down the front, knee breeches, silk stockings, cocked hat, and sword.

Although they have designs on the house of lords and are moving toward nationalization of land and industry, and may do away with the close combination of church and state, the monarchy seems secure. It has something to do with upholding and mirroring the ideal of an Englishman.

"Even a bishop would be much more angry if he were told he was no gentleman than if he were told he was no Christian," said Dean Inge.

One visit to a provincial town is sufficient to hold in deep loyalty the hearts of those honored. Everybody of any importance is "presented" at these little courts and the deep roots of the system are watered afresh. Sir Gerald Hurst, M. P., who has made a philosophical study of the Manchester poor, writes:

"Again and again in the decayed church schools, which are the commonest places for public meetings in the poorer districts of Manchester, we find the old fires of patriotism are still burning. Young men usually put on their caps, and either shuffle out of the hall or drone 'The Red Flag' when 'God Save the King' is sung, but public spirit is alive and active in thousands of families whose past experiences have brought them in touch with some branch of national service."

This is the final of a series by Mr. Kinsley on English life and customs.

GRANDE DAME

CHARLOTTE GRANVILLE.

Francine Larrimore's comedy, "Let Us Be Gay," at the Studebaker, contains one of the best actresses of "grande dame" rôles on the American stage—Charlotte Granville, who appears as the eccentric hostess. Miss Granville's career covers many years and the catalogue of her parts is a long roll of honor.

IF BACK HURTS FLUSH KIDNEYS

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulate them to their normal activity.

The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of good water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

Mr. Talkie Gets Adequate House to Perform In

Swiss Canyon Echoes Won't Be There.

bell cut in half and the seats will be arranged something like the pattern of an open fan in order to be in line with the sound waves. There will be no hard walls, balconies and projecting ornamental gimcracks to toss words about as waves toss a ship.

The walls, ceilings and floors will be lined with a patented sound snuffing tile. A remote control in the rear of the theater will enable acoustical engineers to hear the tones exactly as the audience hears them and regulate them to the proper pitch. The voice will be reproduced perfectly with every nuance of expression and every modulation of tone, it was claimed.

News Reels Have Future.

The legitimate stage has its drama houses, its musical comedy houses, burlesque houses and the variety theaters. Now the audible film is being segregated in a like manner. It is the beginning of specialization for the talkies. First came the division between straight drama talkies and the musical shows. Then the news reel theaters hove into view. Now we are going to have the short subject houses.

E. W. Hammonds, president of Educational Films, announces a plan to acquire a chain of theaters throughout the county for the exclusive showing of short length pictures. Well, if the short subject houses stick to educational film features, all may be well, but some of the curtain raisers being rushed through in the big houses only serve to make audiences dizzy. It is quite possible that the shorties may some day develop into a real reel rival of their longer-winded brothers, but they still have a long way to travel.

Tempest in a Tea Pot.

Quite a breezy little whirlwind with Will Hays in the geometric center has been stirred up here by the English production of the picture, "White Cargo." You remember, we told you about it a couple of weeks ago—tropics and rum and rotting souls. Well, this is what happened: When certain of the big producers talked of making a picture out of the stage play, the word was passed around that it would be thumbs down for "White Cargo," by the Will Hays organization. Then "White Cargo" suddenly dropped into town. It came almost unushered and unsung. There was a bit of chuckling and tongue in the cheek criticism of the play, but it got by and at last reports still was flickering in its theater.

Now comes Harold Austen, a motion picture producer, to accuse the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America—the Hays organization—of attempting to "ban the show." Mr. Austen avers he is going to sue the Hays group for malicious interference with his contract. Mr. Austen further alleges that the Hays group is "attempting to eliminate competition of the independent producers."

To all of which, Frank Witlistach, speaking for Mr. Hays, says that had the "undesirable portions been removed and the name changed," no objections would have arisen. Anyhow, the picture is still running.

Odds and Ends.

John McCormack, the tenor, ought to get a rakeoff from whoever it is that wires theaters. Since the first announcement of the tenor's talking and singing picture which Fox Films started in Ireland and finished in Hollywood, the Irish picture houses have been clamoring for talkie equipment. There are 170 cinema houses in the Irish Free State and thirty-five of them have been wired since Jawn made his talkie. They all probably will be talkie houses when the film arrives in the old country.

STAGE MANAGER

EULA GUY.

It isn't often that an actress who has made good adopts the technical side of the theater for her profession, but that is what Eula Guy has done. Chicago knows her as leading woman at the Goodman theater, some three years back, but now she is stage manager with "Strange Interlude" at the Blackstone.

Ready with an Answer.

Herman Mankiewicz pulled a nifty by announcing to friends that he contemplated writing an autobiographical work describing his work in pictures, entitling it "Twenty Years Among the Gentiles."

John McCormick, Colleen Moore's husband, asked: "Is that title original?"

Mankiewicz answered: "No, I have to admit that I swiped it; the 'twenty' from 'Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea,' the 'years' from 'Twenty Years After.' 'Among' was my own idea—'the' from 'The Young Visiter' and 'Gentiles' from the Bible."

Several years ago Dolores Costello was working in "The Sea Beast" with her present husband, John Barrymore, shortly after coming to Hollywood. At the same time Helene was working in a picture with Lowell Sherman and Pauline Garon at the same studio. Lowell and Pauline got married, just as did John and Dolores, and now Helene is marrying Lowell. The betting now is whether Lowell will in time marry the rest of the cast.

Under sheaves of pages describing the arrival of a famous voice teacher, lies the interesting kernel of news that M.-G.-M. is trying to save Jack Gilbert for the talking screen by voice culture. Dr. P. M. Marafioti, former physician to the Metropolitan Opera house, trainer of Caruso, Tita Ruffo, Chaliapin, Scotti, Galli-Curci, and others says that psychology is the secret of singing and that the natural voice, unhampered by artificial training and breathing, is the perfect voice.

The learned doctor trained Gloria Swanson for her rôle in "The Trespasser."

Find Stone Age Relics.

STOCKHOLM.—(AP)—With Crown Prince Gustav Adolf one of the shovelers, an archaeological party has unearthed from an old tomb at Barsebaeck, province of Scania, prehistoric pottery and flints indicating that stone age villages were spread over Sweden's plains when the Egyptians were building the pyramids.

MAYWOOD GROUP FIGHTS $18,837 LEVY ON PAVING

Object to Supplemental Assessment.

More than 100 property owners on Fifth avenue in Maywood have organized a group which is working for the defeat of a supplemental assessment of $18,837.37, for which a petition was recently filed in the County court by the village of Maywood. The assessment is the third of a series of ten which are to be levied by the village each year until 1938 for the paving in 1928 of Fifth avenue from 15th street to Lake street.

Only two issues have been paid, and the street is already in bad condition, the objectors assert. Residents contend that they have been assessed sufficiently for the pavement they secured, and that further issues are unwarranted with the street in its present condition.

Property Owners to Object.

As soon as the assessment roll is filed in the County court by Richard Lynch, commissioner, the property owners will file their objections, according to Charles J. Trainor, former master in chancery of the Superior court, who is representing the Fifth avenue owners. Charles Heller heads the group of property owners, and others active in the protest include Albert Anderson and B. G. Wheeler.

Royal J. Schmidt, former village attorney, was in charge of spreading the original assessment for the paving job, and is now representing the contractor who claims that the assessments must be paid.

"The proceedings so far are perfectly legal," said Jacob E. Dittus, present village attorney. "The complaints are on the basis that the work was not up to specifications, but that is a matter for the courts to decide. The village board has done its duty in filing the petition for the supplemental assessment, and if the court rules against it, it will be just too bad for the contractor."

Favorable Opinion for Repaving.

Meanwhile favorable opinion for the repaving of the north end of Fifth avenue from Lake street to Augusta street was voiced at the public hearing held Thursday evening in the village hall. Property owners prepared a petition and presented it to the village more than a week ago asking for a concrete pavement 40 feet wide to replace the worn out brick street. The majority of the frontage in this section of Fifth avenue was represented by the names on the petition, according to James Folan, village controller. The village engineer is now preparing a rough estimate of the cost of the improvement for the benefit of interested property owners.

AURORA-ELGIN AREA UNITES TO BATTLE FIRES

Through efforts of the Fox Valley federation fire fighting facilities in Aurora, Elgin and neighboring towns were recently united, with the result that reduced insurance rates are expected. The district, comprising towns immediately above and below as well as between Aurora and Elgin are promoting a program of regional planning and community welfare through the federation. Old time rivalry has been replaced with neighborly cooperation.

Under the new system of fire fighting, Geneva will answer St. Charles' calls if its fire department has gone to help Elgin. Batavia will then stand ready to answer Geneva's calls, and Aurora to answer Batavia's. In this way organized and efficient help can be given without leaving any place unprotected. Auxiliary, first aid, and relief work were also provided for by the federation. E. A. Keplar, secretary of the organization, is in charge of this plan.

SWIM CONTESTS HELD DAILY AT BLACKHAWK PARK

Swimming contests are being conducted daily in the "new swimmin' hole" at Blackhawk park, Lavergne and Belden avenues, in which boys and girls strive to win bronze, silver, and gold buttons. By the time the contestant has attained the ability to win a gold button he has become a first class swimmer. The events which he must complete successfully are: Swim 220 yards; swim 40 yards in 27 seconds; swim 40 yards back stroke; recover three rings from the bottom of the pool; perform three dives; plunge 30 feet, and swim 20 yards under water from a diving start.

Mrs. Gayfree Ellison, a daughter, and Peter E. Pierson, a son, have come from Oklahoma to join in the celebration. Mrs. Roy E. Nelson, the other daughter, and Carl B. Pierson, a son, live with their parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Pierson were married in Wessige, Sweden, in 1880, and came to the United States 40 years ago. They have lived on the northwest side for 31 years.

"NEW WORLD" TO BE HEARD OVER W-G-N AT 2 P. M.

A master composer's musical tribute to America, Dvorak's "Symphony No. 5" from "The New World" will form the major part of a program to be broadcast by the Chicago Symphony orchestra, Dr. Frederick Stock conducting, at 2 p. m. this afternoon over W-G-N, The Chicago Tribune station on the Drake hotel, and the NBC network. The overture to Von Weber's famous opera, "Der Freischutz," will also be heard in this hour of symphonic music.

Philippines Will Have Amateur Radio Network

A network of radio amateurs, similar to the large system now in operation in the United States, has been established in the Philippines by the signal corps for service in times of severe typhoons or other calamities in their vicinity.

Fifteen "ham" operators have been appointed from the volunteers, it is reported, and all are civilians. The amateurs are said to be very enthusiastic over their enterprise. It is likely that they will soon be in a position to exchange messages with their American colleagues.

FOREIGN BORN RUSH TO SCHOOL OF CITIZENSHIP

Obtain Extra Teacher for 33d Ward.

Eagerness to learn and assume the duties of American citizenship has been evinced by the foreign born residents of the 33d ward, according to Stefan Szeklucki, president of the 33d Ward Improvement club. Although the free naturalization bureau of the club will not be started until March 24, hundreds of inquiries have been received and answered regarding enrollment in the citizenship school. The volume of these inquiries has resulted in a change of the plans for the bureau, inasmuch as two instructors will be obtained from the American Legion instead of one, as was stated in the early notices about the school.

Notices have been posted on the bulletin boards of industrial plants throughout the ward, and many of the inquiries have come from workers in these plants, said Mr. Szeklucki.

Outlines Benefits.

"The people who enroll in this free school will be assured of receiving ample payment for their time, in the added ease with which their new knowledge will help them deal with the people they meet," promised Mr. Szeklucki.

"The school is to be conducted in a social way, as well as in a businesslike manner. At the school students will meet their friends and neighbors and together they will learn the opportunities which this splendid country of ours has to offer, along with the duties and obligations which come with the advantages of citizenship. We want them to keep the culture they may already have, but not to overlook the culture of their new land."

The school is an annual affair, Mr. Szeklucki reports.

"It has never failed to result in a better understanding of our country, its laws, and its ideals," he said. "Furthermore, it has never failed to promote a better feeling of neighborliness among the people who go through it together. It affords a common bond of knowledge and understanding, replacing fear and ignorance."

Enrollment Open Till March 24.

Enrollment for the school may be made at any time before March 24 and for a little while afterward, Mr. Szeklucki announced.

The citizenship committee, under Charles J. Spennad, chairman, has been making arrangements for the opening of the bureau with the coöperation of the rest of the club.

Besides Mr. Szeklucki officers of the club are: Vice presidents, William Olsewski, Salvatore Tomasso, Nick Maharas, Joseph Strauss, and Casimir Gorny; secretary, Thaddeus Plucinski, and, treasurer, Robert Koronkiewicz.

WEST SIDE HIGH SCHOOLS TO SEND SINGERS TO FETE

Seven to Be Represented at Orchestra Hall.

City officials, prominent club women, and music critics will attend the third annual music festival to be given by more than 600 students of the senior high schools of the city next Wednesday evening in Orchestra hall.

Dr. J. Lewis Browne, supervisor of the music department of the board of education, will direct the group, which will represent 20 institutions. The event is held each year as a climax to the year's musical activities in the Chicago schools and for the purpose of presenting the work of the students to the public.

Seven West Side Schools.

Seven high schools of the west and northwest sides are represented in the festival chorus by groups of approximately 25 students. The schools and their music directors include Austin High school, J. Lee Roth; Harrison, Mrs. Zelia Campbell; Marshall, Miss Edith Wines and Miss Mary Ballard; McKinley, Miss Sara Campbell; Medill, Miss Harriet L. Robertson; Roosevelt, Erhardt Bergstresser; and Schurz, Charles Lagerquist.

The program includes songs by Palestrina, Rheinberger, and Yon for the entire chorus; Homer's "Banjo Song" for the male voices; and Frederick W. Root's "Within a Little Wood" for the female voices. "The Viking Song" by S. Coleridge Taylor will be sung by the entire group with an orchestral accompaniment. Several part songs written by Mr. Browne and sung by the whole chorus will conclude the evening's program.

Combination Orchestra to Play.

A student orchestra, under the direction of Henry Sopkin of Lane Technical High school, will give two numbers during the intermission. All of the schools participating in the chorus will be represented in the orchestra, although the majority of the members will be from Lane.

The complete program to be presented next Wednesday evening will be repeated for the music supervisors' national confrence to be held at the Stevens hotel March 22.

WRITING PRIZE WON BY SISTER OF HEMINGWAY

Literary ability is contagious in the Ernest Hemingway family of Oak Park. The author's sister, Miss Carol Hemingway, was the winner of first place in the prose contest conducted by the Story club and the Scribblers' club at Oak Park and River Forest Township High school.

Guy Garden was awarded first place for his poetry. Miss Elizabeth Snell and Warren Stevens took second and third places in the poetry contest, and Leslie Daniels and Jack Hammon were given second and third prizes, respectively, for their prose. Miss Essie Chamberlain, Miss Lydia Allen, and J. E. Thompson judged the work.

Other members of the clubs to enter the contest were Miss Florence Parks, Miss Mary Jane Morrow, Miss Betty Shuman, Robert Milow, and Miss Betty Guffin. Miss Mildred Linden is faculty advisor of the Story club, and E. E. Thompson is faculty director of the Scribblers' club.

Bridge School Boys Build 7 Foot Model Airplane

An airplane club at Bridge school, Byron street and New England avenue, is exhibiting in the school a seven foot plane model constructed by the boys with movable controls. Lectures on the developments in aviation are given at the meetings held fortnightly. Nathan Sigal is president of the group; Alfred Kowalke, vice president; George Sopusek, secretary; Edmund Czok, treasurer, and Sidney Szabo, publicity editor. John Rosenbloom is faculty adviser of the organization.

Pan-Hellenic Women to Hold Spring Luncheon

Several Oak Park women, members of the board of the Chicago Pan-Hellenic council, are assisting with the plans for the annual spring luncheon to be held in the grand ballroom of the Medinah Athletic club next Saturday afternoon. They include Miss Virginia Gunderson, Mrs. Lester Holt, Mrs. Robert Prebles, and Miss Esther Christie. Mrs. Robert Jeffries is president of the council. The program this year will include an address by Dean Florence Robnett of Northwestern university.

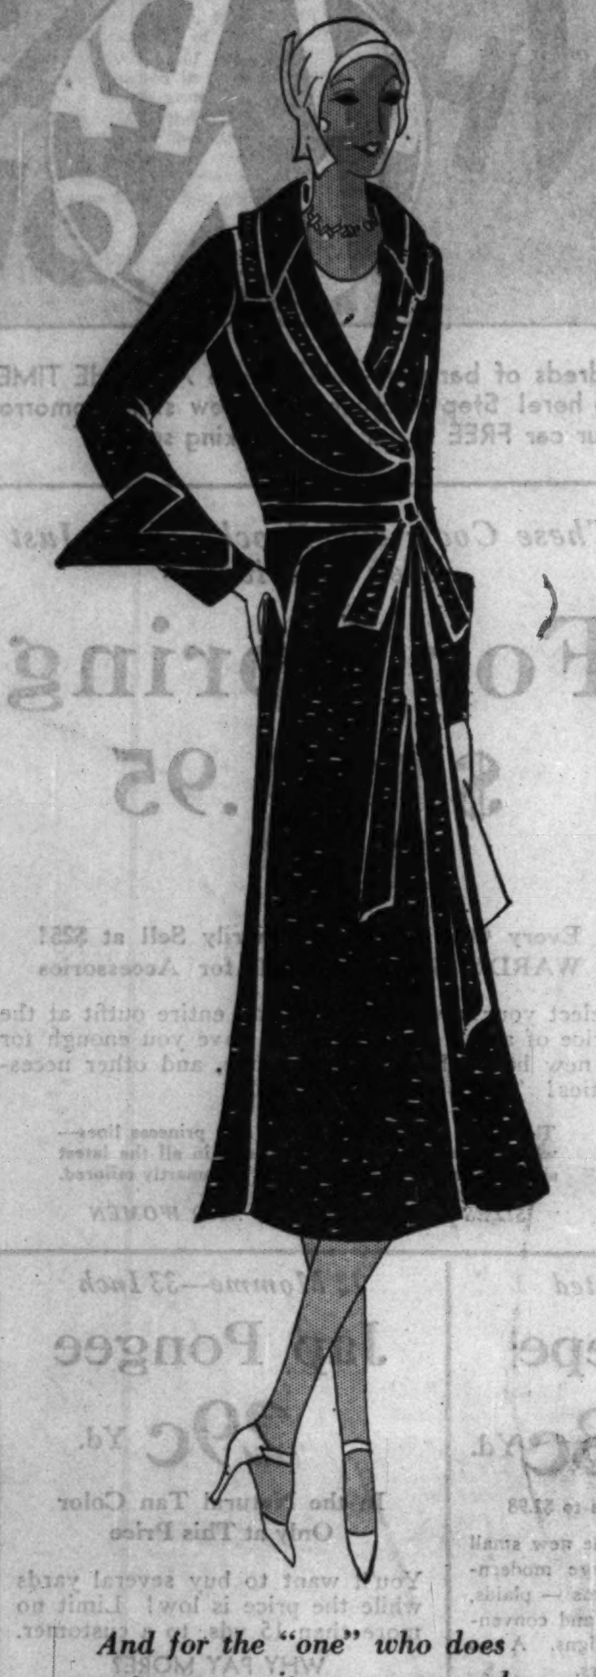
4 Accepted Spring Fashions

Every wardrobe that claims to be smart will want one of them at the very least

The odds are 4 to 1 you'll wear a suit this month, for suits are THE Spring fashion. Soft, spongy tweeds to wear with frilly blouses—Mannish tailored coverts in daring contrast to the feminine vogue and knitted suits that adopt smart new details. And as usual—if it's in fashion—you'll find it at Madigan's—wearing a remarkably thrifty price ticket.



And for the "one" who does not wear a suit we recommend

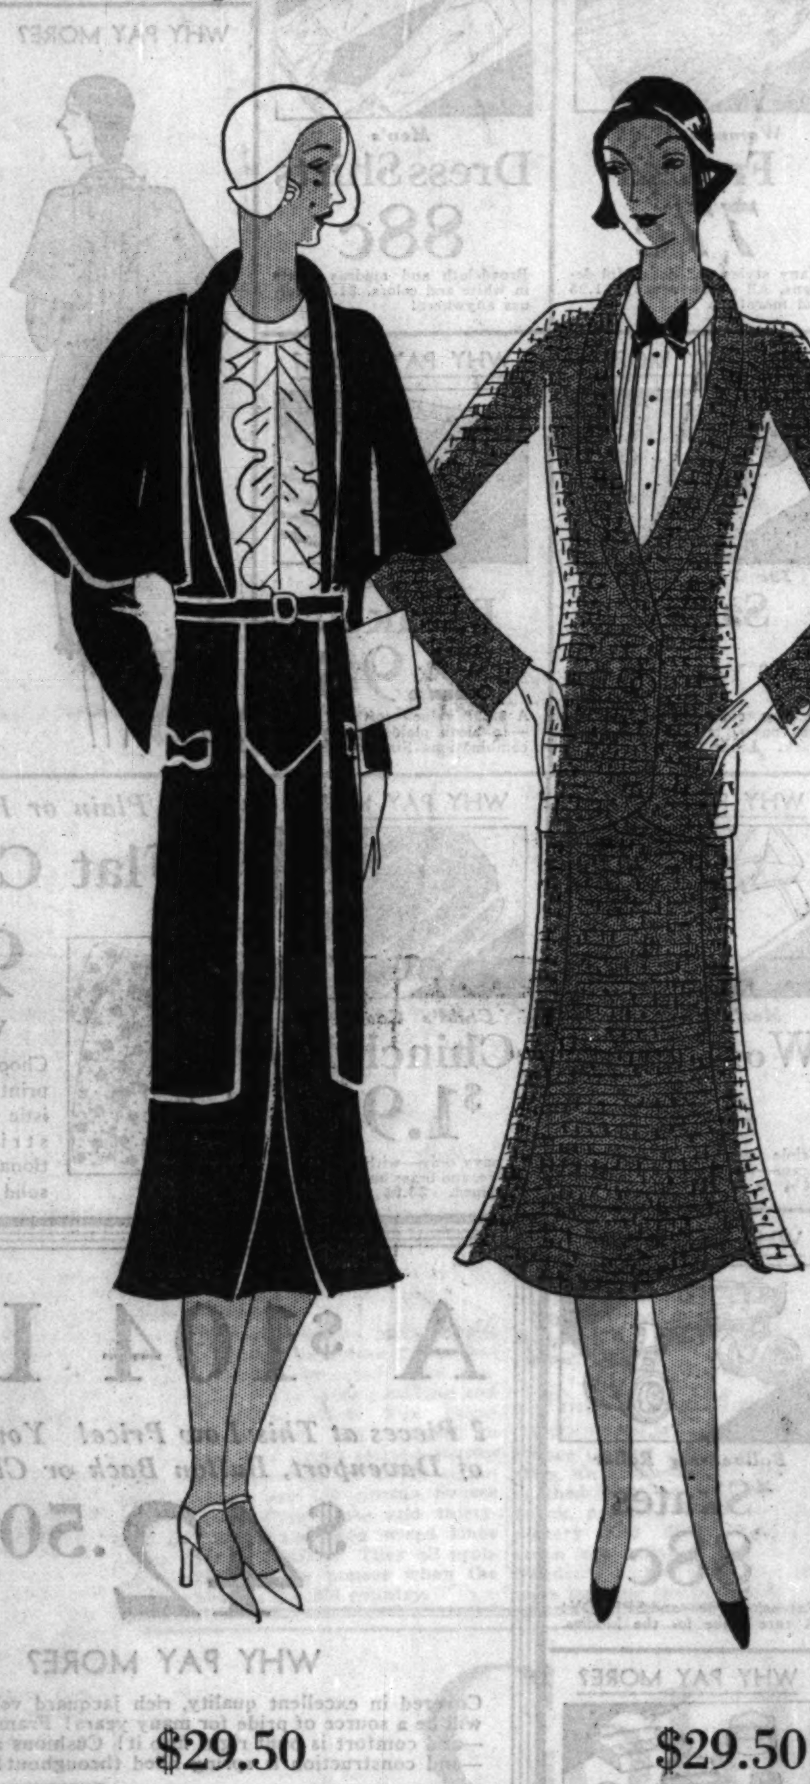
An Ensemble Coat of Covert Cloth

$29.50

First, because it "belongs" to 1930 in every detail, from its subtly tailored flare to its tiny belt at the normal waistline. Second, because covert will go with nearly all your new silk dresses—in fact, your friends will probably think you've purchased a whole new Spring ensemble.

The Second Floor.

On the Second Floor



$29.50

Cape suit in covert

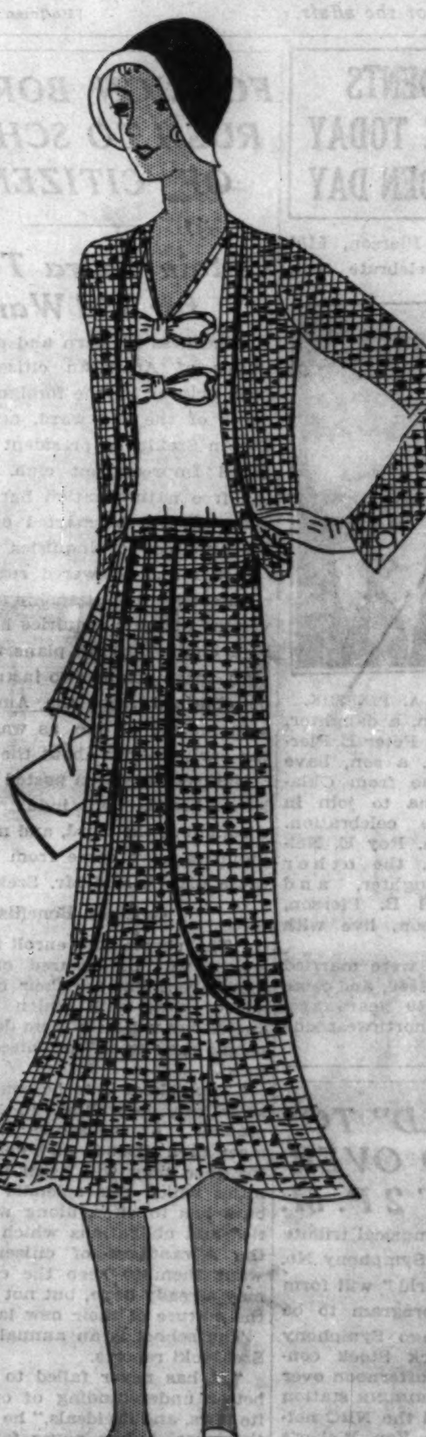
Credit goes to Chanel for showing women the youthfulness and wearability of the cape. Shown here in oxford in a 1930 version of the dressmaker suit with ¾ length coat and slightly flaring skirt.

$29.50

Single button In spongy tweed

If you've always admired the trim smartness of tweeds, you should see these Spring suits of soft, spongy materials. The one sketched is typical—one button slightly nipped coat and flaring paneled skirt.

The Second Floor.



The knitted suit Adopts new details

$15

If you've even been thinking of suits you'll give in completely when you see the jaunty air of the new knitted suits this Spring. Tweeds and fancy weaves in new Spring colors.

Skirts—	Are slightly flared. Are yoked or tuck-in. Are fashion-right length.
Jackets--	Are bolero style. Short one button style. Three button over hip.
Blouses--	With feminine bows. With banded waist or straight over skirts and contrasting yokes.

The knitted suit is a fashion that is extremely wearable for many people. Madigan's features a complete size range for Misses from 14 to 20 and Women 34 to 42.

The Second Floor.

A Side Fastening Girdle

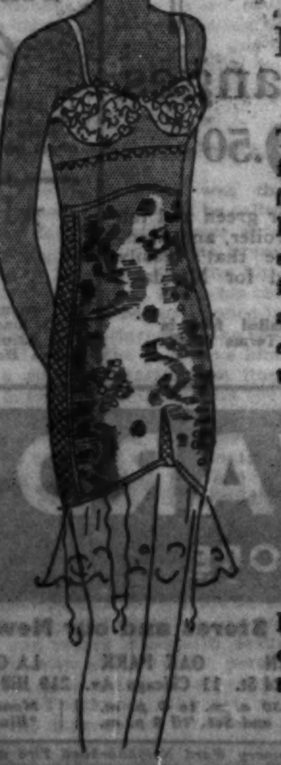
For the woman of full figure

The present mode is very flattering to the woman of full figure if she is properly corseted. The garment sketched, of brocade and film elastic, is designed to achieve that slenderizing effect by perfect figure control. Sizes from 29 to 40.



The Bandeau

Fashioned of peach crepe de chine and ecru lace in the correct uplift style.

The Second Floor.

Protect your skin from March winds

Elmo Tissue Cream $1

An ideal cream for the relief of skins chapped by March winds. Prevents dry looking skin and wrinkles.

for the 9 x 12 foot Gulistan: other sizes in proportion
{Prices higher in Canada}

Every woman knows why she has longed for Oriental rug luxury.

Because she wants that transformation of glorious beauty which it works in any room.

And now you can have it in an American rug at $150, on the authority of the largest maker of Oriental rugs, Karagheusian.

The same jewel-like colors!

The same masterpieces of characteristic Oriental design!

And above all, the unmistakable lustrous sheen!

Gulistan can only be made by Karagheusian. It is the American product of this famous House, whose native weavers in Persia and China supply America with so many costly rugs.

In Gulistan you have the same sturdy Oriental wool yarns, the finest dyes, the very same finishing processes as you get in a thousand dollar imported Oriental.

Go to your favorite department or furniture store and see Gulistan for yourself.

In the past, families have saved up for years to own such luxury . . . and now friends will envy it in your home!

Look for the silken label reproduced below.

This world-famous signature is on the back of every Gulistan Rug.

And remember, the stores have many Gulistan designs to show you in addition to the famous one photographed in this beautiful home.

A carpet that "scholars rate among the first half dozen of ancient carpets now in existence."

So says the Official Handbook of the Pennsylvania Museum of Art, where the famous original of the Gulistan illustrated above hangs today.

It was woven 88 years before America was discovered, when Tamerlane the Great reached the height of his power in Samarkand!

To have reproduced this famous design in a Gulistan rug, with such amazing fidelity and beauty, represents an outstanding achievement in American loomcraft.

Six different color schemes to harmonize with your interiors. See all six and make your choice.

Pattern number is Gulistan 25082. It is available in twenty-two different sizes, ranging from 22½ inches by 36 inches ($10) to 11 feet 3 inches by 21 feet ($435).

FOR MEN WHO DRESS SMARTLY WITHOUT EXTRAVAGANCE

THE WORSTED-TEX SUIT

$40

There is a certain type of man who demands that his clothing have smart dignity. He prefers to give the impression of being well-dressed rather than to have people just consider his clothes. The Worsted-tex Suit has that qualification. It has custom-tailor distinction,—it is good looking in appearance yet smartly conservative in styling. Its chief attribute is supreme good taste.

THE KNIT-TEX COAT

$30

Cramp it into a suitcase, crush it in a car—yet Knit-tex keeps its shape—it's wrinkle-proof. Wear it on damp days—it's drizzle-proof. Let chilly breezes blow—it's comfortably warm. Take it along during mild weather—it's light in weight. The appearance of a fine importation, and many practical advantages—all yours for $30.

the Secret of COOL BEAUTY

That Gladdens the hearts of admirers

Cool, tranquil beauty has ever aroused ardent admiration, and fortunate is she upon whom Nature has lavished so beautiful a gift. Yet it is amazingly easy to transform one's complexion to a cool smoothness . . . so sure . . . so sophisticated . . . so alluring . . . for Boyer's Flowers of Beauty Face Powder is unaffected by bodily heat . . . it is cool . . . clinging . . . beautifying.

It puts an immediate end to shiny skin and transforms rude-roughness into satin-smoothness that is charmingly youthful . . . and the effect lasts for hours and hours.

The fragrance is a rare and subtle odor that accentuates charm and allure . . . and its shades have been carefully blended to subtly tone in with the skin coloring of any type . . . your druggist can give you exactly your right shade.

Never neglect pore protection

When you try Boyer's Flowers of Beauty Face Powder . . . your mirror will flash back an improved effect that you will like immensely. The large box with puff is but $1.00 . . . and there is a handy glass tube for the purse . . . two weeks' supply . . . for only 25 cents.

Most every woman knows that a clean pore never distends, but is the very beginning of smooth skin beauty. Boyer's Skin and Pore Cleanser is an amazing cleanser . . . its beneficial, light oils penetrate to the depth of the pores, floating out waste and neutralizing skin-ageing acids. It is a tissue-tonic as well as a pore cleanser and ten days use of this new cream will show you why women who can pay any price are loyal to the 75-cent jar of Boyer's Skin and Pore Cleanser.

What an expert chef taught his daughter

A letter of great interest to progressive women

Corn Products Refining Co.
New York City

Gentlemen:

During the first few months of my marriage, I used any number of different kinds of shortenings for my cakes and pies. As my cooking was always very successful, I did a lot of it and having finally decided that there was nothing like butter for shortening and frying, I soon found my budget soaring beyond our means. "Hubby" still demanded desserts and I insisted that we could not afford them.

Strangely enough, though, my Dad was an expert Chef and I had never thought to ask his advice. Then, one day he watched me making a cake.

"Why don't you use Mazola, daughter?" he questioned.

"For cake?" I asked.

"I use it for salad dressing but never dreamed of putting it in a cake."

"Try it sometime," he insisted.

I did—and I really think it is a great deal better than butter for cake-making. I was amazed the first time I used it for pie crust, for I had always believed one had to have a solid shortening, but Mazola is much easier to mix evenly and I use it all the time now.

In frying doughnuts, it heats up so quickly and doesn't burn so easily either. I never had such light, greaseless doughnuts before. I'm sure glad I followed Dad's advice about Mazola.

Mrs. Francis Rahberg

MAZOLA
SALAD AND COOKING OIL

Pressed from the hearts of fully-ripened golden corn kernels, Mazola is a delightful, pure vegetable oil—itself as good to eat as the corn from which it comes.

For Salad Dressings, for all Frying and Shortening, the world affords nothing finer—regardless of price.

All grocers sell Mazola in pint, quart, half-gallon and gallon tins.

WITH A ZOOM

they take to the clear, bright air as the earth sinks away from their eyes

THE FLASH of sunlight on varnished wings . . . the hum of motors . . . and steady hands at the controls . . . with a rush they leave the ground, banking and soaring to the upper air . . . keen are their nerves and courage.

Such are the pioneers of the air. Such suntanned healthy men and women drink the sportsman's beverage, "Canada Dry." For here is a fine old ginger ale which makes them keener and steadies their minds for the sport in hand.

Vigor — the quality of a game well played — is the quality of "Canada Dry"

In many other sports, for many other sportsmen, this fine old ginger ale is the choice . . . matching in quality the vigorous, healthy activity of countless men and women.

Why? The answer lies in basic excellence—the same quality which makes aristocrats the world over. The very foundation of "Canada Dry" is "Liquid Ginger"—which we make from selected ginger root by a special process. This process is exclusively controlled by us and, unlike any other method, retains for "Canada Dry" all of the original aroma, flavor and natural essence of the ginger root. Rigid laboratory control assures uniformity, purity and highest quality. A special process of carbonation enables "Canada Dry" to retain its sparkle long after the bottle has been opened.

Such is the method and the result—"Canada Dry"—has won the approving nod of connoisseurs the wide world over. In New York . . . in the Houses of Parliament at Ottawa . . . in many great hotels and clubs . . . along the boulevard cafes of Paris . . . "Canada Dry" is served wherever people of discrimination gather.

It refreshes with its keen, delightful, vigorous flavor

And when you serve this fine old ginger ale, you are bringing to your own meal something of the quality, the health, the prestige which "Canada Dry" brings to these famous places.

At dinner tonight it will give zest and added deliciousness to the meal. At luncheon its vigor fits in with the healthy appetites of healthy men and women. And on any occasion where your friends gather, here is the appropriate beverage . . . delightful in flavor . . . keen, and above all, vigorous.

in teaching

Beauty to you

In her Chicago Salon, you may learn to keep your face youthful and flawless; to spirit away those age-betraying lines and wrinkles; to select just the shade of rouge and powder to supplement your natural coloring and add youth and distinction to your whole appearance.

The HELENA RUBINSTEIN treatments, famous throughout seven countries, are based on the sane and practical principles that no two skins are alike—that the neglected skin grows old years before its time and that lines and wrinkles are the penalties of neglect and not the inevitable signs of age.

The Chicago Salon, where wise and lovely women meet, offers a beauty service, unusual and complete. If it is a treatment you require, there are effective preparations, and expert knowledge in the scientific care of the skin.

If it is advice that you seek, HELENA RUBINSTEIN will tell you of a simple and safe home beauty treatment which will bring new youth to your skin and beauty to your whole appearance.

And, if you are "beauty-shopping" there are adorable new vanities, lipsticks that would elicit enthusiasm from a stoic, powder so fine and fragrant that it would charm a sophisticate and thrill a debutante.

Regardless of where you buy your beauty preparations you are cordially invited to come here for consultation and advice

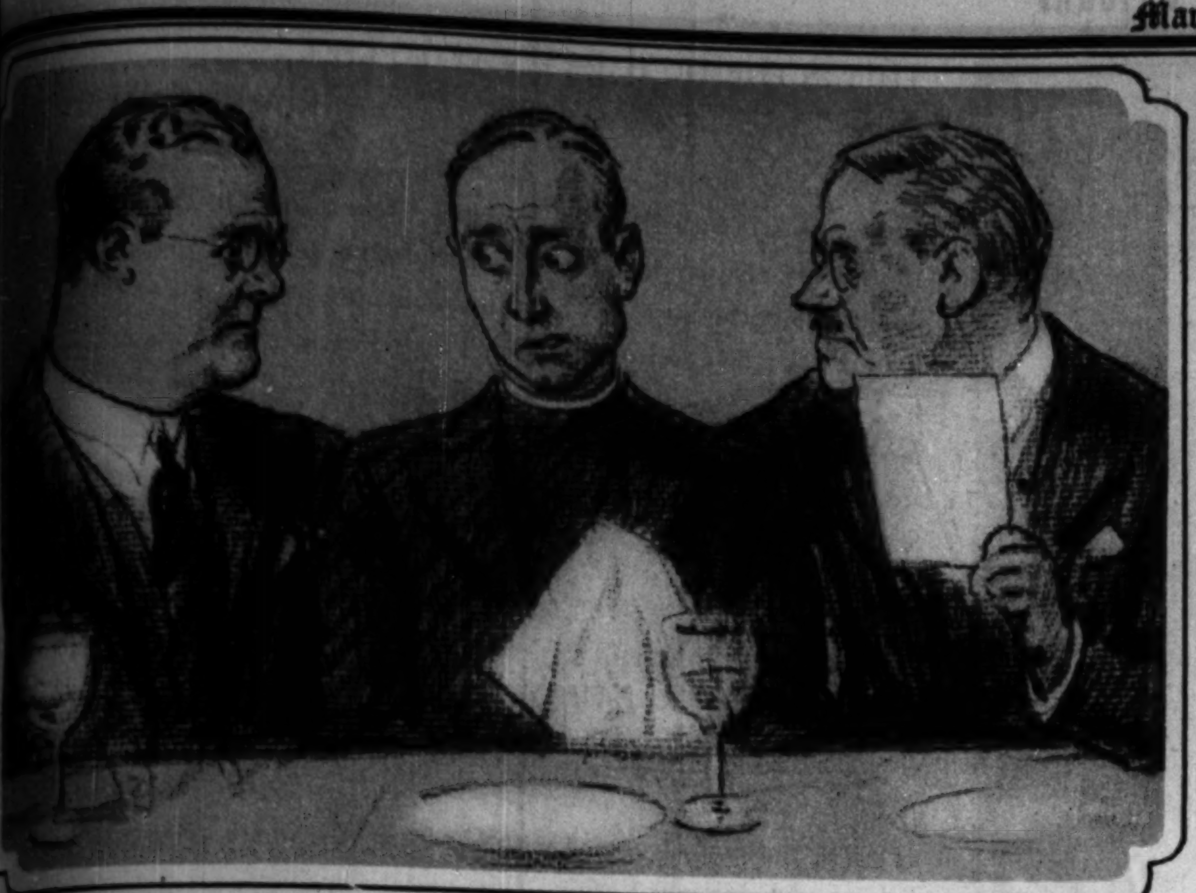
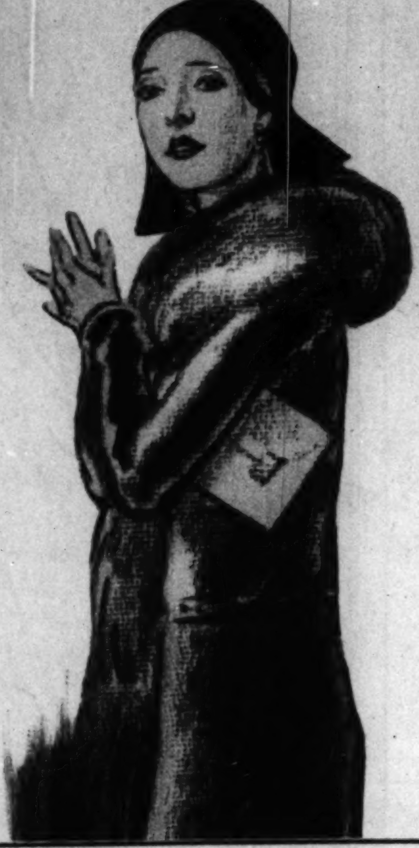
The Bigger and Better Drive

By W. E. Hill

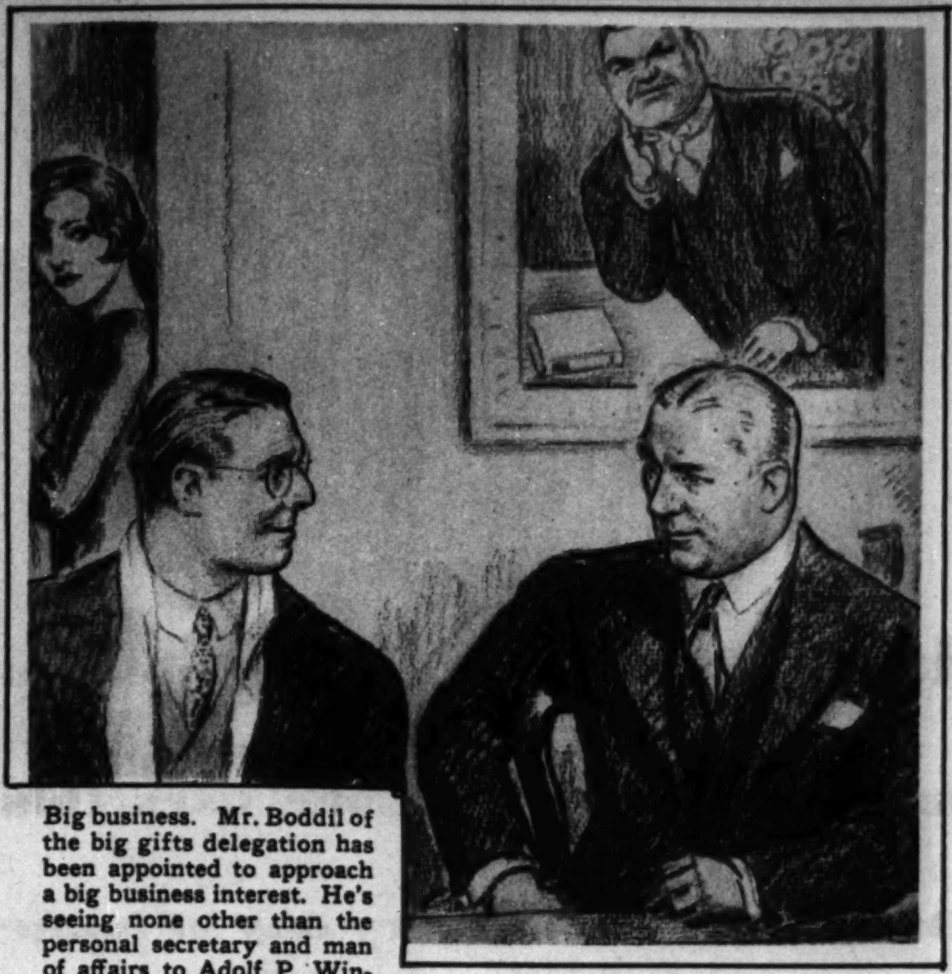
[Copyright: 1930: By The Chicago Tribune.]



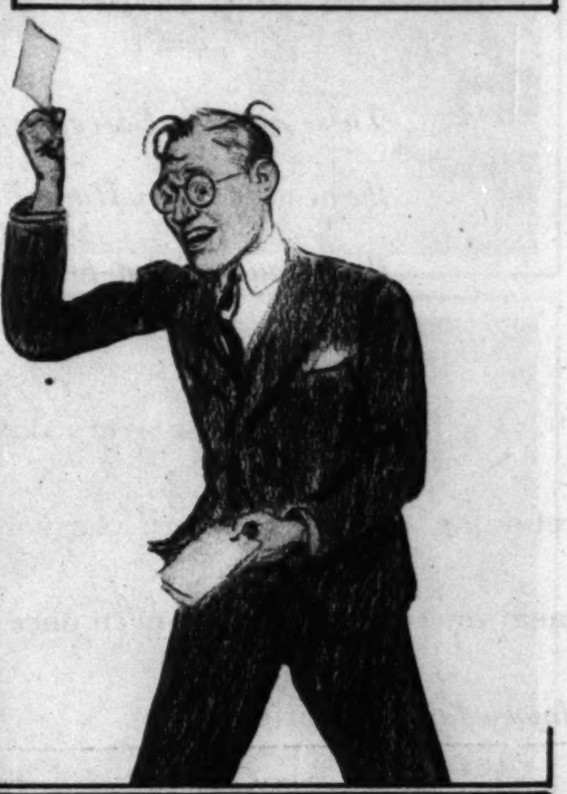
The report lunch. "Don't frighten her—let her give her thousand, then canvass her again next week. She's good for five more." Just two esteemed committee heads discussing a rich prospect across Mr. Doule, the minister, who is busy for the moment with a mouthful of hard roll and can't join in.



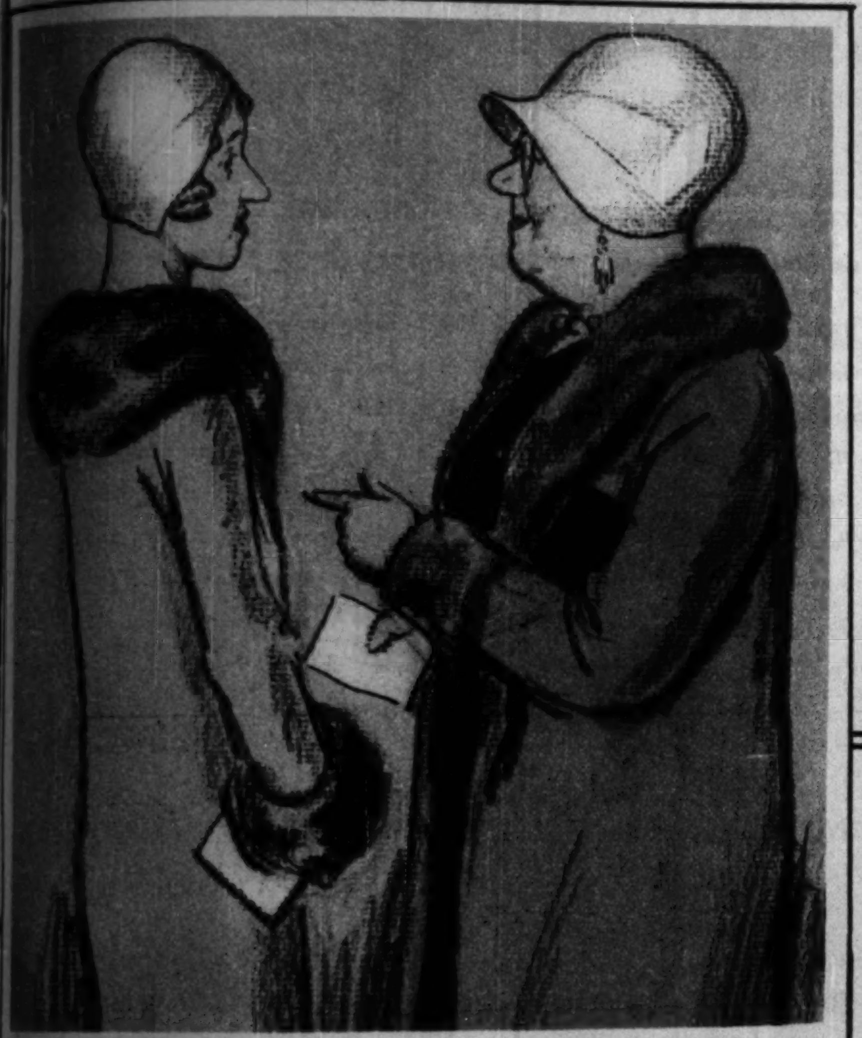
"I'm sorry, but I've already been approached for a subscription." This lovely lady has just come in, but she's making believe she's on the point of going out, so the canvasser won't even get inside the door. This is known as the indelicate refusal, and is a great trial to workers for the drive.



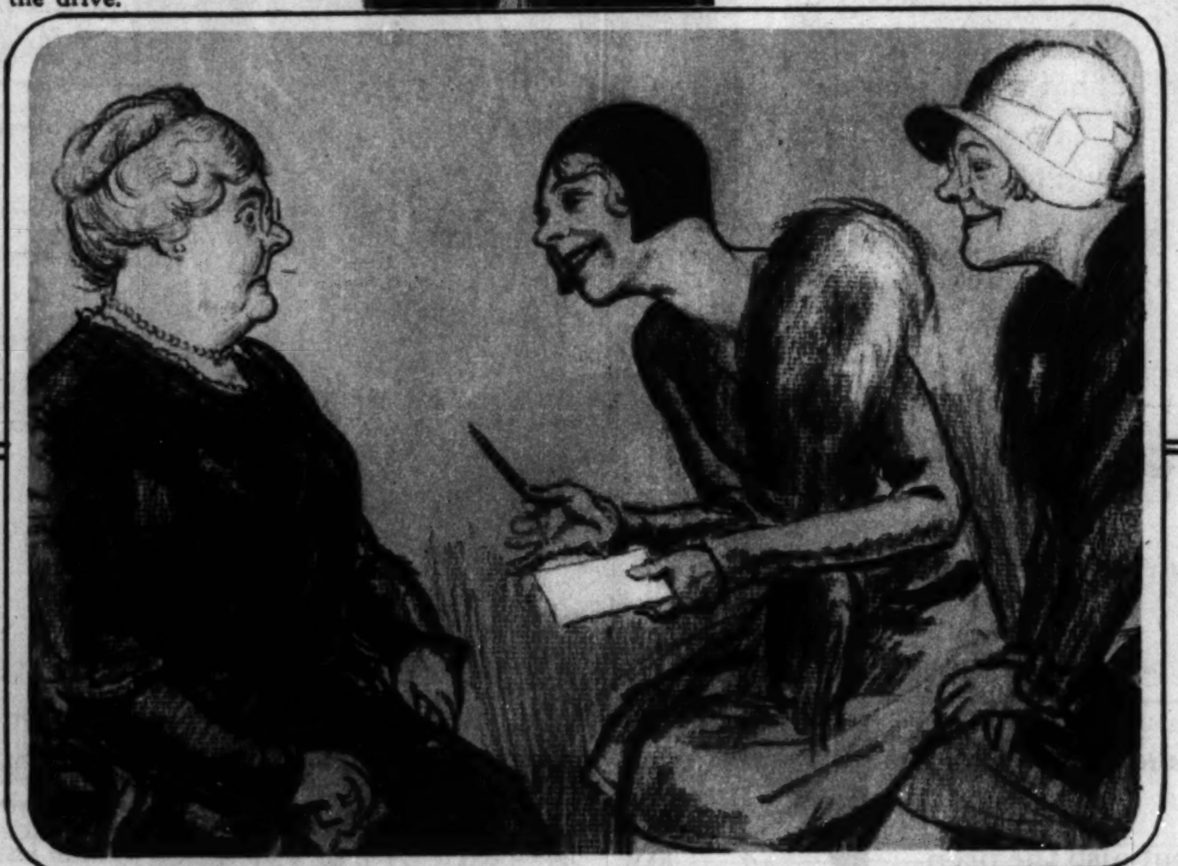
Big business. Mr. Boddil of the big gifts delegation has been appointed to approach a big business interest. He's seeing none other than the personal secretary and man of affairs to Adolf P. Winterbottom, and it's a ticklish job. Mr. Boddil is trying to be winsome and sincere (see printed advice to workers) and yet beware the quick giver, which would mean a twenty-five dollar donation. In the doorway Miss Pearl Icey is ready and waiting to say, "You're wanted in conference," if the personal secretary needs assistance.



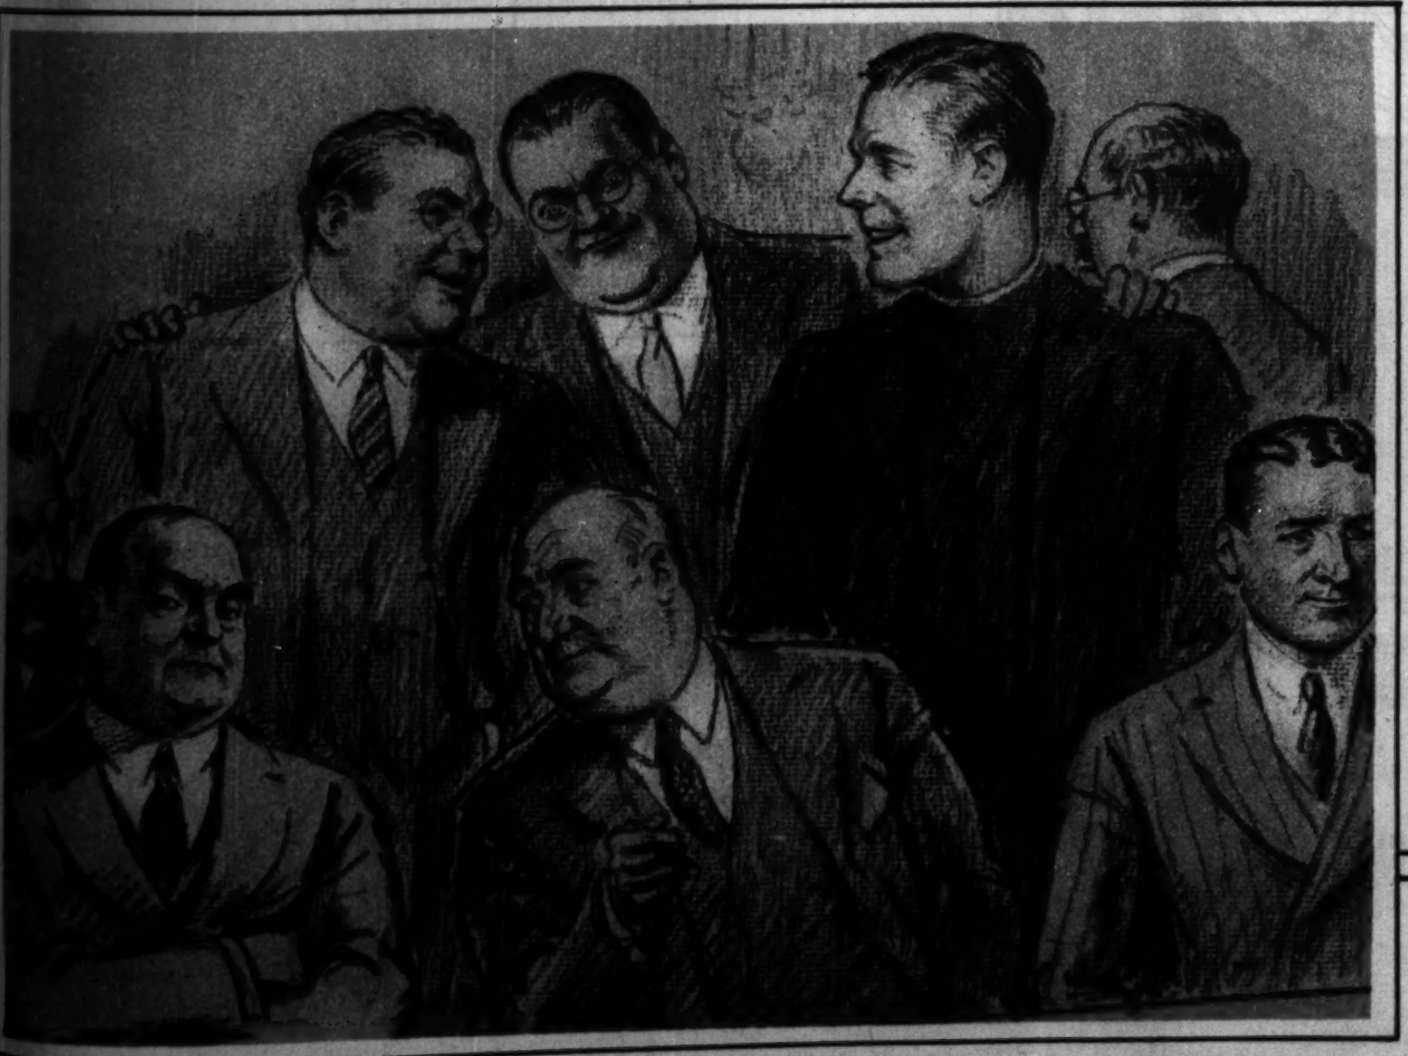
The dynamic chairman. "Now then, men," urges the chairman of the get-together meeting of the workers who are soliciting for an endowed home for aged and infirm Girl Guides who grow old and rheumatic and can't kneel down by a campfire any more, "let's put this thing over and show the world that the town of Noonan never forgets! And now I'm going to hand out the master lists and the prospect cards. And on these prospect cards will be found a personal history of each prospect, his idiosyncrasies, his petty faults, and data relative to his bank balance, home furnishings, sex appeal, and thefts. It is well, when calling on a prospect, to refer to these cards at all times. And remember, folks, the door to success is labeled 'Push!' I thank you."



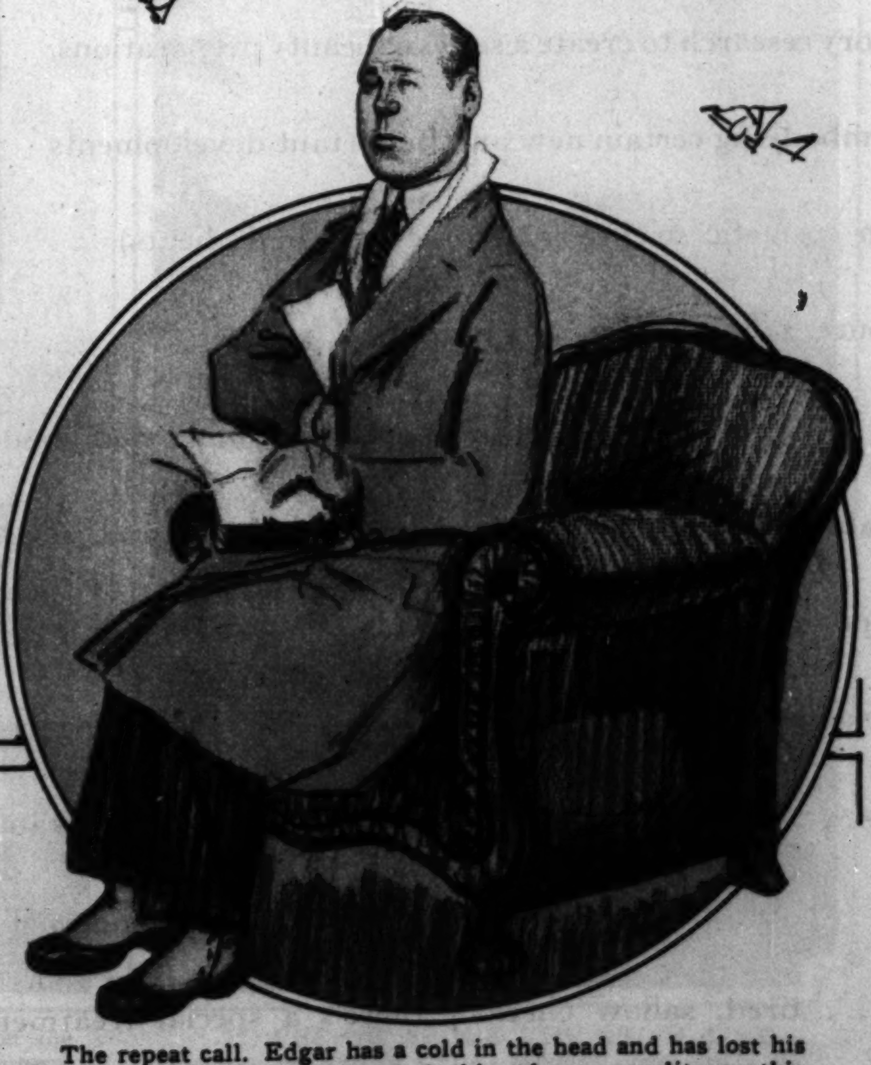
The junior big gifts committee workers. "Remember, Bessie, to stress the sentiment." "I can't, Mrs. Ivins. I get crying myself and it makes my eyes and nose all red, and they just show me out!"



The lieutenant workers. Members of the canvassing squad usually travel in pairs. Should a worker run short of breath while wheedling a maximum gift from a prospect (a maximum gift is anything over what the prospect is thought to be able to give), her running mate can take up the argument from that point, and in this way prevent said prospect from answering back, which is always bad business. After touching lightly on patriotism, civic pride and sentiment, the worker says sweetly, "You are on our list for fifty dollars" (long pause), "and fifty dollars annually for just a few years." Then when the prospect has come across on the dotted line it is well to add, "And, of course, if you have passed on before the final payment, we will be glad to sue the estate."



The get-together lunch. This lunch, held in the Daffodil room of the Hotel Spike, is for the purpose of getting all the workers to know each other. So that hereafter when two workers for the cause meet in public, they will not try to get a donation one from the other. The big business men are in the front row seated. Standing fraternally behind them are Mr. Earl Botty (Ye Arcade Flower Shoppe), Mr. Paul Snelgrove (Snelgrove & Haig, haberdashers), and the Reverend Tobias Satchel of the advisory committee. (Earl, the rascal, is trying to shock Tobias with a naughty story and Tobias is laughing heartily, although he heard the story years ago at divinity school. From now on Earl is going to say: "That boy Satchel is a regular guy; yes, sir, he laughed fit to bust when I told him the one about the old maid and the upper berth!")



The repeat call. Edgar has a cold in the head and has lost his handkerchief. It's going to ruin his sales personality on this repeat call.

Is she 37? . . . she looks so much younger — for she uses this Du Barry Method every day at home

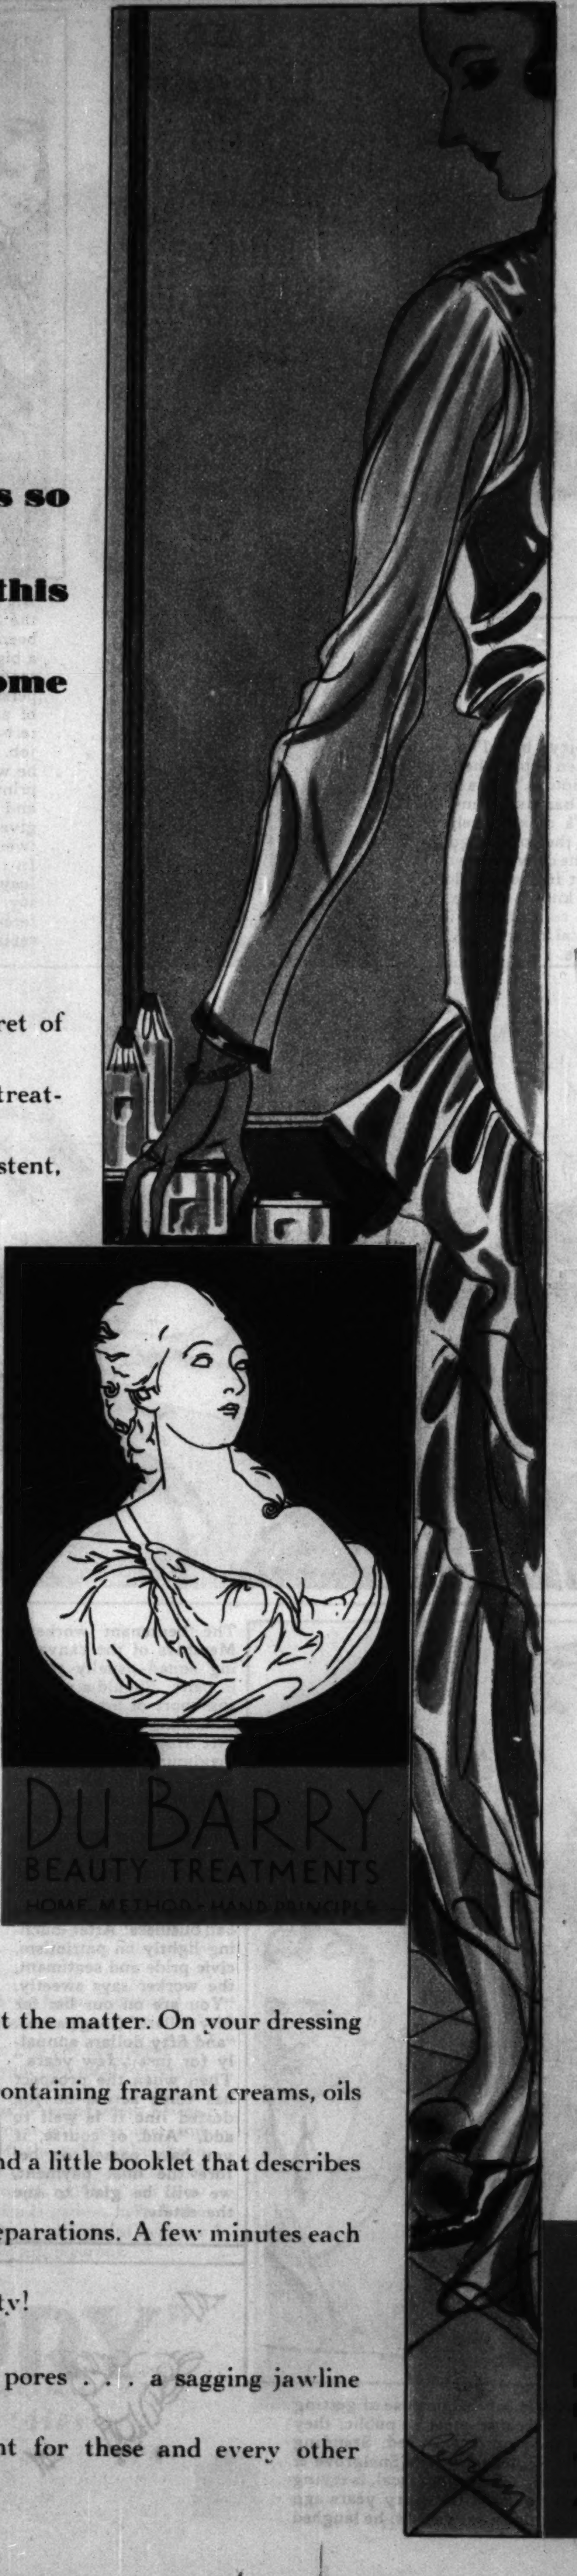
These new Du Barry preparations and the new Du Barry Hand Principle bring the Beauty Salon to your own home.

" . . . a few minutes' use every day!" That's the secret of retaining . . . or regaining . . . a youthful skin. Not a treatment once in a while—or even once a week—but consistent, day by day application.

And that's why more and more women daily are turning to these new, modern Du Barry Beauty Treatments of Richard Hudnut. For not only were these treatments devised for use in the home, according to the new Du Barry Hand Principle, but also the preparations themselves . . . the result of intensive laboratory research to create a series of beauty preparations, embodying certain new and important developments in cosmetic science (including new ingredients) . . . pure, safe . . . unusually effective.

There's nothing difficult, nothing complicated about the matter. On your dressing table a smart array of shining-topped bottles and jars containing fragrant creams, oils and lotions. Your own two hands—deft and capable. And a little booklet that describes exactly how to use your hands and these Du Barry preparations. A few minutes each day—and your own mirror tells the story of new beauty!

Faint lines or etched wrinkles . . . ugly enlarged pores . . . a sagging jawline . . . tired, sallow cheeks — there's a special treatment for these and every other sign of aging skin.



THIS IS THE DU BARRY WAY TO LIFT SAGGING CHEEK AND CHIN MUSCLES

First . . . with Du Barry Cleansing Cream and Du Barry Skin Tonic thoroughly cleanse the face. Then smooth a generous quantity of Tissue Cream along the jaws, down on the neck and up to the cheeks. If your skin is unusually dry, substitute Skin Food. Put into the palm of each hand and on the palm cushions the rich, stimulating Muscle Oil. Catch the jawline smartly on either side of the fatty tissue over the bony jawline. Repeat, rhythmically, till you feel the warm, tingling sensation so typical of these tissue firming Du Barry treatments.

HERE IS THE DU BARRY WAY TO SMOOTH AWAY LINES AROUND THE EYES

"First a thorough cleansing with Du Barry Cleansing Cream and the Skin Tonic and Freshener Lotion. Then use the cushion tips of the two fingers on both hands . . . dip them in Muscle Oil and, with a gently circling motion, smooth the mixture around the eyes. Begin with fingers placed on each side of the bridge of the nose, travel upward, circle the eyebrows, around the temples and down across the nose again . . . Wipe off any excess oil with Skin Tonic and Freshener."

Not one treatment is any harder . . . and they are all so inexpensive.

Du Barry Special Cleansing Cream. Frees skin of dust and impurities.	$1.50, $2.50, $4.50
Du Barry Skin Tonic and Freshener. A mild astringent which dissolves all traces of cleansing cream.	$1.00, $1.75

EPITOME OF CHICAGO'S MAGIC TRANSFORMATION—A remarkable new aerial photograph, looking northwestward across Grant park, records the giant stride of a city in seven league boots. Forming the portal to a vista whose climax is the magnificent Buckingham fountain (in the foreground at the extreme right), the twin bridges at Congress street constitute one of the most outstanding achievements of the last year in the lake front park. To the north of the esplanade thus formed is St. Gauden's "Seated Lincoln." Among the new peaks in the man-made mountains of the downtown area are the Board of Trade building (background, extreme left), and the Merchandise mart (to be seen dimly beyond the spire of the Methodist temple). Tribune Tower is in the background at the extreme right.

VALE! With the death of William Howard Taft, whose burial took place with full military honors last Tuesday in Arlington national cemetery, one of the most distinguished figures of our generation passes from the American scene. Governor general of the Philippines, secretary of war, president, chief justice—his services ran a gamut without parallel. From this portrait radiates the kindly personality, the smiling geniality which long ago became a Taft tradition.

(Photograph from Associated Press.)

DEATH'S DUAL INVASION of the Supreme court claimed Associate Justice Edward Terry Sanford but a few hours before his close friend, the chief justice, passed away. Justice Sanford collapsed in a dentist's chair, dying a short time afterward.

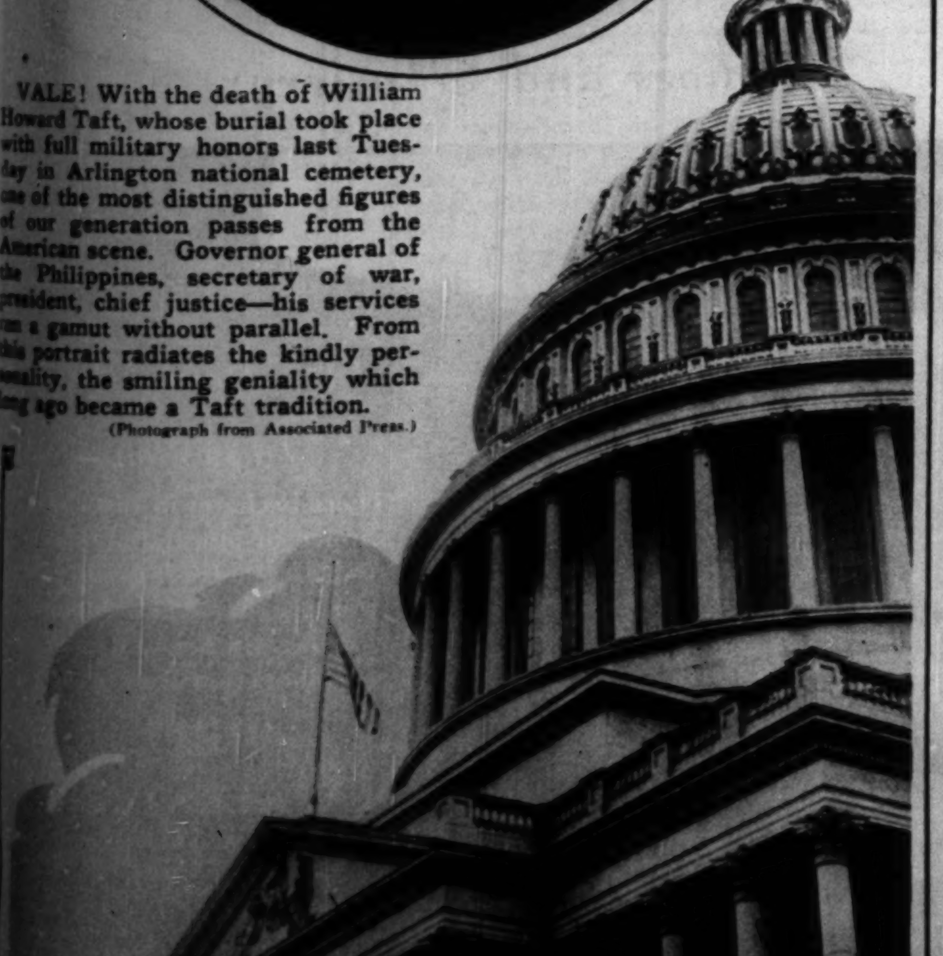
A SISTER TO A GERMAN QUEEN OF THE SEAS MAKES A ROYAL DEBUT—The Europa, twin of the record-holding liner Bremen, is attended by an impressive escort as it returns to the harbor of Hamburg following test runs at sea.

(Photograph from Associated Press.)



THE SYMBOL OF A NATION'S SORROW—The flag flies at half staff on the national capitol during the 30-day period of official mourning ordered for Mr. Taft by the President.

(Photograph from Pacific and Atlantic.)

UPHOLD PROHIBITION—Henry Ford and Thomas A. Edison, though declining to go to Washington to testify before the house judiciary committee during the hearing on wet legislation, submitted communications in defense of the status quo.

(Photograph from Associated Press.)

SO HE TOOK THE $80,000, and baseball's costliest holdout was led back into the Yankee fold again. Mr. Babe Ruth, in this subsequent picture from St. Petersburg, Fla., would seem satisfied with his two-year bargain. Col. Jacob Ruppert, to the contrary, appears to be smiling through his tears.

(Photograph from Pacific and Atlantic.)

A CRUMB IN THE BILL IS WORTH TWO IN THE HAND, as even the geese in Lincoln park know. Two of the comic fowl were luncheon guests of 3-year-old Eleanor Scholz of 1950 Burling street. (Tribune photograph.)

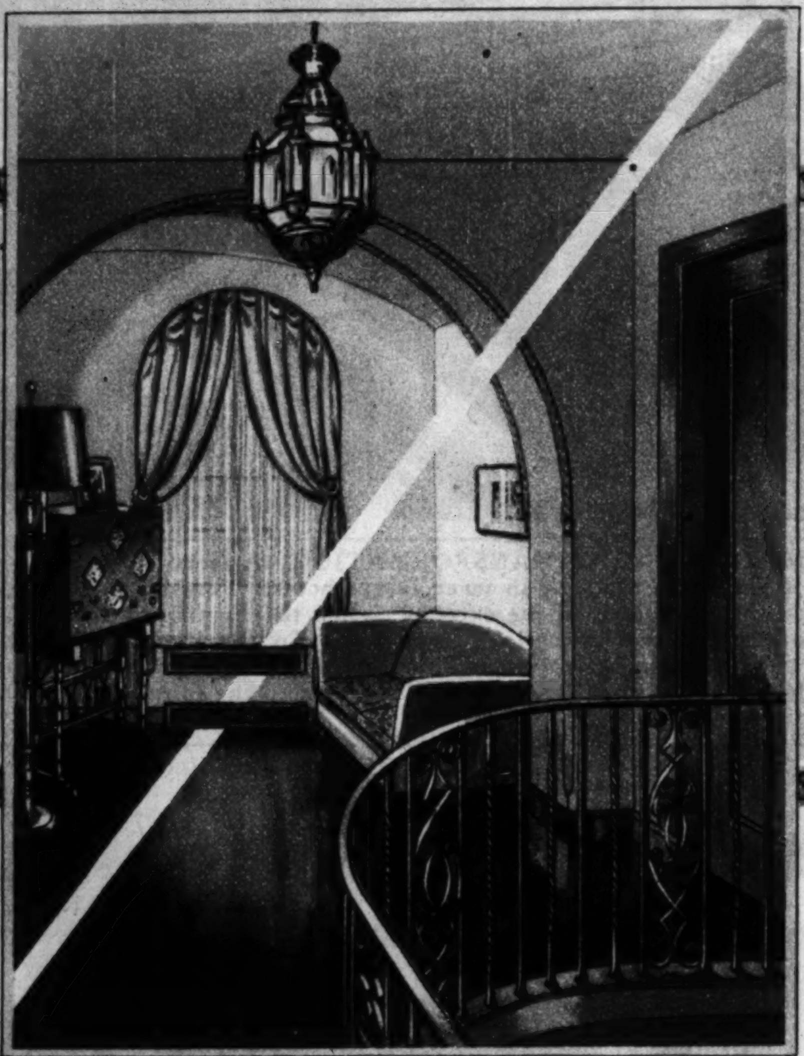
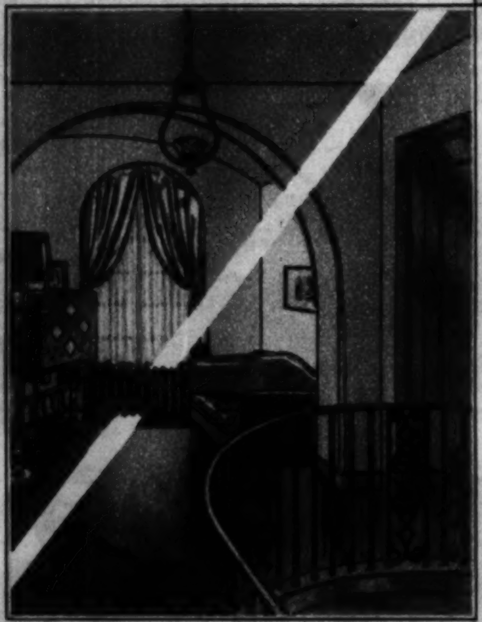
YOU WOULDN'T

put an old fashioned chandelier in this beautiful room



Modine Concealed Radiation is installed in the wall, out of sight. May be used on steam, vapor, vacuum or hot water systems.



Why use an Old-Fashioned RADIATOR?

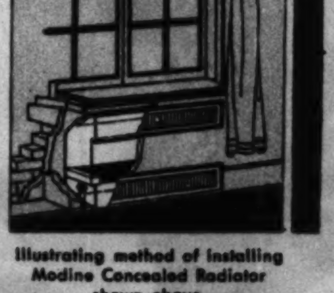
The mode is Modine Concealed Radiation. It modernizes a home because it successfully modernizes its heating.

With the copper radiator in the wall, out of the way, two decorative grilles are the only evidence of heating equipment.

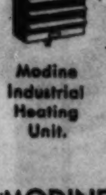
Limitations to room arrangement and decoration, that have always been accepted as unavoidable, are now entirely removed.

But more important than enhanced appearance, Modine Concealed Radiation offers greater comfort, quicker heating, easier regulation and greater cleanliness to home, office or institution.

Ask your architect and heating contractor or mail the coupon to us for complete information.



Illustrating method of installing Modine Concealed Radiator shown above.



Modine Industrial Heating Unit.

Modine Concealed Radiation is the product of one of the oldest and largest makers of copper radiation. Modine Unit Heaters are favorably known throughout industry. Modine Automotive Radiators are standard equipment on many leading automobiles, trucks, tractors and industrial machinery. You can buy Modine Concealed Radiation with the utmost confidence in its quality and performance.

AND AN HEIRESS TO $50,000,000! Mrs. Margaret Couzens Chewning of Washington, daughter of Senator Couzens of Michigan, gathers the groceries for the evening meal. The husband who shares the victuals will be remembered as the young bank clerk with whom "Margo" eloped.

BR'ER SQUIRREL SPIES OUT THE WEATHER for himself in Lincoln park, being personally somewhat snooty about Mr. Groundhog as a weather prophet. "There may be some more cold snaps," he reported oracularly to the photographer, "but I don't think it will be snappy enough to damage the peanut crop."

AN ARCHITECTURAL MASTERPIECE, the Cathedral of St. John the Divine, takes shape at New York through the years. Pictured here are present aspects of the great edifice, which, though its cornerstone was laid as long ago as 1892, will not be completed for another ten years. Gifts of more than $10,000,000 in 1925 kept living the dream of its founders.

"FROZEN MUSIC" OF THE NAVE—Singing upward to the vaulted roof, splendid columns lift the eye and inspire it with exquisite Gothic harmonies.

TRIPLE ACTION ends coughs FAST

"His first serious cold— do you wonder we were frightened?"

"Lynn has always been an exceptionally healthy boy—I'll knock on wood for that! So last fall when he came home from a football game with a cold and a bad cough, I was the more anxious. I gave him some Smith Brothers' Cough Syrup—I had confidence in Smith Brothers' because I've used their drops ever since I can remember. The Syrup worked wonderfully. It soothed and relieved him that very afternoon, and in two days Lynn had lost every vestige of his cough."
MRS. L. CLARKE, Scarsdale, N. Y.

Smith Brothers' Cough Syrup works so efficiently because it has TRIPLE ACTION which (1) soothes, (2) is mildly laxative, (3) clears air passages.

THE LAPIER. Genuine water-snake, imported all the way from India, fashions the Lapier. Its flattering delicate beige blends beautifully with almost any color—genuine water-snake is practical as well as exclusive. The well-set centre strap is of beige kidskin—a smartly feminine touch.

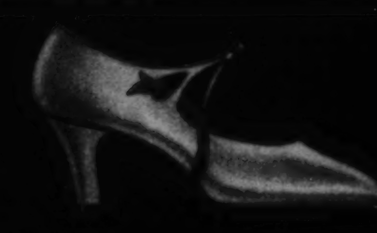
"Your Footprint in Leather"

Genuine water-snake, soft leathers in sun tanned tones, fashionable mat kid—the smartest leathers and styles are waiting for you in Matrix Shoes. And what wonderful comfort! Every soft curve and sensitive arch of your foot cuddles contentedly into the Matrix sole, skilfully moulded to be, actually, "Your Footprint in Leather".

Try on a pair of these famous "footprints" in any of the stores listed below and let us send you our new Fashion Announcement—every active modern woman is eager to see and feel the difference in Matrix Shoes! E. P. Reed & Co., Rochester, N. Y.; New York Style Studio, 47 West 34th Street, New York City.

THE ASHTON. Marron glacé kid trimmings give added color interest to the Ashton in golden brown kid with a side buckle of engraved metal. Much in demand for wear with sports clothes and tailored street costumes. Also in black kid with black lizard calf trim.



THE ELITE. For the soft femininity of a formal afternoon frock we suggest the Elite in beige clair kid trimmed with tropical tan and accented smartly with genuine brown lizard. Note the graceful aristocratic Louis XV heel and the youthful centre buckle. Equally chic in mat kid.

These authorized Matrix merchants will show you what "Your Footprint in Leather" really means—see the store nearest you.

"Tired out, run down persons become completely changed"

.. says physician of Germany's greatest free hospital

DOCTORS throughout the world know Berlin's great "Charité"—the largest free hospital in Europe's most important medical center.

As physician-in-chief of the medical polyclinic at the "Charité" and Professor in the University of Berlin, Dr. Julius Citron holds a key post in European medical circles. He is a specialist in internal medicine. He says:

"Medical experience confirms laboratory results with yeast.

"In cases of constipation and stomach troubles of long duration, I have had excellent results from its use. It purifies the whole intestinal tract. It can overcome skin troubles such as pimples and boils.

"With the creation of the 'sunshine' vitamin D in fresh yeast, our bodies now get from this simple food that power of the sun itself which helps make bones and teeth strong and sound, and muscles firm. Nearly everyone who works indoors is 'sunlight-starved.'

"Yeast contains large quantities of vitamin B, which increases strength. Run down, tired, exhausted people often become changed persons after yeast has been added to their regular nourishment."

Eat 3 cakes of Fleischmann's Yeast every day, according to the directions on the label. Each cake is rich in the two indispensable vitamins—vitamin B and the "sunshine" vitamin D. You can get it at grocers, restaurants, and soda fountains.

Noted physicians cite yeast benefits—

DR. PAUL GERBER, of Vienna, noted internal specialist, says, "In cases of run down condition, yeast renews energy and endurance."

DR. GEORGES ROSENTHAL, Laureate of the Institute and of the Academy of Medicine of Paris, declares: "Yeast is one of the best gastro-intestinal cleansing agents."

DR. BORGE PONTOPPIDAN, physician-in-charge of the Municipal Hospital, Copenhagen, says: "The 'sunshine' vitamin, which fresh yeast now contains, is of vital importance for both adults and children."

".. my own doctor advised yeast, too"

"I had always been very subject to colds and for two or three years my face had broken out," writes Mrs. F. W. Forman, Jr., from Baltimore. "Both these conditions no doubt were caused by sluggish intestinal activity, yet nothing I tried had any effect. I asked our family physician what he would suggest and he told me to try Fleischmann's Yeast three times a day. I did, and my complexion began to clear and I stopped having those annoying colds.

"The sunshine vitamin now in Fleischmann's Yeast appeals to me for its effect on the children,* as they are confined so much indoors in the winter."

*Physicians recommend Fleischmann's Yeast for children over 5 years of age

NEAT

and an indication of CORRECT LIVING

WOMEN who pride themselves on the appearance of a well-kept home, appreciate that the bathroom ranks equally with the other important rooms of the house. They are careful that this important room is above the reproach of guests and friends. That is why one finds Church Toilet Seats in so many thousands of the better homes, throughout the nation.

Church Sani-White Toilet Seats, or Church Colored Toilet Seats with Bathroom Chairs and Stools to match, make it possible to transform your old bathroom into one of modern color and attractiveness in less than fifteen minutes. If you choose one of the many different pastel shades or sea-pearl tints in which Church Colored Seats can be had, you will be able to create beautiful color effects and combinations you have never dreamed would be possible. They can be bought at any plumbing store. Installation is so easy that any one can do it. All you need are ordinary household tools. Remove the old seat and fasten the new, immaculate Church Seat—to any make of bowl.

Church Seats and Bathroom Chairs are guaranteed not to break, chip, crack or lose their original, beautiful finish. You will find them a permanent improvement in any bathroom. Write for our illustrated folio which describes Church Toilet Seats and is full of many helpful suggestions on modernizing bathrooms easily and inexpensively. C. F. WILL CLAIM · YOUR ENTHUSIASM AT ONCE

THE DIETRICH CONVERTIBLE SEDAN

... as a closed car, or as an open car, this luxurious vehicle's every detail of appointment is equally appropriate . . . the shatter-proof windshield, slanting smartly, reduces traffic glare. The unlined top folds back flatly . . . price, $6600 at Detroit.

THERE is no suggestion of beginning or end in the faultless performance of the Lincoln. From your first day at the wheel, your Lincoln is a car of proved excellence that requires no "breaking in." A year, two, three, four years later—you drive it with the same assurance of its consistent power and smoothness. ◆ Its motor, chassis and body are as nearly perfect as any that have ever gone into an automobile. The quality of the engineering skill and the materials used, the unhurried precision of its making, account for its enduring stamina and beauty. ◆ It is a simple statement of fact to say that there are 100,000 miles or more of good service in the Lincoln. It is a car that you can use constantly and without worry, through many years, for every motoring purpose—a car that will claim your enthusiasm at once—and hold your loyalty through the last mile that you drive it.

The finest dinners of the OLD SOUTH reached a fragrant climax in this COFFEE

Don't miss the Maxwell House radio program every Thursday evening, at 9:30, Eastern Standard Time. Broadcast from WJZ in N. Y. C. over the National Broadcasting coast-to-coast hook-up.

IF YOU had been living in Nashville almost half a century ago, you could hardly have failed to notice that the ladies had a new topic of conversation—namely a certain special coffee which was being served for the first time at the Maxwell House, the finest hotel of the Old South.

Perhaps you might have questioned such enthusiasm. You might have felt that no coffee could be so rare and mellow as this was reputed to be. But one meal at the old Maxwell House would have roused your enthusiasm too, for you would have been greeted by the fragrance of a wonderfully rich coffee—a coffee remarkably smooth-bodied, delightful in flavor, extraordinarily rare and mellow.

This same blended coffee, formerly available only to the distinguished patrons of the old Maxwell House, now stands in a friendly blue tin upon your grocer's shelf. Try it for breakfast tomorrow.

Your family and your friends are likely to enjoy this fragrant blend more than any other coffee you might serve.

No other coffee in the world has the same wonderfully rich flavor as Maxwell House. No other coffee has achieved such well deserved and wide-spread fame.

We are sure Maxwell House Coffee will delight you—and your grocer will cheerfully return your money if you are not fully satisfied.

You will be delighted, also, with Maxwell House Tea

SO- YOUNG MAN - YOU'VE BEEN DISOBEYING AGAIN - AND YOU GOT INTO THOSE DOUGHNUTS THAT YOUR MOTHER TRIED TO HIDE FROM YOU - AND WHO'S BEEN AT THE FROSTING ON THAT CAKE THAT SHE HAD PUT AWAY ?
AND YOU WENT SKATING ON THAT POND WHEN I TOLD YOU NOT TO - AND FELL THROUGH THE THIN ICE - SUPPOSE YOU'D BEEN DROWNED - WELL - WE'LL SEE TO THAT - WHERE'S THAT HAIR BRUSH?
COME BACK HERE
I'M CALLING TO YOU - COME BACK HERE - IT WILL GO HARDER WITH YOU IF YOU DON'T -
WHERE DID HE GO ? OH - SO THERE YOU ARE - I SEE YOU - COME OUT OF THAT BOX!
NOW - WHAT HAVE YOU TO SAY FOR YOURSELF ? DISOBEYED ME AGAIN - RAN AWAY FROM ME WHEN I CALLED YOU - I COULD SPANK YOU TILL I WORE THIS BRUSH OUT FOR THAT - YES - A GOOD SOUND THRASHING IS WHAT YOU SHOULD GET - YEOW!
BUT I'M GOING TO GIVE YOU JUST ONE MORE CHANCE - AND IF I EVER HEAR OF ONE MORE COMPLAINT ABOUT YOU - JUST ONE MORE THING THAT YOU'VE DONE - IT'S GOING TO GO MIGHTY HARD WITH YOU - DO YOU HEAR ?
NOW RUN AND PLAY - AND DON'T GO NEAR ANY MORE PONDS AND KEEP AWAY FROM THAT PANTRY - REMEMBER NOW - AND WHEN I CALL YOU - YOU COME -
YES SIR
WHAT OUR NEIGHBORS SENT OVER JUST NOW - LOOK! A BILL FOR $9.80 FOR WINDOWS CHESTER BROKE WITH THE AIR GUN THAT YOU INSISTED ON TEACHING HIM TO USE - THAT'S THE WAY YOU BRING YOUR BOY UP - YOU'LL HAVE TO TEND TO HIM YOURSELF -
?
HEY - CHESTER!

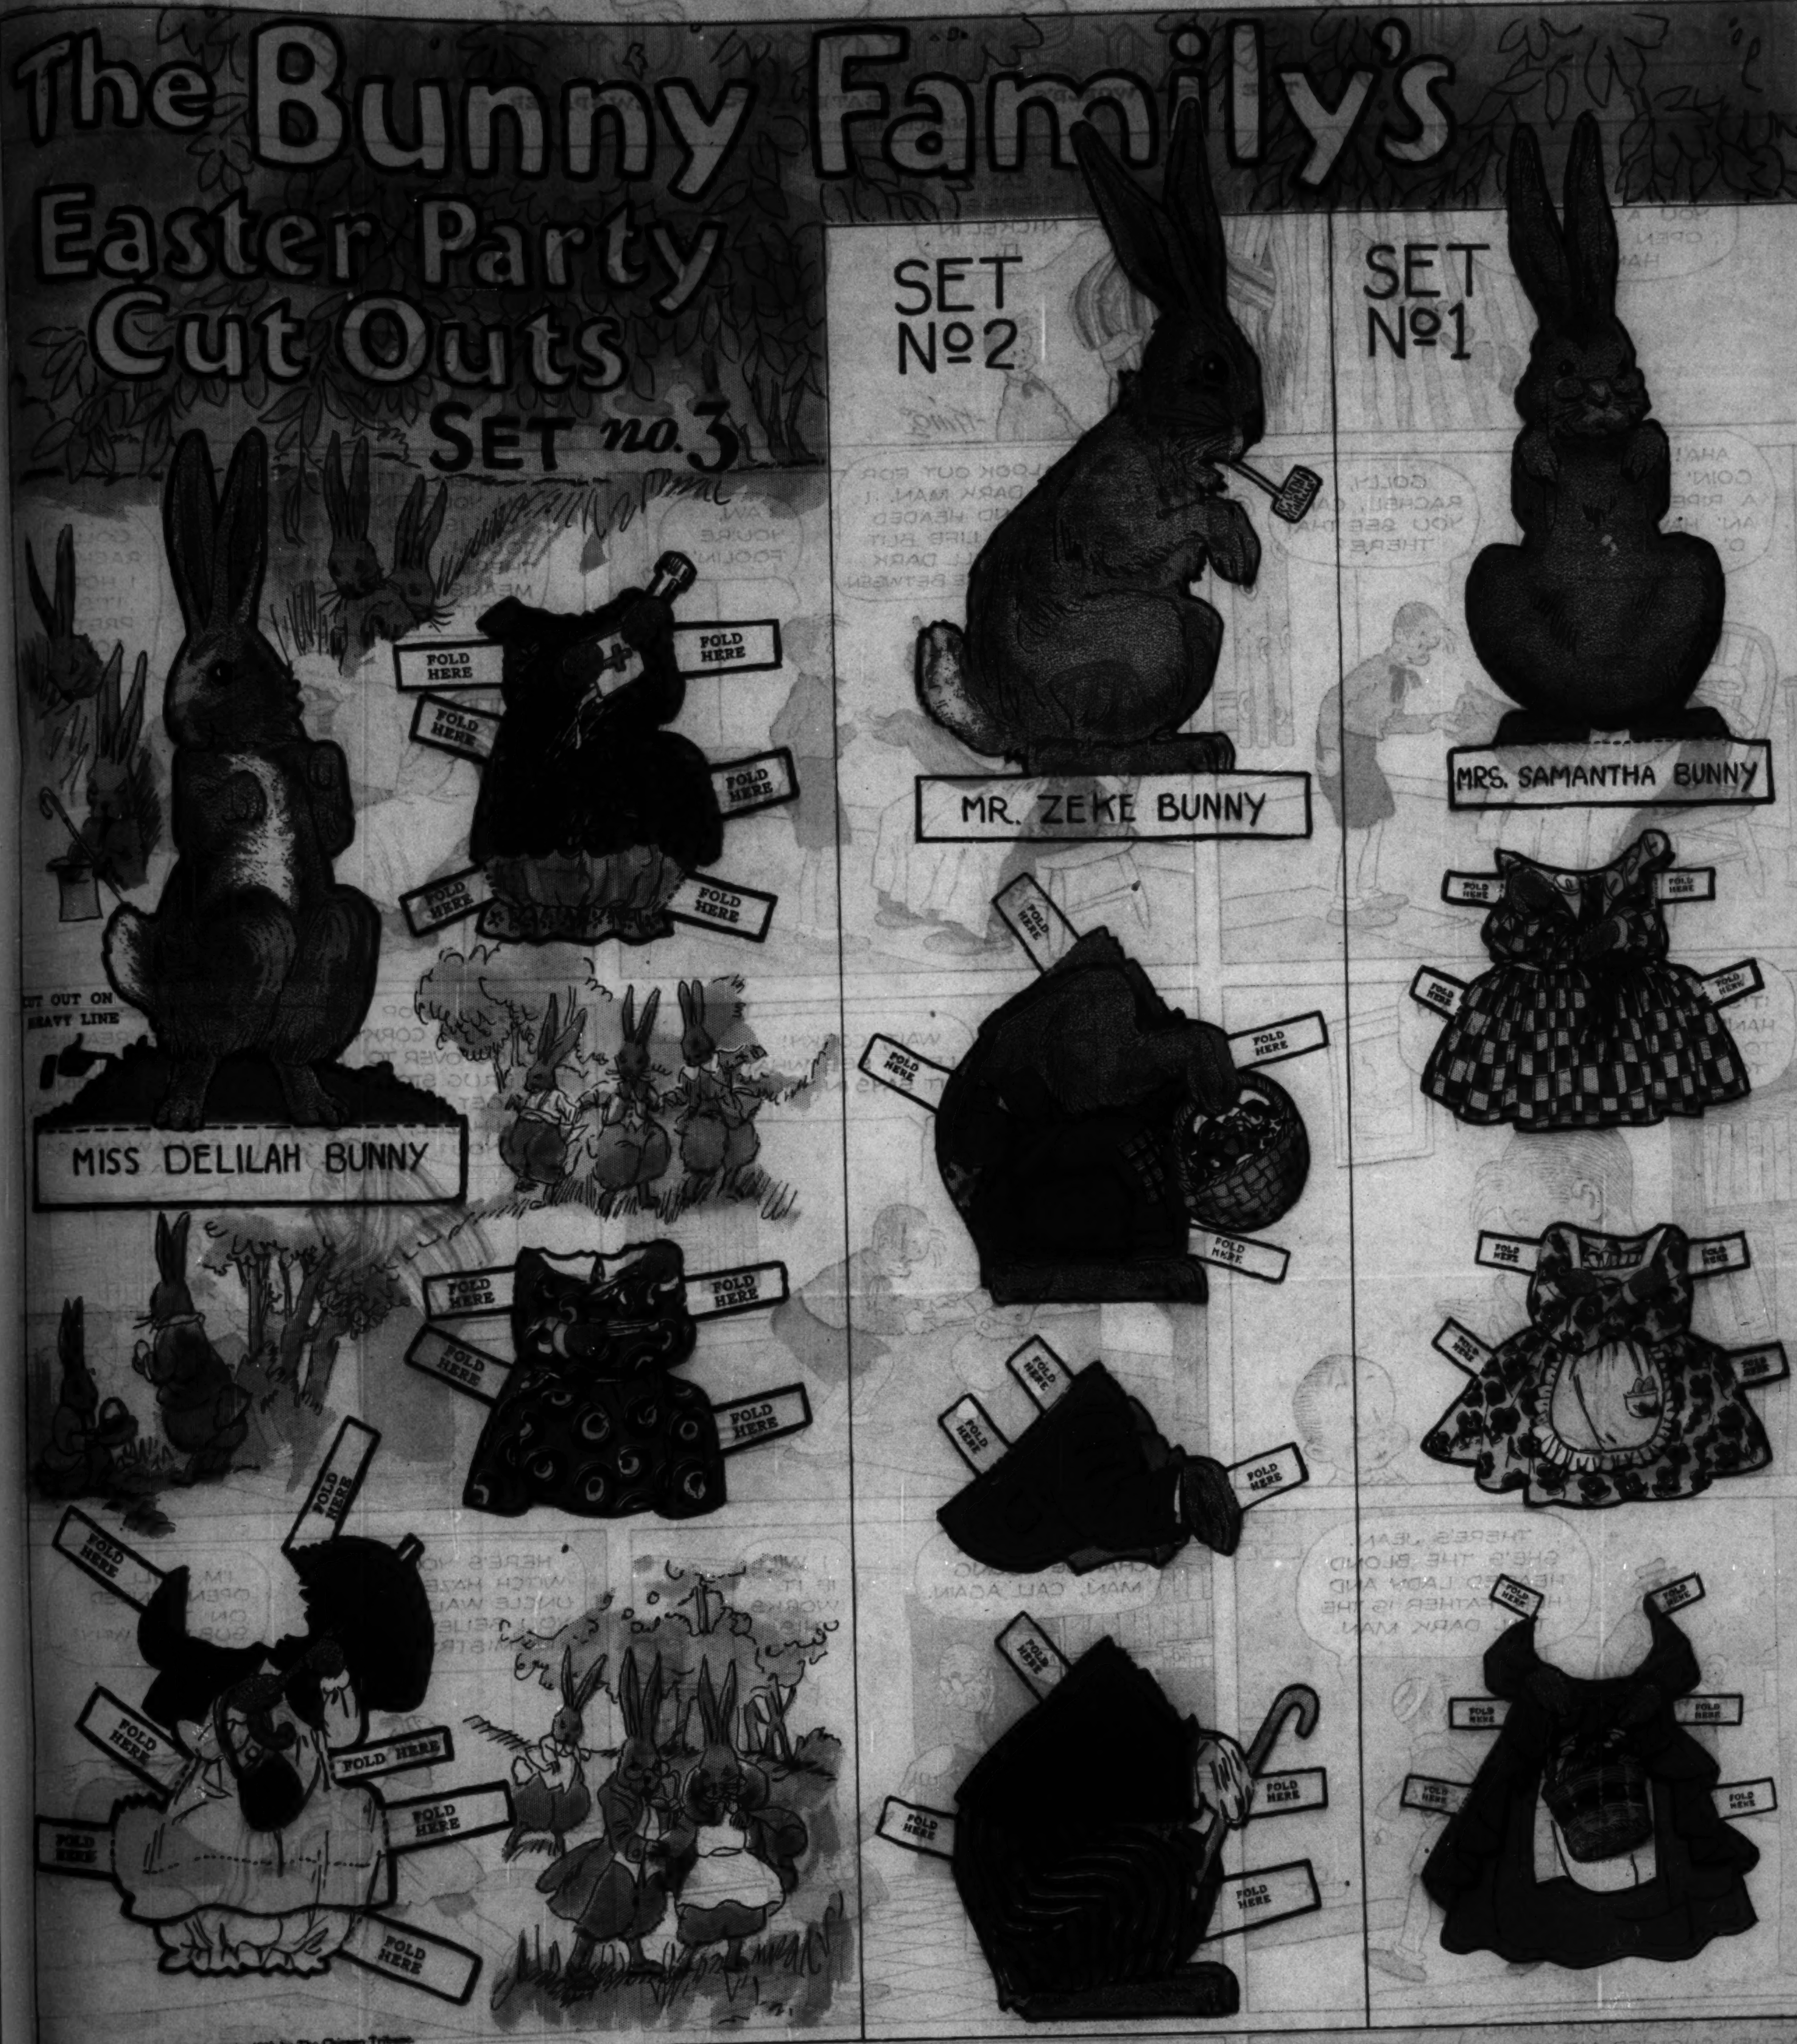
TEDDY JACK AND MARY
BY TOM McNAMARA
Answer to last week's
WHAT KIND OF A DRIVER NEVER GETS ARREZTED FOR ZPEEDING? — A ZCREW DRIVER
DID YA GET IT?
DID YOU EVER HEAR THIS ONE?
WHEN IS A DOG NOT A DOG?
ANSWER NEXT WEEK
yours truly Teddy Evelyn
STANDING ON HIS HEAD
KIN YOU DO THIS?
TEDDY CAN GO AHEAD AND WORRY ABOUT MARY BEIN' MAD ON HIM. I'M GONNA SPEND A NICE QUIET DAY AS FAR AWAY FROM TROUBLE AS I CAN FIND.
HEY JACK! WHERE YA GOIN' AT?
DOWN TO THE LAKE TO DISCOVER FROGS.— I SUPPOSE YOU'RE GONNA SPEND THE DAY TRYIN' TA MAKE MARY UN-MAD AT YA NO DOUBT!
AW I'M OFF HER. IF SHE WON'T TALK TO ME THEN I WON'T TALK TO HER!
SHAKE HANDS OLE TOP. THAT'S THE WAY TO TALK. COME ON WITH ME AND I'LL GIVE YOU HALF INTEREST IN MY FROGS!
WHAT CHA THINK OF MY GARANTEED PATENT OFFICIAL FROG CATCHER HUH?
IF MARY WON'T TALK TO ME THEN I WON'T TALK TO HER THAT'S FAIR ENOUGH!
YOU AND ME WILL START A ZOO. WE'LL GET SOME FROGS AND A COUPLE OF SNAKES, AND—
THE FIRST FROG I CATCH WE'LL CALL BOBBY THEN WE CAN'T GO WRONG CAUSE BOBBY IS A GIRL'S NAME AND ALSO A BOYS NAME.
HEY! – WHERE YA GOIN'?
I'LL BE BACK
GEE WHIZZ, DON'T GET DISCOURAGED YA CAN'T CATCH WILD FROGS IN A SECOND OR TWO:
I'M GOIN' DOWN AND FIND MARY!
THERE YA GO AGAIN! — YA CAN'T FORGET THAT DAME FOR A MINUTE!
— BUT, HOW IS SHE GONNA KNOW I'M NOT GONNA TALK TO HER UNLESS I TELL HER?
YA MEAN TA TELL ME THAT MARY'S AS IMPORTANT AS A HALF INTEREST IN MAYBE, SEVEN-FROGS?
HUH?
YOU TAKE THAT BACK ABOUT MARY NOT BEIN' AS IMPORTANT AS FROGS, G'WAN!
DARN THAT DAME! — I STILL THINK SHE AIN'T AS IMPORTANT AS ONE FROG OR EVEN A POLLYWOG!

The Bunny Family's Easter Party Cut Outs



Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.: Copyright, 1930, by The Chicago Tribune.

Girls! Boys! Cut Out and Dress the Bunny Family!

$2,500⁰⁰ IN CASH PRIZES!

Children! Here's great fun! And a chance to win a big Cash Prize!

Easter is coming! And so we have the Bunny Family Easter Party Cut-Outs. Can you cut out and dress the Bunny Family?

You can start today, with an even chance to win a prize, by cutting out and dressing all three of the Bunnies on this page. After this Sunday there will be only one Bunny (with a selection of dresses) each week. So, if you are to join in this interesting game you must start today. There will be five more Bunny pages, the last one to be printed on Easter.

Just follow these simple instructions: Every Sunday for eight Sundays the Chicago Tribune prints a colored Cut-Out of a member of the Bunny Family. Each Cut-Out will contain several dresses or costumes. Take scissors, cut out the Bunny and the costumes. Then dress the Bunny in the costume which you believe looks best. The small extensions marked "FOLD BACK" are to fasten the dress to the Bunny and should not be visible in front when the figure is complete.

Mothers and fathers may help their children win a prize in this competition by helping and guiding the youngsters prepare their Bunny Family.

CAUTION: Do not send Bunnies one at a time. Wait until all 8 have been printed and you have dressed them and then send the entire set of 8 to "Bunnies," the Chicago Tribune, P. O. Box 1729, Chicago, Ill.

You may paste or pin the costume on the Bunnies. You may paste them on paper, on cardboard, in scrap books, or any other form to send them in.

The Chicago Tribune will pay $2,500 in Cash Prizes to the children who send in the neatest and best entries. See the prize list opposite.

You can use the prize money to buy anything you want. Or you can start or add to a Savings Account at the Bank. This offer is open to every girl and boy except children of Tribune employes. You pay nothing. All entries must be in within 15 days after Cut-Out No. 8 is published.

You do not have to buy The Tribune to compete. You may copy or trace the Cut-Outs and send in your copies. The Tribune may be examined at our Offices or Public Libraries free of charge. In case of ties duplicate prizes will be paid.

[Press Newspaper Service Photo.]

HERE, there, and yon, Chicago's fashionable young women are being gay and active. Miss Jean Stevens, daughter of Mrs. Clyde Stevens, devised and wore an ingenious costume at one of the big collegiate affairs in the east recently. Miss Phoebe Logan, one of the season's debutantes, has been sojourning in Palm Beach lately.

Mrs. Louis C. Sudler, Mrs. John D. C. Towne Jr., and Miss Janet Kirk have been doing their bit in various Junior league activities. Mrs. Sudler has been active in behalf of the series of lectures being sponsired by the arts and interests committee of the league. The third of the programs, a costume recital by Ellenor Cook, is to be given tomorrow afternoon at the Drake hotel.

Famous Names of Old Gotham Lose Prestige

Last of Goulds Seeks Domesticity.

By Nancy Randolph.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

NEW YORK, March 15.—[Special.]—I truly think that clans have their day just as the adage insists that all bow-wows have theirs. And, of course, once that day is done, one hears little of them.

The Vanderbilts are a pretty passé lot, so far as activity is concerned, and the Astors, headed by Vincent, are decidedly quiet. And, as for the Goulds——!

Once upon a time people spoke of the Gould clan as they spoke of Delmonico's. Now the Goulds have faded into the background just as Del's, despite the new hotel of the name, has vanished as a synonym for the uttermost swagger. And let it be added that the word which took its place, "ritz," is being abandoned. The Ritz, I must confess, is socially losing caste. The life of hotels in New York is decidedly brief, and their social life—save in rare cases—much briefer.

Meteoric Career of Goulds.

However, what I started out to say was that the Gould clan is now much different than in the days that followed the meteoric career of Jay Gould. There was a time when all the Gould children and their families were much in the social eye. George Gould, Helen Gould, now Mrs. Shepard, and the various sons, daughters, grandsons, and granddaughters.

When a Gould daughter, at 18, became Lady Decies, it was a cause célèbre that occasioned quite as much interest as the marriage of Consuelo Vanderbilt to the duke of Marlborough many years ago. Then, too, there was Jay Gould, world's champion at the ancient game of court tennis, and the other children of the late George Gould to keep the family in the social eye.

Much water has flowed under the bridge of time since then, however, and some few years ago there was none left of the George Gould family but Gloria, youngest of the children.

When Gloria made her debut a bit of the glamour of the Goulds was brought back. She was dark, as all the Goulds are, vivacious, and, it seemed, destined to keep the public eye upon her. I met her wherever I happened to be about town. She was most indefatigable, never willing to go to bed.

Gloria's Public Career.

Her marriage to young Henry A. Bishop Jr. was more of an elopement than a staid wedding. It was the fashion in those days, a few years back, for young people to marry even more casually than they do today. No one thought the marriage would last a year, and, indeed, Hank and Gloria set out on a career of touching the high spots only.

Gloria didn't want domesticity. She took up esthetic dancing and

Final Parties at Palm Beach Among Gayest

PALM BEACH, Fla., March 15.—[Special.]—Although there is an echo of departing footsteps throughout the colony, their reverberation is almost drowned in plans for late season festivities. All but one of the major hotels will be closed before the end of March, but the cottage colony, those who own or lease winter homes here, are lingering until Easter and, in some instances, until the first fortnight in May.

The Ambassador hotel closed on Wednesday of this last week; the Poinciana is closing on March 22; Whitehall closes two days later, March 24, leaving only the Breakers in operation. This latter hostelry, as usual, will bid its last guests adieu on April 10.

Among the "bitter enders" who always remain in Palm Beach until May peers out of the calender are Mr. and Mrs. George Alexander McKinlock at their ocean front villa, Cassa Alejandro, and Mr. and Mrs. Franklin P. Smith at their home, Il Sogno, on South Ocean boulevard.

Off to New York by Motor.

Mrs. Joseph Cudahy is remaining until the end of the month, when she will return to Chicago by motor, driving first to New York. Mr. and Mrs. Walcott Blair who have been at Whitehall for several weeks, left today for Aiken, S. C.

Mr. and Mrs. Blair returned yesterday from a fishing cruise among the Keys, having made the trip on a houseboat chartered here last week. Mr. and Mrs. Philip D. Armour and their son, David, left for Chicago during the first half of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. George Rasmussen are closing their home on South Ocean boulevard and leaving for Chicago tonight. Mrs. Frederic McLaughlin, who has been a house guest of Charles A. Munn and his daughter, Miss Pauline Munn, is also leaving for the north tonight.

In farewell to her friends in Palm Beach, Mrs. Rasmussen entertained at a large tea at her home, Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. William Waller Jr. and her sister, Mrs. Robert C. Wheeler, have gone to Hot Springs, Va., for a fortnight. Miss Virginia Waller, who is a student at the Sarah Lawrence college in Bronxville, N. Y., and William Waller III., who is a student at the Choate school, will spend their spring vacations in Hot Springs, with Mrs. Waller.

Miss Winifred Wheeler, who is a student at Smith college, will meet Mrs. Wheeler in Hot Springs. Mrs. Waller is returning to Palm Beach, accompanied by her son, Thatcher, on April 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Peter Berkey, who are at Whitehall, will remain in Palm Beach until the end of the month. Dr. and Mrs. Malcolm L. Harris and Mr. and Mrs. Orville W. Thompson were among the Chicago colonists who returned home this last week.

St. Patrick's Day Party.

The annual St. Patrick's day party given by Col. and Mrs. Thomas Edward Murphy at the Hobe Sound Yacht club, of which Mr. Murphy is commodore, will be held at the clubhouse on Monday. This is a party to which the colony looks forward each year as one of the biggest and best of the season.

As in the past, the guests will meet at noon, at Isle Ridge, the Murphy estate at Olympia Beach, and go to the Hobe Sound Yacht club aboard the Murphy yacht. Col. and Mrs. Murphy were hosts at one of the winter's largest parties earlier in the season, when they gave a luncheon at the Florida Embassy club in honor of former Gov. John K. Tener and Mrs. Tener of Pennsylvania.

John North Willys, recently appointed United States ambassador to Poland, and Mrs. Willys, will be the guests of honor at a large, formal dinner party

Sacha Guitry Portrays Role of Washington for Paris Society

By May Birkhead.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS.—[Special.]—Sacha Guitry, the illustrious French actor and dramatist, appeared recently at the Theatre des Champs Elysees in the rôle of George Washington. The occasion was a benefit performance for the well known charity, "Accueil Social Franco-American," which does much appreciated work for the children in the poorer quarters of Paris.

The appearance of M. Guitry, who several times visited the principal cities of the United States with his wife, the brilliant actress and singer, Yvonne Printemps, evoked great enthusiasm. He wrote for this occasion the sketch which reconstituted the reception given at Mount Vernon in the year 1782 to the French general, De Lafayette, and included a depiction of the Franco-American victory at Yorktown.

It was one of the most brilliant audiences ever assembled in Paris. Many French notables were there, including President Gaston Doumergue, Marshal Joffre, Gen. Henri Gourand, and Ambassador Walter F. Edge. Chicagoans in the audience were Mr. and Mrs. Livingston Fairbank, Mme. Ganna Walska, Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Holdredge, and Herman Gade, who has just returned from America.

* *

Summer Travel Is On.

The tourist season, now opening, is bringing Chicagoans for the early spring. Among them is Shirley Greenlaw, a daughter of the Lowell M. Greenlaws, who has just arrived to spend several months taking courses at the Sorbonne.

A party composed of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur C. Harrison, Mr. and Mrs. William Roeder, and J. B. Kling are here for a few days en route to Switzerland. They will go to Germany and Belgium before returning to Paris in May. Another traveler, Lyndon F. Wilson, has been taking in Barcelona, as also did C. E. Good, after first visiting London.

Fly From Rome to Palermo.

The Misses June Freeman and Catherine Quigley of Lake Forest have been motoring in Italy. Within a short time they will leave Rome by airplane for Palermo, where they will spend a few weeks before coming on later to Paris.

Mrs. Paul Peterson has just arrived, and is now making the Danish embassy here her Paris headquarters. She is going to the Riviera shortly. James Waller Marshall has just come to join his wife here. They are making a short visit before sailing for home. Mrs. Samuel Nast, who made a long visit here with her son, Frank Mandel, is now on the Riviera.

La Jolla, Far from Noise, Clamor, Answers Searcher for Quietude

By Mme. X.

LA JOLLA, Cal.—[Special.]—If a mortal seek that delicious surcease from the reverberating clamor of modern life and all that it means; to be far from the tooting trains, clamorous trolleys, whistling steamers and the steam whistles of industry, let him or her come out to where Mount Solidad lifts his rocky head from the surrounding landscape and sticks his horny toe into the Pacific ocean. It's a community of four thousand souls. It is called La Jolla, "the gem," to translate from the Spanish. The nearest railway passes two miles from the town behind the mountain, and I never heard of any train stopping nearer than Del Mar, a tiny settlement six miles north.

By the way, our former citizen, Dr. Norval Pierce, has built himself a Spanish looking house there and lives a life that seems to be as far as possible separated from his old Chicago friends. At least they've little luck in finding him.

But there are many here living just such delightfully quiet and remote lives who once were in the maelstrom of eastern existence.

Perfect Seclusion.

I know no other place in all these vast acres that compose the U. S. of America where one can spend his or her days in such perfect seclusion and ideal freedom as out on this southwesternmost strip of the great country once founded by the Puritan fathers. No one inquires into what is not his business; no one interferes with his neighbor; no one asks you whence you came, nor why, nor what your occupation may be. There is a live and let live atmosphere out here that proclaims the fact that Mrs. Grundy has never yet settled here. I suppose that is one reason why everyone is so particularly decent and God-fearing. There is a gay friendliness, a cheerful belief in the rightness of everything that is pleasant to the spirit.

And the beauty of the landscape helps create this spirit of contentment. On one hand, if you take a motor ride along the upland that lies between the sea and the distant mountains, there is a wide panorama of purple and snow covered peaks such as middle Italy can't outdo; while on the other lies stretching to the far distant horizon the most stately and entirely beautiful ocean that any planet ever supported. There is a slow majesty about the Pacific, a definitely awe inspiring suggestion of power that makes the Atlantic seem almost nervous and fretful. Those great, mile long billows roll in so deliberately and curve over their gleaming crests so haughtily that people sit hours at a time and watch the sea from their motor cars, or from the seats placed near the brink, or stand spellbound, just looking and probably thinking thoughts that they themselves could not put into words.

A Cottage Near the Ocean.

The X. family is parked in a gay little cottage almost on the brink of the ocean and within easy distance of two herds of sea lions whose chorus is the wettest sound in nature. It suggests sea caverns, dank and deep. Early in the morning and at sunset the young of these strange sea monsters, left over from an earlier epoch in nature, leap up from the waves and, silhouetted against the dark water, suggest a gayety that outdoes that of even the brightest song bird. Flocks of pelicans, solemn as Methodists, skim over the waters in military formation, their wing tips just touching the surface of the sea.

Pelicans are quite devoid of humor and couldn't see even Will Rogers' best jest. The gulls out here are probably the greediest of all created creatures, but that is because every one loves to feed them. I know I have a private flock of them so trained that they can catch in their wide beaks every crumb I toss upward, as they hover over my head.

But this lovely district isn't all just nature and its best foot foremost. At San Diego, fourteen miles south of La Jolla, there is excellent music and a fine arts gallery. There is a daily open air organ concert given free in the charming park that is a delightful feature of the place, and that draws to it a goodly number of listeners at each performance. Lately there was a symphony concert presented under the auspices of the San Diego Philharmonic Orchestral society by the Los Angeles Philharmonic orchestra.

The leader was a young Russian, Dr. Arthur Rodzinski, of whom the musical world is going to hear much if he continues to make his present record. Stokowski of the Philadelphia Symphony orchestra discovered him and brought him to this country a year ago. Mrs. Clyde M. Carr, one of Chicago's genuinely musical citizens and an active patron of our symphony orchestra, is my authority for this statement as to Dr. Rodzinski. Rumor says that he is a relative of his discoverer, the famous Dr. Stokowski.

NEWS OF CHICAGO SOCIETY

but then rumor also says that the latter is really an American, who cleverly changed his name from Stokes to Stokowski.

If he did so it was a good piece of work, as he is a truly great musician, but we Americans are still so young at the music game that we don't think we have among us fellow citizens who can produce great music. Perhaps this is true now, but we are trying hard to acquire real kinship with it. If it isn't our language yet, just wait a while; it will be some day, though perhaps not with that profound and genuine understanding of it, that exquisite joy in it that is native to Russians, Slavs, Germans and Latins.

What would I give to have it speak to me as it does to some of these people? Perhaps the coming generations that grow up in this heavenly place on our western coast, far from ice and snow, from the necessity of toil, from the many things that cumber life in the harsher climates of more northerly places, perhaps, I say, these who follow us may develop a real sense of art in all its manifestations which is denied many of us immediate descendants of the great conquerors of the wilderness that lay less than a hundred years ago between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans. You cannot, in a short century, build a new and finer civilization than any yet known, even though we do work more quickly than those who preceded us since our first ancestors came from the primeval ooze.

Ex-Chicagoans at La Jolla.

There are several families prominent here who formerly lived in or near Chicago. Among them is Mrs. E. H. Lord, who once was an Evanstonian. Also there are Mr. and Mrs. William Blanchard, who have a charming house set high above the sea on the steep slope of Mount Solidad. They also once lived in Chicago. Mrs. Blanchard is a sister of Mrs. Clyde Carr, Mrs. Alexander Smith, and the late Mrs. A. S. Peabody, all three well known in Chicago society. Mr. Blanchard's health took him and his wife from our city and transplanted them to this delectable region.

Mrs. Frank W. Russell, also once of Evanston, her mother, Mrs. Stockton, and her brother, E. G. Stockton, are all now devoted La Jollaites. Mrs. Dorothy Gates, Mrs. Alice Gunsaulus and Mrs. J. P. Balmer are likewise ex-Chicagoites, an interesting trio, who add much to the gayety of life here. Miss Lily Towner and her brother, De Koven Towner, born and reared in Chicago, now live in La Jolla.

Stopping at the delightful inn on the tip of Solidad's big toe, where the X. family is at present hanging out, are Mrs. Cyrus H. McCormick's two sisters, the Mesdames H. W. Richards and B. W. Ford, both from Chicago. Mr. and Mrs. George M. Reynolds motored down here a few days ago with a party of friends for a week-end outing, coming from the Chicago colony in Pasadena. Mr. and Mrs. Josiah McRoberts of Chicago and Geneva, Ill., spent a month or so in La Jolla and are now making the acquaintance of Arizona and its vast and sunny countryside, where they are visiting on a ranch.

The choice for those who seek distraction in this land of splendid views and good roads is whether you prefer the sea, and lots of it, or the mountains, and lots of them. The Chicago outfit at Pasadena is attracted there by the fact that many of their fellow citizens are hibernating there, which makes for tea parties and contract bridge. Those others who are sunning themselves farther down the state on Solidad's toetip mayhap are enjoying the fact that there they find a greater leisure, a surcease from tea parties, and a gentler form of contract bridge. Each to his taste.

Colony at San Diego.

At San Diego, a short motor ride to the south of La Jolla, are to be found several members of the Sturges family, formerly of Chicago. Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Dauchy, who are well known in Chicago, have here a charming house for spring use. It overhangs the deep valley that borders San Diego on the north. Mrs. Dauchy was Miss Marion Sturges, daughter of the late George Sturges. Her sister, formerly Miss Rosalie Sturges, now Mrs. Hubbard Carpenter, is with her husband in another pretty cottage in San Diego, not far from the Dauchys.

Mrs. Carpenter's daughter, Mrs. M. D. Boyden, lives there, too, as do four of Mrs. Frank Dummer's children with their thirteen offspring. George Sturges, also a son of the late George Sturges, likewise has a home in this southwesternmost city of this country. Mrs. Dummer is visiting her family there now. San Diego has so many of her family that it is a strong magnet for her, though she has always been a loyal Chicagoan, occupying the top three stories of her father's house on the corner of North Michigan avenue and Huron street, opposite the Allerton club.

The land on which this was built belonged to the grandparents of this family. Mrs. Carpenter told me of an interesting incident that occurred some years ago while excavations were going on for this big structure. She herself was sitting in the family abode on the opposite side of the way and noticed quite an agitation in the crowd of workmen digging the foundations. She went across the street to inquire into it, and found that three old stoneware jugs had been dug up. One contained some fine old whiskey that must have lain under the earth since the great fire in 1871.

The other two, probably of the same date, were empty. The superintendent called the police, who took charge of the full jug, although I believe Mrs. Carpenter protested somewhat at the confiscation. She telephoned to her husband, who came home quite fast. He hied himself swiftly over to the police station to inquire about that ancient and fragrant evidence of a cheerful past, but found there absolutely no record of the event. From that time the existence of that little brown jug was shrouded in mystery. Alcohol, even then, was an agile and transitory product, evaporating easily and completely.

A Striking Personage.

To return from Chicago's picturesque past to the present in La Jolla: the most striking and important personage in this part of the country is undoubtedly Miss Ellen B. Scripps, of the well known family of that name who have been connected with almost every kind of worthwhile enterprise in southern California. Miss Scripps, who has passed her ninetieth milestone by several years, is the most vivid and notable figure, even today. She helped found the Bishop School for Girls; she founded the Scripps Institution of Oceanography, one of the best known scientific institutions of its kind in the country; she founded the Scripps Memorial hospital; she made possible the Scripps Metabolic clinic; she helped create the fine physio-therapy department and the nurses' home in connection with the clinic and the hospital, and in a stately, though simple mansion overlooking the sea and close to those big therapeutic institutions she is spending the sunset of her valuable existence in fullest view of a superb sunset not a whit more glorious than her own, for that of the Pacific ocean, as I have observed above, is one of those constantly repeating splendors of which the most blasé mortal can never weary.

Admired, loved, respected by every one in her community, her comings and goings are as much noticed as were those of that historic old lady, the late Queen Victoria, who may be said to have made old age fashionable.

An Interesting Legend.

There are many legends growing up around here. One that was told me was concerning that lovely headland, Point Loma, on whose crest the fine buildings are situated that house the International Theosophical headquarters. It is reported that the late Mme. Katherine Tingley claimed it was revealed to her that this was the first piece of land to emerge from the floods that made up the historic deluge in the time of Noah and his famous boatload. I did not hear whether the ark landed there, but it does not seem likely in view of the much wider spaces that then separated the human family.

Had there been motor cars, airplanes, Zeppelins, and railways there would have been no forty years in the wilderness for the tribes of Israel, no great European invasion by Huns, no Assyrian coming down like a wolf on the fold. Today this globe seems much reduced in size from what it was even three or four decades ago. Just look at that once remote south pole! It's right at our doorstep now and coming nearer every day. And it's a Byrd that's bringing it so near, just like that dove in the Old Testament that went out and found a landing place for the ark, though not, I fancy, on Point Loma.

But every one should come out to see this part of the world, no matter whether it is really related to the Old Testament or not. And let no one come who is not ready to watch that royal sun drop down to the distant rim of the Pacific ocean, filling the world with increasing splendor as it sinks below our horizon, leaving behind God's youngest nation to rise on His oldest civilization on the other side of the sea. Is it God or Time that has wrought such a change in such a space?

Drama League to Hold Supper at the Casino

Second Cenacle Lecture Given This Week.

By Mildred Jaklon.

THIS week's calendar of events of social significance includes a quota of Lenten lectures, and also a variety of other happenings. The Chicago Drama league, which has gained prestige during the last year under the régime of Mrs. Marvin Miner Jr., its president, leads off the list of gatherings with a supper this evening at the Casino.

Dr. Horace Bridges is to speak on "The Passing Show," after which there is to be an open discussion of current theatrical offerings. The league's activities during the last year have included its divorcement from the national organization and an unusually full program of luncheons, lectures, and meetings.

Chapel Guild's Lecture.

Tomorrow afternoon the second of the series of lectures sponsored on behalf of the Chapel Guild of the Cenacle is to be given at the residence of Mrs. Frank M. Gordon of 1430 Lake Shore drive. Dr. L. H. Wetmore is to speak on "The Catholic Renaissance in Europe Since the War."

In Winnetka there is to be a large fashion show, staged for the benefit of the Northwestern University settlement, at the Winnetka Woman's club. North shore girls are to serve as mannequins, with Mrs. Warner Washburne as chairman. Also tomorrow afternoon the third of the series of programs arranged by the arts and interests committee of the Junior league will be given at the Drake hotel. Ellenor Cook, who appeared a year or so ago at one of the Woman's Athletic club morning programs, is to give a "Costume Recital of Folk Songs."

Tea for President of Goucher.

Miss Dorothy Stimson, president of Goucher college, is to visit in Chicago this week, and the Goucher College club will give a tea for her at the Ambassador East on Saturday afternoon and a dinner at the College club in the evening. She is to be the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Robert S. De Golyer of Hubbard Woods, who are living at the Ambassador this winter. Dr. Stimson is a distinguished member of an interesting and distinguished family.

Her maternal grandfather was Dr. Samuel Colcord Bartlett, a professor at the Chicago Theological seminary before he went east to become president of Dartmouth college. Her sister, Maj. Julia C. Stimson of the United States army, is the only woman to hold such rank, and was chief of the army nurse corps in France during the war. She is also the cousin of Henry L. Stimson, secretary of state.

Smart Costumes Parade at Races at Miami Club

MIAMI, Fla., March 15. — [Special.]—Derby day at the Miami Jockey club, recently, not only assembled the most brilliant crowd of the season, but afforded the most colorful display of styles worn by the feminine contingent. Ultra femininity reigned in modes chosen by the smart coterie. Soft blue and pink frocks were extremely popular. Quite a different picture from the first racing day, when the most somber attire appeared, in keeping with the none too glad weather.

Noted on the clubhouse roof were Mr. and Mrs. Mathew J. Carney of New Rochelle, N. Y., who entertained at a smartly appointed luncheon. Their guests included Gov. Louis L. Emmerson of Illinois, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Wright, Mr. and Mrs. Charles McCullough, Mrs. Helen Gaw, Mr. and Mrs. John LaGorce, Mr. and Mrs. Frank J. Bruen, Mr. and Mrs. Knute Rockne, Mrs. William Carey, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Fisher, Lawrence Fisher, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Johnson, Mr. and Mrs. William McMurray, Mrs. Bernard Gimbel, Mrs. William Latta, Miss Dolly Roche, Mrs. Patricia Latta, and Kummler Latta.

Mr. and Mrs. John D. Hertz had Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Moore of New York, Albert D. Lasker, Albert Erskine, Herbert Bayard Swope, and Leonard Florsheim as their guests.

Chic Costumes at Golf Matches.

Gray, in all its demure loveliness, was observed to be one of the leading colors worn by feminine golf enthusiasts at the international four ball tournament which started a week ago at the Miami Country club course. The largest group of spectators was present in the afternoons, and the evenings elicited a display of the smartest of spring sports attire.

On the porch of the club, viewing the tournament, was Miss Melva Robinson of Chicago, who wore a gown of gray moire in semi-sports style, with a cape collar as an interesting detail. An eye veil was worn on the small gray hat. Hat and slippers were also gray.

Among the Onlookers.

Mrs. Gilbert E. Porter III. of Lake Forest, Ill., was with her father-in-law, Gilbert E. Porter of Chicago, and was lovely in a white sports frock with blue coat and small panama hat.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Cudahy of Chicago returned to the King Cole hotel recently after a ten day trip to Nassau and other points in the Bahamas.

When Chicago Was Young

By Herma Clark.

Letters from Martha Freeman Esmond to her friend, Julia Boyd of New York:

Chicago, July 20, 1869.

DEAR JULIA:

Will has a good deal of business on hand this summer, so we did not go to Saratoga as we had expected, but as most of our friends are in town, we have not regretted having to be in Chicago.

We have spent the afternoon at the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hitchcock, south of the city. They are wonderfully interesting people. Mrs. Hitchcock was Miss Annie McClure before her marriage. Her mother, who is a widow, moved into the city from a farm in the early days, and as they attended our church, I have known the family a long time. Now, since they have decided to go to the little church out near their home, I see Mrs. Hitchcock seldom.

They have built a fine home out there, occupying a quarter of a block, and have planted trees and shrubs, so it looks charming. Mrs. Hitchcock is a beautiful woman; Mr. Hitchcock a fine looking man. Both are people you would notice in a crowd.

Will thinks he is fortunate to count Mr. H. as a friend, for the latter has no superior among the members of the Illinois bar. In spite of his success, he is much interested in younger lawyers and we heard him talking to a budding disciple of Blackstone while we were there this afternoon. He was so sympathetic in his counsel to the discouraged young fellow that I liked him more than ever. He earnestly impressed on the young man that he must not grow tired while he was waiting, but must keep his ideals high.

Will drove on home after letting me out at Washington street and Wabash avenue, where I had some errands. It was interesting to walk along Wabash avenue, the block where we lived when father first settled in Chicago. It was then a quiet residential neighborhood. Now all is changed. On the southeast corner of Wabash avenue and Washington street, where the Drakes lived, a building is going up to be devoted to business. Next to this J. V. Farwell owns 72 feet, where he is building a block for the same purpose. Next, south, the Thatcher estate is building, and then, where Judge Skinner lived in our day, a fine block is being erected, to cost $225,000, we hear. The average value of land in this block [between Washington and Madison streets] it is said, is $1,500 a front foot, so the land and buildings are worth about one million dollars. That just in one city block! Isn't it remarkable?

Then, another change. Lake street was once the pride of Chicago and boasted the most costly business structures. Now State street is talked of as the coming shopping center.

I have just come from my mantua maker's, where I was shown a lovely trousseau she is making. One reception dress, particularly, attracted me. It was of rich blue silk, the skirt 72 inches in the back lengths, trimmed with a ruffle of the same silk. The waist was buttoned up the back. The overskirt, which was bouffant, was trimmed with a ruffle to match. Another dress in the trousseau was a lemond colored silk, trimmed with 19 rows of narrow bias-fold velvet of the same shade, edged with white lace, the overskirt and waist to correspond. The trimmings on the dress alone, Mme. H. told me, cost $150.

How elaborate the new hats are! I saw one today, for instance, which had a gull's breast and plumage on the crown, a small bird on the brim, and a tuft of marabout to unite the whole "creation," as the milliner is fond of calling her handiwork. Birds' nests, with the whole family at home, are perched on the brims of the new hats in most cases, it seems to me.

Have you read Mark Twain's "Innocents Abroad?" It has just reached us here. Will brought it home yesterday and read aloud bits of it last night. The chapter on their experiences in Genoa and Rome is too funny. The tourists pretend stupidity in order to irritate their guide. "Is he dead?" is their frequent query. Will thinks we have a true American humorist now. Artemus Ward had a sense of the ridiculous, but not real humor. Here seems to be an original writer.

We [mother and I, for I regret to say Will wouldn't accompany us] attended last night a meeting on women's rights held at the First Congregational church and addressed by Mrs. Mary Livermore. She is most eloquent and answered a good many objections to woman's having the vote. She said: "The reign of force is passing away. This is an age of moral ideas." She continued: "Horace Greeley said in his paper that women did not want to vote, and the very next day his own wife petitioned for the ballot." This caused a laugh.

She spoke of the war, and said that women who had lived through that great event could never be the same. Mrs. Livermore did such valiant service in the war that she is greatly respected even by men who just laugh at the idea of women being given the right to vote.

What do you think about it? Will women ever be given the ballot? I am afraid I don't care much for my rights. I'd rather have my privileges.

Much love from your old friend,
MARTHA FREEMAN ESMOND.

Footnotes.

Hitchcock hall at the University of Chicago is named for the brilliant lawyer at whose house, Greenwood avenue and Forty-eighth street, Will and Martha spent a summer afternoon in 1869. Hitchcock hall was given by Mrs. Hitchcock in memory of her husband.

The latest available quotation on land in the block on Wabash avenue between Madison and Washington streets is about six times the value placed on it in 1869.

Mrs. Livermore was one of the early champions of women's rights in Chicago. She did not live to see the day when Chicago women marched down Michigan avenue in a drenching rain to ask the Republican convention, in session at the Coliseum, to place a plank in their platform endorsing the demand for equal suffrage, but she would have marched at their head if she had been in the flesh, no doubt.

Many Fashionables Seek Newport Villas

NEWPORT, R. I., March 15.—[Special.]—Mr. and Mrs. Gustave J. S. White were here, but have returned to New York. During the week they stayed at Elm Lodge, which they will occupy as usual this summer.

Many have been here to inspect progress in the preparing of their villas for the season. Mr. and Mrs. John Russell Pope were occupied most of the week at their new Ledge road villa, which will be one of the largest built here in recent years.

Mrs. Robert Goelet is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. William Fitzhugh Whitehouse. Sheldon Whitehouse and Robert W. Goelet, who were also members of the house party, have left for New York.

Mrs. Alonzo Potters is the guest of Mrs. Beverly Bogert at Pine lodge.

Foreigners Lose Soft Chinese Jobs

SHANGHAI.—(AP)—The day when a foreigner could obtain a good job with the Chinese government and amass a tidy sum in a few years is over.

Highly trained Chinese are replacing foreign employés in almost every branch of the government service, and a month seldom passes but that several foreigners who thought they had life jobs, see their posts turned over to Chinese.

Society at Aiken for Polo and Golf

AIKEN, S. C., March 15.—[Special.]—Play for the Byers cup at the Palmetto Golf club occupied the attention of the colony all week. Among those who took part were A. H. Bourne, S. A. W. Baltazzi, Lyman Wright, Thomas Hitchcock, George C. Bourne, Hugo Rutherford, G. H. Bostwick, Eugene Grace, Eliphalet Nott Potter, Winthrop Rutherfurd, Nelson Perin, Goodhue Livingston, Goelet Gallatin and Robert V. McKim.

There was a vast crowd out early in the week on the occasion of the polo match between Tommy Hitchcock's red team and George Bostwick's blues, which was won by the latter. With Mr. Bostwick were Frank V. Burton, Paul Butler and Curtis King, while Mr. Hitchcock's aides were William Zeigler, Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney and Thomas Ewing Jr.

Mr. Whitney has had a house full of guests all week. Among them were Mr. and Mrs. Carroll Carstairs, and James A. Borden. Mr. and Mrs. Nelson Perin of Philadelphia are with Mr. and Mrs. Murray Cobb.

More Tourists for England.

LONDON.—(AP)—A 6 per cent increase in the 1929 tourist traffic into England has been recorded over that of 1928. The home office reveals that 238,391 visitors landed in England last year.

Famous Names of Old Gotham Lose Prestige

Last of the Goulds Seeks Domesticity.

gave exhibitions at parties where, I fear, polite society tittered a wee bit—because, even if she danced well, she was no Pavlowa. She took over the running of a theater, and in general made the public aware that the Goulds were yet in existence.

Then she left for Europe with the little Giora, child of her marriage with Hank Bishop Jr. Giora started as Gloria, too, but her mother found Italy so wonderful that she visited the Italian influence on her daughter.

Gloria stayed abroad a long time. Visiting Americans on the continent heard much of her. Society fully expected that having given marriage one try she would put it behind her and start on her chosen career as social butterfly.

She came back, divorced Hank Bishop and prepared to depart for her foreign stand. And what happened? She promptly fell in love with Wallace Barker, canceled her passage, married him, and forgot all about Europe.

And this Wednesday, in 277 Park avenue, there was a nice little child's party to celebrate the fifth birthday of Giora. Presiding, as quiet and calm a matron as any, was Mrs. Gloria Gould Bishop Barker. The last of the Goulds has decided to eschew the limelight—to be a devoted wife and mother.

Smartest Dance of Winter.

The Belgravia dance at the Park Lane is intriguing, not so much because it was the smartest dance of the winter as because of the chief reason for its smartness.

This New York of ours is rather amazing. Cafe proprietors long since have found out that they can't tell their patrons how to dress. Even to insinuate that formal dress is obligatory is fatal. And formal dress, for a long time, has meant the comfy dinner jacket. In fact, the only place where tails have been absolutely necessary is in the parterre boxes at the Metropolitan. In the stalls, smoking jackets outnumber the tailcoats.

But the committee of the Belgravia insisted that every man attending must be arrayed in white tie and tails.

And they came—to a man, arrayed like the lilies of the field. It was a triumph of prewar formality and turned out to be not only the smartest but the jolliest of parties.

Notables Present.

Every one was there, from Harriet Camac, who used to be termed the most beautiful debutante in New York, to Prince George of Russia, lovely Evelyn Laye, and handsome Jack Buchanan. Others in the throng included the white haired Mrs. Stanwood Menken, the Harry Contents, the Sumner Taylors, the Henry Anderson Gomans, the Martin J. H. Quinns, the Shirley Falckes, Baron Marochetti, Sir Jocelyn Lucas, and a host of others. I should not be at all surprised to find the Belgravia idea being adopted next winter and the tailcoat for men coming into its own once more.

The Spinsters, most of whom are Spence girls, are combining with the Spence alumnae to give their annual show at the St. Regis roof on March 27. It was the Spinsters who first started giving cabarets, and this year will find them holding forth, as usual, with two professional acts combined with two amateur ones to form the bill.

June Hess, soon to wed, heads the Spinsters' committee, and aiding her are Patricia White, Alice Looram, Rosemary Harden, Joan Travers, Marion Cartier, Louise Boone, and Hope Bennett.

The entertainment committee consists of Mrs. Carlton Betts, Esther Hall, Mrs. William Olmstead Jr., Lois McCall, Candis Hall, Ethel McCullogh, Mrs. Frank P. Shepard, Clover Miles, Eleanor Waters, and Anna Crane.

Clews Succumb to Chateau.

Newport will miss Mrs. Henry Clews this summer, for that grande dame has decided to abandon "The Rocks" in favor of Europe and will turn her imposing Newport home over to Mrs. George Mesta, who, while somewhat of a social newcomer, has certainly done her bit toward entertaining society.

Mrs. Clews, having launched her granddaughter, Louise, has considered her duty done, and is desirous of leading a quiet life. The junior Henry Clews, Mrs. Clews being the one time Elsie Whalen and later Mrs. Robert Goelet, spend all their time in France at their magnificent chateau and never give a thought to society at home. But while their absence is not noticed, the lack of the elder Mrs. Clews' presence will certainly be felt around the Casino this summer.

BRIDES-TO-BE

MISS ELIZABETH D. BABCOCK.

Mr. and Mrs. Ervin N. Babcock of 8624 South Winchester avenue announce the engagement of their daughter, Elizabeth Dorothy, to Alfred E. Fuller of Chicago, son of Dr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Fuller of Shiner, Tex. Miss Babcock is a senior at the University of Illinois, and a member of Delta Delta sorority.

MISS FLORENCE DU HASEK.

Mr. and Mrs. Julius Du Hasek of 2503 West 54th street announce the engagement of their daughter, Florence, to George A. Petters, son of A. J. Petters of 6119 South Troy street. Miss Du Hasek is a senior at the University of Chicago, and a member of Phi Beta Delta sorority. Mr. Petters is a graduate of Armour institute of Technology and a member of the Triangle fraternity.

Gala Concert Raises Funds for St. Augustine Hospital

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla., March 15.—Several hundred guests, here for the winter, attended the gala concert held Tuesday night at the Ponce de Leon for the benefit of the hotel's employés' hospital fund. This musical featured three opera and national radio stars, Lois Bennett, soprano; Margaret Olsen, soprano, and James Stanley, basso.

The trio while here made two sound pictures: "The Deep South" and "Homing," for Grantland Rice, who wrote the lyrics for "The Deep South," to be released by Pahté. The pictures featured scenes of Kirkside, the beautiful home of Mrs. Hugh Romaine Lewis, heiress of the Flagler millions; the Hotel Ponce de Leon, Garnett's orange groves and Anastasia island, where August Heckscher recently completed his winter home.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Outhwaite of New York arrived Tuesday on their schooner, Kinkajou, which has virtually completed a world cruise, having left New York last June. They were accompanied on the return trip by Mr. and Mrs. Edmund R. Holland and Michael Cumberledge, son of Admiral Cumberledge of England.

The Kinkajou, unfamiliar with St. Augustine's waters, was met and piloted in by Sedaph, the yacht owned by Mr. and Mrs. Cyril C. Spades of Chicago, who are close friends of the Outhwaites. Mrs. Robert Erskine Wright of Cleveland, who spends her winters here, is an aunt of Mrs. Outhwaite.

Much Sport Activity.

Tonight Mrs. Philip B. Jennings, mother of Mr. Outhwaite, gave a welcoming home dinner dance for sixty-five guests at the St. Augustine Links clubhouse. It will be remembered that Mrs. J. Gordon Wilson of Chicago was house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Jennings last month.

This last week saw much activity in women's sports. In addition to the annual championship golf tournament, in which Virginia Van Wie of Chicago won permanent possession of the William R. Kenan Jr. trophy, a number of leading women swimmers of the United States appeared in a two day meet in the Alcazar casino pool, where some new world records were made.

The spring meet of the Florida Jockey club began this last week at St. John's park with a capacity crowd in attendance. The meet will continue until March 29.

The southeastern men's championship tournament is in progress with on all star field of players competing on the Alcazar courts. A large gallery was present Tuesday for the matches.

* *

Luncheon Party.

The next golf event will be the annual amateur winter championship of Florida, starting on Tuesday. A number of leading amateur golfers of the country are expected to compete.

Mrs. Hugh Romane Lewis gave a luncheon Monday at Kirkside, honoring her mother, Mrs. J. K. Wise, who is visiting her. Among the guests were Mrs. Martin D. Hardin and Mrs. William T. Durrett, cousin of the late Gen. Martin D. Hardin. Also Mmes. William R. Kenan Jr., Ralph S. Keeps, Herbert W. Warren, Philip B. Jennings, Henry N. Rodenbaugh, J. Duncan Puller and Arthur L. Merriam and Miss Amy MacMillan.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bradley, Virgil Briddle, Arthur Patterson and Miss Elvira Patterson, who motored from Palm Beach, were guests at the oldest historical house recently. They have also spent some time in Havana.

Illinois luncheon guests at the Ponce de Leon included: Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Reese, Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Sulzberger and Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Sulzberger of Chicago, Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Baker, Miss Mary C. Baker, and Geraldine Carr of Peoria, Ill. Arrivals at the hotel included Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Black, Miss Alice Henderson, Mr. and Mrs. William E. Clow of Chicago.

At the Alcazar are Miss Rose M. Downey, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Rice, Mr. and Mrs. George H. High, Mrs. C. M. Nicol, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Charles A. Pratt, Mrs. Frank Marshall, Mr. and Mrs. George E. Ball of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Ball, Miss H. E. Ball of Oak Park, Mrs. C. O. Barnes, Mrs. C. M. Moderwell, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Brothers of Evanston.

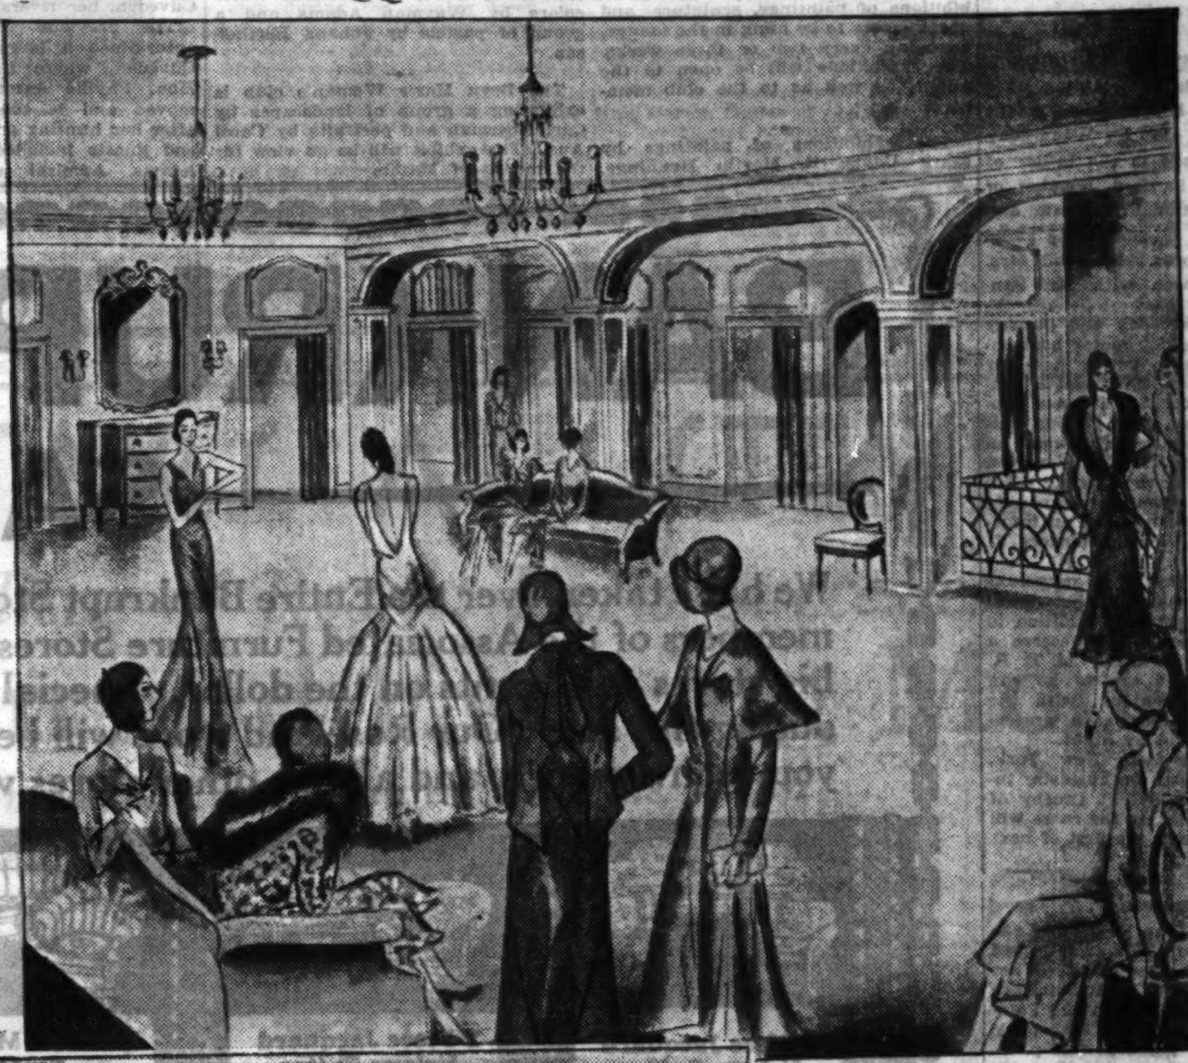
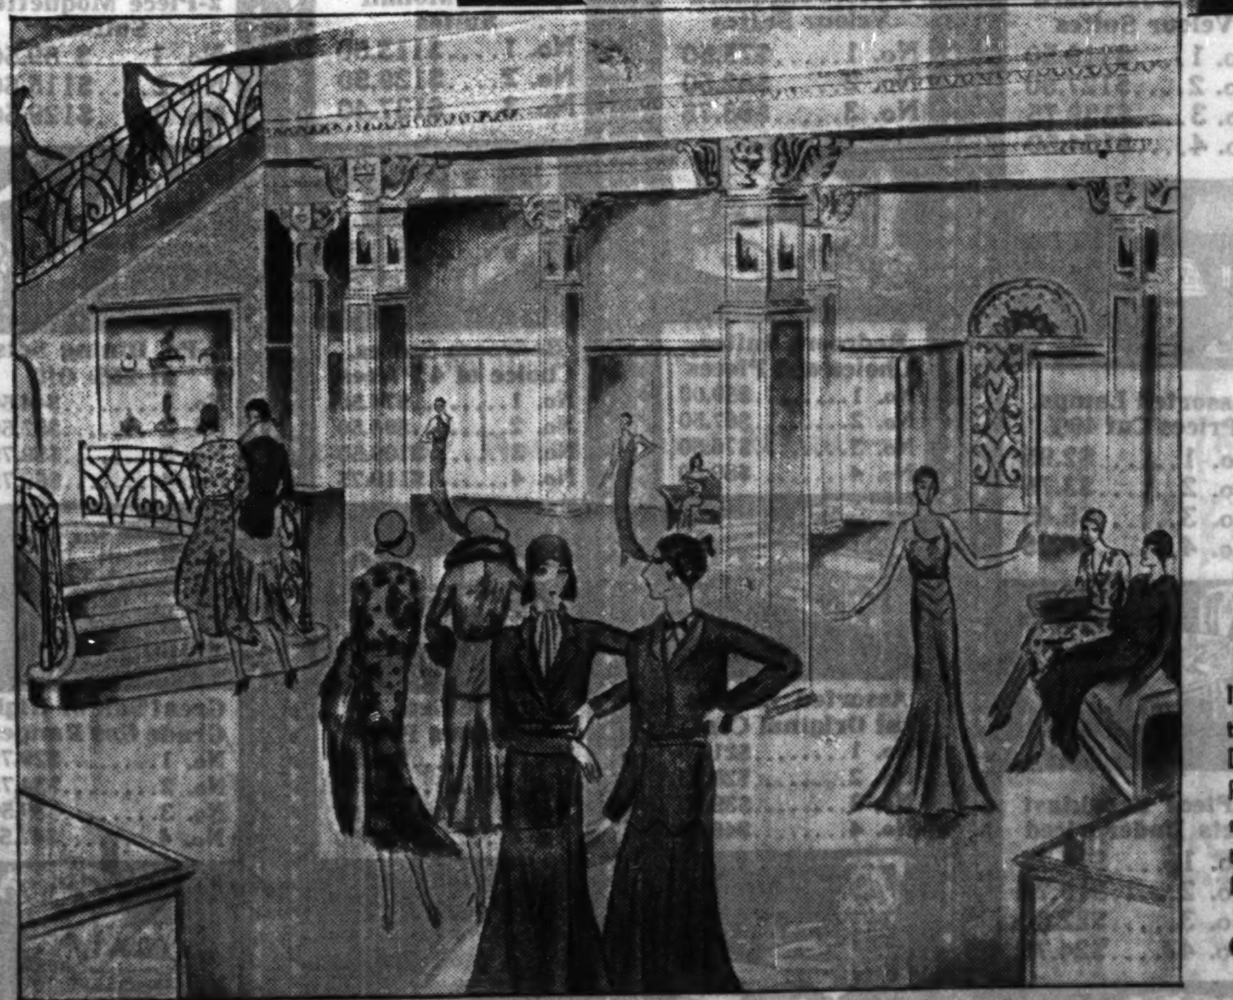
Two Smart New Settings for our Smart New Fashions



In our lovely, graciously appointed French Salon on the second floor . . . the newest and smartest fashions of the day will be presented.



In the new Misses' Shop on the first floor . . . Chicago's Debutantes will find their Frocks and Wraps and Millinery . . . comprehensive selections . . . at prices planned for debutante allowances!

WITH Paris sending us her newest, loveliest fashions, and with our own workrooms copying these masterpieces under our careful, ever-watchful eyes . . . as well as creating masterpieces of our own . . . it is little wonder that a large, large share of Chicago's most exacting women are "gowned by Pearlie Powell."

And now, with our two new Shops . . . spacious and utterly charming backgrounds for our fashions . . . we feel that shopping at Pearlie Powell's will be even more delightful and pleasant . . . for we will be far more able to serve you better.

Final Parties at Palm Beach Among Gayest

Many Cottagers Remain Another Month.

to be given on Wednesday night, March 19, by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Seligman. At the beginning of the season, Mr. and Mrs. Willys purchased one of Palm Beach's show places, the house erected on South Ocean boulevard by Dr. Preston Pope Satterwhite and owned by him until the recent sale. The Gothic dining room of this house, with its stained glass windows, is one of the most noted architectural achievements in the colony.

Mr. and Mrs. Willys expect to remain in Palm Beach until April 1. They have as their house guests their only child, Señora Luis M. de Aguirre, and Señor de Aguirre. As Virginia Willys, Señora de Aguirre was one of New York's most prominent debutantes a season ago. She was presented at the court of St. James last May and shortly afterward became the bride of Señor de Aguirre at a church ceremony in London.

Host at Embassy Club Dinner.

John Sanford is entertaining at a large dinner and supper dance at the Florida Embassy club on Wednesday night. Mr. Sanford is the father of Stephen (Laddy) Sanford, member of America's international polo team, and of Mrs. Sidney J. Legendre, big game hunter and explorer. Mr. and Mrs. Legendre have been with Mr. Sanford all season.

This Friday, Saturday and Sunday will be monopolized by motor boat enthusiasts who are to gather here for the outboard motor boat regatta, featured by a race for Sir Thomas Lipton's $25,000 trophy. The Florida Outboard Motor association will meet on Friday at the Palm Beach Anglers and Sports club. During the evening there is to be an illuminated marine parade and mardi gras, followed by an informal reception for Vice Commodore V. Mason Weil.

The Lipton trophy is a perpetual one, on which the name of the winner is inscribed each year. In addition to this honor the victor will receive a chest of silver awarded by Col. E. R. Bradley. The races are to be run on Saturday and Sunday, with the various prizes awarded at a presentation supper on Sunday night.

A special train from New York, bringing motor boat enthusiasts, including Commodore W. F. Crosby of the magazine Rudder, to the races will arrive in Palm Beach the first of next week.

Wedding on Wednesday.

Mrs. William H. Van Every of Agua Vista at Hobe Sound, Fla., has issued invitations to the wedding of her cousin, Miss Helen Mills Robbins, to Robert Sedgwick of Chicago and Palm Beach. The ceremony will take place at the Van Every home at 4:30 p. m. on Wednesday. After April 1 the bride and bridegroom will be at home in Highland Park, Ill.

More than 300 persons attended the Spanish ball at the Florida Embassy club on Thursday night. Since the Bath and Tennis club has decided to skip its annual costume ball this season, the dance at the Embassy is one of the final large and formal ones of the year.

Bachelor quarters, consisting of a cottage with two bedrooms, a large living room, dining room and kitchen, have just been completed for James H. Cromwell, the son of Mrs. Edward T. Stotesbury, at El Mirasol, the Stotesbury estate.

Maurice Fatio, the architect, transformed the old tea pavilion on Lake Trail, at the rear of the Stotesbury estate, into the present cottage. The estate runs from the ocean to Lake Worth, with the Stotesbury villa overlooking the Atlantic and Mr. Cromwell's cottage fronting on Lake Worth.

Two Princesses Arrive.

Princess Edward Joseph Lobkowicz arrived this week to join her mother, Mrs. C. Bai Lihme, at the Everglades club. They will remain until the first of the month.

Princess Alexandra of Schleswig-Holstein is now the house guest of Count and Countess De Frise. The princess is a former daughter-in-law of the kaiser, having been the wife of the latter's fourth son, August Wilhelm.

Notes of Art and Artists

The Goodman theater opened a splendid revival of "The Rivals" last Tuesday evening. The Saturday matinées for children are now playing "Little Women," a dramatization of Louisa M. Alcott's story by Marian de Forest. It will be followed by "Robinson Crusoe," which has been adapted by Louis Laflin.

The Midland club is arranging a series of one man shows and group exhibitions of paintings, sculpture, and graphic arts to be hung in the lounge, changing every two or three weeks. The exhibitions will be open to the public, as well as to the club members.

The exhibitions of paintings by Stark Davis, E. Martin Hennings, Carl C. Preussl, Edward T. Grigware, John T. Nolf, J. Jeffrey Grant, and Rudolph F. Ingerle at the Chicago galleries, 220 North Michigan avenue, is still commanding keen attention. It is a delightful exhibit full of brilliant paintings—one of the best Chicago has seen in some weeks.

The Hoosier gallery, room 724, 211 West Wacker drive, is showing an interesting group of informal water colors by Wayman Adams and a group of pastels by Johann Berthelsen.

The Bryn Mawr Woman's club is exhibiting a group of landscapes by Carl Hoerman and portraits by Carol Aus. The exhibit will be on view for the month of March.

Great Houses of London Opened to U. S. Delegates

LONDON.—[Special.]—The delegates to the naval conference and their wives have had the opportunity of seeing something of two of the great houses of London, whose chatelaines have given receptions. The Marchioness of Londonderry, wearing an embroidered yellow picture gown, gave a reception at Londonderry house, Park Lane, at which the Duke of York and Princess Helena Victoria were guests of honor, and a large contingent from the American delegation was noted, headed by the American ambassador and Mrs. Dawes and including Mrs. Stimson, Mrs. Lammot Belin, Mrs. Ray Atherton, Mrs. Galbraith, Mrs. Robinson, Mrs. Reed, Mrs. Adams, Mrs. Morrow, Mrs. Gibson, and Mrs. Pratt.

Lord Londonderry's personal piper, wearing the Stewart tartan, helped the guests out of their carriages, and Lady Londonderry received at the head of the staircase, her tiara, stomacher and earrings of family diamonds being much admired. Princess Helena Victoria, aunt of King George, wore gold patterned lamé.

Two Functions in One Evening.

Viscountess Astor gave a reception at 4 St. James square on the same evening as the ball for the delegates at the French embassy with the result that all the delegates and their wives determined to make a night of it and went from one function to the other. Lady Astor had her reception rooms in St. James' square beautifully decorated with spring flowers from Cliveden, her riverside home.

The previous weekend she had entertained a large house party at Cliveden, where her daughter, the Hon. Phyllis Astor, has now been moved and is convalescing rapidly after her hunting accident. The weekend guests included Mr. and Mrs. Adams, Admiral and Mrs. Hilary Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Robinson, Admiral Pratt and Mrs. Pratt, and Senator Reed and Mrs. Reed.

There were about a thousand guests at the ball given by the French delegation to the other four delegations, at the French embassy. Madame de Fleuriau, wife of the French ambassador, received and had designed an all pink scheme of decoration. The naval idea was carried out in boats of spun glass which were a prominent figure at the buffets, and invitations had to be brought by all the guests. It is getting more and more the custom in London to exclude the uninvited guest who causes hostesses such distress and inconvenience.

View Old Masters.

The members of the American delegation have been assiduous in slipping into Burlington House, Piccadilly, at odd moments to see the Italian Old Masters.

Wearing her jade green spectacles, Lady Austen Chamberlain personally conducted some of the American women round the galleries at a soirée, apologizing for the cold which caused all the feminine members of the party to keep on their wraps. Full heating apparatus is not allowed by the insurance companies, as it might damage the pictures and crack the paint.

A welcome staged by the Women Clerks' association of London was given to the fifty stenographers of the American delegation one night recently at Crosby hall, a historic banqueting hall formerly in the middle of the City of London and which has now been rebuilt in Chelsea and is the dining hall of the International Federation of University Women in London. Next door they have their hall of residence, which was opened by the queen.

Unfortunately, only nineteen were able to come, but their smart clothes, well groomed appearances, and general beauty of figure charmed every one, while the English girls were curious to note that the smart American stenographer has now gone back to long hair.

Women See Guild Hall.

One of the daytime expeditions most enjoyed by the American women of the delegation was the tour over Guildhall with the lady mayoress and the librarian, Mr. Dowthwaite, followed by the traditional lunch with turtle soup at the mansion house. This was a compensation for the exclusion of the women from the state banquet at the Guildhall at the opening of the conference.

The city charter granted by William the Conqueror, the Saxon crystal mace used at the coronation only, and the marks of the Great Fire of 1666 on the Guildhall roof were only a few of the historic things seen on this visit. Mrs. Robinson had the privilege of sitting next to the lord mayor and Mrs. C. F. Adams next to the lady mayoress at lunch.

Entertainments have been given, too, for the women delegates from America and Japan who have presented the naval conference heads with the women's petition for a reduction in armaments. Lady Herbert Samuel, whose husband is organizer of the Liberal party, gave a tea party when Mrs. Edgerton Parsons of New York (née Alice Lord of Chicago) and Miss Josephine Schain spoke on their work in getting this petition together. It represented six million votes.

Mrs. Edgerton Parsons is treasurer of the conference on the cause and cure of war and treasurer of the International Federation of University Women. Dressed in black and white, with a black fox fur, she told of the six years' work she had done. Though Mrs. Edgerton Parsons has not been back to Chicago for some years, she is hoping to make a trip this summer.

Apart from conference affairs, the most important recent event has been the marriage of the Duke of Westminster to Miss Loelia Ponsonby, daughter of Sir Frederick Ponsonby, treasurer to King George, and of Lady Ponsonby. This took place in the morning in the boardroom of the Westminster registry office with about a dozen close friends and relations present, who afterward went back to the bride's parents' apartments in St. James palace to see the wonderful wedding presents and then to a luncheon party on board the duke's racing yacht, The Cutty Sark.

They included Mr. and Mrs. Richard Guinness, with their two daughters, Mrs. James and Miss Teresa Yungman, Mrs. James wrapped in a sable coat with a brown felt hat that showed her fringe, and Miss "Baby" Yungman in a beige summer ermine coat and bright blue hat. The afternoon before the wedding both the Guinness daughters (Mrs. Aspinoff Oglander and Miss Nanzeen Guinness) had been among a privileged dozen of Miss Ponsonby's girl friends at a trousseau tea, when they inspected the diamonds the duke had given his bride, the fur coats and extensive trousseau, and then were invited by the bride to choose frocks for themselves from a selection she was no longer going to wear.

Lady Cynthia Mosley was a smart guest in black with an immense orchid shoulder bouquet at the wedding of the daughter of Sir Edwin Lutyens, the architect who designed the cenotaph in Whitehall. Mr. Sewell was the bridegroom.

Noted for Unusual Parties.

Mrs. Corrigan, whose parties are arranged by a young man who does similar service for the Marchioness of Londonderry, has taken a house in Grosvenor street and will arrive for the season in April. She was the pioneer in London of cabaret dinners and freak supper parties.

The British-American Dance club, now in its tenth season, has arranged a ball on the 21st, when Viscountess Astor will receive the guests, who are to include the conference delegates. The Paul Jones will be danced, as usual.

PATRIOTIC GROUPS HOLD STATE MEETINGS

Daughters of Colonists and D.A.R. Convene

Luncheons and Banquets Scheduled.

By Roberta Nangle.

DURING the coming week two organizations of historic and patriotic origin are to hold state conferences in Chicago. The Illinois chapters of that most dignified of national organizations, the Daughters of the American Revolution, are to convene for their 34th annual state conference from Tuesday until Thursday at the Stevens hotel.

The Chicago chapter will be hostess to regents and delegates from 107 chapters representing a membership of 10,000 daughters in Illinois, in addition to national officers and other distinguished guests. Illinois, by the way, has the third largest number of D. A. R. members in the United States.

Mrs. Eli Dixon of Roseville, state regent, will preside at the meetings, with the assistance of her state board, consisting of Mrs. Samuel D. McKenzie, state vice regent; Mrs. Harold C. Barr of Moline, recording secretary; Mrs. Louis L. Hutchins of Monmouth, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Robert G. Gadsden of Chicago, treasurer; Mrs. George R. McFadden of East St. Louis, historian; Mrs. Melville C. Chatten of Winnetka, registrar; Mrs. Fred Ball of Clinton, librarian, and Mrs. William S. Perry of River Forest, chaplain.

Luncheon and Banquet.

The outstanding social affairs of the conference will be a luncheon which Mrs. Thomas J. Dixon, regent of the Chicago chapter, is to give on Tuesday at the Stevens for national and state guests of honor and a banquet to be given by the Chicago chapter for 1,000 guests on Tuesday evening, with Mrs. Dixon presiding. Congresswoman Florence P. Kahn of California and Dr. William Hutchins, president of Berea college, will be the principal speakers at the latter event.

Revolution is the largest hereditary patriotic society in the world, numbering about 170,000 members. Among the society's proudest achievements are its buildings in Washington, D. C.—Memorial Continental hall, Constitution hall, and the Administration building.

Daughters of Colonists Meet.

On Friday, when the D. A. R. members have returned to their home towns, the Illinois branch of the national society of the Daughters of the American Colonists will hold its state assembly in the Wedgwood room at Marshall Field's. Though the Illinois society was organized as recently as 1924, its membership depends upon lineal descent from man or woman who rendered civil or military service in any of the colonies prior to July 4, 1776.

The assembly will include morning and afternoon sessions, with luncheon at 12 o'clock. Fort Checaugou chapter will act as hostess and Mrs. Edward G. Snodgrass, state regent, will preside. Mrs. Livingston L. Hunter of Pennsylvania, national president, and Miss Margaret Humes, chief executive of Carr Creek Community Center, Ky., will be guests of honor.

Since its organization the Illinois society has given assistance to the Carr Creek school for children of southern mountaineers and this year will give a scholarship to help educate young people of Anglo-Saxon stock. The society has planted thirteen young trees in Pioneer park, along the Du Page river in Naperville, Ill., in memory of the thirteen original colonies.

The national society was incorporated in 1921 in the District of Columbia. Its object is to emphasize colonial history, to erect memorials to commemorate colonial deeds and places of interest and to inculcate and foster love of American and its institutions.

Roberts, president, presiding. The committee on legal status of women of the Illinois League of Women Voters will meet on Friday at luncheon at 12:30 p. m., at the Woman's City club, with the chairman, Mrs. C. P. Fowler, presiding. Progress in the campaign to secure a favorable vote on the question of women serving on juries will be discussed.

The Chicago Woman's club will hold an all-partisan candidates' meeting on Thursday at 1:30 p. m., in the club theater. Miss Harriet Vittum will speak briefly on "The Significance of the Coming Election," and Mrs. Eric W. Stubbs on "How to Choose Your Candidates." Issues of the campaign will be discussed by candidates of all partisan factions seeking nomination to the more important offices on April 8. It will be an open meeting, with Mrs. Willa B. Laird as chairman of arrangements. At the club program on Wednesday afternoon, Dr. Henry Neuman of the Brooklyn Ethical society wil speak on "The Mussolini Cult in America."

Eight women members of the Woman's City club seeking office in the forthcoming primary will be given the center of the stage at the Woman's City club during the coming week. Beginning tomorrow and continuing through candidates' day on March 24, each of these women will be allotted a booth where literature and a representative will bring information concerning the candidate's qualifications to all interested visitors. Among those to be represented are: Mrs. Anne Ickes, Mrs. Gertrude C. Leber, Mrs. Edward Loewenthal, Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick, Mrs. Helen Mehrle, Mrs. Lottie Holman O'Neill, Mrs. Glenn E. Plumb, and Miss Amelia Sears. Preceding the club meeting at 2 o'clock tomorrow, under the auspices of the current book review when Mrs. Ethel Colson Brazelton will review spring books, there will be a meeting of the board of managers at 10:30 a. m. On Wednesday at 12 o'clock the ward chairmen will meet for luncheon.

On Tuesday at 10 o'clock the Chicago Woman's Aid art and literature board of managers will hold its monthly meeting. At 11 o'clock the international relations committee will present Mrs. Victor S. Frankenstein, who will speak on "Personal Experiences in Palestine." Following her, Mrs. Moses L. Purvin will review Horace Kallen's "Frontiers of Hope." At luncheon Dr. Solomon H. Goldman, rabbi of Temple Anshe Emes, will discuss "Palestine and a Modern World View." There will be an exhibition of products of Palestine. On Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock the Mothers' club committee of the education department will give a party for the Mothers' clubs of the Columbus, Herzl, Penn, and Scanlan schools. Miss Ethel Kawin will be the speaker, and entertainment in the way of readings and piano selections will be furnished. S. J. Duncan-Clark, president of the City Club of Chicago, will discuss current events at the current events class of the civics and philanthropy department on Thursday at 11 o'clock.

The central district convention of the Chicago Girl Scouts, Inc., will be held on Wednesday from 3:30 until 9 p. m., at the McCormick Memorial institute at 1001 North Dearborn street. The program will open with a tea for mothers to be given by troop committee members, captains and lieutenants. A buffet supper at 6:30 p. m. will be followed by a program, with a talk by Miss Marion McBee of the Illinois Society for Mental Hygiene on "The Psychology of the Adolescent Girl."

The Women of Rotary will hold a regular luncheon and bridge party on Wednesday at 12 o'clock at the Hotel Sherman. The nominating committee will be elected.

The annual meeting of the Protestant Women's Service club will be held on Wednesday at a luncheon at 12 o'clock in Marshall Field's Wedgwood room.

The Chicago chapter of Haddassah will celebrate founders' day at a musical and tea on Tuesday afternoon at the Congress hotel.

The Central Eleanor club hikers will hold their annual meeting on Saturday evening in the clubrooms at 16 North Wabash avenue.

North Carolina Colony of the Illinois Colony club will hold a regular monthly business meeting on Tuesday at 11:30 a. m. at the Great Northern hotel. Luncheon and cards will follow the meeting.

The Matrix club will give a theater party this afternoon at the recital of Fritz Renk at the Chicago Civic theater.

The next regular meeting of the Sarah Greenebaum lodge will be held tomorrow at 1:30 p. m. in the Medical and Dental Arts building.

The Women's Allied Drug club will give a St. Patrick's day luncheon and card party tomorrow at 12:30 p. m. at the Morrison hotel.

The Independent German American Woman's club will hold a regular meeting on Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the Morrison hotel.

The Les Trois Guerres Woman's Aid club will hold its monthly meeting and luncheon tomorrow at 12 o'clock at the Morrison hotel.

The first general meeting of the presidents of the auxiliaries of the Daughters of Zion will be held this afternoon at the residence of the president, Mrs. Edwin Romberg at 5492 South Shore drive.

The Albany park auxiliary of the Daughters of Zion will give a theater party on Friday evening, March 28, at the Palace theater for the benefit of the Infant Home and Day Nursery at Hirsch boulevard and California avenue.

The Chicago Historical society will hold a meeting on Friday at 8 p. m. The Rev. Frederic Siedenberg, S. J., of Loyola university, will give an address on Father Louis Hennepin.

CLUB ETHICS

By Maude Swalm Evans

"O DEAR, sighed the committee chairman as she ate her salad at the club lunch table, "I'm going to the East End club this afternoon and I'm so tired I'd far rather go home."

"Why don't you, then?" questioned the librarian.

"I promised Mrs. Langley and I can't disappoint her," answered the committee chairman. "You know how it is, if she'd said, 'Come to my club some time,' I'd have said, 'Yes, I'll be glad to,' and let it go at that, but she said, 'Come with me this afternoon. I'll call for you anywhere you say.'"

"The courtesy committee of our club uses that way of getting out members who have been absent for two consecutive meetings," reported the visiting member.

"There you are—personal contact," put in the long time member. "I always say it's one of the most potent forces in club life."

"Its potency forced $5 out of me the other day for some bridge tickets I wasn't so keen about," bemoaned the social chairman. "When a friend asks you to buy bridge tickets and such things, it's hard to refuse."

"We figured it out that way when we made our arrangements for sending out those tickets," grinned the ways and means chairman. "Instead of just mailing them, the members of the committee canvassed our year book and sent them to their friends and acquaintances with a personal note, and it worked. Of course, our cause was a good one. O, I'm strong for personal contact."

"You wait until it gets to working on you," warned the social chairman.

"It has been, ever since I joined the club," declared the ways and means chairman. "I've been buying tickets and voting for candidates and doing things and going places because some friend asked me to, and I expect to go on doing it as long as I living."

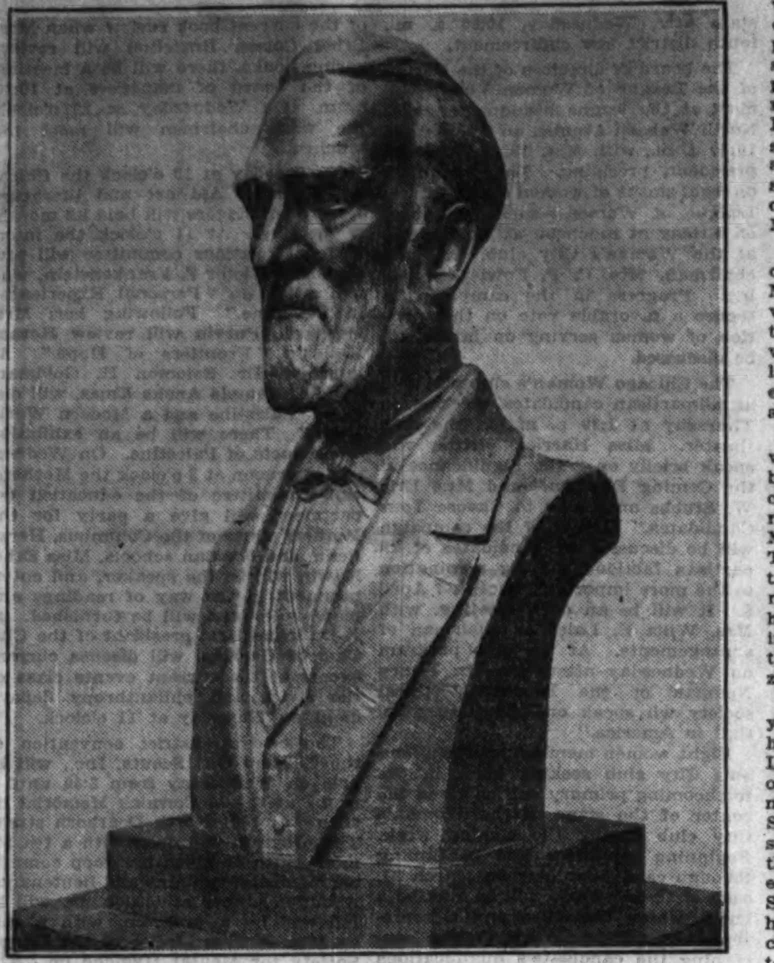
Two Exhibits to Open at Art Institute

Water Color Show Attracts World Artists

Glass and Rugs Offer Contrast Study.

By Eleanor Jewett.



"PORTRAIT bust of Joseph Medill, Founder of the Chicago Tribune," by Oskar J. W. Hansen, a Chicago sculptor of fame and reputation. The bust is in bronze and is placed in the Editorial Hall of Fame at the University of Illinois. A replica has been presented to Northwestern university.

The latest achievement of Mr. Hansen is the design for the Leif Ericson memorial, a masterly conception, beautiful, classically severe and magnificent in its proportions and line.

THURSDAY of this week will see the opening in the Art institute of two extremely interesting exhibitions. One can do little better in the rôle of herald than to give, in the approximate words of the March Bulletin of the Art Institute, the museum's approach to the exhibits. Herr Meier-Graefe, visiting America a year or two ago—so the introduction runs—returned to Germany with the impression that water color, not oil, was our most characteristic medium for modern expression.

The tenth international water color exhibition, which opens March 20 for a month's showing in the east wing galleries, provides an annual opportunity to see the work of American water colorists in comparison to that of men from abroad. The term "water color" has been made elastic so that for this show it covers original drawings, pastels, and miniatures, providing an exhibit of greater variety than a more strict interpretation of the word would allow.

Stress European Section.

As in other years the European section will be stressed. Among the well known foreign artists who have accepted invitations to exhibit are Martin Monnickendam and D. C. Voightsmit of Holland, Claude Flight, Russell Flint, and Hesketh Hubbard of England, and Julius Diez, Olaf Gulbransson, Johannes Thiel, and Eduard Thony head the unusually strong group from Germany. France will show some works by artists who are not particularly known to the American public. Among them are such men as Louis Bailly, Pierre Dubaut, Jules R. Herve, Rene Kuder, Maurice Leroy, and James Raissiat.

The American section includes that dean of American painters, Wayman Adams, Carroll Bill, Rutherford Boyd, James Floyd Clymer, Julius Delbos, George Pearse Ennis, and W. Emerton Heitland.

The jury of selection made their decisions some ten days ago. The jury was composed of Jean Crawford Adams, John Whorf, who is extremely well known in the field of water color and comes from Boston, and Allen St. John, an instructor in the Art institute and one of Chicago's most substantial and picturesque painters.

The exhibition will be a little smaller this year than in previous years because of the important loan collection of paintings and prints by Delacroix, which is also to hang in the east wing galleries. Last year 489 water colors, pastels, and drawings were accepted; of these 347 were from the United States, 61 came from Great Britain, 27 were from Germany, 11 from Holland, 8 from Russia, 3 from Switzerland, 2 from Rumania, and 1 each from Japan, Mexico, Hungary, and Portugal.

Contemporary Rugs and Glass.

Wednesday of this week will see the opening of another international exhibition at the institute. This is the exhibition of contemporary glass and rugs, to be shown in the decorative arts galleries. The exhibit was collected by the American Federation of Arts and has been shown with great success at the Metropolitan Museum of Art in New York, at the Museum of Fine Arts in Boston, and at the Pennsylvania museum in Philadelphia.

The collection of contemporary glass and rugs was assembled abroad by Richard F. Bach and Helen Plumb, aided by a committee of designers, critics, and experts in the field of decorative arts. Its purpose, as quoted, is "to bring to the American public and to American manufacturers, merchants, and designers the best foreign achievements in a particular field of applied art side by side with our own creations in the hope that thus we may be able more readily to estimate our own position and to take advantage of whatever suggestions the contemporary work of other peoples may hold for us."

Artists and craftsmen from Austria, Belgium, Czecho-Slovakia, England, France, Germany, Holland, Italy, Sweden, and the United States are exhibiting. Glass and rugs were selected as of special timely significance, since both of these objects of applied art are going through interesting developments. The ancient traditions of glass making and decorating in the hands of designers in Paris, Orrefors, and Vienna have been given a new vitality.

Fan of Exquisite Detail.

In the main corridor of Hutchinson wing of the Art institute such a charming bit of beauty has been placed on view that it should be stressed. It is a fan on which is painted with exquisite detail the marriage scene of Marie Antoinette and Louis XVI. of France. The carved sticks of ivory are encrusted with gold and silver and tiny oval mirrors are set in the top of the guards. It is one of two fans given to the museum by Mrs. Martin A. Ryerson.

The most important fans of the 18th century are known as the "Vernis Martin" fans, from the fact that they were made by the Brothers Martin through the use of a special varnish which they invented. These particular fans rivaled the translucent enamel like varnish finish of the Chinese and Japanese artists.

Irving Manoir is a Chicago artist whose work is graceful and full of beauty. He has been away from Chicago a good many years and writes now from St. Tropez, France: "Mrs. Manoir and I continue to enjoy St. Tropez. This place has many distinguished visitors. Segonzac recently returned here from America, where he represented France at the Carnegie international exhibition. I note that the Art institute owns two of Segonzac's paintings.

"Yesterday Picabia anchored his yacht in our harbor. With him were his wife and the young son of Marie Laurencin, the painter. Walter Pach of America and the French modern master, Matisse, spent some time in St. Tropez. In the summer about fifty students of art may be seen painting the landscape and harbor. With the exception of trips to Africa, Italy, Spain, Germany, and Paris, my time has been spent here. I make an occasional sale, so that I am planning to stay on indefinitely, painting and etching every day. In May we shall have been here two years."

Worcesters Give Paintings.

Gifts of paintings of great value have recently been made to the Art institute by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Worcester. Mr. Worcester has been a trustee of the Art institute since 1925, and during those five years he has proved his interest in the museum in an effective way. He and Mrs. Worcester have contributed sufficient money to complete the unfinished section of the main hall and lobby of the museum and their endowment of the Children's museum has given it a splendid administration and permitted it to have continuous programs for the children.

With the recent presentation of nine important paintings to the institute the museum's collection has greatly profited and Mr. and Mrs. Worcester have again shown their sincere will to help. Their gift deserves recognition. The painting, "Mars and Venus with Three Graces in a Landscape," by Tintoretto, adds a brilliant canvas to the institute's Venetian group. Although painted some 340 years ago, it is in a remarkable state of preservation. The color is vivid and fresh and the passing of time has but mellowed it.

The painting by Veronese is a large canvas showing an unfinished work by this master, who lived from 1528 to 1588. It is a picture of "Madonna and Saints." The portrait of Ludovico Madruzzo by Moroni has been pronounced one of the greatest, if not the greatest, portrait in the collections of the Art institute. A "Landscape with Figure," by Mascagno, a Genoese (1681-1747), is notable for its generous handling. A smaller canvas by the same artist, entitled "The Witch," is also in this group. Of more recent paintings included in the Worcester gift are the modern works, "Messalina at the Bordeaux Opera," by Toulouse-Lautrec; "Maternity," by Forain, and "Old Cabman," by William Orpen.

Alumni Association Officers.

The Art Institute Alumni association at a recent meeting elected the following officers for the current year: President, Elmer A. Forsberg; honorary president, Marie Blanke; first vice president, Rudolph Ingerle; second vice president, Yvonne L. D. Pryor; third vice president, Increase Robinson; corresponding secretary, Frances B. Reichman; recording secretary and treasurer, Gertrude T. Williams; directors, A. Raymond Katz, Edmund Giesbert, Mary E. Hippel, and Jean Crawford Adams.

An exhibition of etchings by Rembrandt may be seen in gallery 18 at the Art institute. There are twenty-five prints, and his marvelous mastery of this subtle medium is well illustrated. There are figure groupings, landscape, and character studies, each of which offers something of interest to the student.

In gallery H-5 of the Art institute is arranged an exhibit of Japanese prints by Katsushika Hokusai, selected from the Clarence Buckingham collection. Hokusai was born in 1760 and died at the ripe age of 89. He was of humble birth, his father being a manufacturer of mirrors. At 13 he was apprenticed to a woodblock engraver, with whom he worked for four years. Some of his brush work attracted the attention of Katsukawa Shunsho, by whom his art was greatly influenced. Hokusai had many years of bitter poverty before he met success. He struggled on with the perseverance that marks the real genius, and finally, when he was 40 years old, won universal recognition.

News of Art and Artists.

The Chicago Artists' exhibit which closed last Sunday at the Art institute announces the following sales: "Still Life," by Joseph Allsworthy; "Rhythm," by Emory P. Seidel; "Ephraim, Wisconsin," by Harold Schultz; "Fairy Tales," by Vernon Thomas, and "Rabitt," by Maurice Bardin.

At the O'Brien Art galleries there is an exhibit of the charming etchings of children done so successfully by Vernon Thomas.

Bishop Urges Visual Return of Religion

Seeks "God's Corner" for Every Home.

By the Rev. John Evans.

A REVIVAL of the use of religious art in American homes as a means toward restoring "home religion" in America was advocated by Episcopal Bishop Frank E. Wilson of Eau Claire, Wis., last week's preacher at the noonday Lenten services at the Garrick theater.

Bishop Wilson indicated that religion has failed to make an impression on much of American home life because many homes provide no visual stimulant to devotions. He pointed out that all children are "eye minded," and it has been observed that the movies are tending to increase "eye mindedness" in adults. Bishop Wilson noted that what one repeatedly sees creates deeper impressions than what one hears.

The story is told of a distracted mother who appealed for advice to her spiritual advisor as to why her son ran away to sea. The priest pointed to a picture of a full rigged ship under way on the high seas which had hung for years at the foot of the boy's bed.

"That may be one of the main reasons," he said.

Bishop Wilson advocates the launching of a movement for the use of dignified religious pictures in every home as influences against the present day tendency toward the secularization of home life. In his own jurisdiction he is discovering remarkable results in the development of home religion by the establishment of "God's Corners" in many homes. The corner includes a simple altar, adapted to the circumstances of each home. Before the altar the child may say his prayers night and morning. It also offers a place where his Bible and devotional reading may be kept.

It has been pointed out that one of the difficulties with much present day religion is that it is too subjective, with the result that home life is becoming equally subjective. Today both home life and religion are said to be more talked about than genuinely experienced.

"It is not easy today to make religion a vital thing in the home," said Bishop Wilson. "The tendency is for parents to go to church on Sunday, and leave their religion in church. The church must devise means of making religion a more dominant factor in American homes. I have found the use of religious pictures and 'God's Corners' effective in this endeavor."

QUESTION BOX

The Rev. John Evans, religious editor, will suggest answers to questions of general religious interest in this column. Anonymous questions will not be considered. Contributors are requested to confine their questions to fifty words.

Prayers to Saints.

E. M. B. asks: "Why does the Catholic church believe in praying to the saints to intercede on their behalf with God? 2. On what passage in the Bible do they base this custom? 3. Where in the Bible does Christ ask us to come directly to him? 4. Does he say anywhere that we are not to ask saints or any one to intercede for us?"

The editor of this column has no right to speak authoritatively for the Roman Catholic church. As an individual he suggests that the practice rests, first, on faith in personal immortality, and, second, on the belief in the efficacy of intercessory prayer. If one has faith in intercessory prayer offered by those in this life—if we believe that our prayers for others are valid now—it is reasonable to believe that the same privilege and duty that Christians are enjoined to exercise in this life are enjoyed and performed by those who, holding the same faith, have passed on into the life to come.

2. The custom goes back into the practice of early church fathers before the canon of the Bible was established.

3. The Gospel of St. John, for instance, repeatedly speaks of Christ's accessibility.

4. Not to my knowledge. On the other hand, intercession is enjoined as a Christian duty. Christ's own intercession on behalf of his followers is most convincing because Christians are those who follow his example.

Date of Easter.

B. D. L. asks: "Please explain how to figure out when Easter comes. Can it come in March or is it always in April?

The date of Easter day is regulated by the moon. It falls on the first Sunday after the full moon which happens upon or after the 21st day of March. The full moon, for the purpose of this rule, is the 14th day of a lunar month as reckoned by an early ecclesiastical calendar, and not the astronomical full moon. In 1818, Easter fell on March 22. In 1932, it will fall on March 27. Last year it was March 31. The feast more frequently comes in April than in March.

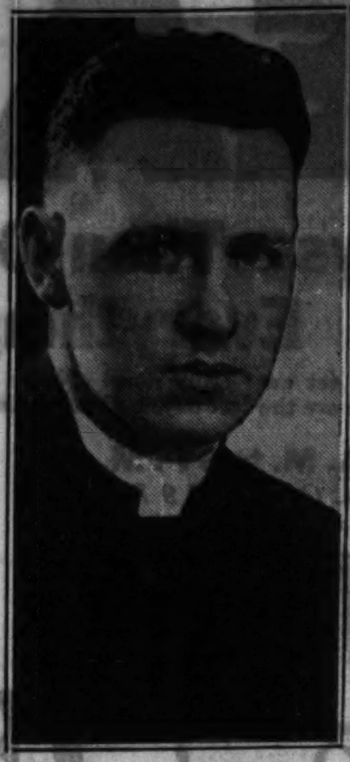
NEWS OF CHURCHES



THE REV. TIMOTHY ROWAN.

The Rev. Daniel Croke, pastor of St. Cecilia's Catholic church, Forty-fifth and Wallace streets, announces that Father Rowan, news editor of the New World, will preach a series of sermons during Lent on Sunday evenings at 7 o'clock. The sermons will deal with the various groups of men associated with Christ's passion who represent types of today.

Shailer Mathews Honored by Paris Religious School

WHEN the Paris Theological seminary conferred the degree of doctor of theology on Dean Shailer Mathews of the divinity school of Chicago university yesterday, Chicago protestantism was linked with one of the oldest Protestant seminaries in the world. The seminary has been located in Paris only fifty years of its existence. The school was founded first in Strasbourg in the early days of the Reformation.

Many well known American religious leaders have recently organized an American committee to coöperate with the seminary. Chicago is represented by Dean Mathews, chairman; Dr. Ozora Davis, Dean Charles W. Gilkey of the Chicago university chapel, and Prof. Andrew W. Zenos of the Presbyterian Theological seminary. The committee includes twenty-two other religious leaders of the country.

The Paris seminary has been noted in recent years as the home of the two Sabatiers—Auguste and Paul—whose writings on philosophy of religion and St. Francis of Assisi have given them world-wide recognition in protestantism. Sabatier's life of St. Francis of Assisi has given the saint a new value to Protestants.

America has given $28,000 out of a needed $40,000 to aid the seminary out of its post-war financial difficulties. It is stated that the remainder will soon be contributed.

The Rev. Dr. C. H. Young, headmaster of Howe school and former rector, will be the preacher this morning at Christ Episcopal church, Woodlawn.

A series of Lenten vespers will begin this evening and continue until Easter at Sheridan Road Methodist Episcopal church, Sunnyside and Hazel avenues. The services will begin at 5 o'clock. This was announced by the Rev. B. M. Will, pastor.

The Lutheran Woman's league of Chicago is sponsoring a benefit concert by the Midland college a cappella choir, Fremont, Neb., at Orchestra hall, March 20. Proceeds will go toward the children's receiving home, Maywood.

The Rev. Harold A. Eaton, Wilmington, Del., has been called as pastor of the Ravenswood Baptist church. The Rev. Mr. Eaton will begin his pastorate March 1.

The Rev. E. L. Reiner, pastor of the Waveland Avenue Congregational church, announces a series of six illustrated lectures beginning tonight and continuing until Easter. The subjects will be "Six Crises in the Life of Christ."

The new Eighteenth Christian Scientist church, Coles avenue and 73d street, has been opened for services.

The Rev. A. J. Wilder, canon of the National Episcopal cathedral, Washington, D. C., will deliver an illustrated lecture before the Rectory club of St. Barnabas church, Tuesday evening. This was announced by Ernest L. Duck, president of the club.

A national memorial service for the Most Rev. Charles P. Anderson, late bishop of Chicago and primate of the American Episcopal church, will be held Tuesday evening, March 25, when more than a hundred bishops from all parts of the country gather here to elect his successor. The memorial service and the election, which will take place on the following day, are to be held in St. James' cathedral, Cass and Huron streets. A luncheon for the visiting prelates will be Wednesday noon, March 26, by the Church club of Chicago.

The Rev. David E. Gibson, pastor of the Cathedral shelter, Washington and Peoria streets, is sponsoring daily noontide Eucharist services at this mission center. The service begins at 12:10 and concludes at 12:40.

Bishop Francis J. McConnell, president of the Federal Council of Churches of Christ in America, will speak tonight before the River Forest Sunday Evening club in the church auditorium at Jackson and Quick avenues. Jacques Gordon, concert master of the Chicago Symphony orchestra, who is leaving Chicago for his new position in the east, will make his farewell appearance as soloist. He will be accompanied by Harold Van Horne. Grace Nelson will give a recital from 7:15 to 7:30. The Rev. Irving E. Putnam will offer the invocation and benediction.

Catholics to Hear Lecture on the Mass

Cathedral Converts Meet on Tuesday.

AN illustrated lecture, "The Mass," will be given at the March meeting of the Holy Name Cathedral Converts' league Tuesday evening by the Rev. Joseph P. Morrison, administrator of the cathedral. The lecture will be given in the music room of the assembly hall.

The converts' league is an organization primarily connected with the Holy Name cathedral, with the Rev. Francis M. Flaherty as spiritual director. However, Father Morrison stated that converts to the Roman Catholic church throughout the archdiocese are welcome to attend the lecture.

Meetings are usually held on the third Wednesday of each month, and the feature of each meeting is a lecture on some topic of interest and importance to Catholics. During March and April, because of conflicting lenten devotions, the meetings will be held on third Tuesdays.

Two priests of the Oblate order of missionaries will open a three weeks' Lenten mission in St. David's church, 32d street near Halsted, today at noon mass. They are the Rev. Patrick J. Phelan and the Rev. James J. O'Sullivan. Services of the mission will be held each evening at 8 o'clock, and at 6, 7, and 8 o'clock masses each morning.

St. David's is known as "the church of all nations" because it numbers so many different nationalities among its worshipers. It is located in the midst of a cosmopolitan section of the city. The pastor is the Rev. Joseph McNamee.

The Holy Name cathedral men's choir and boy choristers, directed by the Rev. Philip F. Mahoney, will sing Pietro Yon's "Te Deum Laudamus" mass this morning at 11 o'clock. The soloists will be Guido Guidi, former soloist with the Sistine choir, and recently engaged as bass soloist with the Holy Name cathedral men's choir, and Earl Alexander, tenor.

The proper of the mass will be chanted by the Quigley seminary plain chant choir, directed by the Rev. Edwin V. Hoover, who is also professor of Gregorian chant at Quigley seminary.

The sermon will be preached by Father Hoover and will be the second of his series of Lenten sermons, "A Catholic Looks at Protestant America."

The Rev. James J. Mertz, S. J., will preach at the evening Lenten devotions at the cathedral today. His subject will be "The Pillar and Ground of Truth—Christ and His Church."

THIS HAPPENED IN CHICAGO

Indiana Avenue woman tells of budding romance shattered by "B. O."

He might have won her —if it hadn't been for "B. O." (Body Odor)

THEY both lived in our neighborhood. She was a pretty girl—and a mighty nice one, too. He was a fine steady-going young fellow—very much in love with her. But she didn't seem to fancy him.

"She went out with him several times, but after a little she turned him down. Of course she couldn't tell him the reason. 'B.O.'—body odor—is a delicate subject. But how different things might have turned out if he had only known what his trouble was and how easily Lifebuoy could have ended it."

The secret cause

There are many experiences similar to this one told to us by a woman in your own city. Disappointments in love—lost opportunities in business. But other explanations are given. We seldom realize how often "B.O." is to blame.

For people, as a rule, don't know when they offend. We become insensitive to ever-present odors. Yet we must perspire. Every day our bodies give off at least a quart of odor-causing waste. We don't notice it in ourselves—but others do.

Now millions have the satisfaction of knowing they're safe, the easiest way imaginable—Lifebuoy. Its penetrating, antiseptic lather purifies pores. Makes every inch of the body fresh and sweet-smelling.

Wonderful for complexions

Lifebuoy keeps complexions looking their best—soft, smooth, and clear. Gives them a healthy, glowing loveliness. Note Lifebuoy's pleasant hygienic scent—that vanishes as you rinse—it tells you better than words how Lifebuoy safeguards.

Try Lifebuoy Free

To try this delightful toilet soap without cost, just send us your name and address. By return mail you will receive two full-size cakes of Lifebuoy free. Write today to Lever Brothers Co., Dept. L 90, Cambridge, Mass.

Lifebuoy HEALTH SOAP stops body odor

Lovely COMPLEXION that nothing will remove

WOULD you like a lovely skin? A complexion that won't come off—a radiant color all your own? If constipation is the cause of your troubles give your system the little calcium that it needs—and note the immediate improvement.

Five days will very often transform a muddy, blotchy, sallow complexion resulting from this condition. From the very first day, you should see and feel the difference.

Tiny, gentle, Stuart's Calcium Wafers help Nature to quickly rid the system of impurities and poisonous wastes that cause pimples, blotches, acne and other skin blemishes. A week-end's use will frequently work a wondrous change.

A FEW DAYS' TEST WILL TELL

Bright, sparkling eyes! Clear, satin-smooth skin free from faults! Nails and hair alive and glossy with sound growth! And a warm flush of natural color radiating from within—refreshingly lovely color that no rouge can imitate, and nothing can remove. Try this week-end test.

Can You Follow a Trail?

Test Your Skill in TODAY'S

"Hidden Want Ads"

THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S TREASURE HUNT

Want-Ad Wanda's CHALLENGE:

"I defy you to trail me through Today's Want Ads"

$100 TODAY

In Cash Prizes

START HERE

then turn to Today's Want Ad Section

The Name of the Classification represented by this picture is in this list:

AUTOMOBILES FOR SALE
RADIOS AND SUPPLIES
REAL ESTATE
APARTMENTS TO RENT—SOUTH
HOUSEHOLD GOODS—CENTRAL TRADE SCHOOLS
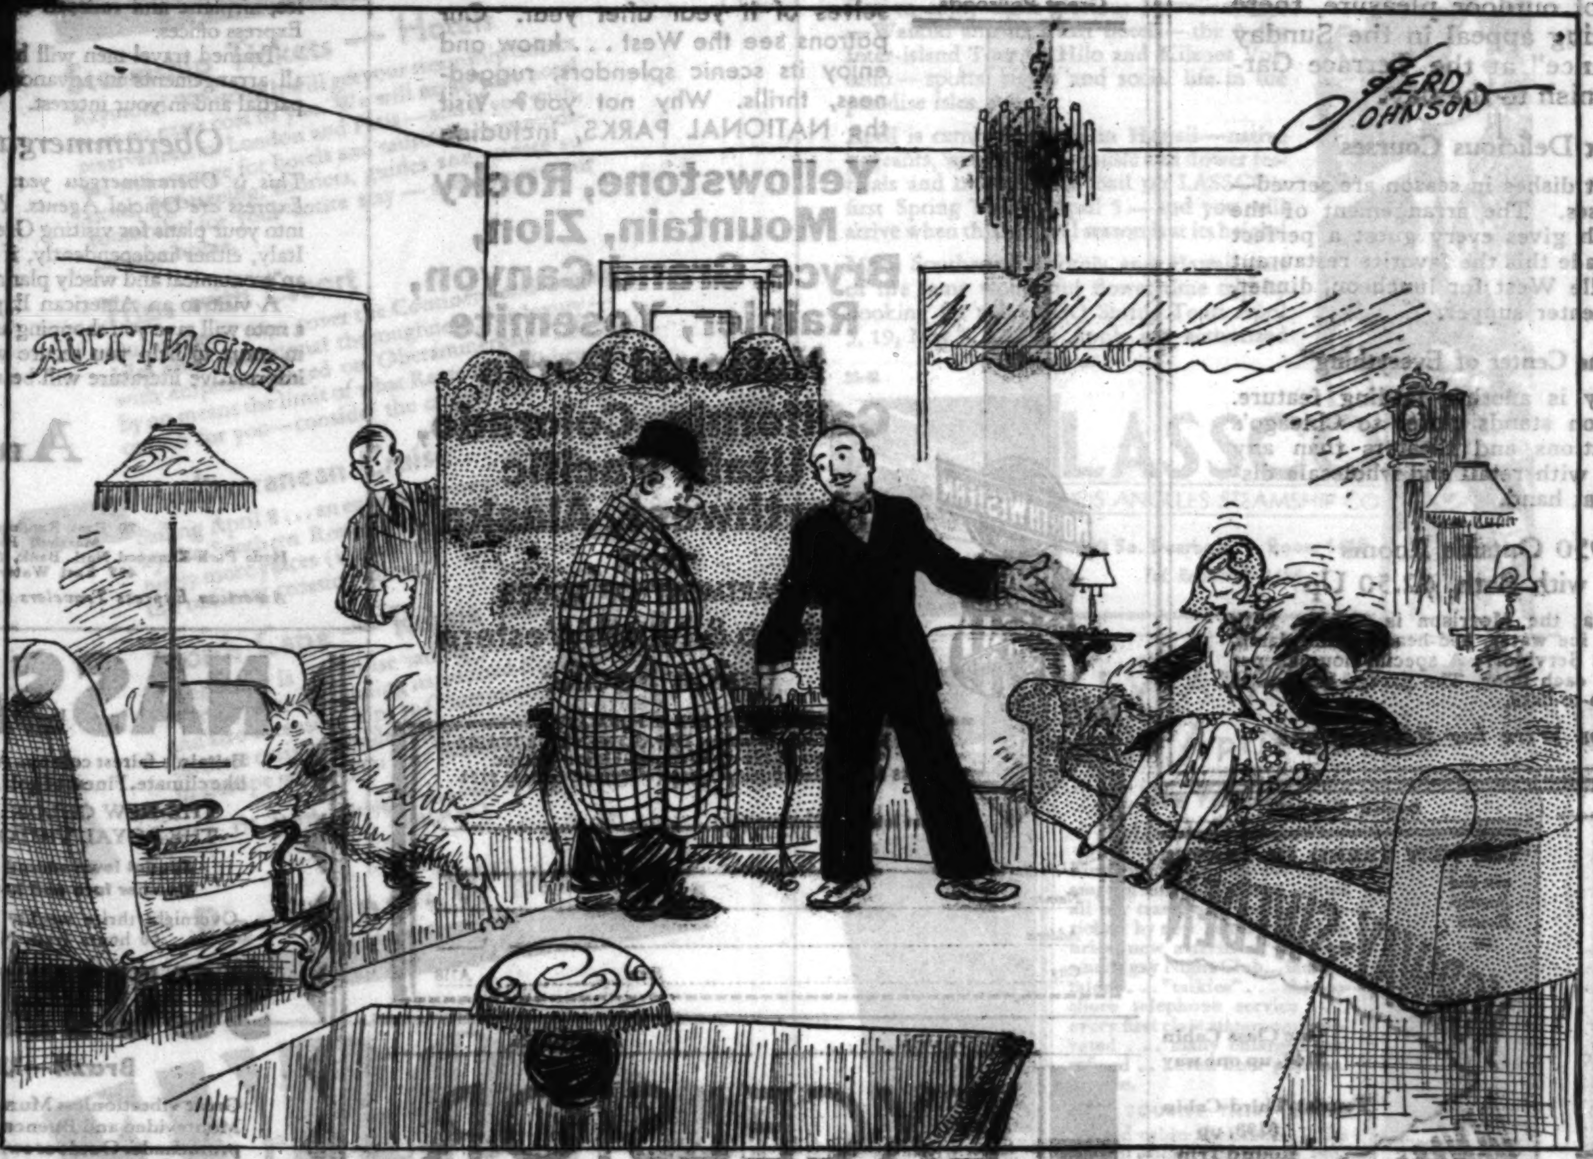
STORE FIXTURES
PARCEL POST AND EXPRESS
TYPEWRITERS AND SUPPLIES



Clue: This picture represents one of the Want Ad classifications in today's Want Ad section. Decide which classification you think the artist had in mind and then run through the ads under that heading in the Want Ad section to find Wanda's first hidden Want Ad. The first hidden Want Ad will tell you where to look for the next one, and so on. Read the simple directions and start now!

What Want Ad Classification Does This Picture Represent?

CAN you follow a trail? Do you like games and puzzles that make you use your wits? Here's the game you've been waiting for! Here's a golden chance to beat Sherlock Holmes at his own game! Want-Ad Wanda challenges you to follow her through the Want Ad columns of today's Tribune. If you haven't played the game before, get in on the fun today! And if you played it last Sunday, try your skill at trailing Wanda again today.

Just Follow These Simple Directions

In today's Want Ad columns of the Tribune there has been inserted a number of mysterious Want Ads. These Want Ads look exactly like regular Want Ads except, of course, the wording is different. All together there are between 10 and 15 hidden Want Ads. You are invited to hunt for these hidden Want Ads and try for the $100.00 in cash prizes which the Tribune will pay.

The game starts with the picture on this page. This picture represents one of the main classifications of Tribune Want Ads. Decide which classification you think the artist had in mind and then turn to that classification in today's Want Ad section. Look through the Want Ads under that heading until you find Wanda's first Hidden Want Ad. You can't possibly miss it.

All Clues Are in Sequence

After you have found this first hidden Want Ad, read it over carefully. EACH HIDDEN WANT AD GIVES A HINT OR CLUE TO THE HIDING PLACE OF THE NEXT ONE. It's just like a treasure hunt. You don't have to search through the entire Want Ad Section to find all the Hidden Want Ads if you keep your wits about you. The hidden Want Ads are all related in a certain definite sequence. The first one (the one which the picture helps you locate) helps you find the second one. The second one helps you find the third, and so on. Remember, there are no less than 10 hidden Want Ads and no more than 15. It's up to you to decide when you have found them all.

Awards will be made to the persons who send in the most nearly complete sets of hidden Want Ads arranged in the most nearly correct order in accordance with these rules. You may indicate what you believe to be their proper order or sequence by numbering them 1, 2, 3, 4, etc. You may clip the hidden Want Ads from the paper, using the handy blank at the right, or you may copy them down on a separate sheet. Neatness and ingenuity of presenting them will count. In case of ties, duplicate prizes will be given.

This Offer Is Open to All

This offer is open to all—men and women, boys and girls—except employes of the Chicago Tribune and their families. You pay nothing. Just prove your skill.

Entries should be mailed to "HIDDEN WANT ADS 'G'," the Chicago Tribune, Postoffice box 1539, Chicago, Illinois. All entries to today's game must be received in the office of the Tribune not later than 6:00 P. M. on Thursday, March 20, 1930.

You need not purchase the Tribune to compete. Copies of the Tribune may be examined at the Tribune office or at public libraries free of charge.

No entries will be returned. The Tribune cannot engage in correspondence on this subject. The prize winner's of today's game will be announced two weeks from today.

A Corner in the TERRACE GARDEN Morrison Hotel

HARRY C. MOIR
PRES. & GEN. MGR.

The New Morrison, the world's tallest hotel, 46 stories high, will be, when completed, the largest and tallest, with 3,450 rooms.

Early Spring Appetites

WHEN St. Patrick's Day returns, bringing the first thoughts of outdoor pleasure, there is an inviting appeal in the Sunday "dinner-dance" at the Terrace Garden as a finish to the day.

Six Delicious Courses

The choicest dishes in season are served—6 full courses. The arrangement of the tables, which gives every guest a perfect view, has made this the favorite restaurant in the Middle West for luncheon, dinner, and after-theater supper.

"At the Center of Everything"

Accessibility is another leading feature. The Morrison stands closer to Chicago's railroad stations and theaters than any other hotel, with retail and wholesale districts right at hand.

1950 Outside Rooms
Each with Bath, $2.50 Up

Every room at the Morrison is outside, with bath, running ice water, bed-head reading lamp, telephone and Servidor. A special housekeeper is detailed to each floor. The garage service is thoroughly up-to-date.

Steamship Tickets — Hotels

Raymond-Whitcomb will get your steamship tickets—at no extra cost to you. We will make your hotel reservations in London and Paris—and if you wish, we will arrange for hotels and railroad accommodations, sightseeing, couriers, guides and private automobiles for your entire stay — and secure your passage home.

Trips with Escort

Our escorted trips cover the Continent and British Isles with exceptional thoroughness and luxury — with emphasis placed on Oberammergau. This is by no means the limit of what Raymond-Whitcomb can do for you—consider the cruises below:

Mediterranean Cruise

Sailing April 8 . . . an engrossing new way to Europe by the Southern Route, enabling you to visit infinitely more places (including Oberammergau) than the ordinary crossing allows.

North Cape — Russia Cruise

Then there is the cruise sailing June 24 to Iceland, Norway, etc.—including its unusual Russian visit—and also extension trips to Oberammergau. Passages on these cruises include extensive stopover privileges in Europe so that you may return any time this year.

BURNHAM
Beauty Culture
Graduates Are Sure of CONSTANT EMPLOYMENT with
BIG PAY

That's the wonderful thing about Burnham training. You always are sure of a steady position with a splendid income after you've completed the Burnham Course. The fact that you are a Burnham graduate establishes your reputation as one who knows the finest and latest methods in all things pertaining to the art of Beauty Culture.

Your Opportunity

There never has been, and we doubt if ever there will be, enough Burnham trained operators to supply the demand. That's why, when you enroll at Burnham's, you are really insuring yourself of a pleasant, profitable, lifetime occupation wherever you want to live—in Chicago or any other city—large or small.

Remember—NO HIGH SCHOOL EDUCATION IS NECESSARY. All you need is a determination to succeed—Burnham's will do the rest. They will, in a few short weeks, make an expert beauty operator of you—qualified to step into the finest beauty shops in the world as a competent, efficient operator.

YOU CAN ATTEND OUR EVENING CLASSES.

If you are employed during the day—keep your present position—and fit yourself for a better one in our evening classes. The tuition is small. You may pay it in installments if you wish.

Come in tomorrow—let's talk things over. See the absolute evidence of what Burnham training has done for thousands of ambitious girls and women like you. You, too, can succeed. A Burnham training assures it.

BURNHAM'S

has established an enviable reputation for placing its qualified graduates in well paying positions. ASK TO HAVE THE FAMOUS BURNHAM EMPLOYMENT PLAN EXPLAINED. This employment proposition is in itself sufficient reason for preferring the Burnham School of Beauty Culture over all others. Burnham's also offers a very special training which qualifies graduates to secure the most responsible managerial positions, and which assures them of immediate success in starting their own business.

BURNHAM'S

is most conveniently located. Right in the center of downtown Chicago—at the corner of State and Randolph-sts. Close to the big stores and the theaters. And the environment at Burnham's is ideal—light, airy, roomy class rooms, with every modern facility right at hand.

BURNHAM'S

training is complete. Here you learn everything there is to know about every phase of Beauty Culture—and you learn it practically—from the world's foremost experts. The Burnham course covers exclusive methods of facial massage—the art of hair dressing, including a course in wig manufacturing—and adjusting of the new hair pieces. Then there is very valuable training in electrolysis, permanent waving, hair dyeing, tinting and cutting—besides there are special courses in body massage and manicuring.

When Your Course Is Completed You Are a Beauty Expert.

Visit Our Great Loop School

Seeing is believing. Come in and see how the Great Burnham School of Beauty Culture actually operates. Ask to be shown unquestionable proof of the successes made by Burnham trained operators.

SCHOOL OPEN EVERY DAY—and Monday, Wednesday, and Friday until 9 o'clock.

If you'll fill in the coupon below and bring it with you a competent guide will be provided to show you through the entire school, and you'll also be given a copy of Burnham's great new book—"Beauty Culture."

Executives and Managers.

DISTRICT SALES MANAGERS FOR RETAIL DEPARTMENT STORES

We have an opening for several men who can qualify for such positions.

These men are probably now employed as sales and merchandise managers for retail stores doing 8 to 20 million. Our district sales managers are responsible for satisfactory sales volume, advertising, window, and interior displays, special sales, etc., in group of 30 stores.

Only men of practical retail background and proven ability need apply.

This is an exceptional opportunity. State connection and experience for past 10 years, age, present salary, and any details that will better acquaint us with your ability. Enclose photograph.

Applications treated in strictest confidence.

Personal interview granted to those qualified.

Address J N 360, Tribune.

A-A-A

Business is booming with us; 70% increase so far this month. No hard times in this permanent business.

Our tremendous advertising campaign, together with national broadcasting, has increased the sale of our product so rapidly that we need at least ten more men to handle this increased demand.

We are part of a 16 million dollar eastern corporation, manufacturers of an exclusive patented product. We have branches in all principal cities.

This week, W. E., formerly a specialty salesman, earned $255.00.

W. S., formerly vacuum cleaner salesman and with us his fifth year, earned $217.00 this week.

H. E., formerly tea and coffee wagon salesman, earned $174.62 this week.

G. G., who never sold before but after two days training which we give all new men, earned $106.10 his first week.

Men between 25 and 40, neat appearing and with good references, will be given an interview Monday morning, 9 to 12, and in afternoon, 2 to 4.

ASK FOR MR. BALDWIN.
Entire 2d Flr. Terminal Bldg.
537 S. Dearborn-st.

AAAA A Man of Exceptional Mentality

An organization rated AAA1, operating nationally, has an opening for a man of successful selling experience. Prefer one who has met and sold chief executives, although in the final analysis personality will be the determining factor.

As this division of our business is expanding rapidly, there are openings for men of executive ability, but only after a period of actual selling in the field.

This is not stocks, bonds, real estate, insurance, or books—nor is it posters.

Do not investigate unless you feel confident that your services are worth $8,000 per year or more.

We can use a man immediately in each of the following territories:

Michigan, Indiana, Ohio, Illinois, and one in Chicago.

We will grant you a personal interview if you are able to interest us over the telephone. Phone Mr. F. C. Schoen on Monday for appointment, Randolph 4745, or, if you prefer, address J J 278, Tribune.

A Straight Salary Plus Commission will be paid a few city salesmen. This is outside work and a permanent position. Applicant must have lived in Chicago for several years, be honest, energetic, and willing to work hard and long hours. We want only high class, clean cut, legitimate salesmen who know how to represent a proposition on its merits. The remuneration will be ample if you make good. Apply Monday morning, Room 300, 10 S. La Salle-st. Mr. Dunne.

A DISTRIBUTOR

We have an unusual opportunity for a distributor in several localities throughout the United States to handle a new mechanical device, which is a proven success. The man we want must believe he has ability to manage others; 30 to 55 years of age. We will train him at our expense and expect a limited investment which is protected with merchandise. This man may come from any walk of life. If you write or wire us details, your application will receive every consideration. President, 827 Straus Bldg.

AAAA An Unusual Salesman

An organization rated AAA1, operating nationally, is about to build a new national selling organization marketing an entirely new service. This step is the result of careful experimental work conducted over a period of several months which proves conclusively to us that there is a market for what we have to sell.

We would like to talk to a man who can show an earning record in excess of $5,000 per year selling an intangible—and who has the ambition to double or triple that amount.

The man selected will be backed by an extensive advertising campaign.

Call Randolph 4745 and ask for Mr. D. F. Burns. Do not make inquiries over the telephone. If you can answer our questions satisfactorily we will grant you a personal interview.

A1 MEN

Neat, intelligent and aggressive married men over twenty-five years old with cars, for permanent sales positions with opportunity for advancement. Part of your work in store and part time spent outside in pleasant, dignified work.

Tailoring Salesmen
Can You Answer These Two Questions?

1. Have you had at least four seasons' experience selling tailoring direct to wearer? Not as a clerk in a retail store, but as a salesman calling on his own clientele.

2. Have you, for the past two seasons, averaged at least 200 orders per season?

If you are a real salesman and can meet these requirements, write at once, giving such information about yourself as will distinguish you from the great mass of mediocre tailoring "agents" and enable us to recommend you unhesitatingly to our client, one of the outstanding tailoring concerns in the quality field.

In reply, you will not be sent a barrage of printed literature, as this is NOT a mail-order proposition. Instead, a personal appointment will be arranged at our expense, at which time complete details of an entirely new plan will be given you . . . . a plan whereby you can at last capitalize upon your ability to its ultimate earning power. We have nothing of interest for swivel chair district managers or other parasites, but if you are a PRODUCING SALESMAN, address in confidence: Robert W. Dixon, care of H. C. Goodwin Advertising Agency, 70 Exchange-st., Rochester, N. Y.

THE NARRAGANSETT

1640 E. 50TH-ST.
AT THE LAKE.

OPEN FOR INSPECTION AND READY FOR OCCUPANCY.

4-5-6 ROOMS.

On Feb. 2 we first advertised these beautiful modern apartments in the Narragansett building. And now practically half of them have been taken. We consider this a record for south side apartment buildings.

The remarks of our guests are expressive of the unusual attractiveness of our bldg. We hear on every hand, "I never saw such a wonderful floor plan." "This is the first time I ever saw 8 closets in a 5-room apt." "No wonder they are going so fast. I must bring my husband over tonight." "I have never seen such a wonderful view as the one from the roof garden; it is inspiring."

All the latest ideas in fine modern apts. have been taken into consideration, parquet floors, colored tile baths, new style radiators, thermostatic controlled stoves, beautiful electric iceboxes, latest design fast noiseless elevators, roof garden, handball court, and various other unusual features.

Our transportation facilities are unexcelled. 10 minutes by fast express to the loop from the 51st-st. I. C. station, busses on Hyde Park-blvd. take you to the heart of the loop, or your own car on the outer drive in 12 minutes by driving entirely through a park along the water front and without a stop light.

WE SUGGEST YOUR INSPECTION OF THE NARRAGANSETT BEFORE YOU DECIDE ON YOUR FUTURE RESIDENCE.

"Something Different"…..

and that's what we have in our 6 and 7 room apts. at the Shoreline. These 6 and 7 rooms are not wieldy stereotypes of the ordinary large apartment — these are fashioned for your individuality! They are in a delightful location, too—just across from Jackson park, Outer drive, and Lake Michigan, veritably in the heart of the South Shore. Prepare now for a gay summer, a majestic fall and winter at the Shoreline. Remember, our model apartment is open for inspection.

Established Buildings

The following buildings are all highly restricted and of a character established by years of carefully choosing their tenancy. They are offered at rentals comparing very favorably with much less desirable buildings. Kindly inspect them before you make your final choice.

431 Oakdale-av.

In this building there are two 4s and a selection of 5s for rent. The building is new, quiet, and there are no adjacent high buildings. The apartments are carefully designed for your every comfort. Kohler dishwasher, sinks, General Electric refrigeration, Otis elevators, and the best of equipment and service throughout.
Broker at building.
Call Lake View 5562.

219 Lake Shore-dr.

A 6 AND 7 ROOM APARTMENT AVAILABLE. Gorgeous view of Shoreline. Cool in summer, warm in winter. Large rooms, well arranged for comfortable living; well trained service, courteous doorman and elevator operators. The building designed and operated, with few exceptions, as a co-operative home. Highly restricted. Rentals surprisingly reasonable.

200 E. Delaware-pl.

A BEAUTIFUL 8 ROOM APARTMENT with south and west exposure. Always cheerful. Well decorated. Small, exclusive building with elevator and doorman service. Present tenants are moving to newly built home in country, and an exceptional net rental may be had because of this fact.

230 E. Delaware-pl.

12 ROOMS ON THE ROOF. Exceptionally light and sunshiny. Unusual circumstances in connection with the leasing of this apartment make it possible for us to offer it at a price out of proportion to its value. We also have a 7 room apartment in this building. Doorman, elevator building, within walking distance of the loop.

227-237 E. Delaware-pl.

TWO 7 AND ONE 9 ROOM APARTMENTS AVAILABLE. The 9 room apartment is a corner apartment with N.E. and S. exposure. Beautifully arranged, exquisitely decorated and in every respect built for large family comfort. One seven is furnished, one unfurnished. One on a sublease can be had at a sacrifice. Rooms in these apartments are unusually large and comfortably arranged. Excellent elevator and doorman service.

190 E. Chestnut-st.

A 9 AND A 10 ROOM APARTMENT. Opportunity to rent well arranged apartment within walking distance of the loop, fashionable shopping center, and the cinema, yet on a side street, away from boulevard traffic. Suitable for a large family of adults. Doorman and elevator service.

DODGE ROADSTER. Just the thing for the spring. It's in dandy running condition and comes equipped with windshield wings, spare tire, shutter front, bumpers, etc. $185.

STUDEBAKER SEDAN. Std. 6 that's in exceptionally clean condition. Has a sweet running motor. Extras are spotlight, bumpers, spare time, etc. $195.

LINCOLN SEDAN. 7 pass that was given very careful attention so now it's in wonderful condition. Has shutter front, spare tire, shock absorbers, bumpers, etc. $475.

CADILLAC PHAETON. It's a beauty. The finish glistens and the upholstery appears new. Motor is very efficient. $345.

CLEVELAND COACH. Equipped with 4 wheel brakes, snubbers, bumpers, spare tire, heater, etc. Finish is bright and shiny. Dandy rubber. $145.

AUBURN SEDAN. Original finish is very attractive. Mohair upholstery appears new. 4 whl. brakes, snubbers bumpers, heater, spotlight, spare tire, etc. $295.

ESSEX SEDAN. 1927 with thousands of miles of unused transportation. Runs fine. Has shutter front, spare tire, bumpers, etc. $225.

DANIELS ROADSTER. Cost $12,000 when new. Was in storage for two years and then was carefully gone over mechanically and given a beautiful new maroon paint job. This is a long-slung car with wire wheels, shock absorbers, spare tire, individual stops, etc. Special for $545.

ERSKINE COACH. 1929 De Luxe model that your neighbors could not tell from a brand new car. The appearance is unusually attractive and the performance can't be beat. Has 4 whl. brakes, shutter front, shock absorbers, driving light, etc. $545.

PONTIAC COACH. It's a late model that we just took in at a very low price. Has wire wheels, two spare tires mounted in fender wells, shock absorbers 4 whl. brakes, and many valuable extras. It's in new car condition today. $450.

CHEVROLET PHAETON. 1929, finished a two tone green. Very low mileage. Equipped with 4 whl. brakes, snubbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. It's excellent mechanically and it's a knockout in appearance. $385.

STUDEBAKER DICTATOR. 1930 6 demo, driven only 2,665 mi. Carries new car guar. Brand new tires. Lacquered beautiful tan. Equipped with built-in radio, Tropic-Aire heater, shock absorbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. Will sell at big discount off list price.

BUICK SEDAN. 1928 that's absolutely in brand new condition today. Has unusually low mileage and originally was bought at a very expensive figure. The motor is A1, finish is bright and shiny, and the upholstery appears unused. Tires are in dandy condition. wheel brakes, snubbers, heater, bumpers, spare tire, etc. $850.

STUDEBAKER COMMANDER. Late model Sedan that looks as though it were direct from the factory. The finish sparkles like a new dollar and the tires have little mileage. The motor has been carefully checked over and adjusted wherever necessary. Equipped with 4 whl. brakes, bumpers, snubbers, spare tire, etc. $475.

STUTZ SEDAN. Str. 8 with nonshatterable glass, shock absorbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. This Stutz never left the Chicago blvds. and you'll believe this statement when you thoroughly examine this car. Has spirited performance. The price is out of keeping with this high quality of this car. Only $575.

PACKARD PHAETON. A Highland Park sportsman used this only for ocasional driving. Equipped with 4 whl. brakes, snubbers, spare tire, two driving lights, etc. Finished a handsome tan. $395.

PAIGE SEDAN. Model 6-66 seven pass. We obtained it at a very favorable figure. Other man's loss is your gain, so you can get this dandy car for only $275. Has shutter front two spare tires mounted in fender wells, snubbers, spotlight, heater, etc.

HUDSON BROUGHAM. 1928 four dr. 5 pass. This car was in storage for 15 mos. so it will give new car satisfaction today. The upholstery, tires and finish all appear absolutely unused. The equipment includes 4 whl. brakes, shutter front, shock absorbers, bumpers, spare tire, etc. An exceptional value at $645.

MARMON PHAETON. We believe this is the best value in Chicago. It's the last word for beautiful appearance and powerful performance. Finished an attractive two-tone gray. Equipped with shutter front, two spare tires, and many other extras. Cost a big price, but is offered by us for only $650.

NASH SPORT COUPE. 1929 Spec. 6 series "400" with rumble seat. Has a handsome tan finish. Equipped with hundreds of dollars' worth of extras. This Nash will satisfy the most exacting buyer. Today, $875.

Rolls-Royce

Rolls-Royce policy does not permit the building of radically changed yearly models—which is of special benefit to the buyer of a Rolls-Royce at resale.

Regardless of age, the car he selects is not "dated" by extreme or eccentric appearance; in fact, many of the most admired cars on the street today are Rolls-Royces that have seen five years or more of service.

Rolls-Royce does not grow old in one or two seasons—either in style or performance—they are built to last 20 years at least.

Rolls-Royce in various body types are now available moderately priced from $2,000 to $7,500. Our guarantee goes with each.

ROLLS-ROYCE. Enclosed drive limousine. Left drive. Driven only 8,500 miles. Will refinish to suit purchaser's specifications. Perfect mechanical condition.

ROLLS-ROYCE. Sedan. A smart 5 pass. model, beautifully finished in ebony black with green wheels. New tires and very complete equipment.

ROLLS-ROYCE. Touring. 7 passenger. Thoroughly reconditioned and refinished. A rare value.

ROLLS-ROYCE. Convertible Coupe. An attractive all weather model. Splendid condition.

ROLLS-ROYCE. Phaeton. 4 pass. Left drive. New tires, tonneau windshield. Lorraine driving light, etc. New appearance. Burbank top.

Extended payments will be arranged at no extra charge. Your inspection is invited. Phone us for a demonstration.

NOTICE OF ANNUAL AND SPE
MEETINGS OF STOCKHOLDE
THE CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND AND CIFIC RAILWAY COMPANY.
CHICAGO, ILLINOIS, FEBRUARY 21 19

I. THE ANNUAL MEETING OF THE STOCKHOLDERS OF THE CHICAGO, ROCK ISLAND AND PACIFIC RAILWAY COMPANY will be held at the office of the Company in the City of Chicago, Cook County, Illinois, on Thursday, the first day of M 1930, at 11 o'clock in the forenoon, the consideration of the following questions:

1. Whether the Company shall be renewed under the laws of Illinois and Iowa for a period of fifty years after the expiration of the present Articles of Consolidation of June 2, 1880;

2. The increase in the number of directors of the Company from thirteen to fifteen, and the amendment of the Articles of Consolidation to provide therefor;

3. The creation of an issue of $ 228,000 Thirty-Year 4½% Convertible Gold Bonds, to be dated May 1, 1930, to provide funds for the general corporate purposes of the Company, said bonds to be convertible into common stock of the Company at any time on or after May 1, 1931, and before May 1, 19 at $125 per share, with an adjustment of accrued interest and current dividends to the date of such conversion; and, in order to secure said bonds, the execution and delivery of an Indenture setting forth the terms and conditions on which said bonds will be issued and delivered and will be convertible, and the approval of the form of the proposed Indenture;

4. The increase of the authorized capital stock of the Company from $140,000,000 to $170,000,000, all of the proposed increase to be common stock; and the amendment of the articles of Consolidation to provide therefor;

5. The repeal of Article VIII of the Articles of Consolidation of June 2, 1880, which provides that the of indebtedness of the Company shall not exceed $275,000,000, exclusive of bonds issued for the acquisition of additional railways or property;

6. The amendment of the By-Laws to provide that the Board of Directors may authorize the signature of the president, or vice president, upon the Company's stock certificates to be engraved in facsimile, under such regulations as the Board of Directors may from time to time prescribe;

7. The election of Directors;

And for the transaction of such other business as may come before the meeting.

II. In order to comply with certain statutory provisions of the State of Iowa A SPECIAL MEETING OF THE STOCKHOLDERS of the Company is hereby called to be held at the principal office of the Company in the City of Davenport, County, Iowa, on Friday, the second day of May, 1930, at 9 o'clock in the forenoon, for the consideration of the questions set forth above.

By order of the Board of Directors.
J. E. GORMAN,
President.
CARL NYQUIST,
Secretary.
